 In me thou seest the twilight of such day
 As after sunset fadeth in the west,
 Which by and by black night doth take away,
 Death's second self, that seals up all in rest.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 73.
- 31 O know, sweet love, I always write of you,
 And you and love are still my argument.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 76.
- 32 For as the sun is daily new and old,
 So is my love, still telling what is told.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 76.
- 33 Thy glass will show thee how thy beauties wear,
 Thy dial how thy precious minutes waste,
 The vacant leaves thy mind's imprint will bear,
 And of this book this learning mayst thou taste:
 The wrinkles which thy glass will truly show
 Of mouthèd graves will give thee memory;
 Thou by thy dial's shady stealth mayst know
 Time's thievish progress to eternity.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 77.
- 34 Who is it that says most which can say more Than this rich praise: that you alone are you.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 84.
- 35 Farewell—thou art too dear for my possessing,
 And like enough thou know'st thy estimate.
 The charter of thy worth gives thee releasing;
 My bonds in thee are all determinate.
 For how do I hold thee but by thy granting,
 And for that riches where is my deserving?
 The cause of this fair gift in me is wanting,
 And so my patent back again is swerving.
 Thyself thou gav'st, thy own worth then not knowing,
 Or me to whom thou gav'st it else mistaking;
 So thy great gift, upon misprision growing,
 Comes home again, on better judgement making.
 Thus have I had thee as a dream doth flatter:
 In sleep a king, but waking no such matter.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 87.
- 36 So shall I live supposing thou art true
 Like a deceived husband; so love's face
 May still seem love to me, though altered new.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 93.
- 37 They that have power to hurt and will do none,
 That do not do the thing they most do show,
 Who moving others are themselves as stone,
 Unmovèd, cold, and to temptation slow—
 They rightly do inherit heaven's graces,
 And husband nature's riches from expense;
 They are the lords and owners of their faces,
 Others but stewards of their excellence.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 94.
- 38 For sweetest things turn sourest by their deeds:
 Lilies that fester smell far worse than weeds.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 94.
- 39 How like a winter hath my absence been
 From thee, the pleasure of the fleeting year!
 What freezings have I felt, what dark days seen.
 What old December's bareness everywhere.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 97.
- 40 From you have I been absent in the spring
 When proud-pied April, dressed in all his trim, Hath put a spirit of youth in everything.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 98.
- 41 Nor did I wonder at the lily's white,
 Nor praise the deep vermilion in the rose.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 98.
- 42 To me, fair friend, you never can be old;
 For as you were when first your eye I eyed,

- Such seems your beauty still.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 104.
- 43 Kind is my love today, tomorrow kind,
 Still constant in a wondrous excellence.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 105.
- 44 Not mine own fears nor the prophetic soul
 Of the wide world dreaming on things to come
 Can yet the lease of my true love control, Supposed as forfeit to a confined doom.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 107.
- 45 What's in the brain that ink may character
 Which hath not figured to thee my true spirit?
 What's new to speak, what now to register,
 That may express my love or thy dear merit?
 Nothing, sweet boy; but yet like prayers divine
 I must each day say o'er the very same,
 Counting no old thing old, thou mine, I thine,
 Even as when first I hallowed thy fair name.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 108.
- 46 O never say that I was false of heart,
 Though absence seemed my flame to qualify.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 109.
- 47 Then give me welcome, next my heaven the best,
 Even to thy pure and most loving breast.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 110.
- 48 Let me not to the marriage of true minds Admit impediments. Love is not love
 Which alters when it alteration finds,
 Or bends with the remover to remove.
 O no, it is an ever fixed mark
 That looks on tempests and is never shaken;
 It is the star to every wand'ring barque, Whose worth's unknown although his height be taken.
 Love's not time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks
 Within his bending sickle's compass come;
 Love alters not with his brief hours and weeks,
 But bears it out even to the edge of doom.
 If this be error and upon me proved,
 I never writ, nor no man ever loved.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 116.
- 49 What potions have I drunk of siren tears
 Distilled from limbeck's foul as hell within,
 Applying fears to hopes and hopes to fears,
 Still losing when I saw myself to win!
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 119.
- 50 For if you were by my unkindness shaken,
 As I by yours, you've passed a hell of time.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 120.
- 51 My mistress' eyes are nothing like the sun;
 Coral is far more red than her lips' red.
 If snow be white, why then her breasts are dun;
 If hairs be wires, black wires grow on her head.
 I have seen roses damasked, red and white,
 But no such roses see I in her cheeks;
 And in some perfumes is there more delight
 Than the breath that from my mistress reeks.
 I love to hear her speak, yet well I know
 That music hath a far more pleasing sound.
 I grant I never saw a goddess go:
 My mistress when she walks treads on the ground.
- And yet, by heaven, I think my love as rare
 As any she belied with false compare.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 130.
- 52 Whoever hath her wish, thou hast thy Will,
 And Will to boot, and Will in overplus.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 135.
- 53 So thou, being rich in Will, add to thy Will
 One will of mine to make thy large Will more.
 Let no unkind no fair beseechers kill;
 Think all but one, and me in that one Will.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 135.
- 54 When my love swears that she is made of truth
 I do believe her though I know she lies.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 138.
- 55 Two loves I have, of comfort and despair,
 Which like two spirits do suggest me still.
 The better angel is a man right fair,
 The worse spirit a woman coloured ill.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 144.
- 56 My love is as a fever, longing still
 For that which longer nursing the disease,
 Feeding on that which doth preserve the ill,
 Th'uncertain sickly appetite to please.
 My reason, the physician to my love,
 Angry that his prescriptions are not kept,
 Hath left me, and I desperate now approve Desire is death, which physic did except.
 Past cure I am, now reason is past care,
 And frantic mad with evermore unrest.
 My thoughts and my discourse as madmen's are,
 At random from the truth vainly expressed;
 For I have sworn thee fair, and thought thee bright,
 Who art as black as hell, as dark as night.
1609 Sonnets, sonnet 147.
- 57 Was there ever man had such luck? When I kissed the jack upon an upcast to be hit away! I had a hundred pound on't, and then a whoreson jackanapes must take me up for swearing.
1610 Cloten. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.1, 1.1–4.
- 58 When a gentleman is disposed to swear it is not for any standers-by to curtail his oaths.
1610 Cloten. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.1, 1.10–11.
- 59 On her left breast
 A mole, cinque-spotted, like the crimson drops
 I'th' bottom of a cowslip.
1610 Giacomo, of Innogen. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.2, 1.37–9.
- 60 I am advised to give her music o' mornings; they say it will penetrate.
1610 Cloten, of Innogen. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.3, 1.11–12.
- 61 Hark, hark, the lark at heaven gate sings,
 And Phoebus gins arise.
1610 Musician, singing. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.3, 1.19–20.
- 62 Is there no way for men to be, but women Must be half-workers? We are bastards all.
1610 Posthumus. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.5, 1.1–2.
- 63 I thought her
 As chaste as unsunned snow.
1610 Posthumus, of Innogen. Cymbeline, act 2, sc.5, 1.12–13.
- 64 I am stale, a garment out of fashion.
1610 Innogen. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.4, 1.51.

- 65 Against self-slaughter
There is a prohibition so divine
That cravens my weak hand.
1610 Innogen. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.4, 1.76–8.
- 66 Thus may poor fools
Believe false teachers.
1610 Innogen. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.4, 1.84–5.
- 67 Though those that are betrayed
Do feel the treason sharply, yet the traitor Stands in worse case of woe.
1610 Innogen. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.4, 1.85–7.
- 68 Hath Britain all the sun that shines? Day, night,
Are they not but in Britain? I'th' world's volume
Our Britain seems as of it but not in't,
In a great pool a swan's nest.
1610 Innogen to Pisanio. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.4, 1.137–40.
- 69 Thou art all the comfort
The gods will diet me with.
1610 Innogen to Pisanio. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.4, 1.180–1.
- 70 Weariness
Can snore upon the flint when resty sloth Finds the down pillow hard.
1610 Belarius. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.6, 1.33–5.
- 71 By Jupiter, an angel—or, if not,
An earthly paragon.
1610 Belarius, of Innogen in disguise. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.6, 1.42–3.
- 72 All gold and silver rather turn to dirt.
1610 Arviragus. Cymbeline, act 3, sc.6, 1.52.
- 73 Society is no comfort
To one not sociable.
1610 Innogen. Cymbeline, act 4, sc.2, 1.12–13.
- 74 Fear no more the heat o'th' sun,
Nor the furious winter's rages.
Thou thy worldly task hast done,
Home art gone and ta'en thy wages.
Golden lads and girls all must,
As chimney-sweepers, come to dust.
1610 Guiderius. Cymbeline, act 4, sc.2, 1.259–64.
- 75 By medicine life may be prolonged, yet death
Will seize the doctor too.
1610 Cymbeline. Cymbeline, act 5, sc.6, 1.29–30.
- 76 The power that I have on you is to spare you.
1610 Posthumus to Giacomo. Cymbeline, act 5, sc.6, 1.419.
- 77 What seest thou else
In the dark backward and abyss of time?
1611 Prospero to Miranda. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.49–50.
- 78 I find my zenith doth depend upon
A most auspicious star, whose influence
If now I court not, but omit, my fortunes
Will ever after droop.
1611 Prospero to Miranda. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.182–5.
- 79 Thou art inclined to sleep; 'tis a good dullness,
And give it way. I know thou canst not choose.
1611 Prospero to Miranda. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.186–7.
- 80 You taught me language, and my profit on't
Is I know how to curse.
1611 Caliban to Miranda. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.365–6.
- 81 Come unto these yellow sands,
And then take hands.
1611 Ariel, singing. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.377–8.
- 82 This music crept by me upon the waters,
Allaying both their fury and my passion
With its sweet air.
1611 Ferdinand. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.394–6.
- 83 Full fathom five thy father lies.
Of his bones are coral made.
1611 Ariel. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.399–400.
- 84 Nothing of him that doth fade
But doth suffer a sea-change
Into something rich and strange.
1611 Ariel. The Tempest, act 1, sc.2, 1.402–4.
- 85 He receives comfort like cold porridge.
1611 Sebastian, of Alonso. The Tempest, act 2, sc.1, 1.11.
- 86 Look, he's winding up the watch of his wit.
By and by it will strike.
1611 Sebastian, of Gonzalo. The Tempest, act 2, sc.1, 1.13–14.
- 87 Misery acquaints a man with strange bedfellows.
1611 Trinculo, of Caliban. The Tempest, act 2, sc.2, 1.39.
- 88 'Ban, 'ban, Cacaliban
Has a new master.—Get a new man!
1611 Caliban. The Tempest, act 2, sc.2, 1.183–4.
- 89 FERDINAND: I do beseech you,
Chiefly that I might set it in my prayers,
What is your name?
MIRANDA: Miranda. O my father,
I have broke your hest to say so!
FERDINAND: Admired Miranda!
Indeed the top of admiration, worth
What's dearest to the world.
1611 The Tempest, act 3, sc.1, 1.36–9.
Shakespeare invented the name Miranda, taking it from the Latin word meaning 'worthy to be admired'.
- 90 Remember
First to possess his books, for without them
He's but a sot as I am, nor hath not
One spirit to command—they all do hate him
As rootedly as I. Burn but his books.
1611 Caliban, of Prospero. The Tempest, act 3, sc.2, 1.92–6.
- 91 He that dies pays all debts.
1611 Stefano. The Tempest, act 3, sc.2, 1.134.
- 92 The isle is full of noises,
Sound, and sweet airs, that give delight and hurt not.
1611 Caliban. The Tempest, act 3, sc.2, 1.138–9.
- 93 Thou shalt find that she will outstrip all praise,
And make it halt behind her.
1611 Prospero, of Miranda. The Tempest, act 4, sc.1, 1.10–11.
- 94 The cloud-capped towers, the gorgeous palaces,
The solemn temples, the great globe itself,
Yea, all which it inherit, shall dissolve;
And, like this insubstantial pageant faded,
Leave not a rack behind.
1611 Prospero. The Tempest, act 4, sc.1, 1.152–6.
- 95 We are such stuff
As dreams are made on, and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep.
1611 Prospero. The Tempest, act 4, sc.1, 1.156–8.
- 96 They were red-hot with drinking;
So full of valour that they smote the air
For breathing in their faces.
1611 Ariel. The Tempest, act 4, sc.1, 1.171–3.

- 97 This rough magic
I here abjure.
1611 Prospero. The Tempest, act 5, sc.1, 1.50–1.
- 98 I'll break my staff,
Bury it certain fathoms in the earth,
And deeper than did ever plummet sound
I'll drown my book.
1611 Prospero. The Tempest, act 5, sc.1, 1.54–7.
- 99 Where the bee sucks, there suck I:
In a cowslip's bell I lie;
There I couch when owls do cry.
On the bat's back I do fly
After summer merrily.
Merrily, merrily shall I live now
Under the blossom that hangs on the bough.
1611 Ariel's song. The Tempest, act 5, sc.1, 1.88–94.
- 1 How beauteous mankind is! O brave new world
That hath such people in't!
1611 Miranda. The Tempest, act 5, sc.1, 1.186–7.
- 2 What a thrice-double ass
Was I to take this drunkard for a god,
And worship this dull fool!
1611 Caliban. The Tempest, act 5, sc.1, 1.299–301.
- 3 Now my charms are all o'erthrown,
And what strength I have's mine own.
1611 Prospero. The Tempest, epilogue, 1.1–2.
- 4 Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot
That it do singe yourself.
1613 Norfolk. Henry VIII, act 1, sc.1, 1.140–1.
- 5 Travelled gallants
That fill the court with quarrels, talk, and tailors.
1613 Lovell. Henry VIII, act 1, sc.3, 1.19–20.
- 6 Good company, good wine, good welcome
Can make good people.
1613 Guildford. Henry VIII, act 1, sc.4, 1.6–7.
- 7 Two women placed together makes cold weather.
1613 Lord Chamberlain. Henry VIII, act 1, sc.4, 1.22.
- 8 If I chance to talk a little wild, forgive me.
I had it from my father.
1613 Sands. Henry VIII, act 1, sc.4, 1.26–7.
- 9 Those you make friends
And give your hearts to, when they once perceive
The least rub in your fortunes, fall away
Like water from ye.
1613 Buckingham. Henry VIII, act 2, sc.1, 1.128–31.
- 10 I would not be a queen
For all the world.
1613 Anne Boleyn. Henry VIII, act 2, sc.3, 1.45–6.
- 11 You have many enemies that know not Why they are so, but, like to village curs, Bark when their fellows do.
1613 Henry to Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 2, sc.4, 1.155–7.
- 12 Orpheus with his lute made trees,
And the mountain tops that freeze,
Bow themselves when he did sing.
1613 Gentlewoman, singing. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.1, 1.3–5.
- 13 Everything that heard him play,
Even the billows of the sea,
Hung their heads, and then lay by.
In sweet music is such art,
Killing care and grief of heart
Fall asleep, or hearing, die.
1613 Gentlewoman, singing. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.1, 1.9–14.
- 14 Methought
I stood not in the smile of heaven.
1613 Henry. Henry VIII, act 2, sc.4, 1.183–4.
- 15 In sweet music is such art,
Killing care and grief of heart
Fall asleep, or hearing die.
1613 Gentlewoman. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.1, 1.13–15.
- 16 Yet I know her for A spleeny Lutheran, and not wholesome to Our cause.
1613 Cardinal Wolsey, of Anne Boleyn. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.99–101.
- 17 Nature does require
Her times of preservation.
1613 Wolsey to Henry. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.147–8.
- 18 I have touched the highest point of all my greatness,
And from that full meridian of my glory
I haste now to my setting.
1613 Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.224–6.
- 19 I feel within me
A peace above all earthly dignities,
A still and quiet conscience.
1613 Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.379–81.
- 20 This is the state of man. He puts forth
The tender leaves of hopes; tomorrow blossoms,
And bears his blushing honours thick upon him;
The third day comes a frost, a killing frost,
And when he thinks, good easy man, full surely
His greatness is a-ripening, nips his root,
And then he falls, as I do.
1613 Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.353–9.
- 21 Had I but served my God with half the zeal
I served my King, He would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies.
1613 Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.456–8.
- 22 Still in thy right hand carry gentle peace
To silence envious tongues.
1613 Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 3, sc.2, 1.446–7.
- 23 An old man broken with the storms of state
Is come to lay his weary bones among ye.
Give him a little earth, for charity.
1613 Griffith, recalling Wolsey. Henry VIII, act 4, sc.2, 1.21–3.
- 24 Men's evil manners live in brass, their virtues
We write in water.
1613 Griffith. Henry VIII, act 4, sc.2, 1.45–6.
- 25 That comfort comes too late,
'Tis like a pardon after execution.
1613 Katherine. Henry VIII, act 4, sc.2, 1.121–2.
- 26 Good grows with her.
In her days every man shall eat in safety
Under his own vine what he plants, and sing
The merry songs of peace to all his neighbours.
1613 Cranmer, of Elizabeth. Henry VIII, act 5, sc.4, 1.32–5.

Shange, Ntozake originally Paulette Williams 1948–

Shankly, Bill (William) 1913–81

Scottish footballer and manager. A player with Preston North End and Scotland, he established a reputation as one of the finest managers of his generation through his management of Liverpool in the 1960s and was widely known for his grim determination and biting wit.

28 Some people think football is a matter of life and death. I don't like that attitude. I can assure them it is much more serious than that.

Quoted in the Sunday Times, 4 Oct 1981.

29 I don't drop players, I make changes.

Quoted in Peter Ball and Phil Shaw The Book of Football Quotations (1990).

30 If Everton were playing down at the bottom of my garden, I'd draw the curtains.

Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

31 If you're in the penalty area and aren't sure what to do with the ball, just stick it in the net, and we'll discuss your options afterwards.

Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

32 Of course I didn't take my wife to see Rochdale as an anniversary present. It was her birthday. Would I have got married during the football season? And anyway it wasn't Rochdale, it was Rochdale reserves.

Quoted in Peter Ball and Phil Shaw The Book of Football Quotations (1990).

33 This town has two great teams—Liverpool and Liverpool reserves.

Deliberately ignoring rival team Everton. Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

Quoted in David Pickering The Cassell Soccer Companion (1994)

Shapin, Steven 1955–

US sociologist

36 The very power of science to hold knowledge as collective knowledge is founded upon a degree and a quality of trust which are arguably unparalleled elsewhere in our culture... Scientists know so much about the natural world by knowing so much about whom they can trust.

1994 A Social History of Truth.

Sharansky, Natan Anatoly Borisovich 1948–

Ukrainian-born Soviet dissident, human rights activist and politician. He was imprisoned (1977–86) by the Soviet government. As a Jew, he applied for emigration rights to Israel in 1975, but was harassed by the KGB and discharged from his job. He was arrested in 1977 and accused of treason and espionage. On his release from prison he was allowed to go to Israel, where he became a politician.

37 All the resources of a superpower cannot isolate a man who hears the voice of freedom; a voice that I heard from the very chamber of my soul.

1986 Speech, New York, 11 May, shortly after his release following nine years in a Soviet labour colony.

Sharp, William pseudonym Fiona Macleod 1855–1905

Scottish writer and traveller. He published poetry and literary criticism, but he is best known as the author of a series of neo-Celtic romantic tales written under the pseudonym he systematically refused to acknowledge.

38 My heart is a lonely hunter that hunts on a lonely hill.

1896 'The Lonely Hunter', stanza 6. Carson McCullers adapted the phrase as the title of a 1940 novel, The Heart Is a Lonely Hunter.

Sharpe, Tom (Thomas Ridley) 1928–

English novelist. His early works were plays written in South Africa. He returned to England in 1961, and became known for the vigorous satire of his comic novels.

39 The South African police would leave no stone unturned to see that nothing disturbed the even terror of their lives.

1973 Indecent Exposure, ch.1.

40 Skullion had little use for contraceptives at the best of times. Unnatural, he called them, and placed them in the lower social category of things along with elastic-sided boots and made-up bow ties. Not the sort of attire for a gentleman.

1974 Porterhouse Blue, ch.9.

41 And besides, Mrs Forthby in the flesh was a different kettle of fish to Mrs Forthby in his fantasies. In the latter she had a multitude of perverse inclinations, which corresponded exactly with his own unfortunate requirements, while possessing a discretion that would have done credit to a Trappist nun. In the flesh she was disappointingly different.

1975 Blott on the Landscape, ch.3.

42 In the lotus position at her yoga class she managed to exude energy, and her attempts at Transcendental Meditation had been likened to a pressure-cooker on simmer.

1976 Wilt, ch.1.

43 God, in his view, had created a perfect world if the book of Genesis was to be believed and it had been going downhill ever since.

1976 Wilt, ch.17.

44 All you had to do was tell people what they wanted to hear and they would believe you no matter how implausible your story might be.

1976 Wilt, ch.18.

45 The Rev St John Froude put the phone down thoughtfully. The notion that he was sharing the house with a disembodied and recently murdered woman was not one that he had wanted to put to his caller. His reputation for eccentricity was already sufficiently widespread without adding to it.

1976 Wilt, ch.19.

46 If any writer thinks the world is full of middle-class people of nice sensibilities, then he is out of his mind.

Shaw, George Bernard 1856–1950

Anglo-Irish dramatist and socialist. He moved to London in 1876 and in 1882 joined the Fabian Society. He wrote over 40 plays including Arms and the Man (1894, published 1898), Candida (1895), Man and Superman (1903), Pygmalion (1913), Saint Joan (1923, published 1924) and The Apple Cart (1929). He was also a lifelong advocate of vegetarianism, and a passionate supporter of spelling reform. In 1935 he was awarded the Nobel prize for literature.

- 47 Money is indeed the most important thing in the world: and all sound and successful personal and national morality should have this fact for its basis.
1880 The Irrational Knot, preface.
- 48 Reminiscences make one feel so deliciously aged and sad.
1880 The Irrational Knot, ch.14.
- 49 A man who has no office to go to—I don't care who he is—is a trial of which you can have no conception.
1880 The Irrational Knot, ch.18.
- 50 'Do you know what a pessimist is?'
'A man who thinks everybody is as nasty as himself, and hates them for it.'
1887 An Unsocial Socialist, ch.5.
- 51 Don't ask me for promises until I know what I am promising.
1894 Catherine to Raina. Arms and the Man, act 1.
- 52 You can always tell an old soldier by the inside of his holsters and cartridge boxes. The young ones carry pistols and cartridges; the old ones, grub.
1894 The Man to Raina. Arms and the Man, act 1.
- 53 Oh, you are a very poor soldier—a chocolate cream soldier!
1894 Raina to The Man. Arms and the Man, act 1.
- 54 You're not a man, you're a machine.
1894 Sergius to Bluntschli. Arms and the Man, act 3.
- 55 We have no more right to consume happiness without producing it than to consume wealth without producing it.
1895 Morell to Lexy. Candida, act 1.
- 56 Do you think that the things people make fools of themselves about are any less real and true than the things they behave sensibly about? They are more true: they are the only things that are true.
1895 Marchbanks to Morell. Candida, act 1.
- 57 It is easy—terribly easy—to shake a man's faith in himself. To take advantage of that to break a man's spirit is devil's work.
1895 Morell to Marchbanks. Candida, act 1.
- 58 Wicked people means people who have no love: therefore they have no shame. They have the power to ask for love because they don't need it: they have the power to offer it because they have none to give. But we, who have love, and long to mingle it with the love of others: we cannot utter a word. You find that, don't you?
1895 Marchbanks to Proserpine. Candida, act 2.
- 59 I'm only a beer teetotaller, not a champagne teetotaller.
1895 Proserpine. Candida, act 3.
- 60 I no longer desire happiness: life is nobler than that.
1895 Marchbanks. Candida, act 3.
- 61 We're from Madeira, but perfectly respectable, so far.
1896 Philip Clandon to Valentine. You Never Can Tell, act 1.
- 62 We don't bother much about dress and manners in England, because, as a nation, we don't dress well and we've no manners.
1896 Valentine to Dolly and Philip Clandon. You Never Can Tell, act 1.
- 63 The great advantage of a hotel is that it's a refuge from home life.
1896 Waiter. You Never Can Tell, act 2.
- 64 Well, sir, you never can tell. That's a principle in life with me, sir, if you'll excuse my having such a thing, sir.
1896 Waiter to Fergus Crampton. You Never Can Tell, act 2.
- 65 There is nothing so bad or so good that you will not find Englishmen doing it; but you will never find an Englishman in the wrong. He does everything on principle. He fights you on patriotic principles; he robs you on business principles; he enslaves you on imperial principles; he bullies you on manly principles; he supports his king on loyal principles and cuts off his head on republican principles.
1897 The Man of Destiny.
- 66 The worst sin towards our fellow creatures is not to hate them, but to be indifferent to them: that's the essence of inhumanity.
1897 Pastor Anderson to Judith Anderson. The Devil's Disciple, act 2.
- 67 Martyrdom... the only way in which a man can become famous without ability.
1897 The Devil's Disciple, act 3.
- 68 I never expect a soldier to think, sir.
1897 Richard Dudgeon to Major Swindon. The Devil's Disciple, act 3.
- 69 'I can't believe it! What will History say?'
'History, sir, will tell lies as usual.'
1897 Major Swindon and Gen Burgoyne. The Devil's Disciple, act 3.
- 70 Your friend the British soldier can stand up to anything except the British War Office.
1897 Gen Burgoyne to Major Swindon. The Devil's Disciple, act 3.
- 71 Brains are not everything.
1898 Rev Samuel Gardner. Mrs Warren's Profession, act 1.
- 72 If there is anything I hate in a woman, it's want of character.
1898 Mrs Warren. Mrs Warren's Profession, act 2.
- 73 The only way for a woman to provide for herself decently is for her to be good to some man that can afford to be good to her.
1898 Mrs Warren to Vivie Warren. Mrs Warren's Profession, act 2.
- 74 There are no secrets better kept than the secrets everybody guesses.
1898 Sir George Crofts. Mrs Warren's Profession, act 3.
- 75 'Damn you!'
'You need not. I feel among the damned already.'
1898 Sir George Crofts and Vivie Warren. Mrs Warren's Profession, act 3.
- 76 Miss Warren is a great devotee of the Gospel of Getting On.
1898 Praed. Mrs Warren's Profession, act 4.
- 77 He is a barbarian, and thinks that the customs of his tribe

- and island are the laws of nature.
1899 Of the Briton. Caesar to Theodotus. Caesar and Cleopatra, act 2.
- 78 When a stupid man is doing something he is ashamed of, he always declares that it is his duty.
1899 Apollodorus. Caesar and Cleopatra, act 3.
- 79 A man of great common sense and good taste, meaning thereby a man without originality or moral courage.
1899 Of Caesar. Caesar and Cleopatra, notes.
- 80 But a lifetime of happiness! No man alive could bear it: it would be hell on earth.
1903 John Tanner. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 81 I am proud of your contempt for my character and opinions, sir.
1903 Roebuck Ramsden to John Tanner. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 82 The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is.
1903 John Tanner. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 83 Vitality in a woman is a blind fury of creation.
1903 John Tanner to Octavius Robinson. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 84 Of all human struggles there is none so treacherous and remorseless as the struggle between the artist man and the mother woman.
1903 John Tanner. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 85 A sensitive boy's humiliations may be very good fun for ordinary thick-skinned grown-ups; but to the boy himself they are so acute, so ignominious, that he cannot confess them—cannot but deny them passionately.
1903 John Tanner. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 86 There is no love sincerer than the love of food.
1903 John Tanner to Octavius Robinson. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 87 That damnable woman's trick of heaping obligations on a man, of placing yourself so entirely and helplessly at his mercy that at last he dare not take a step without running to you for leave. I know a poor wretch whose one desire in life is to run away from his wife. She prevents him by threatening to throw herself in front of the engine of the train he leaves her in. That is what all women do. If we try to go where you do not want us to go there is no law to prevent us; but when we take the first step your breasts are under our foot as it descends: your bodies are under our wheels as we start. No woman shall ever enslave me in that way.
1903 John Tanner to Ann Whitefield. Man and Superman, act 1.
- 88 You think that you are Ann's suitor; that you are the pursuer and she the pursued... Fool: it is you who are pursued, the marked down quarry, the destined prey.
1903 John Tanner to Octavius Robinson. Man and Superman, act 2.
- 89 'I am a brigand: I live by robbing the rich.'
 'I am a gentleman: I live by robbing the poor.'
1903 Mendoza and John Tanner. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 90 Hell is full of musical amateurs: music is the brandy of the damned.
1903 Don Juan to the Devil. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 91 Englishmen never will be slaves: they are free to do whatever the Government and public allow them to do.
1903 The Devil to Ann Whitefield. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 92 An Englishman thinks he is moral when he is only uncomfortable.
1903 The Devil. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 93 In the arts of life man invents nothing; but in the arts of death he outdoes Nature herself, and produces by chemistry and machinery all the slaughter of plague, pestilence and famine.
1903 The Devil to Don Juan. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 94 In the arts of peace Man is a bungler.
1903 The Devil to Don Juan. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 95 As an old soldier I admit the cowardice: it's as universal as sea sickness, and matters just as little.
1903 The Statue. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 96 Sexually, Woman is Nature's contrivance for perpetuating its highest achievement.
1903 Don Juan to Ana. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 97 When the military man approaches, the world locks up its spoons and packs off its womankind.
1903 Don Juan. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 98 What is virtue but the Trade Unionism of the married?
1903 Don Juan to Ann Whitefield. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 99 Marriage is the most licentious of human institutions.
1903 Don Juan. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 1 Those who talk most about the blessings of marriage and the constancy of its vows are the very people who declare that if the claim were broken and the prisoners were left free to choose, the whole social fabric would fly asunder. You can't have the argument both ways. If the prisoner is happy, why lock him in? If he is not, why pretend that he is?
1903 Don Juan to Ann Whitefield. Man and Superman, act 3.
- 2 Beauty is all very well at first sight; but who ever looks at it when it has been in the house three days?
1903 Ann Whitefield. Man and Superman, act 4.
- 3 Revolutions have never lightened the burden of tyranny: they have only shifted it to another shoulder.
1903 Man and Superman, 'The Revolutionist's Handbook and Pocket Companion, by John Tanner', foreword.
- 4 The art of government is the organization of idolatry.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Idolatry'.
- 5 Democracy substitutes election by the incompetent many for appointment by the corrupt few.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Democracy'.
- 6 Liberty means responsibility. That is why most men dread it.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Liberty and Equality'.
- 7 He who can, does. He who cannot, teaches.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Education'.
- 8 Marriage is popular because it combines the maximum of temptation with the maximum of opportunity.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Marriage'.
- 9 Titles distinguish the mediocre, embarrass the superior, and are disgraced by the inferior.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Titles'.
- 10 When domestic servants are treated as human beings it is not worth while to keep them.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Servants'.
- 11 If you strike a child take care that you strike it in anger,

- even at the risk of maiming it for life. A blow in cold blood neither can nor should be forgiven.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: How to Beat Children'.
- 12 Beware of the man whose God is in the skies.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Religion'.
- 13 The most intolerable pain is produced by prolonging the keenest pleasure.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Beauty and Happiness'.
- 14 Economy is the art of making the most of life.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Virtues and Vices'.
- 15 Self-denial is not a virtue: it is only the effect of prudence on rascality.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Virtues and Vices'.
- 16 A moderately honest man with a moderately faithful wife, moderate drinkers both, in a moderately healthy house: that is the true middle-class unit.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Moderation'.
- 17 The reasonable man adapts himself to the world: the unreasonable one persists in trying to adapt the world to himself. Therefore all progress depends on the unreasonable man.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Reason'.
- 18 The man who listens to Reason is lost: Reason enslaves all whose minds are not strong enough to master her.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Reason'.
- 19 Decency is Indecency's conspiracy of silence.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Decency'.
- 20 Life levels all men: death reveals the eminent.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Fame'.
- 21 Home is the girl's prison and the woman's workhouse.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Women in the Home'.
- 22 Every man over forty is a scoundrel.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Stray Sayings'.
- 23 Youth, which is forgiven everything, forgives itself nothing: age, which forgives itself everything, is forgiven nothing.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Stray Sayings'.
- 24 Take care to get what you like or you will be forced to like what you get.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Stray Sayings'.
- 25 Beware of the man who does not return your blow: he neither forgives you nor allows you to forgive yourself.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Stray Sayings'.
- 26 Self-sacrifice enables us to sacrifice other people without blushing.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Self-Sacrifice'.
- 27 Do not do unto others as you would they should do to you. Their tastes may not be the same.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: The Golden Rule'.
- 28 The golden rule is that there are no golden rules.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: The Golden Rule'.
- 29 When a man wants to murder a tiger he calls it sport; when a tiger wants to murder him he calls it ferocity.
1903 Man and Superman, 'Maxims for Revolutionists: Crime and Punishment'.
- 30 An Irishman's imagination never lets him alone, never convinces him, never satisfies him; but it makes him that he can't face reality nor deal with it nor handle it nor conquer it: he can only sneer at them that do, and be 'agreeable to strangers'; like a good-for-nothing woman on the streets.
1904 Larry Doyle to Tom Broadbent. John Bull's Other Island, act 1.
- 31 An Irishman's heart is nothing but his imagination.
1904 Larry Doyle to Tom Broadbent. John Bull's Other Island, act 1.
- 32 The poor silly-clever Irishman takes off his hat to God's Englishman.
1904 Larry Doyle. John Bull's Other Island, act 1.
- 33 My way of joking is to tell the truth. It's the funniest joke in the world.
1904 Peter Keegan to Nora Reilly. John Bull's Other Island, act 2.
- 34 I am sincere; and my intentions are perfectly honourable. I think you will accept the fact that I'm an Englishman as a guarantee that I am not a man to act hastily or romantically.
1904 Tom Broadbent to Nora Reilly. John Bull's Other Island, act 2.
- 35 You jast keep your air on and listen to me. You Awrish people are too well off: thet's wots the matter with you.
1904 Hodson to Matthew Haffigan. John Bull's Other Island, act 3.
- 36 There are only two qualities in the world: efficiency and inefficiency, and only two sorts of people: the efficient and the inefficient.
1904 Tom Broadbent. John Bull's Other Island, act 4.
- 37 In my dreams is a country where the State is the Church and the Church the people: three in one and one in three. It is a commonwealth in which work is play and play is life: three in one and one in three. It is a temple in which the priest is the worshipper and the worshipper the worshipped: three in one and one in three. It is a godhead in which all life is human and all humanity divine: three in one and one in three. It is, in short, the dream of a madman.
1904 Of Heaven, Keegan speaking. John Bull's Other Island, act 4.
- 38 The greatest of evils and the worst of crimes is poverty... our first duty—a duty to which every other consideration should be sacrificed—is not to be poor.
1905 Major Barbara, preface.
- 39 Nobody can say a word against Greek: it stamps a man at once as an educated gentleman.
1905 Lady Britomart Undershaft to Stephen. Major Barbara, act 1.
- 40 I am a Millionaire. That is my religion.
1905 Undershaft to Barbara Undershaft. Major Barbara, act 2.

- 41 I can't talk religion to a man with bodily hunger in his eyes.
1905 Barbara Undershaft. Major Barbara, act 2.
- 42 Alcohol is a very necessary article... It makes life bearable to millions of people who could not endure their existence if they were quite sober. It enables Parliament to do things at eleven at night that no sane person would do at eleven in the morning.
1905 Undershaft to Barbara Undershaft. Major Barbara, act 2.
- 43 It's nao good: you cawnt get rahnd me nah. Aw downt blieve in it; and Awve seen tody that Aw was rawt. Sao long, aol soupkitchener! Ta, ta, Mijor Earl's Grendorter! Wot prawce selvytion nah? Snobby Prawce! Ha! ha!
1905 Bill Walker to Barbara Undershaft. Major Barbara, act 2.
- 44 He knows nothing; and he thinks he knows everything. That points clearly to a political career.
1905 Undershaft speaking of Stephen. Major Barbara, act 3.
- 45 Like all young men, you greatly exaggerate the difference between one young woman and another.
1905 Undershaft about Adolphus Cusins. Major Barbara, act 3.
- 46 Fashions, after all, are only induced epidemics.
1906 The Doctor's Dilemma, 'Preface on Doctors: Fashions and Epidemics'.
- 47 Science becomes dangerous only when it imagines that it has reached its goal.
1906 The Doctor's Dilemma, preface, 'The Latest Theories'.
- 48 There is at bottom only one genuinely scientific treatment for all diseases, and that is to stimulate the phagocytes.
1906 BB (Sir Ralph Bloomfield Bonington). The Doctor's Dilemma, act 1.
- 49 All professions are conspiracies against the laity.
1906 Sir Patrick Cullen. The Doctor's Dilemma, act 1.
- 50 A man's behaviour may be quite harmless and even beneficial, when he is morally behaving like a scoundrel. And he may do great harm when he is morally acting on the highest principles.
1906 BB. The Doctor's Dilemma, act 3.
- 51 The criminal law is no use to decent people.
1906 Sir Patrick. The Doctor's Dilemma, act 3.
- 52 There's almost as many different sorts of marriage as there's different sorts of people. There's the young things that marry for love, not knowing what they're doing, and the old things that marry for money and comfort and companionship. There's the people that marry for children. There's the people that don't intend to have children and that aren't fit to have them. There's the people that marry because they're so much run after by the other sex that they have to put a stop to it somehow. There's the people that want to try a new experience, and the people that want to have done with experiences.
1908 Bill Collins. Getting Married.
- 53 Home life as we understand it is no more natural to us than a cage is natural to a cockatoo.
1908 Getting Married, preface, 'Hearth and Home'.
- 54 The one point on which all women are in furious secret rebellion against the existing law is the saddling of the right to a child with the obligation to become the servant of a man.
1908 Getting Married, preface, 'The Right to Motherhood'.
- 55 Physically there is nothing to distinguish human society from the farmyard except that children are more troublesome and costly than chickens and calves, and that men and women are not so completely enslaved as farm stock.
1908 Getting Married, preface, 'The Personal Sentimental Basis of Monogamy'.
- 56 You see, family life is all the life she knows: she's like a bird born in a cage, that would die if you let it loose in the woods.
1908 Bill Collins about his wife. Getting Married.
- 57 A man is like a phonograph with half-a-dozen records. You soon get tired of them all; and yet you have to sit at table whilst he reels them off to every new visitor. In the end you have to be content with his common humanity.
1908 The Bishop of Chelsea. Getting Married.
- 58 I am a snob, not only in fact, but on principle.
1908 St John Hotchkiss. Getting Married.
- 59 Optimistic lies have such immense therapeutic value that a doctor who cannot tell them convincingly has mistaken his profession.
1910 Misalliance, preface.
- 60 Anybody on for a game of tennis?
1910 Misalliance. This may be the origin of 'Anyone for tennis?', as used in archetypal theatrical drawing-room comedies.
- 61 The English have no respect for their language, and will not teach their children to speak it. They spell it so abominably that no man can teach himself what it sounds like. It is impossible for an Englishman to open his mouth without making some other Englishman hate or despise him.
1913 Pygmalion, Preface.
- 62 He's a gentleman: look at his boots.
1913 Bystander. Pygmalion, act 1.
- 63 I don't want to talk grammar, I want to talk like a lady.
1913 Eliza Doolittle. Pygmalion, act 2.
- 64 Have you ever met a man of good character where women are concerned?
1913 Higgins to Pickering. Pygmalion, act 2.
- 65 'Have you no morals, man?'
 'Can't afford them, Governor.'
1913 Col Pickering and Alfred Doolittle. Pygmalion, act 2.
- 66 I'm one of the undeserving poor... up agen middle-class morality all the time... What is middle-class morality?
 Just an excuse for never giving me anything.
1913 Alfred Doolittle. Pygmalion, act 2.
- 67 Gin was mother's milk to her.
1913 Eliza, speaking of her Aunt. Pygmalion, act 3.
- 68 Walk! Not bloody likely. I am going in a taxi.
1913 Eliza to Freddy. Pygmalion, act 3.
- 69 The secret of being miserable is to have leisure to bother about whether you are happy or not. The cure for it is occupation.
1914 Parents and Children.
- 70 A perpetual holiday is a good working definition of hell.
1914 Parents and Children.
- 71 I am a woman of the world, Hector; and I can assure you that if you will only take the trouble always to do the perfectly correct thing, and to say the perfectly correct thing, you can do just what you like.

- 1919 Lady Utterword to Hector Hushabye. Heartbreak House, act 1.
- 72 It's prudent to gain the whole world and lose your own soul. But don't forget that your soul sticks to you if you stick to it; but the world has a way of slipping through your fingers.
1919 Captain Shotover. Heartbreak House, act 2.
- 73 There are only two classes in good society in England: the equestrian classes and the neurotic classes.
1919 Lady Utterword. Heartbreak House, act 3.
- 74 Go anywhere in England where there are natural, wholesome, contented, and really nice English people; and what do you always find? That the stables are the real centre of the household.
1919 Lady Utterword. Heartbreak House, act 3.
- 75 This souls' prison we call England.
1919 Hector Hushabye. Heartbreak House, act 3.
- 76 The captain is in his bunk, drinking bottled ditch-water; and the crew is gambling in the forecastle. She will strike and sink and split. Do you think the laws of God will be suspended in favour of England because you were born in it?
1919 Captain Shotover. Heartbreak House, act 3.
- 77 Everyone can see that the people who hunt are the right people and the people who don't are the wrong ones.
1919 Lady Usherword to Mrs Hushabye. Heartbreak House, act 3.
- 78 All great truths begin as blasphemies.
1919 Annajanska.
- 79 I enjoy convalescence. It is the part that makes illness worth while.
1921 Back to Methuselah.
- 80 Silence is the most perfect expression of scorn.
1921 Back to Methuselah.
- 81 If ever I utter an oath again may my soul be blasted to eternal damnation!
1923 Captain La Hire. Saint Joan, sc.2.
- 82 No Englishman is ever fairly beaten.
1923 The Chaplain. Saint Joan, sc.4.
- 83 How can what an Englishman believes be heresy? It is a contradiction in terms.
1923 The Chaplain to Peter Cauchon. Saint Joan, sc.4.
- 84 Some men are born kings; and some are born statesmen. The two are seldom the same.
1923 Peter Cauchon. Saint Joan, sc.4.
- 85 Must then a Christ perish in torment in every age to save those that have no imagination?
1923 Saint Joan, epilogue.
- 86 Idiots are always in favour of inequality of income (their only chance of eminence), and the really great in favour of equality.
1928 The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism.
- 87 Many men would hardly miss their heads, there is so little in them.
1929 King Magnus. The Apple Cart, act 1.
- 88 One man that has a mind and knows it can always beat ten men who haven't and don't.
1929 Joe Proteus. The Apple Cart, act 1.
- 89 As interesting as a wall can be.
c.1930 Asked what he thought of the Great Wall after his flight over China. Quoted in Hesketh Pearson Bernard Shaw: His Life and Personality (1961).
- 90 The fact is, there are no rules and there never were any rules, and there never will be any rules of musical composition except rules of thumb; and thumbs vary in length, like ears.
1931 Music in London, 1890–1894.
- 91 [The Red Flag] is the funeral march of a fried eel. Quoted by Winston Churchill in Great Contemporaries (1937).
- 92 A perpendicular expression of a horizontal desire. Of dancing. Quoted in the New Statesman, 23 Mar 1962.
- 93 That's the difference between us. You talk of art Mr Goldwyn, I think of money. To Samuel Goldwyn. Quoted in David Niven Bring on the Empty Horses (1975).
- 94 Baseball has the great advantage over cricket of being sooner ended. It combines the best features of that primitive form of cricket known as Tip-and-Run with those of lawn tennis, Puss-in-the-corner and Handel's Messiah. Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).
- 95 No sportsman wants to kill a fox or the pheasant as I want to kill him when I see him doing it. Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).
- 96 There is no reason why the infield should not try to put the batter off his stride at the critical moment, by neatly-timed disparagements of his wife's fidelity and his mother's respectability. Alluding to baseball. Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).
- 97 Who is this 'Babe' Ruth? And what does she do? Of the legendary baseball star 'Babe' Ruth. Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).
- 98 England and America are two countries divided by a common language. Attributed.
- 99 If all the economists in the world were laid end to end, they would not reach a conclusion. Attributed.
- 1 To begin with, I was born with an unreasonably large stock of relations, who have increased and multiplied ever since. My aunts and uncles were legion, and my cousins as the sands of the sea without number. Consequently, even a low death-rate meant, in the course of mere natural decay, a tolerably steady supply of funerals for a by no means affectionate but exceedingly clannish family to go to. Add to this that the town we lived in, being divided in religious opinion, buried its dead in two great cemeteries, each of which was held by the opposite faction to be the ante-chamber of perdition, and by its own patrons to be the gate of paradise. 'Music in London'.
- 2 You see things, and you say, 'Why?' But I dream things that never were; and I say 'Why not?'
The Serpent
- 3 [Lord Rosebery] was a man who never missed an occasion to let slip an opportunity. Quoted by Winston Churchill in Great Contemporaries (1937).

Shawcross, Sir Hartley William, Baron Shawcross

1902–2003

English jurist, Attorney General (1945–51) and President of the Board of Trade (1951). He established his reputation as chief British prosecutor at the Nuremberg Trials (1945–6), and as prosecutor in the Fuchs atom spy case (1950). He was made a life peer in 1959.

- 4 We are the masters at the moment, and not only at the moment, but for a very long time to come.
1946 Alluding to Labour's victory in the general election, House of Commons, 2 Apr.
- 5 The so-called new morality is too often the old immorality condoned.
1963 In the Observer, 17 Jul.

Shawcross, William 1946–

English journalist whose book Sideshow (1979) detailed US involvement in Cambodia up to 1975.

- 6 Cambodia was not a mistake; it was a crime. The world is diminished by the experience.
1979 Sideshow, afterword.

Sheehy-Skeffington, Francis 1878–1916

Irish pacifist and feminist.

- 7 A crank is a small engine that causes revolutions.
 On being described as a crank, quoted by his son Owen.

Sheen, Fulton John 1895–1979

US Roman Catholic prelate, who argued strenuously against Communism and birth control.

- 8 Our Lord... said that if men withheld their praise of him, 'the very stones would cry out', which they did as, later, they burst into Gothic cathedrals.
1962 These Are the Sacraments.

Shelley, Mary Godwin 1797–1851

English novelist, who married Percy Bysshe Shelley (1816). Her most famous work is Frankenstein (1818), written when she was only 19. After her husband's death she wrote Valperga (1823), The Last Man (1826), Perkin Warbeck (1830), Lodore (1835) and Falkner (1837) and edited her husband's works.

- 9 You seek for knowledge and wisdom as I once did; and I ardently hope that the gratification of your wishes may not be a serpent to sting you, as mine has been.
1818 Frankenstein, letter 4.
- 10 I was their plaything and their idol, and something better—their child.
1818 Frankenstein, speaking of his parents. Frankenstein, ch.1.
- 11 So much has been done, exclaimed the soul of Frankenstein—more, far more, will I achieve; treading the steps already marked, I will pioneer a new way, explore unknown powers, and unfold to the world the deepest mysteries of creation.
1818 Frankenstein, ch.3.
- 12 All men hate the wretched; how, then, must I be hated, who am miserable beyond all living things! Yet you, my creator, detest and spurn me, thy creature, to whom thou art bound by ties only dissoluble by the annihilation of one of us.
1818 Frankenstein's monster. Frankenstein, ch.10.

- 13 Everywhere I see bliss, from which I alone am irrevocably excluded.

1818 Frankenstein's monster. Frankenstein, ch.10.

Shelley, Percy Bysshe 1792–1822

English lyric poet, who eloped with and later married Mary Godwin. He was a leading light of the Romantic movement and a lifelong atheist. His early poems include Queen Mab (1813). He later wrote tragedies such as The Cenci (1818), lyrical poems such as 'Ode to the West Wind' (1819) and lyric dramas such as Prometheus Unbound (1820).

- 14 The discussion of any subject is a right that you have brought into the world with your heart and tongue. Resign your heart's blood before you part with this inestimable privilege of man.
1812 An Address to the Irish People.

- 15 Titles are tinsel, power a corrupter, glory a bubble, and excessive wealth a libel on its possessor.

1812 Declaration of Rights, article 27.

- 16 That sweet bondage which is freedom's self.

1813 Queen Mab, canto 9.

- 17 There is no disease, bodily or mental, which adoption of vegetable diet and pure water has not infallibly mitigated, wherever the experiment has been fairly tried.

1813 'A Vindication of Natural Diet'.

- 18 Mont Blanc yet gleams on high: the power is there,
 The still and solemn power of many sights
 And many sounds, and much of life and death.
 In the long glare of day, the snows descend
 Upon that Mountain; none beholds them there,
 Nor when the flakes burn in the sinking sun,
 Or the sunbeams dart through them.

1816 'Mont Blanc'.

- 19 The awful shadow of some unseen Power Floats though unseen among us,—visiting
 This various world with as inconstant wing
 As summer winds that creep from flower to flower.

1816 'Hymn to Intellectual Beauty'.

- 20 While yet a boy I sought for ghosts, and sped Through many a listening chamber, cave and ruin,
 And starlight wood, with fearful steps pursuing Hopes of high talks with the departed dead.

1816 'Hymn to Intellectual Beauty'.

- 21 The day becomes more solemn and serene
 When noon is past—there is a harmony
 In autumn, and a lustre in its sky,
 Which through the summer is not heard or seen,
 As if it could not be, as if it had not been!

1816 'Hymn to Intellectual Beauty'.

- 22 Nought may endure but Mutability.

1816 'Mutability'.

- 23 In honoured poverty thy voice did weave Songs concentrate to truth and liberty,—
 Deserting these, thou leavest me to grieve, Thus having been, that thou shouldst cease to be.

1816 'To Wordsworth'.

- 24 I love all waste
 And solitary places; where we taste
 The pleasure of believing what we see
 Is boundless, as we wish our souls to be.

1818 'Julian and Maddalo', l.14–16.

- 25 Thou Paradise of exiles, Italy!
1818 'Julian and Maddalo', l.57.
- 26 Me—who am as a nerve o'er which do creep
The else unfelt oppressions of this earth.
1818 'Julian and Maddalo', l.449–50.
- 27 Most wretched men
Are cradled into poetry by wrong:
They learn in suffering what they teach in song.
1818 'Julian and Maddalo', l.544–7.
- 28 Beneath is spread like a green sea
The waveless plain of Lombardy, Bounded by the vaporous air,
Islanded by cities fair;
Underneath Day's azure eyes,
Ocean's nursling, Venice lies,—
A peopled labyrinth of walls,
Amphitrite's destined halls.
1818 'Lines written amongst the Euganean Hills', l.90–7.
- 29 Sun-girt city, thou hast been Ocean's child, and then his queen;
Now is come a darker day,
And thou soon must be his prey.
1818 'Lines written amongst the Euganean Hills', l.115–18.
- 30 The City's voice itself is soft like Solitude's.
1818 'Stanzas Written in Dejection, near Naples'.
- 31 I see the waves upon the shore,
Like light dissolved in star-showers, thrown.
1818 'Stanzas Written in Dejection, near Naples'.
- 32 Alas! I have nor hope nor health,
Nor peace within nor calm around,
Nor that content surpassing wealth
The sage in meditation found.
1818 'Stanzas Written in Dejection, near Naples'.
- 33 With hue like that when some great painter dips
His pencil in the gloom of earthquake and eclipse.
1818 'The Revolt of Islam'.
- 34 An old, mad, blind, despised, and dying king.
1819 'England in 1819' (published in 1839).
- 35 His big tears, for he wept well,
Turned to mill-stones as they fell.
And the little children, who Round his feet played to and fro,
Thinking every tear a gem,
Had their brains knocked out by them.
1819 Of Fraud (ie, Lord Eldon). 'The Mask of Anarchy'.
- 36 I met Murder on the way—
He had a mask like Castlereagh.
1819 'The Mask of Anarchy', alluding to English foreign secretary Viscount Castlereagh, who was held responsible for the Peterloo Massacre in 1819.
- 37 On his brow this mark I saw—
'I AM GOD, AND KING, AND LAW!'
1819 'The Mask of Anarchy'.
- 38 Rise like Lions after slumber
In unvanquishable number—Shake your chains to earth like dew
Which in sleep has fallen on you—Ye are many—they are few.
1819 'The Mask of Anarchy'.
- 39 I wield the flail of the lashing hail,
And whiten the green plains under,
And then again I dissolve it in rain,
And laugh as I pass in thunder.
1819 'The Cloud'.
- 40 That orbèd maiden, with white fire laden,
Whom mortals call the Moon.
1819 'The Cloud'.
- 41 I am the daughter of Earth and Water,
And the nursling of the Sky;
I pass through the pores of the ocean and shores;
I change, but I cannot die,
For after the rain when with never a stain
The pavilion of Heaven is bare,
And the winds and sunbeams with their convex gleams
Build up the blue dome of air,
I silently laugh at my own cenotaph,
And out of the caverns of rain,
Like a child from the womb, like a ghost from the tomb,
I arise and unbuild it again.
1819 'The Cloud'.
- 42 The fountains mingle with the river,
And the rivers with the ocean;
The winds of heaven mix for ever
With a sweet emotion;
Nothing in the world is single;
All things, by a law divine,
In one spirit meet and mingle.
Why not I with thine?
1819 'Love and Philosophy'.
- 43 O wild West Wind, thou breath of Autumn's being,
Thou, from whose unseen presence the leaves dead
Are driven, like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing.
1819 'Ode to the West Wind', l.1–3.
- 44 Wild Spirit, which art moving everywhere;
Destroyer and preserver; hear, oh, hear!
1819 'Ode to the West Wind', l.13–4.
- 45 Thou who didst waken from his summer dreams
The blue Mediterranean, where he lay,
Lulled by the coil of his crystalline streams

Beside a pumice isle in Baiae's bay,
And saw in sleep old palaces and towers
Quivering within the wave's intenser day,

All overgrown with azure moss and flowers
So sweet, the sense faints picturing them.
1819 'Ode to the West Wind', l.29–36.
- 46 Oh, lift me as a wave, a leaf, a cloud!
I fall upon the thorns of life! I bleed!
1819 'Ode to the West Wind', l.53–4.
- 47 Make me thy lyre, even as the forest is:
What if my leaves are falling like its own!
The tumult of thy mighty harmonies
Will take from both a deep, autumnal tone,
Sweet though in sadness.
1819 'Ode to the West Wind', l.57–61.
- 48 And, by the incarnation of this verse,
Scatter, as from an unextinguished hearth
Ashes and sparks, my words among mankind!
Be through my lips to unawakened earth

- The trumpet of a prophecy! O Wind,
If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?
1819 'Ode to the West Wind', l.65–70.
- 49 I met a traveller from an antique land
Who said: Two vast and trunkless legs of stone Stand in the desert.
1819 'Ozymandias'.
- 50 'My name is Ozymandias, king of kings:
Look on my works, ye Mighty, and despair!
Nothing beside remains. Round the decay
Of that colossal wreck, boundless and bare
The lone and level sands stretch far away.
1819 'Ozymandias'.
- 51 Hell is a city much like London—
A populous and smoky city.
1819 'Peter Bell the Third' pt.3, stanza 1.
- 52 But from the first 'twas Peter's drift
To be a kind of moral eunuch,
He touched the hem of Nature's shift,
Felt faint—and never dared uplift
The closest, all-concealing tunic.
1819 'Peter Bell the Third', pt.4, stanza 11.
- 53 Men of England, wherefore plough
For the lords who lay you low?
1819 'Song to the Men of England'.
- 54 Hail to thee, blithe Spirit!
Bird thou never wert,
That from Heaven, or near it,
Pourest thy full heart
In profuse strains of unpremeditated art.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 1.
- 55 Higher still and higher
From the earth thou springest
Like a cloud of fire;
The blue deep thou wingest
And singing still dost soar, and soaring ever singest.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 2.
- 56 In the golden lightning
Of the sunken sun
O'er which clouds are brightening,
Thou dost float and run
Like an unbodied joy whose race is just begun.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 3.
- 57 Keen as are the arrows
Of that silver sphere,
Whose intense lamp narrows
In the white dawn clear
Until we hardly see, we feel that it is there.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 5.
- 58 Like a Poet hidden
In the light of thought,
Singing hymns unbidden,
Till the world is wrought
To sympathy with hopes and fears it heeded not.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 8.
- 59 What objects are the fountains
Of thy happy strain?
What fields, or waves, or mountains?
What shapes of sky or plain?
What love of thine own kind? What ignorance of pain?
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 15.
- 60 With thy clear keen joyance Languor cannot be:
Shadow of annoyance
Never came near thee:
Thou lovest—but ne'er knew love's sad satiety.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 16.
- 61 We look before and after,
And pine for what is not:
Our sincerest laughter
With some pain is fraught:
Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest thought.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 18.
- 62 Better than all measures
Of delightful sound,
Better than all treasures
That in books are found,
Thy skill to poet were, thou scorner of the ground!
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 21.
- 63 Teach me half the gladness
That thy brain must know,
Such harmonious madness
From my lips would flow
The world should listen then—as I am listening now.
1820 'To a Skylark', stanza 21.
- 64 Chameleons feed on light and air:
Poet's food is love and game.
1820 'An Exhortation'.
- 65 London, that great sea, whose ebb and flow
At once is deaf and loud, and on the shore
Vomits its wrecks, and still howls on for more.
1820 'Letter to Maria Gisborne', l.193–5.
- 66 You will see Coleridge—he who sits obscure
In the exceeding lustre and the pure Intense irradiation of a mind,
Which, through its own internal lighting blind,
Flags wearily through darkness and despair—
A cloud-encircled meteor of the air,
A hooded eagle among blinking owls—
You will see Hunt—one of those happy souls
Which are the salt of the earth, and without whom
This world would smell like what it is—a tomb.
1820 'Letter to Maria Gisborne' l.202–11.
- 67 Have you not heard
When a man marries, dies, or turns Hindoo,
His best friends hear no more of him?
1820 'Letter to Maria Gisborne' l.235–7.
- 68 His fine wit
Makes such a wound, the knife is lost in it.
1820 Of Thomas Love Peacock. 'Letter to Maria Gisborne', l.240–1.
- 69 Ere Babylon was dust,
The Magus Zoroaster, my dead child,
Met his own image walking in the garden,
That apparition, sole of men, he saw.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 1, l.191–4.
- 70 Cruel he looks, but calm and strong,
Like one who does, not suffers wrong.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 1, l.238–9.
- 71 It doth repent me: words are quick and vain:
Grief for a while is blind, and so was mine.

- I wish no living thing to suffer pain.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 1, l.303–5.
- 72 Kingly conclaves stern and cold,
Where blood with guilt is bought and sold.
1820 Prometheus Unbound act 1, l.530–1.
- 73 The good want power, but to weep barren tears.
The powerful goodness want: worse need for them.
The wise want love; and those who love want wisdom.
1820 Prometheus Unbound act 1, l.625–7.
- 74 Peace is in the grave.
The grave hides all things beautiful and good:
I am a God and cannot find it there.
1820 Prometheus Unbound act 1, l.638–40.
- 75 The dust of creeds outworn.
1820 Prometheus Unbound act 1, l.697.
- 76 On a poet's lips I slept Dreaming like a love-adept
In the sound his breathing kept.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 1, l.737–9.
- 77 To be
Omnipotent but friendless is to reign.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 2, sc.4, l.147–8.
- 78 He gave man speech, and speech created thought,
Which is the measure of the universe.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 2, sc.4, l.172–3.
- 79 Fate, Time, Occasion, Chance, and Change? To these
All things are subject but eternal love.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 2, sc.4, l.119–20.
- 80 My soul is an enchanted boat,
Which, like a sleeping swan, doth float
Upon the silver waves of thy sweet singing.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 2, sc.5, l.72–4.
- 81 The loathsome mask has fallen, the man remains Sceptreless, free, uncircumscribed, but man
Equal, unclassed, tribeless, and nationless,
Exempt from awe, worship, degree, the king
Over himself; just, gentle, wise: but man
Passionless?—no, yet free from guilt or pain,
Which were, for his will made or suffered them,
Nor yet exempt, though ruling them like slaves,
From chance, and death, and mutability,
The clogs of that which else might oversoar
The loftiest star of unascended heaven,
Pinnacled dim in the intense inane.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 3, sc.4, l.193–204.
- 82 A traveller from the cradle to the grave
Through the dim night of this immortal day.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 4, l.551–2.
- 83 To suffer woes which Hope thinks infinite;
To forgive wrongs darker than death or night;
To defy Power, which seems omnipotent:
To love, and bear; to hope till Hope creates
From its own wreck the thing it contemplates;
Neither to change, nor falter, nor repent;
This, like thy glory, Titan, is to be Good, great and joyous, beautiful and free;
This is alone Life, Joy, Empire and Victory.
1820 Prometheus Unbound, act 4, l.570–8.
- 84 A Sensitive Plant in a garden grew.
1820 'The Sensitive Plant', pt.1, l.1.
- 85 And the rose like a nymph to the bath addressed,
Which unveiled the depth of her glowing breast,
Till, fold after fold, to the fainting air
The soul of her beauty and love lay bare.
1820 'The Sensitive Plant', pt.1, l.29–32.
- 86 And the jessamine faint, and the sweet tuberose,
The sweetest flower for scent that blows.
1820 'The Sensitive Plant', pt.1, l.37–8.
- 87 A lovely lady, garmented in light
From her own beauty.
1820 'The Witch of Atlas', stanza 5.
- 88 For she was beautiful—her beauty made
The bright world dim, and everything beside Seemed like the fleeting image of a shade.
1820 'The Witch of Atlas', stanza 12.
- 89 The cemetery is an open space among the ruins, covered in winter with violets and daisies. It might make one in love with death, to think that one should be buried in so sweet a place.
1821 Adonais, preface.
- 90 I weep for Adonais—he is dead!
O, weep for Adonais! though our tears
Thaw not the frost which binds so dear a head!
1821 Adonais, stanza 1.
- 91 He died,
Who was the Sire of an immortal strain,
Blind, old and lonely.
1821 Adonais, stanza 4.
- 92 To that high Capital, where kingly Death
Keeps his pale court in beauty and decay,
He came.
1821 Adonais, stanza 7.
- 93 The quick Dreams,
The passion-winged Ministers of thought.
1821 Adonais, stanza 9.
- 94 Lost Angel of a ruined Paradise!
She knew not 'twas her own; as with no stain
She faded, like a cloud which had outwept its rain.
1821 Adonais, stanza 10.
- 95 Ah, woe is me! Winter is come and gone,
But grief returns with the revolving year.
1821 Adonais, stanza 18.
- 96 From the great morning of the world when first God dawned on Chaos.
1821 Adonais, stanza 19.
- 97 Alas! that all we loved of him should be,
But for our grief, as if it had not been,
And grief itself be mortal!
1821 Adonais, stanza 21.
- 98 Whence are we, and why are we? Of what scene
The actors or spectators?
1821 Adonais, stanza 21.
- 99 A pard-like Spirit, beautiful and swift—
A love in desolation masked;—a Power
Girt round with weakness;—it can scarce uplift
The weight of the superincumbent hour;
It is a dying lamp, a falling shower,
A breaking billow;—even whilst we speak
Is it not broken?
1821 Adonais, stanza 32.

- 1 Our Adonais has drunk poison—oh!
What deaf and viperous murderer could crown
Life's early cup with such a draught of woe?
1821 Adonais, stanza 36.
- 2 He wakes or sleeps with the enduring dead;
Thou canst not soar where he is sitting now—
Dust to the dust! but the pure spirit shall flow Back to the burning fountain whence it came,
A portion of the Eternal.
1821 Adonais, stanza 38.
- 3 He hath awakened from the dream of life—
'Tis we, who lost in stormy visions, keep
With phantoms an unprofitable strife,
And in mad trance, strike with our spirit's knife
Invulnerable nothings.
1821 Adonais, stanza 39.
- 4 He has out-soared the shadow of our night;
Envy and calumny and hate and pain,
And that unrest which men miscall delight,
Can touch him not and torture not again;
From the contagion of the world's slow stain
He is secure, and now can never mourn
A heart grown cold, a head grown grey in vain.
1821 Adonais, stanza 40.
- 5 He lives, he wakes,—'tis Death is dead, not he.
1821 Adonais, stanza 41.
- 6 He is a portion of the loveliness
Which once he made more lovely.
1821 Adonais, stanza 43.
- 7 The One remains, the many change and pass;
Heaven's light forever shines, Earth's shadows fly:
Life, like a dome of many-coloured glass,
Stains the white radiance of Eternity,
Until Death tramples it to fragments.
1821 Adonais, stanza 52.
- 8 I never was attached to that great sect, Whose doctrine is that each one should select
Out of the crowd a mistress or a friend,
And all the rest, though fair and wise, commend
To cold oblivion.
1821 'Epipsychidion', l.149–53.
- 9 The beaten road
Which those poor slaves with weary footsteps tread,
Who travel to their home among the dead
By the broad highway of the world, and so
With one chained friend, perhaps a jealous foe,
The dreariest and the longest journey go.
1821 'Epipsychidion', l.154–9.
- 10 True Love in this differs from gold and clay,
That to divide is not to take away.
1821 'Epipsychidion', l.160–1.
- 11 An isle under Ionian skies
Beautiful as a wreck of Paradise.
1821 'Epipsychidion', l.422–3.
- 12 I pant, I sink, I tremble, I expire!
1821 'Epipsychidion', l.591.
- 13 The vanity of translation; it were as wise to cast a violet into a crucible that you might discover the formal principle of its colour and odour, as seek to transfuse from one language to another the creations of a poet.
The plant must spring again from its seed, or it will bear no flower.
1821 A Defence of Poetry.
- 14 The great instrument of moral good is the imagination;
and poetry administers to the effect by acting on the cause.
1821 A Defence of Poetry.
- 15 A single word even may be a spark of inextinguishable thought.
1821 A Defence of Poetry.
- 16 Poetry is a record of the best and happiest moments of the happiest and best minds.
1821 A Defence of Poetry.
- 17 Poets are the hierophants of an unapprehended inspiration; the mirrors of the gigantic shadows which futuraity casts upon the present; the words which express what they understand not; the trumpets which sing to battle, and feel not what they inspire; the influence which is moved not, but moves. Poets are the unacknowledged legislators of the world.
1821 A Defence of Poetry.
- 18 Death will come when thou art dead,
Soon, too soon—
Sleep will come when thou art fled;
Of neither would I ask the boon
I ask of thee, beloved Night—
Swift be thine approaching flight,
Come soon, soon!
1821 'To Night'.
- 19 Life may change, but it may fly not,
Hope may vanish, but can die not;
Truth be veiled, but still it burneth;
Love repulsed,—but it returneth!
1822 'Hellas', l.34–7.
- 20 Let there be light! Said Liberty,
And like sunrise from the sea,
Athens arose!
1822 'Hellas', l.682–4.
- 21 The world's great age begins anew,
The golden years return,
The earth doth like a snake renew
Her winter weeds outworn;
Heaven smiles, and faiths and empires gleam,
Like wrecks of a dissolving dream.
1822 'Hellas', l.1060–5.
- 22 O cease! must hate and death return,
Cease! must men kill and die?
Cease! drain not to its dregs the urn
Of bitter prophecy.
The world is weary of the past,
Oh, might it die or rest at last!
1822 'Hellas', l.1096–101.
- 23 I dreamed that, as I wandered by the way,
Bare Winter suddenly was changed to Spring,
And gentle odours led my steps astray,
Mixed with a sound of water's murmuring
Along a shelving bank of turf, which lay
Under a copse, and hardly dared to fling
Its green arms round the bosom of the stream,
But kissed it and then fled, as thou mightst in dream.
1822 'The Question', stanza 1.

- 24 Daisies, those pearly Arcturi of the earth,
The constellated flower that never sets.
1822 'The Question', stanza 2.
- 25 And in the warm hedge grew lush eglantine,
Green cowbind and the moonlight-coloured may.
1822 'The Question', stanza 3.
- 26 Less oft peace in Shelley's mind,
Than calm in waters seen.
1822 'To Jane: The Recollection'.
- 27 Music when soft voices die,
Vibrates in the memory—
Odours, when sweet violets sicken,
Live within the sense theyicken.
'To—: Music when soft voices die' (published 1824).
- 28 I pursued a maiden and clasped a reed:
Gods and men, we are all deluded thus!
It breaks in our bosom and then we bleed.
'Hymn of Pan' (published 1824).
- 29 Swiftly walk o'er the western wave, Spirit of Night!
Out of the misty eastern cave,
Where, all the long and lone daylight,
Thou wovest dreams of joy and fear,
Which make thee terrible and dear,
Swift be thy flight!
'To Night' (published 1824).
- 30 Art thou pale for weariness
Of climbing heaven, and gazing on the earth,
Wandering companionless
Among the stars that have a different birth,—
And ever-changing, like a joyless eye
That finds no object worth its constancy?
'To the Moon' (published 1824).
- 31 And like a dying lady, lean and pale,
Who totters forth, wrapped in a gauzy veil.
'The Waning Moon' (published 1824).
- Sheridan, Philip Henry 1831–88
American Union cavalry commander in the Civil War and the American-Indian wars.
- 32 The only good Indian is a dead Indian.
1869 Attributed comment at Fort Cobb, Jan.
- 33 We took away their country and their means of support, broke up their mode of living, their habits of life, introduced disease and decay among them and it was for this and against this they made war. Could anyone expect less?
c.1870 Quoted in Thomas C Leonard Above the Battle (1978).
- Sheridan, Richard Brinsley 1751–1816
Irish dramatist. His major plays, The Rivals, The Duenna, and The Critic, were produced between 1775 and 1779. He became an MP and in 1782 under-secretary for foreign affairs, a renowned orator. He lost his seat in 1812.
- 34 Promise to forget this fellow—to illiterate him, I say, quite from your memory.
1775 Mrs Malaprop to Lydia. The Rivals, act 1, sc.2.
- 35 What business have you, miss, with preference and aversion?... You ought to know, that as both always wear off, 'tis safest in matrimony to begin with a little aversion.
- 1775 Mrs Malaprop to Lydia. The Rivals, act 1, sc.2.
- 36 Madam, a circulating library in a town is as an evergreen tree of diabolical knowledge!... Depend upon it, Mrs Malaprop, that they who are so fond of handling the leaves, will long for the fruit at last.
1775 Sir Anthony Absolute. The Rivals, act 1, sc.2.
- 37 I'll make my old clothes know who's master. I shall straightaway cashier the hunting-frock, and render my leather breeches incapable. My hair has been in training some time.
1775 Bob Acres. The Rivals, act 2, sc.1.
- 38 Though one eye may be very agreeable, yet as the prejudice has always run in favour of two, I would not wish to affect a singularity in that article.
1775 Jack Absolute. The Rivals, act 3, sc.1.
- 39 He is the very pine-apple of politeness.
1775 Mrs Malaprop of Jack Absolute. The Rivals, act 3, sc.3.
- 40 Sure, if I reprehend anything in this world it is the use of my oracular tongue, and a nice derangement of epitaphs.
1775 Mrs Malaprop. The Rivals, act 3, sc.3.
- 41 She's as headstrong as an allegory on the banks of the Nile.
1775 Mrs Malaprop of Lydia Languish. The Rivals, act 3, sc.3.
- 42 That's too civil by half.
1775 Bob Acres to Sir Lucius O' Trigger. The Rivals, act 3, sc.4.
- 43 Pray, sir, be easy; the quarrel is a very pretty quarrel as it stands; we should only spoil it by trying to explain it.
1775 Sir Lucius O' Trigger to Jack Absolute. The Rivals, act 4, sc.3.
- 44 [To] have an unmannerly fat clerk ask the consent of every butcher in the parish to join John Absolute and Lydia Languish, spinster. Oh that I should live to hear myself called spinster!
1775 Lydia Languish, who had hoped for a romantic elopement.
The Rivals, act 5, sc.1.
- 45 Oh, poor Dolly! I never shall see her like again; such an arm for a bandage—veins that seemed to invite the lancet.
1775 Dr Rosy. St Patrick's Day, act 1, sc.1.
- 46 A bumper of good liquor,
Will end a contest quicker
Than justice, judge or vicar.
1775 The Duenna, act 2, sc.3.
- 47 Conscience has no more to do with gallantry than it has with politics.
1775 Isaac to Don Antonio. The Duenna, act 2, sc.4.
- 48 BERINTHIA: Your lordship, I suppose, is fond of music?
LORD FOP: Oh, passionately, on Tuesdays and Saturdays.
1777 A Trip to Scarborough, act 2, sc.1.
- 49 Ah, Amanda, it's a delicious thing to be a young widow!
1777 A Trip to Scarborough, act 2, sc.1.
- 50 Alas! the devil's sooner raised than laid.
So strong, so swift, the monster there's no gagging:
Cut Scandal's head off, still the tongue is wagging.
1777 The School for Scandal, prologue.
- 51 I think you will like them, when you shall see them on a beautiful quarto page, where a neat rivulet of text shall meander through a meadow of margin.
1777 Sir Benjamin Backbite, of his love elegies to Maria. The School for Scandal, act 1, sc.1.

- 52 I'm called away by particular business. But I leave my character behind me.
1777 Sir Peter Teazle, leaving a gathering of gossips. The School for Scandal, act 2, sc.2.
- 53 I hate to see prudence clinging to the green suckers of youth; 'tis like ivy round a sapling, and spoils the growth of the tree.
1777 Sir Oliver Surface. The School for Scandal, act 2, sc.3.
- 54 Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen;
 Here's to the widow of fifty;
 Here's to the flaunting extravagant quean;
 And here's to the housewife that's thrifty.
Chorus. Let the toast pass,
 Drink to the lass—
 I'll warrant she'll prove an excuse for a glass!
1777 Song. The School for Scandal, act 3, sc.3.
- 55 Wine does but draw forth a man's natural qualities.
1777 Charles Surface. The School for Scandal, act 3, sc.3.
- 56 When a scandalous story is believed against one, there is certainly no comfort like the conscience of having deserved it.
1777 Joseph Surface. The School for Scandal, act 4, sc.3.
- 57 There needs no small degree of address to gain the reputation of benevolence without incurring the expense.
1777 Joseph Surface. The School for Scandal, act 5, sc.1.
- 58 The newspapers! Sir, they are the most villainous—licentious—abominable—infernal—Not that I ever read them—No—I make it a rule never to look into a newspaper.
1779 The Critic, act 1, sc.1.
- 59 If there is anything to one's praise, it is a foolish vanity to be gratified at it; and, if it is abuse—why one is always sure to hear of it from one damned good-natured friend or other!
1779 Sir Fretful Plagiary, of newspaper criticism. The Critic, act 1, sc.1.
- 60 Mr Dangle, here are two very civil gentlemen trying to make themselves understood, and I don't know which is the interpreter.
1779 Mrs Dangle. The Critic, act 1, sc.2.
- 61 Puffing is of various sorts; the principal are, the puff direct, the puff preliminary, the puff collateral, the puff collusive, and the puff oblique, or puff by implication.
1779 Mr Puff. The Critic, act 1, sc.2.
- 62 The number of those who undergo the fatigue of judging for themselves is very small indeed.
1779 Mr Puff. The Critic, act 1, sc.2.
- 63 The puff collusive is the newest of any; for it acts in the disguise of determined hostility. It is much used by bold booksellers and enterprising poets.
1779 Mr Puff. The Critic, act 1, sc.2.
- 64 No scandal about Queen Elizabeth, I hope?
1779 Mr Sneer, of Mr Puff's tragedy 'The Spanish Armada'. The Critic, act 2, sc.1.
- 65 I open with a clock striking, to beget an awful attention in the audience: it also marks the time, which is four o'clock in the morning, and saves a description of the rising sun, and a great deal about gilding the eastern hemisphere.
1779 Mr Puff, of his tragedy 'The Spanish Armada'. The Critic, act 2, sc.2.

- 66 BEEFEATER: [a character in Mr Puff's play within a play, 'The Spanish Armada'] Perdition catch my soul but I do love thee.
 SNEER: Haven't I heard that line before?
 PUFF: No, I fancy not.—Where pray?
 DANGLE: Yes, I think there is something like it in Othello.
 PUFF: Gad! now you put me in mind on't, I believe there is—but that's of no consequence; all that can be said is, that two people happened to hit upon the same thought—and Shakespeare made use of it first, that's all.
1779 The Critic, act 3, sc.1.
- 67 When a heroine goes mad, she always goes into white satin.
1779 Mr Puff. The Critic, act 3, sc.1.
- 68 An oyster may be crossed in love!
1779 Tilburnia's 'mad' speech from 'The Spanish Armada'. The Critic, act 3, sc.1.
- 69 Give me the liberty of the Press, and I will give the Minister a venal House of Peers, I will give him a corrupt and servile House of Commons... armed with the liberty of the Press, I will go forth to meet him undismayed.
1810 Speech, House of Commons.

Sherman, Richard M and Robert B 1928–, 1925–

US song-writing brothers, who wrote songs for Disney films from 1959 and also complete scores for musicals. Among their best-known films are Mary Poppins (1964) and Chitty Chitty Bang Bang (1968).

- 70 Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious.
1964 Title of song from Mary Poppins.
- 71 Protocoligorically Correct.
1976 Title of song from The Slipper and the Rose.

Sherman, William Tecumseh 1820–91

US general. He was Union commander during the American Civil War, when he captured Atlanta in 1864 and divided Confederate forces by his 'march to the sea', hastening the surrender of the South.

- 72 There is many a boy here today who looks on war as all glory, but, boys, it is all hell.
1880 Speech at Columbus, Ohio, 11 Aug. Quoted in Lloyd Lewis Sherman Fighting Prophet (1932).

Sherriff, R(ober) C(edric) 1896–1975

British playwright, novelist and screenwriter. He achieved an international reputation with his first play Journey's End (1929). He also wrote screenplays for films such as The Invisible Man (1933), Goodbye Mr Chips (1939) and The Odd Man Out (1947).

- 73 Even the moon is frightened of me, frightened to death!
 The whole world is frightened to death!
1933 Line delivered by Claude Rains in The Invisible Man (with Philip Wylie).

Shevardnadze, Eduard Ambrosievich 1928–

Georgian-born Soviet politician. In 1978 he was inducted into the Politburo and was appointed Foreign Minister in 1985. He rapidly overhauled the Soviet foreign policy machine for a new era of détente. In 1992 he returned to Georgia, where he became Chairman of the Supreme Council and Head of State (1992–95) then President (1995–).

- 74 Democrats are fleeing in all directions. Reformers are going into hiding. A dictatorship is beginning, and no one knows what shape it will take or who will come to power.

1990 On the increasing disarray in the USSR caused by failing Soviet reforms, rivalry between the Gorbachev and Yeltsin factions and unrest in the Baltic states, in the Sunday Times, 23 Dec.

Shinwell, Emanuel Shinwell, Baron 1884–1986

English Labour politician. A 'street-corner' socialist in Glasgow, he became Secretary of State for War (1947) and Minister of Defence (1950–1). Known for his belligerence, he mellowed into a backbench 'elder statesman'. He wrote several autobiographical works.

75 We know that you, the organized workers of the country, are our friends... As for the rest, they do not matter a tinker's curse.

1947 Trade union conference, 7 May.

Shipton, Eric Earle 1908–77

British mountaineer, explorer and writer. The foremost mountain explorer of his generation, he facilitated the successful ascent of Everest in 1953. He wrote seven books, including an autobiography, That Untravelled World (1969).

76 I have never been able to decide whether, in mountain exploration, it is the prospect of tackling an unsolved problem, or the performance of the task itself, or the retrospective enjoyment of successful effort, which affords the greatest amount of pleasure.

1936 Nanda Devi.

77 Whatever may have been my enthusiasm or impatience to be up and doing on the night before, the hour for getting up always finds me with no other ambition in the world than to be permitted to lie where I am and sleep, sleep, sleep. Not so Tilman. I have never met anyone with such a complete disregard for the sublime comforts of the early morning bed. However monstrously early we might decide, the night before, to get up, he was about at least half an hour before the time. He was generally very good about it, and used to sit placidly smoking his pipe over the fire.

1936 On climbing with H W (Bill) Tilman. Nanda Devi.

78 We were now actually in the inner sanctuary of the Nanda Devi Basin, and at each step I experienced that subtle thrill which anyone of imagination must feel when treading hitherto unexplored country... My most blissful dream as a child was to be in some such valley, free to wander where I liked, and discover for myself some hitherto unrevealed glory of Nature. Now the reality was no less wonderful than that half-forgotten dream; and of how many childish fancies can that be said, in this age of disillusionment ?

1936 Nanda Devi.

Shirley, James 1596–1666

English dramatist. Educated at Oxford and Cambridge, he took holy orders but renounced them upon conversion to Catholicism. He died in the Great Fire of London. He wrote plays and masques, including the comedies Hyde Park (1634) and The Lady of Pleasure (1635), the tragedy The Cardinal (1641), and the masque The Contention of Ajax and Ulysses (1659).

79 How little room

Do we take up in death, that, living know
No bounds?

1626 The Wedding, act 4, sc.4.

80 'Tis no shame for men

Of his high birth to love a wench; his honour
May privilege more sins. Next to a woman,
He loves a running-horse.

1634 Hyde Park, act 1, sc.1.

81 RIDER: ...we can be but

What we are.

VENTURE: A pair of credulous fools.

1634 Hyde Park, act 1, sc.1.

82 I presume you're mortal, and may err.

1635 The Lady of Pleasure, act 2, sc.2.

83 The glories of our blood and state

Are shadows, not substantial things;

There is no armour against fate;

Death lays his icy hand on kings:

Scepter and crown

Must tumble down,

And in the dust be equal made

With the poor crooked scythe and spade.

1659 The Contention of Ajax and Ulysses, act 1, sc.3.

Shultz, George P(ratt) 1920–

US Former Secretary of State. A Professor of Chicago University's graduate business school (1957–68), he was US Secretary of Labor (1969–70), then assistant to President Nixon (1972–4). He was Secretary of State to President Reagan (1982–89). A fellow of the Hoover Institution, Stanford University (1989–) he is a distinguished author and was awarded the Seoul Peace Prize (1992).

84 He made a combative apology.

1987 On the ability of Elliott Abrams, Assistant Secretary for Inter-American Affairs, to acknowledge a sensitive question without giving a definite reply. In the New York Times, 25 Jul.

92 A ‘staffocracy’ has been created.
1993 On the National Security Council. Turmoil and Triumph.

93 You can’t figure him out like a fact, because to Reagan the main fact was a vision... He came from the heartland of the country, where people could be down-to-earth yet feel that the sky is the limit—not ashamed of, or cynical about, the American dream.
1993 Of Ronald Reagan. Turmoil and Triumph.

Shute, Nevil originally Nevil Shute Norway 1899–1960

English writer. An aeronautical engineer, he began to write novels in 1926 and after World War II emigrated to Australia, the setting for most of his later books, notably A Town Like Alice (1949) and On the Beach (1957).

94 A Town Like Alice 1949 Title of book.

Sidgwick, Henry 1838–1900

British economist, Professor at Cambridge.

95 We cannot not say how much wealth there is in a country till we know how it is shared among its inhabitants.
1883 Principles of Political Economy.

Sidmouth, Henry Addington, 1st Viscount 1757–1844

English statesman and Tory Prime Minister (1801–4) after the resignation of William Pitt the Younger. As Home Secretary (1812–21) he had to deal with the Luddite riots and the ‘Peterloo Massacre’ in Manchester (1819).

96 I hate liberality. Nine times out of ten it is cowardice—and the tenth time, lack of principle.
 Attributed.

Sidney, Algernon 1622–83

English Whig politician. He fought for the Parliamentary army in the English Civil War and in 1645 entered Parliament, but he resented Cromwell’s assumption of power, and retired to Penshurst (1653–9). In exile after the Restoration, in 1677 he was pardoned and returned, but was implicated in the Rye House Plot (1683) and beheaded.

97 Liars ought to have good memories.
Discourses Concerning Government (published 1689).

Sidney, Sir Philip 1554–86

English poet and patron. Educated at Oxford, he travelled widely; in 1585 he was made Governor of Flushing. He died after being wounded in the battle of Zutphen. His sonnet sequence Astrophel and Stella (published 1591) was an early example of the genre in English, as was his prose romance The Arcadia (The Old Arcadia, as it is called, was not published during Sidney’s lifetime; a revised version, The New Arcadia, was first published in 1590); his Defence of Poetry (published 1595) was the first English essay on literary criticism.

98 I readily admit that I am often more serious than I should be at my age or in my present circumstances, yet I know from experience that I am never less given to melancholy than when I am keenly applying the feeble powers of my mind to some arduous and difficult matter.

1574 Letter to Hubert Languet, 4 Feb.

99 O wretched state of man in self-division!
1581 The Old Arcadia, ‘First Eclogues’.

1 She was stricken with most obstinate love to a young man.
1581 The Old Arcadia, ‘First Eclogues’.

2 What allurements she used indifferently were long to tell.
1581 The Old Arcadia, ‘Second Eclogues’.

3 What be the fruits of speaking art? What grows by the words?
1581 The Old Arcadia, ‘Second Eclogues’.

4 My true love hath my heart and I have his,
 By just exchange one for the other giv’n;
 I hold his dear, and mine he cannot miss,
 There never was a better bargain driv’n.
1581 The Old Arcadia, ‘Third Eclogues’.

5 O sweet, on a wretch wilt thou be revenged?
 Shall such high planets tend to the loss of a worm?
1581 The Old Arcadia, ‘Fourth Eclogues’.

6 A lamentable tune is the sweetest music to a woeful mind.
1590 Arcadia, pt.2.

7 Loving in truth, and vain in verse my love to show,
 That she (dear she) might take some pleasure of my pain,
 Pleasure might cause her read, reading might make her know;
 Knowledge might pity win, and pity grace obtain.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 1.

8 But words came halting forth, wanting Invention’s stay;
 Invention, Nature’s child, fled step-dame Study’s blows...
 Biting my truant pen, beating myself for spite,
 ‘Fool,’ said my muse to me; ‘look in thy heart, and write.’
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 1.

9 Your rhubarb words.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 14.

10 Come sleep, O sleep, the certain knot of peace,
 The baiting place of wit, the balm of woe,
 The poor man’s wealth, the prisoner’s release,
 The indifferent judge between the high and low.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 39.

11 That sweet enemy, France.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 41.

12 Hope, art thou true, or dost thou flatter me?
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 67.

13 Oh heav’nly fool, thy most kiss-worthy face
 Anger invests with such a lovely grace
 That Anger’s self I needs must kiss again.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 73.

14 I am no pick-purse of another’s wit.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 74.

15 Stella, think not that I by verse seek fame;
 Who seek, who hope, who love, who live, but thee:
 Thine eyes my pride, thy lips my history;
 If thou praise not, all other praise is shame.
1591 Astrophel and Stella, sonnet 90.

16 I have just cause to make a pitiful defence of poor poetry, which from almost the highest estimation of learning is fallen to be the laughing stock of children.

1595 The Defence of Poetry.

- 17 And truly, even Plato, whosoever well considereth shall find that in the body of his work, though the inside and strength were philosophy, the skin as it were and beauty depended most on poetry.

- 18 [Nature's] world is brazen, the poets only deliver a golden.

1595 The Defence of Poetry.

- 19 Poetry therefore, is an art of imitation... A speaking picture, with this end: to teach and delight.

1595 The Defence of Poetry.

- 20 With a tale forsooth he cometh unto you, with a tale which holdeth children from play, and old men from the chimney corner.

1595 Of the poet. The Defence of Poetry.

- 21 Comedy is an imitation of the common errors of our life, which he representeth in the most ridiculous and scornful sort that may be, so as it is impossible that any beholder can be content to be such a one.

1595 The Defence of Poetry.

- 22 I... am admitted into the company of paper-blurrers.

1595 The Defence of Poetry.

- 23 [This] much curse I must send you, in the behalf of all poets, that while you live, you live in love, and never get favour for lacking skill of a sonnet, and, when you die, your memory die from the earth for want of an epigraph.

1595 The Defence of Poetry.

Siegel, Jerome 1914–92

US writer, co-creator of Superman.

- 24 I'm lying in bed counting sheep when all of a sudden it hits me... a character like Samson, Hercules and all the strong men I heard tell of rolled into one. Only more so. Recalling the inspiration behind Superman, created 1938.

Quoted in Time, 14 Mar 1988.

- 25 Faster than a speeding bullet! More powerful than a locomotive! Able to leap tall buildings in a single bound!

Introduction for the Superman radio serial. Quoted in Time, 14 Mar 1988.

Sièyes, Emmanuel Joseph, Comte also called Abbé Sièyes 1748–1836

French cleric and political theorist. His pamphlet, Qu'est-ce que le tiers-état? ('What is the Third Estate?', 1789) was very popular with the bourgeoisie. He helped organize the revolution of 18th Brumaire (in which Napoleon overthrew the Directory, 1799). Exiled at the Restoration (1815), he returned after the July Revolution (1830).

- 26 Who will dare deny that the Third Estate contains within itself all that is needed to constitute a nation?... What would the Third Estate be without the privileged classes? It would be a whole in itself, and a prosperous one. Nothing can be done without it, and everything would be done far better without the others.

1789 Qu'est-ce que le tiers-état?

Sigismund 1368–1437

Holy Roman Emperor from 1433. He became King of Hungary in 1387 and as Emperor presided over the Council of Constance, which ended the Great Schism (1414–18).

- 27 Only do always in health what you have often promised to do when you are sick.

His advice for a happy life, quoted in Clifton Fadiman Faber Book of Anecdotes (1985).

Sigourney, Lydia Howard née Huntley 1791–1865

American poet. Her pious, sentimental poetry made her the most popular woman poet of her generation. She was an important campaigner in the cause of higher education for women. Her collections include Moral Pieces in Prose and Verse (1815)

- 28 Ye say, they all have passed away,
That noble race and brave,
That their light canoes have vanished
From off the crested wave;
That 'mid the forests where they roamed
There rings no hunter's shout;
But their name is on your waters,
Ye may not wash it out.

1848 Select Poems, 'Indian Names'.

Sihanouk, Prince Norodom 1922–

Cambodian politician who as Prime Minister tried but failed to keep his country out of the Vietnam War. He was deposed in 1970 by a military coup but returned in 1993 and was elected king. He attacked the intensive US bombing of his country.

- 29 What is the difference between burning and gassing people in ovens and doing it to a whole nation out in the open?

1973 Of the US bombing of Cambodia. My War with the CIA (with W Burchett).

- 30 The humble people of Cambodia are the most wonderful in the world. Their great misfortune is that they always have terrible leaders who make them suffer. I am not sure I was much better myself, but perhaps I was the least bad.

Is as sharp as any lynx and blacker—deeper than the drinks and quite as Hot as any hottentot, without remorse!
1923 Façade, 'Hornpipe'.
- 59 An admiral red, whose only notion,
(A butterfly poised on a pigtailed ocean)
Is of the peruked sea whose swell Breaks on the flowerless rocks of Hell.
1923 Façade, 'En Famille'.
- 60 The Admiral said, 'You could never call—
I assure you it would not do at all!
She gets down from the table without saying 'please',
Forgets her prayers and to cross her T's,
In short, her scandalous reputation
Has shocked the whole of the Hellish nation'.
1923 Façade, 'En Famille'.
- 61 Those trains will run over their tails, if they can,
Snorting and sporting like porpoises. Flee
The burly, the whirligig wheels of the train,
As round as the world and as large again.
1923 Façade, 'Mariner Man'.
- 62 The light is braying like an ass.
1923 Façade, 'Long Steel Grass'.

For what they hear, they repeat!
1923 Façade, 'Tango-Pasodoble'.
- 65 In a room of the palace
Black Mrs Behemoth
Gave way to wrath
And the wildest malice.
1923 Façade, 'Black Mrs Behemoth'.
- 66 Where the satyrs are chattering, nymphs with their flattering Glimpse of the forest enhance
All the beauty of marrow and cucumber narrow
And Ceres will join in the dance.
1923 Façade, 'Tarantella'.
- 67 That hobnailed goblin, the bob-tailed Hob, said, 'It is time I began to rob'.
1923 Façade, 'Country Dance'.
- 68 And shade is on the brightest wing,
And dust forbids the birds to sing.
1923 Façade, 'Popular Song'.
- 69 Came the great Popinjay
Smelling his nosegay:
In cage like grots
The birds sing gavottes.
1923 Façade, 'Came the Great Popinjay'.
- 70 Jane, Jane,
Tall as a crane,
The morning light creaks down again.
1923 Façade, 'Aubade'.
- 71 The fire was furry as a bear.
1923 Façade, 'Dark Song'.
- 72 Daisy and Lily,
Lazy and silly,
Walk by the shore of the wan grass sea,—
Talking once more 'neath a swan-bosomed tree.
1923 Façade, 'Valse'.
- 73 Still falls the Rain—
Dark as the world of man, black as our loss—
Blind as the nineteen hundred and forty nails
Upon the cross.
1942 'The Raids, 1940. Night and Dawn'.
- 74 The Englishwoman's clothes, too, have improved out of all knowledge...no longer are our hats, as in Victorian days, a kind of Pageant of Empire, whereon the products of all the colonies battle for precedence.
1942 English Women.
- 75 I have often wished I had time to cultivate modesty... But I am too busy thinking about myself.
1950 In the Observer, 30 Apr.

Skinner, John 1721–1807

Jacobite songwriter and Episcopalian minister in Aberdeenshire, whose 'Tullochgorum' was described by Robert Burns as 'the best Scotch song ever Scotland saw'.

13 Come, gie's a sang, Montgomery cry'd,
And lay your disputes a' aside;
What signifies't for folks to chide
For what's been done before them?
Let Whig and Tory a' agree,
Whig and Tory, Whig and Tory, Whig and Tory a' agree
To drop their whigmigorum;
Let Whig and Tory a' agree
To spend this night wi' mirth and glee,
And cheerfu' sing, along wi' me,
The Reel o' Tullochgorum.
'Tullochgorum', stanza 1.

Skirving, Adam 1719–1803

- 22 Night, with all her negro train,
Took possession of the plain;
In an hearse she rode reclined,
Drawn by screech-owls slow and blind:
Close to her, with printless feet,
Crept Stillness, in a winding sheet.
1748 'A Night-Piece; or, Modern Philosophy', stanza 2. In the London Magazine, no.14, Dec. Collected in Poems on Several Occasions (1752).
- 23 Let Eli rejoice with Leucon—he is an honest fellow, which is a rarity.
For I have seen the White Raven and Thomas Hall of Willingham and am myself a greater curiosity than both.
Let Jemuel rejoice with Charadrius, who is from the HEIGHT and the sight of him is good for the jaundice.
For I look up to heaven which is my prospect to escape envy by surmounting it.
1758–63 Jubilate Agno, fragment B, stanzas 25–6 (first published 1939). Both the white raven and Thomas Hall, a giant of four feet at the age of three, were curiosities exhibited in the 1740s.

For the relations of words are sometimes in oppositions.
For the relations of words are according to their distances from the pair.
1758–63 Jubilate Agno, fragment B, l.595–600. (First published 1939.)
- 25 For I will consider my cat Jeoffry.
For he is the servant of the Living God duly and daily serving him.
For at the first glance of the glory of God in the East he worships in his way.
1758–63 Of his cat Jeoffry. Jubilate Agno, fragment B, l.695–7. (First published 1939.)
- 26 For he counteracts the powers of darkness by his electrical skin and glaring eyes.
For he counteracts the Devil, who is death, by brisking about the life.
For in his morning orisons he loves the sun and the sun loves him.
For he is of the tribe of Tiger.
1758–63 Of his cat Jeoffry. Jubilate Agno, fragment B, l.719–22. (First published 1939.)
- 27 For ADORATION seasons change,
And order, truth, and beauty range,
Adjust, attract, and fill:

The grass the polyanthus cheques;
And polished porphyry reflects,
By the descending rill.

1763 A Song to David, stanza 52.

- 28 Strong is the lion—like a coal
His eye-ball—like a bastion's mole
His chest against the foes:
Strong, the gier-eagle on his sail,
Strong against tide, th'enormous whale
Emerges as he goes.

1763 A Song to David, stanza 76.

- 29 Beauteous the fleet before the gale;
Beauteous the multitudes in mail,
Rank'd arms and crested heads:
Beauteous the garden's umbrage mild,
Walk, water, meditated wild,
And all the bloomy beds.

1763 A Song to David, stanza 78.

- 30 Glorious the northern lights astream;
Glorious the song, when God's the theme;
Glorious the thunder's roar:
Glorious hosanna from the den;
Glorious the catholic amen;
Glorious the martyr's gore.

1763 A Song to David, stanza 85.

- 31 Lo, thro' her works gay nature grieves
How brief she is and frail,
As ever o'er the falling leaves
Autumnal winds prevail.
Yet still the philosophic mind
Consolatory food can find,
And hope her anchorage maintain:
We never are deserted quite;
'Tis by succession of delight
That love supports his reign.

1764 Ode to the Earl of Northumberland, with Some Other Pieces,
'On a Bed of Guernsey Lilies: written in September 1763', stanza 2.

Smiles, Samuel 1812–1904

Scottish writer and social reformer who settled as a surgeon in Leeds, and published works encouraging self-improvement such as Self-Help (1859), Character (1871), Thrift (1875) and Duty (1880).

- 32 The spirit of self-help is the root of all genuine growth in the individual.
1859 Self-Help, ch.1.
- 33 The shortest way to do many things is to do only one thing at once.
1859 Self-Help, ch.9.
- 34 The healthy spirit of self-help created among working people would, more than any other measure, serve to raise them as a class; and this, not by pulling down others, but by levelling them up to a higher and still advancing standard of religion, intelligence, and virtue.
1859 Self-Help, ch.10.
- 35 We often discover what will do, by finding out what will not do; and probably he who never made a mistake never made a discovery.
1859 Self-Help, ch.11.

Smith, A J M 1902–80

Canadian-born US poet and anthologist.

- 36 McLuhan put a telescope to his ear;
What a lovely smell, he said, we have here.
1967 Poems, 'The Taste of Space'. When McLuhan first heard this couplet, his response was 'Synaesthesia!'

Smith, Adam 1723–90

Scottish economist and philosopher. His Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations (1776), the first major work of political economy, examined in detail the consequences of economic freedom—division of labour, the function of markets and the international implications of a laissez-faire economy. He was Professor of Moral Philosophy at the University of Glasgow.

- 37 In ease of body, peace of mind, all the different ranks of life are nearly upon a level and the beggar who suns himself by the side of the highway, possesses that security which kings are fighting for.
1759 The Theory of Moral Sentiments.
- 38 The greatest improvement in the productive powers of labour, and the greater part of the skill, dexterity and judgement with which it is any where directed, as applied, seem to have been the effects of the division of labour.
1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.1.
- 39 It is not from the benevolence of the butcher, the brewer, or the baker, that we expect our dinner, but from their regard to their own interest.
1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.2.
- 40 The difference between the most dissimilar characters, between a philosopher and a common street porter, seems to arise not so much from nature, as from habit, custom and education
1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.2.
- 41 The word VALUE, it is to be observed, has two different meanings, and sometimes the utility of some particular object, and sometimes the power of purchasing other goods which the possession of that object conveys. This one may be called 'value in use'; the other, 'value in exchange'. The things which have the greatest value in use have frequently little or no value in exchange; and on the contrary, those which have the greatest value in exchange have frequently little or no value in use. Nothing is more useful than water: but it will purchase scarce any thing; scarce any thing can be had in exchange for it. A diamond, on the contrary, has scarce any value in use; but a very great quantity of other goods may frequently be had in exchange for it.
1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.4.
- 42 The real price of everything, what everything really costs to the man who wants to acquire it, is the toil and trouble of acquiring it. Labour was the first price, the original purchase money that was paid for all things.
1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.5.
- 43 The common wages of labour depends every where upon the contract usually made between those two parties whose interests are by no means the same...Masters are always and every where in a sort of tacit, but constant and uniform combination, not to raise the wages of labour above their actual rate.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.8.

44 People of the same trade seldom meet together, even for merriment and diversion, but the conversation ends in a conspiracy against the public, or in some contrivance to raise prices.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.10, pt.2.

45 The rate of profit does not, like rent and wages, rise with the prosperity, and fall with the declension, of the society. On the contrary, it is naturally low in rich, and high in poor countries, and it is always highest in the countries which are going fastest to ruin.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.1, ch.11, conclusion.

46 Capitals are increased by parsimony, and diminished by prodigality and misconduct. By what a frugal man annually saves he not only affords maintenance to an additional number of productive hands...but...he establishes as it were a perpetual fund for the maintenance of an equal number in all times to come.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.2, ch.3.

47 The principle which prompts to save is the desire of bettering our condition—a desire which...comes with us from the womb and never leaves us till we go into the grave.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.2, ch.3.

48 It is the maxim of every prudent master of a family never to attempt to make at home what it will cost him more to make than to buy. The taylor does not attempt to make his own shoe... All of them find it for their interest to employ their whole industry in a way in which they have some advantage over their neighbours and to purchase with a part of its produce...whatever else they have occasion for... What is prudence in the conduct of every private family, can scarce be folly in that of a great kingdom... Would it be a reasonable law to prohibit the importation of all foreign wines, merely to encourage the making of claret and burgundy in Scotland?

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.4, ch.2.

49 Every individual...intends only his own gain, and he is in this as in many other cases led by an invisible hand to promote an end which was no part of his intention... By pursuing his own interest he frequently promotes that of the society more effectually than when he really intends to promote it. I have never known much good done by those who affected to trade for the publick good.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.4, ch.3.

50 To found a great Empire for the sole purpose of raising up a people of customers, may at first sight appear a project fit only for a nation of shopkeepers. It is, however, a project altogether unfit for a nation of shopkeepers; but extremely fit for a nation that is governed by shopkeepers.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.4, ch.7, pt.3.

► See Napoleon 607:68, Punch 672:7, Stoppard 825:66.

51 Consumption is the sole end and purpose of all production.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.4, ch.8.

52 The man whose life is spent in performing a few simple operations of which the effects too are, perhaps, always the same or very nearly the same, has no occasion to exert his understanding, or to exercise his invention. He generally becomes as stupid and ignorant as it is possible for a human creature to become.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.5, ch.1, pt.3, article 2.

53 Science is the great antidote to the poison of enthusiasm and superstition.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.5, ch.1, pt.3, article 3.

54 There is no art which one government sooner learns of another than that of draining money from the pockets of the people.

1776 An Inquiry into the Nature and Causes of the Wealth of Nations, bk.5, ch.2.

Smith, Samuel Francis 1808–95

US clergyman and poet.

91 My country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing:
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrims' pride,
From every mountain-side
Let the freedom ring.

1831 'America'.

Smith, Stevie (Florence Margaret) 1902–71

English poet and novelist. She lived most of her life with her aunt in a London suburb, and much of her work reflected that setting. Loneliness is a persistent theme, but she was also adept at dealing wittily with serious matters.

92 If you cannot have your dear husband for a comfort and a delight, for a breadwinner and a crosspatch, for a sofa, chair or a hot-water bottle, one can use him as a Cross to be Borne.

1936 Novel On Yellow Paper.

Oh shut me not within a little room.

1950 Harold's Leap, 'The Commuted Sentence'.

96 Let all the little poets be gathered together in classes
And let prizes be given to them by the Prize Asses.

1950 Harold's Leap, 'To School!'

97 Oh, no, no, no, it was too cold always (Still the dead one lay moaning)

I was much too far out all my life

And not waving but drowning.

1957 Not Waving but Drowning, 'Not Waving but Drowning'.

98 People who are always praising the past
And especially the times of faith as best Ought to go and live in the Middle Ages
And be burnt at the stake as witches and sages.

1957 Not Waving but Drowning, 'The Past'.

99 Shall I tell you the signs of a New Age coming?
It is a sound of drubbing and sobbing

Of people crying, We are old, we are old

And the sun is going down and becoming cold.

1957 Not Waving but Drowning, 'The New Age'.

1 Why does my Muse only speak when she is unhappy?
She does not, I only listen when I am unhappy

When I am happy I live and despise writing

For my Muse this cannot but be dispiriting.

1962 Selected Poems, 'My Muse'.

2 I long for the Person from Porlock
To bring my thoughts to an end.

I am growing impatient to see him

I think of him as a friend.

1962 Selected Poems, 'Thoughts About the Person from Porlock' (a reference to the 'person from Porlock' mentioned in Coleridge's preliminary note to 'Kubla Khan').

3 Private Means is dead
God rest his soul, officers and fellow-rankers said.

1962 Selected Poems, 'Private Means is Dead'.

4 'This night shall thy soul be required of thee.'
My soul is never required of me

It always has to be somebody else of course.

Will my soul be required of me tonight perhaps?

Smith, Rev Sydney 1771–1845

English journalist, clergymen and preacher and lecturer on moral philosophy, also one of the founders of the Edinburgh

Review. He wrote letters and pamphlets in favour of Catholic emancipation, the ballot, the abolition of prison abuses and other causes, and is best known as a conversationalist and wit.

7 The moment that the very name of Ireland is mentioned, the English seem to bid adieu to common feeling, common prudence, and common sense, and to act with the barbarity of tyrants and the fatuity of idiots.

1807–8 Peter Plymley's Letters.

8 I look upon Switzerland as an inferior sort of Scotland.
1815 Letter to Lord Holland, [August]. In The Letters of Sydney Smith edited by Nowell C Smith (1953), vol. 1.

9 What two ideas are more inseparable than Beer and Britannia.
1823 In the Edinburgh Review, quoted in H Pearson The Smith of Smiths (1934), ch.11.

10 Alas, alas, how easily a priest begets children and with what difficulty he provides for them; a priest I mean who is extravagant enough to keep a conscience; a point wherein our profession commits (I must say) little excess.

1825 Letter to Lord Holland, 14 Jul. In The Letters of Sydney Smith edited by Nowell C Smith (1953), vol. 1.

11 He who drinks a tumbler of London Water has literally in his stomach more animated beings than there are men, Women and Children on the face of the globe.

1834 Letter to Lady Grey, 19 Nov.

12 No furniture so charming as books.
Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol 1, ch. 9.

13 Take short views, hope for the best, and trust in God.
Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol 1, ch. 6.

14 That knuckle-end of England—that land of Calvin, oat-cakes and sulphur.
Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol 1, ch. 2.

15 I heard him [Jeffrey] speak disrespectfully of the Equator!
Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol.1, ch.2.

16 As the French say, there are three sexes—men, women, and clergymen.
Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol.1, ch.9.

17 He is like a book in breeches.
Of Lord Macaulay. Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol.1, ch.11.

18 He has occasional flashes of silence that make his conversation perfectly delightful.
Of Lord Macaulay. Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol.1, ch.11.

19 My definition of marriage... It resembles a pair of shears, so joined that they cannot be separated; often moving in opposite directions, yet always punishing anyone who comes between them.
Quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol.1, ch.11.

20 Let onion atoms lurk within the bowl,
And, half-suspected, animate the whole.
'Receipt for a Salad', quoted in Lady Holland Memoir (1855), vol.1, ch.11.

21 Serenely full, the epicure would say,
'Fate cannot harm me, I have dined today.'
'Receipt for a Salad', concluding lines, quoted in Lady Holland Memoir, (1855), vol.1, ch.11.

22 My idea of heaven is, eating paté de foie gras to the sound of trumpets.
Quoted in H Pearson The Smith of Smiths, (1934), ch.10.

23 What a pity it is we have no amusements in England but vice and religion!
Quoted in H Pearson The Smith of Smiths, (1934), ch.10.

24 I am just going to pray for you at St Paul's, but with no very lively hope of success.
Quoted in H Pearson The Smith of Smiths, (1934), ch.10.

Smith, Sydney Goodsir 1915–75

New Zealand-born Scottish poet and critic, who played an important part in the 20c revival of poetry in the Scots language. His first volume, Skail Wind (1941), was followed by several others. He also edited works on Scottish literature.

25 This rortie wretched city
Sair come down frae its auld hiechts
—The hauf o't smug, complacent,
Lost til all pride of race or spirit,
The tither wild and rouch as ever
In its secret hairt
But lost alsweill, the smeddu tane,
The man o' independent mind has cap in hand the day
—Sits on its craggy spine
And drees the wind and rain
That nourished all its genius —Weary wi centuries
This empty capital snorts like a great beast
Caged in its sleep, dreaming of freedom.
1954 Of Edinburgh. 'Kynd Kittock's Land' (Kynd Kittock is a character in the poetry of the 16c Scottish poet William Dunbar.) rortie=splendid, smeddu=spirit, drees=endures.

Smith, Walter Chalmers 1824–1908

Scottish clergyman and poet.

26 Immortal, invisible, God only wise,
In light inaccessible hid from our eyes,
Most blessèd, most glorious, the Ancient of Days,
Almighty, victorious, Thy great name we praise.
1867 'Immortal, Invisible', hymn.

Smollett, Tobias George 1721–71

Scottish novelist. He wrote a history of England and from 1753 edited the Critical Review, which led to his being imprisoned for libel in 1760. His unfavourable account of his travels in France and Italy, which he was ordered to visit for the sake of his health, earned him Sterne's designation as 'Smelfungus'. His novel Humphrey Clinker (1771) remains popular.

27 I think for my part one half of the nation is mad—and the other not very sound.
1762 The Adventures of Sir Launcelot Greaves, ch.6.

28 They have no education, no taste for reading, no housewifery, nor, indeed, any earthly occupation but that of dressing their hair, and adorning their bodies. They hate walking, and would never go abroad, if they were not stimulated by the vanity of being seen... Nothing can be more parsimonious than the economy of these people. They live upon soup and bouille, fish and salad.
1766 Of the nobility of Boulogne. Travels through France and Italy.

29 The capital is become an overgrown monster; which, like a dropsical head, will in time leave the body and extremities without nourishment and support.
1771 Of London. Letter from Matthew Bramble, 29 May, Humphrey Clinker, vol.1.

30 I am pent up in frowzy lodgings, where there is not room enough to swing a cat.

1771 Letter from Matthew Bramble, 8 Jun, Humphrey Clinker, vol.1.

Smuts, Jan Christian 1870–1950

South African general and statesman, Prime Minister (1919–24). A significant figure at Versailles, he was instrumental in the founding of the League of Nations. As Minister of Justice under Hertzog, his coalition with the Nationalists in 1934 produced the United Party, and he became Premier again (1939–48).

31 Perhaps it is God's will to lead the people of South Africa through defeat and humiliation to a better future and a brighter day.

1902 Speech at the Vereeniging peace talks, 31 May.

32 What was everybody's business in the end proved to be nobody's business. Each one looked to the other to take the lead, and the aggressors got away with it.

1943 Explaining the failure of the League of Nations to the Empire Parliamentary Association, London, 25 Nov.

Snagge, John 1904–96

English radio commentator.

33 I can't tell who's leading—it's either Oxford or Cambridge.

1949 Radio commentary on the Boat Race, when the engine of Snagge's launch broke down. Quoted in C Dodd Oxford and Cambridge Boat Race (1983), ch.14.

Snow, Carmel 1887–1961

Irish-born US journalist. She was fashion editor (1932–35) and then editor-in-chief (1935–57) of Harper's Bazaar.

34 Elegance is good taste plus a dash of daring.

1962 The World of Carmel Snow.

Snow, C(harles) P(ercy), 1st Baron 1905–80

English novelist and physicist. His works include a cycle of novels portraying English life from 1920, including Strangers and Brothers (1940), The Masters (1951), The New Men (1954) and Corridors of Power (1964). In his controversial Two Cultures (Rede lecture, 1959) he discussed the need for closer contact of science and literature.

35 Drinking the best tea in the world in an empty cricket ground—that, I think, is the final pleasure left to man.

1932 Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

36 The official world, the corridors of power, the dilemmas of conscience and egotism—she disliked them all.

1956 Homecomings, ch.22. This phrase was later used as the title of his 1964 novel, Corridors of Power.

37 A good many times I have been present at gatherings of people who...are thought highly educated and who have...been expressing their incredulity at the illiteracy of scientists. Once or twice I have been provoked and have asked the company how many of them could describe the Second Law of Thermodynamics. The response was cold: it was also negative.

1959 The Two Cultures, Rede Lecture, ch.1.

38 I believe the intellectual life of the whole of western society is increasingly being split into two polar groups... Literary intellectuals at one pole—at the other scientists, and as the most representative, the physical scientists. Between the two a gulf of mutual incomprehension.

1959 The Two Cultures, Rede Lecture.

39 'I grant you that he's not two-faced,' I said. 'But what's the use of that when the one face he has got is so peculiarly unpleasant?'

Socrates 469–399 BC

Greek philosopher. Our knowledge of his life and teaching derives mainly from the work of his pupil Plato, in dialogues including the Republic, and the Apology, Crito and Phaedo, which describe Socrates' trial for 'corrupting the young' and his death by drinking hemlock.

- 54 I am so far like the midwife that I cannot myself give birth to wisdom, and the common reproach is true, that, though I question others, I can myself bring nothing to light because there is no wisdom in me.
Quoted in Plato Theaetetus, 150c (translated by F M Cornford).

Solow, Robert M 1924–

US economist, winner of the Nobel prize (1987).

- 60 Thinking precisely and systematically about something as complex and irregular as a modern economy is very difficult, maybe impossible.
1984 In the New York Times Book Review, 30 Dec.
61 Merely to adopt the more powerful assumption is no more than to assume the more powerful conclusion.
1994 In the Journal of Economic Perspectives, 8:53.

Solzhenitsyn, Aleksandr Isayevich 1918–

Russian writer, a labour camp prisoner (1945–53). His One Day in the Life of Ivan Denisovich (1962) was widely acclaimed, but his subsequent denunciation of Soviet censorship led to the banning of his novels Cancer Ward (1968) and The First Circle (1968). He was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1970 (received 1974). After The Gulag Archipelago (3 vols, 1973–6), an account of the Stalinist terror, he was exiled (1974). His citizenship was restored in 1990, and the treason charges against him dropped in 1991. In 1994 he returned to Russia.

- 62 You only have power over people so long as you do not take everything away from them. But when you have robbed man of everything, he is no longer in your 67 Every known class of refusal was successfully exhibited.

One horse endeavoured to climb the rails into the Grand Stand; another, having stopped dead at the critical point, swung round, and returned in consternation to the starting-point, with his rider hanging like a locket around his neck. Another, dowered with a sense of humour unusual among horses, stepped delicately over the furze-bushes, and, amidst rounds of applause, walked through the lime with a stoic calm.

1908 Further Experiences of an Irish R.M., 'A Royal Command'.

Somoza, (García) Anastasio 1925–80

Nicaraguan dictator, educated in the US. As Chief of the National Guard he established himself in supreme power in the early 1930s, and retained it until assassinated, when the rule passed to his sons.

1942 Life and the Poet.
- 62 My uncle was famous for his balanced point of view. At the time of which I am writing (when he was nearly seventy) it had become so balanced, that the act of balancing seemed rather automatic. One had only to offer him an opinion for him to balance it with a counter-opinion of exactly the same weight, as a grocer puts a pound weight against a pound of sugar.
1951 World within World, p.77.
- 63 My brothers and sister and I were brought up in an atmosphere which I would describe as 'Puritan decadence'. Puritanism names the behaviour which is condemned; Puritan decadence regards the name itself as indecent, and pretends that the object behind that name does not exist until it is named.

- 64 People sometimes divide others into those you laugh at and those you laugh with. The young Auden was someone you could laugh-at-with.
1973 Address at Auden's Memorial Service, Oxford, 27 Oct.
- 65 But reading is not idleness... it is the passive, receptive side of civilization without which the active and creative world would be meaningless. It is the immortal spirit of the dead realised within the bodies of the living. It is sacramental.
1980 Journal entry, 4 Jan.
- 66 We were obsessed by the feeling that this was the supreme cause of our time. The cause of poets and of writers. The cause of freedom. And that unless the cause of anti-Fascism was won, unless Fascism was defeated, we would be unable to exist as writers.

- Spenser, Edmund c.1552–1599
- English poet. Educated at Cambridge, he held positions in government, including secretary to the lord deputy in Ireland during a period of rebellion, for most of his life, although he died in poverty. His epic Protestant romance, The Faerie Queen, was published in two instalments, Books I–III (1590) and Books

IV–VI (1596). Other works include The Shepherd's Calendar (1579), Colin Clout's Come Home Again (1595), Amoretti and Epithalamion (1595), and Four Hymns (1596).

- 67 Go little book, thy self present,
As child whose parent is unkent:
To him that is the president
Of noblesse and of chivalry,
And if that Envy bark at thee,
As sure it will, for succour flee.
1579 The Shepherd's Calendar, 'To His Book'.
- 68 Bring hither the pink and purple columbine,
With gillyflowers:
Bring coronation, and sops in wine,
Worn of paramours.
Strew me the ground with daffadowndillies,
And cowslips, and kingcups, and loved lilies.
1579 The Shepherd's Calendar, 'April', l.136–41.
- 69 And he that strives to touch the stars,
Oft stumbles at a straw.
1579 The Shepherd's Calendar, 'July', l.99–100.
- 70 Uncouth unkist, said the old famous poet Chaucer.
1579 The Shepherd's Calendar, 'Letter to Gabriel Harvey'.
- 71 So now they have made our English tongue a gallimaufry or hodgepodge of all other speeches.
1579 The Shepherd's Calendar, 'Letter to Gabriel Harvey'.
- 72 A gentle knight was pricking on the plain.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 1, stanza 1.
- 73 The sailing pine, the cedar proud and tall,
The vine-prop elm, the poplar never dry,
The builder oak, sole king of forests all,
The aspen good for staves, the cypress funeral.

The laurel, meed of mighty conquerors
And poets sage, the fir that weepeth still,
The willow worn of forlorn paramours,
The ewe obedient to the benders will,
The birch for shafts, the sallow for the mill,
The myrrh sweet bleeding in the bitter wound,
The warlike beech, the ash for nothing ill,
The fruitful olive, and the platan round,
The carver holme, the maple seldom inward sound.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 1, stanzas 8–9.
plantan=plane tree; holme=holly.
- 74 Oft fire is without smoke.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 1, stanza 12.
- 75 A stately palace built of squared brick,
Which cunningly was without mortar laid,
Whose walls were high, but nothing strong, nor thick,
And golden foil all over them displayed,
That purest sky with brightness they dismayed.
1590 Of the palace of pride. The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 4, stanza 4.
- 76 And by his side rode loathsome Gluttony, Deformèd creature, on a filthy swine.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 4, stanza 21.
- 77 Fretting grief the enemy of life.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 4, stanza 35.
- 78 But who can turn the stream of destiny,
Or break the chain of strong necessity?
1590 Night argues against the necessity of faith. The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 5, stanza 25.
- 79 What worlds delight, or joy of living speech
Can heart, so plunged in sea of sorrows deep,
And heapèd with so huge misfortunes, reach?
The careful cold beginneth for to creep,
And in my heart his iron arrow steep,
Soon as I think upon my bitter bale.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 7, stanza 39.
- 80 Still as he fled, his eye was backward cast,
As if his fear still followed him behind.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 9, stanza 21.
- 81 Sleep after toil, port after stormy seas,
Ease after war, death after life does greatly please.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 9, stanza 40.
- 82 Where justice grows, there grows eke greater grace.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.1, canto 9, stanza 53.
- 83 His iron coat all overgrown with rust,
Was underneath envelopèd with gold,
Whose glistening gloss darkened with filthy dust,
Well yet appearèd, to have been of old
A work of rich entail, and curious mold,
Woven with antics and wild imagery.
1590 Of Mammon. The Faerie Queen, bk.2, canto 7, stanza 4.
- 84 And all for love, and nothing for reward.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.2, canto 8 stanza 2.
- 85 Of all God's works, which do this world adorn,
There is no one more fair and excellent,
Then is mans body both for power and form,
Whiles it is kept in sober government.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.2, canto 9, stanza 1.
- 86 So passeth, in the passing of a day,
Of mortal life the leaf, the bud, the flower,
No more doth flourish after first decay,
That erst was sought to deck both bed and bower,
Of many a lady, and many a paramour:
Gather therefore the rose, whilst yet is prime,
For soon comes age, that will her pride deflower:
Gather the rose of love, whilst yet is time,
Whilst loving thou mayst loved be with equal crime.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.2, canto 12, stanza 75.
- 87 Nought so of love this looser dame did skill,
But as a coal to kindle fleshly flame,
Giving the bridle to her wanton will,
And treading underfoot her honest name.
1590 Of Malecasta. The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 1, stanza 50.
- 88 But as it falleth, in the gentlest hearts
Imperious love hath highest set his throne,
And tyrannizeth in the bitter smarts
Of them, that to him buxom are and prone.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 2, stanza 23.
buxom = 'yielding'.
- 89 Most sacred fire, that burnest mightily
In living breasts, ykindled first above,
Amongst th'eternal spheres and lamping sky,
And thence poured into men, which men call Love.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 3, stanza 1.
- 90 Where is the antique glory now become,
What whilom wont in women to appear?
Where be the brave achievements doen by some?
Where be the battles, where the shield and spear,
And all the conquests, which them high did rear,
That matter made for famous poet's verse,

- And boastful men so oft abashed to hear?
 Bene they all dead, and laid in doleful hearse?
 Or doen they only sleep, and shall again reverse?
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 4, stanza 1.
- 91 But ah, who can deceive his destiny,
 Or ween by warning to avoid his fate?
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 4, stanza 27.
- 92 There is continual spring, and harvest there Continual, both meeting at one time:
 For both the boughs do laughing blossoms bear,
 And with fresh colours deck the wanton prime,
 And eke attonce the heavy trees they climb,
 Which seem to labour under their fruits load:
 The whiles the joyous birds make their pastime
 Amongst the shady leaves, their sweet above,
 And their true loves without suspicion tell abroad.
1590 Of the Garden of Adonis. The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 6, stanza 42.
- 93 Yet never can he die, but dying lives,
 And doth himself with sorrow new sustain,
 That death and life attonce unto him gives,
 And painful pleasure turns to pleasing pain.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 10, stanza 60.
- 94 And as she looked about, she did behold,
 How over that same door was likewise writ,
 Be bold, be bold, and everywhere Be bold...
 At last she spied at that room's upper end
 Another iron door, on which was writ
 Be not too bold.
1590 The Faerie Queen, bk.3, canto 11, stanza 54.
- 95 Of such deep learning little had he need,
 Ne yet of Latin, ne of Greek that breed
 Doubts 'mongst divines, and difference of texts,
 From when arise diversity of sects,
 And hateful heresies.
1591 Prosopopoia, l.385–9.
- 96 Most glorious Lord of Life! that, on this day,
 Didst make Thy triumph over death and sin;
 And having harrowed hell, didst bring away
 Captivity thence captive, us to win:
1595 Amoretti, sonnet 68.
- 97 But when I plead, she bids me play my part,
 And when I weep, she says tears are but water:
 And when I sigh, she says I know the art,
 And when I wail, she turns herself to laughter.
1595 Amoretti, sonnet 18.
- 98 The merry cuckoo, messenger of Spring,
 His trumpet shrill hath thrice already sounded.
1595 Amoretti, sonnet 19.
- 99 Most glorious Lord of Life! that, on this day,
 Didst make Thy triumph over death and sin;
 And having harrowed hell, didst bring away
 Captivity thence captive, us to win:
1595 Amoretti, sonnet 68.
- 1 One day I wrote her name upon the strand,
 But came the waves and washèd it away;
 Again I wrote it with a second hand,
 But came the tide, and made my pains his prey.
 'Vain man,' said she, 'that doest in vain assay
 A mortal thing so to immortalise,
 For I my self shall like to this decay,
- And eke my name be wipèd out likewise.'
 'Not so,' quod I, 'let baser things devise
 To die in dust, but you shall live by fame:
 My verse your virtues rare shall eternise,
 And in the heavens write your glorious name.
 Where when as death shall all the world subdue,
 Our love shall live, and later life renew.'
1595 Amoretti, sonnet 75.
- 2 In youth, before I waxèd old,
 The blind boy, Venus' baby,
 For want of cunning made me bold,
 In bitter hive to grope for honey.
1595 Amoretti, 'Anacreontics', no.1.
- 3 Open the temple gates unto my love,
 Open them wide that she may enter in.
1595 Epithalamion, section 12.
- 4 Pour out the wine without restraint or stay,
 Pour not by cups, but by the belly full,
 Pour out to all that will,
 And sprinkle all the posts and walls with wine,
 That they may sweat, and drunken be withal.
1595 Epithalamion, section 14.
- 5 Ah when will this long weary day have end,
 And lend me leave to come unto my love?
 How slowly do the hours their numbers spend!
 How slowly does sad Time his feathers move!
1595 Epithalamion, section 16.
- 6 Dan Chaucer, well of English undefiled,
 On Fame's eternal beadroll worthy to be filed.
1596 The Faerie Queen, bk.4, canto 2, stanza 32.
- 7 O sacred hunger of ambitious minds.
1596 The Faerie Queen, bk.5, canto 12, stanza 1.
- 8 A monster, which the Blatant beast men call,
 A dreadful fiend of gods and men ydrad.
1596 The Faerie Queen, bk.5, canto 12, stanza 37.
- 9 Me seems the world is run quite out of square,
 And being once amiss grows daily worse and worse.
1596 The Faerie Queen, bk.5, proem, stanza 1.
- 10 For that which all men then did virtue call,
 Is now called vice; and that which vice was hight,
 Is now hight virtue, and so used of all:
 Right now is wrong, and wrong that was is right,
1596 The Faerie Queen, bk.5, proem, stanza 4.
- 11 Yet is that glass so gay, that it can blind
 The wisest sight, to think gold that is brass.
1596 Of the mirror of fashion. The Faerie Queen, bk.6, proem,
 stanza 5.
- 12 The gentle mind by gentle deeds is known.
 For a man by nothing is so well bewrayed,
 As by his manners.
1596 The Faerie Queen, bk.6, canto 3, stanza 1.
- 13 Sweet Thames, run softly, till I end my song.
1596 Prothalamion, l.1.
- 14 What man that sees the ever-whirling wheel
 Of Change, the which all mortal things doth sway,
 But that thereby doth find, and plainly feel,
 How mutability in them doth play
 How mutability in them doth play
 Her cruel sports, to many men's decay?
1609 The Faerie Queen, 'Mutability', canto 6, stanza 1.
- 15 First, sturdy March with brows full sternly bent,

And armèd strongly, rode upon a ram,
The same which over Hellespontus swam:
Yet in his hand a spade he also hent,
And in a bag all sorts of seeds ysame,
Which on the earth he strowèd as he went,
And filled her womb with fruitful hope of nourishment.
1609 The Faerie Queen, 'Mutability', canto 7, stanza 32.
hent = grasped; ysame = together.

16 Jolly June, arrayed
All in green leaves, as he a Player were.
1609 The Faerie Queen, 'Mutability', canto 7, stanza 35.

17 Next was November, he full gross and fat,
As fed with lard, and that right well might seem;
For, he had been a fattening hogs of late.
1609 The Faerie Queen, 'Mutability', canto 7, stanza 40.

18 I was promised on a time,
To have reason for my rhyme;
From that time unto this season,
I received nor rhyme nor reason.

Spielberg, Steven 1947–

US film-maker. His many films include Jaws (1975), Close Encounters of the Third Kind (1977), The Color Purple (1985), Schindler's List (1993), Men in Black (1997) and Saving Private Ryan (1998).

19 I hope we're such a communal society that we'll always insist on sharing an adventure in the dark with strangers, no matter what the platform hardware. That's my wish and dream—that we never give up the communal experience. It started a long time ago with cave paintings and I hope it doesn't go away.

20 Technology can be our best friend, and technology can also be the biggest party pooper of our lives. It interrupts our own story, interrupts our ability to have a thought or a daydream, to imagine something wonderful because we're too busy bridging the walk from the cafeteria back to the office on the cell phone.

Spillane, Mickey properly Frank Morrison Spillane 1918–

US popular novelist. He wrote for pulp magazines to pay for his education, and produced his first novel I, the Jury in 1947. His private detective character Mike Hammer inspired many films and a television series.

21 There are more salted peanuts consumed than caviar.
Defending his low-brow fiction. Quoted in Neil J Jones (ed) A Book of Days for the Literary Year (1984).

Spinoza, Baruch also known as Benedict de Spinoza 1632–77

Dutch philosopher, of Jewish descent. The Tractatus Theologico-Politicus was published in 1670, and the more famous Ethics in 1677. His pantheistic monism led to accusations of atheism but was influential in the development of metaphysics.

22 Sedulo curavi, humanas actiones non ridere, non lugere, neque detestari, sed intelligere.
I have striven not to laugh at human actions, not to weep at them, nor to hate them, but to understand them.

1670 Tractatus Theologico-Politicus, bk.1, pt.4.

23 Quicquid est, in Deo est, et nihil sine Deo esse necque concipi potest.

Whatever is, is in God, and nothing can exist or be conceived without God.
1677 Ethics, bk.1, prop.15.

24 In rerum natura nullum datur contingens; sed omnia ex necessitate divinae naturae determinata sunt ad certo modo existendum et operandum.

In the nature of things nothing contingent is granted, but all things are determined by the necessity of divine nature for existing and working in a certain way.
1677 Ethics, bk.1, prop.29.

25 Nempe falluntur homines, quod se liberos esse putant; quae opinio in hoc solo consistit, quod suarum actionum sint conscii, et ignari causarum, a quibus determinantur. Haec ergo est eorum libertatis idea, quod suarum actionum nullam cognoscant causam.

Men are mistaken in thinking themselves free; and this opinion consists of this alone, that they are conscious of their actions and ignorant of the causes by which they are determined. This, therefore, is their idea of liberty, that they should know no cause of their actions.
1677 Ethics, bk.2, prop.35, note.

26 Veritas norma sua est.

Truth is its own standard.
1677 Ethics, bk.2, prop.43, note.

27 De natura Rationis est, res sub quadam aeternitatis specie percipere.

It is the nature of reason to perceive things under a certain species of eternity.
1677 Ethics, bk.2, prop.44, corollary 2.

28 Unaquaeque res, quantum in se est, in suo esse perseverare conatur.

Everything in so far as it is in itself endeavours to persist in its own being.
1677 Ethics, bk.3, prop.6.

29 Nihil nos conari, velle, appetere, neque cupere, quia id bonum esse judicamus; sed contra, nos propterea aliquid bonum esse judicare, quia id conamur, volumus, appetimus, atque cupimus.

We endeavour, wish, desire, or long for nothing because we deem it good; but on the other hand, we deem a thing good because we endeavour, wish for, desire, or long for it.
1677 Ethics, bk.3, prop.9, note.

30 Nempe Amor nihil aliud est, quam Laeitia concomitante idea causae externae; et Odium nihil aliud est, quam Tristitia concomitante idea causae externae.
Love is nothing else than pleasure accompanied by the idea of an external cause; and hate pain accompanied by the idea of an external cause.
1677 Ethics, bk.3, prop.13, note.

31 Ex virtute absoluto agere nihil aliud in nobis est, quam ex ductu Rationis agere, vivere, suum esse conservare (haec tria idem significant) ex fundamento proprium utile quaerendi.

To act absolutely according to virtue is nothing else in us than to act under the guidance of reason, to live so, and to preserve one's being (these three have the same meaning) on the basis of seeking what is useful to oneself.

1677 Ethics, bk.4, prop.24.

32 Summum Mentis bonum est Dei cognitio, et summa Mentis virtus Deum cognoscere.

The greatest good of the mind is the knowledge of God, and the greatest virtue of the mind is to know God.

1677 Ethics, bk.4, prop.28.

33 Homo liber de nulla re minus quam de morte cogitat; et ejus sapientia non mortis, sed vitae meditatio est.

A free man thinks of nothing less than of death, and his wisdom is a meditation not of death but of life.

1677 Ethics, bk.4, prop.67.

34 In vita itaque apprime utile est, intellectum seu Rationem, quantum possumus, perficere, et in hoc uno summa hominis felicitas seu beatitudo consistit; quippe beatitudo nihil aliud est, quam ipsa animi acquiescentia quae ex Dei intuitiva cognitione oritur.

It is therefore extremely useful in life to perfect as much as we can the intellect or reason, and of this alone does the greatest happiness or blessedness of man exist: for blessedness is nothing else than satisfaction of mind which arises from the intuitive knowledge of God.

1677 Ethics, bk.4, appendix.

35 Ex tertio cognitionis genere oritur necessario Amor Dei intellectualis.

From the third kind of knowledge [intuition] arises necessarily the intellectual love of God.

1677 Ethics, bk.5, prop.32, corollary.

36 Per Deum intelligo ens absolute infinitum, hoc est, substantiam constantem infinitis attributis, quorum unumquodque aeternam et infinitam essentiam exprimit.

By God I mean a being absolutely infinite—that is, a substance consisting in infinite attributes, of which each expresses eternal and infinite essentiality.

1677 Ethics.

Spock, Dr Benjamin McLane 1903–98

US paediatrician. His Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care (1946) sold over 30 million copies, transforming childcare. He gave up psychiatry to devote himself to pacifism, and ran for the presidency in 1972.

1975 'Born to Run'.

Spurgeon, Charles Haddon 1834–92

English Baptist preacher, famous for his eloquent sermons. A strong Calvinist, he left the Evangelical Alliance (1864) and Baptist Union (1887) over doctrinal differences and a concern for orthodoxy.

41 If you want truth to go round the world you must hire an express train to pull it; but if you want a lie to go round the world, it will fly: it is as light as a feather, and a breath will carry it. It is well said in the old proverb, 'a lie will go round the world while truth is pulling its boots on'.

Collected in Gems from Spurgeon (1859).

Stalin, Joseph originally Iosif Vissarionovich Dzhugashvili

1879–1953

Soviet leader. Appointed General Secretary to the Communist Party Central Committee (1922), enabling him to take power after Lenin's death in 1924. His collectivization was responsible for millions of deaths, as were his political purges (1934–38). Although he signed a non-aggression pact with Hitler (1939), he declared war, joining the Allies, when Hitler threatened the Soviet Union in 1941.

55 In the name of the Constitution, Cromwell took up arms, executed the king, dissolved Parliament, imprisoned some, and beheaded others.

Stallone, Sylvester 1946–

US actor and film director, best known for his roles in action films such as Rocky (1976) and Rambo (1985) and their sequels.

59 Playing polo is like trying to play golf during an earthquake.

Stamp, Sir Josiah Charles, Baron Stamp of Shortlands 1880–1941

British economist and statistician, who published early estimates of the British national income.

60 The first argument that is brought against every new proposal departing from conventional lines is nearly always that it is impracticable.

1921 Fundamental Principles of Taxation, p.95.

Stanley, Sir Henry Morton originally John Rowlands

1841–1904

Welsh-born US explorer and journalist. He fought on both sides in the American Civil War and then, as a journalist, was commissioned by the New York Herald to lead an expedition in search of Dr David Livingstone, who was rumoured to have died while exploring rivers in Central Africa. On one of the three subsequent expeditions he travelled the length of the Congo.

61 I would have run to him, only I was a coward in the presence of such a mob—would have embraced him, only, he being an Englishman, I did not know how he would receive me; so I did what cowardice and false pride suggested was the best thing—walked deliberately to him, took off my hat, and said:

‘Dr Livingstone, I presume?’

‘Yes,’ said he, with a kind smile, lifting his cap slightly.

I replace my hat on my head, and he puts on his cap, and we both grasp hands, and I then say aloud:

‘I thank God, Doctor, I have been permitted to see you.’

He answered, ‘I feel thankful that I am here to welcome you.’

Stanton, Elizabeth née Cady 1815–1902

US reformer and suffragette; organizer of the first Women's Rights Convention, Seneca Falls, US (1848). She is remembered chiefly as co-author of The History of Woman Suffrage (1881–6) and she also wrote The Women's Bible (1895).

62 We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men and women are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

1848 ‘Declaration of Sentiments’, Seneca Falls Women's Rights Convention, 19–20 Jul. This is modelled on the American Declaration of Independence of 4 Jul 1776.

63 Quite as many false ideas prevail as to woman's true position in the home as to her status elsewhere.

Womanhood is the great fact in her life; wifehood and motherhood are but incidental relations.

1881 The History of Woman Suffrage 1848–61, vol.1, introduction.

64 Men are the Brahmin, women the Pariahs, under our existing civilization.

1881 The History of Woman Suffrage 1848–61, vol.1, ch.1, ‘Preceding Causes’.

65 Although woman has performed much of the labor of the world, her industry and economy have been the very means of increasing her degradation.

1881 The History of Woman Suffrage 1848–61, vol.1, ch.1, ‘Preceding Causes’.

66 As to woman's subjection... it is important to note that equal dominion is given to woman over every living thing, but not one word is said giving man dominion over woman.

1895 The Woman's Bible, pt.1, ch.1, ‘Comments on Genesis’.

67 The Old Testament makes woman a mere after-thought in creation; the author of evil; cursed in her maternity; a subject in marriage; and all female life, animal and human, unclean.

1898 The Woman's Bible, pt.2, preface.

68 ‘Self-development is a higher duty than self-sacrifice; should be a woman's motto henceforward.

1898 The Woman's Bible, pt.2, ‘Comments on Mark’.

Stanwyck, Barbara originally Ruby Stevens 1907–90

1930 Last and First Men, ch.3.

Stark, Dame Freya Madeleine 1893–1993

English writer and traveller, born in Paris. She studied Arabic and made her first journey to the Middle East in 1928, after which she travelled extensively in Europe, the Middle East and Asia, writing over 30 books.

71 The great and almost only comfort about being a woman is that one can always pretend to be more stupid than one is and no one is surprised.

1934 The Valley of the Assassins.

72 I came to the conclusion that some more ascetic reason than mere enjoyment should be found if one wishes to travel in peace: to do things for fun smacks of levity, immorality almost, in our utilitarian world. And though personally I think the world is wrong, and I know in my heart of hearts that it is a most excellent reason to do things merely because one likes the doing of them, I would advise all those who wish to see unwrinkled brows in passport offices to start out ready labelled as entomologists, anthropologists, or whatever other -ology they think suitable and propitious.

1936 The Valleys of the Assassins and other Persian Travels.

73 The true call of the desert, of the mountains, or the sea, is their silence—free of the networks of dead speech.

1948 Perseus in the Wind.

74 This is the prospect from the watershed, and when the traveller reaches it, it is a good thing to take an hour's leisure and look out on the visible portions of the journey, since never in one's life can one see the same view twice.

1948 Perseus in the Wind.

75 The inscrutability of the East is, indeed, I believe a myth... The ordinary inhabitant is incomprehensible merely to people who never trouble to have anything much to do with them.

1963 The Journey's Echo.

Stark, John 1728–1822

American revolutionary commander. He saw service in the French and Indian war (1754–9), and at Bunker Hill (1775) and Bennington (1777) during the American Revolution.

Steaie, E W 1900–62

Canadian government official, President of the National Research Council of Canada (1952).

78 The academic atmosphere, produced mainly by the humanities, is the only atmosphere in which pure science can flourish.

1956 Collected in J D Babbitt (ed) Science in Canada: Selections from the Speeches of E. W. Steacie (1965).

79 An efficient organization is one in which the accounting department knows the exact cost of every useless administrative procedure which they themselves have initiated.

Quoted by J D Babbitt in his introduction to Steacie's Science in Canada (published posthumously, 1965).

Stead, William Thomas 1849–1912

English journalist and reformer. Editor of the Pall Mall Gazette (1883–90). He drowned in the Titanic disaster.

80 The Press is at once the eye and the ear and the tongue of the people. It is the visible speech, if not the voice, of the democracy. It is the phonograph of the world.

1886 'Government by Journalism', in the Contemporary Review, May. Collected in A Journalist on Journalism (1892).

81 He may be more potent than any other man. The damnable iteration day after day of earnest conviction wears like the dropping of the water upon the stone.

- 31 Man, unlike any other thing organic or inorganic in the universe, grows beyond his work, walks up the stairs of his concepts, emerges ahead of his accomplishments.
1939 The Grapes of Wrath, ch.14.
- 32 I know this—a man got to do what he got to do.
1939 The Grapes of Wrath, ch.18.
- 33 Okie use' ta mean you was from Oklahoma. Now it means you're a dirty son-of-a-bitch. Okie means you're scum. Don' mean nothing itself, it's the way they say it.
1939 The Grapes of Wrath, ch.18.
- 34 Well, maybe like Casy says, a fellow ain't got a soul of his own, but on'y a piece of a big one—an then—. . . Then it don' matter. Then I'll be all aroun' in the dark. I'll be everywhere—wherever you look. Wherever they's a fight so hungry people can eat, I'll be there. Wherever they's a cop beatin' up a guy, I'll be there. If Casy knowed, why, I'll be in the way guys yell when they're mad an'—I'll be in the way kids laugh when they're hungry an' they know supper's ready. An' when our folks eat the stuff they raise an' live in the houses they build—why, I'll be there. See?
1939 The Grapes of Wrath, ch.28.
- 35 All Americans believe that they are born fishermen. For a man to admit a distaste for fishing would be like denouncing mother-love or hating moonlight.
1954 Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

c.1974 Response when complimented by a reporter on not looking forty years old, quoted by Lisa Jardine in 'Still Angry After All These Years', in the Sunday Times, 15 May 1994.
- 44 What would happen if... men could menstruate and women could not? Clearly, menstruation would become an enviable, boast-worthy, masculine event: Men would brag about how long and how much. Young boys would talk about it as the envied beginning of manhood... Generals, right-wing politicians, and religious fundamentalists would cite... 'mens-truation' as proof that only men could serve God and country in combat... If men could menstruate, the power justifications would go on and on. If we let them.
1978 'If Men could Menstruate', collected in Outrageous Acts and Everyday Rebellions (1983).
- 45 I've finally figured out why soap operas are, and logically should be, so popular with generations of housebound women. They are the only place in our culture where grown-up men take seriously all the things that grown-up women have to deal with all day long.
1980 'Night Thoughts of a Media Watcher', collected in Outrageous Acts and Everyday Rebellions (1983).

Steiner, George 1929–

Stephen, J(ames) K(enneth) 1859–92

English lawyer and journalist, a cousin of Virginia Woolf. He began a weekly paper, The Reflector in 1888 and was a successful parodist and light versifier.

58 Two voices are there: one is of the deep;
It learns the storm-clouds thundrous melody,
Now roars, now murmurs with the changing sea,
Now bird-like pipes, now closes soft in sleep:
And one is of an old half-witted sheep
Which bleats articulate monotony,
And indicates that two and one are three,
That grass is green, lakes damp, and mountains steep
And, Wordsworth, both are thine.

1896 Lapsus Calami; 'A Sonnet'.

59 Will there never come a season
Which shall rid us of the curse
Of a prose which knows no reason
And an unmelodious verse...
When there stands a muzzled stripling,
Mute, beside a muzzled bore:
When the Rudyards cease from kipling
And the Haggards Ride no more.

Sterne, Laurence 1713–68

Irish novelist. He extended the scope of the novel with his major work Tristram Shandy (1759–67). As his health failed, he spent much of his time in France and Italy and published A Sentimental Journey through France and Italy in 1768.

67 I wish either my father or my mother, or indeed both of them, as they were in duty both equally bound to it, had minded what they were about when they begot me.

1759–67 Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.1.

68 'Pray, my dear,' quoth my mother, 'have you not forgot to wind up the clock?'—'Good G—?' cried my father, making an exclamation, but taking care to moderate his voice at the same time,—'Did ever woman, since the creation of the world, interrupt a man with such a silly question?'

1759–67 Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.6.

69 As we jog on, either laugh with me, or at me, or in short do anything,—only keep your temper.

1759–67 Tristram to reader. Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.6.

70 Have not the wisest of men in all ages, not excepting Solomon himself,—have they not had their Hobby-Horses...and so long as a man rides his Hobby-Horse peaceably and quietly along the King's highway, and neither compels you or me to get up behind him,—pray, Sir, what have either you or I to do with it?

1759–67 Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.7.

71 He was in a few hours of giving his enemies the slip for ever.

1759–67 Of Eugenis. Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.12.

72 'Tis known by the name of perseverance in a good cause,—and of obstinacy in a bad one.

1759–67 Toby. Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.17.

73 What is the character of a family to an hypothesis? my father would reply.

1759–67 Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.21.

74 My uncle Toby would never offer to answer this by any other kind of argument, than that of whistling half a dozen bars of Lillabullero.

1759–67 Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.21.

75 Digressions, incontestably, are the sunshine;—they are the life, the soul of reading;—take them out of this book for instance,—you might as well take the book along with them.

1759–67 Tristram Shandy; bk.1, ch.22.

76 I should have no objection to this method, but that I think

- it must smell too strong of the lamp.
1759–67 Toby. Tristram Shandy, bk.1, ch.23.
- 77 Writing, when properly managed (as you may be sure I think mine is) is but a different name for conversation.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.2, ch.11.
- 78 'I'll not hurt thee,' says my uncle Toby, rising from his chair, and going across the room, with the fly in his hand, 'I'll not hurt a hair of thy head:—Go,' says he, lifting up the sash, and opening his hand as he spoke, to let it escape;—'go, poor devil, get thee gone, why should I hurt thee?—This world surely is wide enough to hold both thee and me.'
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.2, ch.12.
- 79 Whenever a man talks loudly against religion,—always suspect that it is not his reason, but his passions which have got the better of his creed.
1759–67 Trim. Tristram Shandy, bk.2, ch.17.
- 80 It is the nature of an hypothesis, when once a man has conceived it, that it assimilates everything to itself, as proper nourishment; and, from the first moment of your begetting it, it generally grows the stronger by every thing you see, hear, read, or understand.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.2, ch.19.
- 81 'Our armies swore terribly in Flanders,' cried my uncle Toby,—'but nothing to this.'
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.3, ch.11.
- 82 The corregiescity of Corregio.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.3, ch.12.
- 83 Of all the cants which are canted in this canting world,—though the cant of hypocrites may be the worst,—the cant of criticism is the most tormenting.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.3, ch.12.
- 84 Is this a fit time, said my father to himself, to talk of Pensions and Grenadiers?
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.4, ch.5.
- 85 True Shandeism, think what you will against it, opens the heart and lungs, and like all those affections which partake of its nature, it forces the blood and other vital fluids of the body to run freely through its channels, and makes the wheel of life run long and cheerfully round.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.4, ch.32.
- 86 'There is no terror, brother Toby, in its looks, but what it borrows from groans and convulsions—and the blowing of noses, and the wiping away of tears with the bottoms of curtains, in a dying man's room—Strip it of these, what is it?'—'Tis better in battle than in bed,' said my uncle Toby.
1759–67 Of death. Tristram Shandy, bk.5, ch.3.
- 87 There is a North-west passage to the intellectual World.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.5, ch.42.
- 88 To say a man is fallen in love,—or that he is deeply in love,—or up to the ears in love,—and sometimes even over head and ears in it,—carries an idiomatical kind of implication, that love is a thing below a man:—this is recurring again to Plato's opinion, which, with all his divinityship,—I hold to be damnable and heretical:—and so much for that. Let love therefore be what it will,—my uncle Toby fell into it.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.6, ch.37.
- 89 My brother Toby, quoth she, is going to be married to Mrs Wadman. Then he will never, quoth my father, lie diagonally in his bed again as long as he lives.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.6, ch.39.
- 90 Now hang it! quoth I, as I look'd towards the French coast—a man should know something of his own country too, before he goes abroad.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.7, ch.2.
- 91 And who are you? Said he.—Don't puzzle me, said I.
1759–67 Tristram to the commissary. Tristram Shandy, bk.7, ch.33.
- 92 'A soldier,' cried my uncle Toby, interrupting the corporal, 'is no more exempt from saying a foolish thing, Trim, than a man of letters.'—'But not so often, an' please your honour,' replied the corporal.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.8, ch.19.
- 93 Everything presses on—whilst thou art twisting that lock,—see! It grows grey; and every time I kiss thy hand to bid adieu, and every absence which follows it, are preludes to that eternal separation which we are shortly to make.
1759–67 Tristram to Jenny. Tristram Shandy, bk.9, ch.8.
- 94 '—d!' said my mother, 'what is all this story about?'—'A Cock and a Bull,' said Yorick.
1759–67 Tristram Shandy, bk.9, ch.33.

Steuart (later Denham), Sir James 1712–80

Scottish advocate and economist. A fervent Jacobite who was a member of the Council of Prince Charles Edward Stuart in 1745 and subsequently in exile until 1763, travelling extensively on the Continent and studying political economy. His Principles of Political Oeconomy (1767) was soon eclipsed by the Wealth of Nations of Adam Smith.

8 To preserve a trading state from decline, the greatest care must be taken, to support a perfect balance between the hands employed in work and the demand for their labour.

1767 Inquiry into the Principles of Political Oeconomy.

9 It is the business of a statesman to judge of the expediency of different schemes of economy, and by degrees to model the minds of his subjects so as to induce them from the allurements of private interest to concur in the execution of his plan.

1767 Inquiry into the Principles of Political Oeconomy.

Stevens, Brooks 1911–95

US industrial designer.

10 Our whole economy is based on planned obsolescence... We make good products, we induce people to buy them, and then the next year we deliberately introduce something that will make these products old-fashioned, out of date, obsolete. Quoted in Vance Packard The Waste Makers (1960), ch.6. This is thought to be the first use of the phrase 'planned obsolescence'.

Stevens, Roger Lacey 1910–98

US theatrical producer. He worked as a real estate broker (1934–60) but was increasingly involved as a producer in over 200 theatrical productions. He was Chair of the National Council on the Arts (1965–9), and a member of the President's Committee on Arts and Humanities.

Make music, so the self-same sounds
On my spirit make a music, too.

Music is feeling, then, not a sound;
And thus it is that what I feel,
Here in this room, desiring you,

Thinking of your blue-shadowed silk,
Is music.

The beauty of inflections
Or the beauty of innuendoes,
The blackbird whistling or just after.

1923 Harmonium, 'Thirteen Ways of Looking At A Blackbird', pt.5.

23 I know noble accents
And lucid, inescapable rhythms;
But I know, too,
That the blackbird is involved
In what I know.

Blotched out beyond unblotching.

1923 Harmonium, 'The Comedian as the Letter C', pt.1.

25 Like a dull scholar, I behold, in love,
An ancient aspect touching a new mind.
It comes, it blooms, it bears its fruit and dies.
This trivial trope reveals a way of truth.
Our bloom is gone. We are the fruit thereof.

1923 Harmonium, 'Le Monocle de Mon Oncle', pt.8.

Stevenson, Robert Louis 1850–94

Scottish author. He wrote travel sketches, essays, short stories, serials and romantic thrillers, including Treasure Island (1883), The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr Hyde (1886) and Kidnapped (1886). In his early years he toured Belgium and northern France by canoe and the Cévennes by donkey, described in Travels with a Donkey in the Cévennes (1879). He struggled for many years against tuberculosis and spent the last five years of his life living on his estate in Samoa.

70 For will anyone dare to tell me that business is more entertaining than fooling among boats? He must have never seen a boat, or never seen an office, who says so. And for certain the one is a great deal better for the health.

71 Respectability is a very good thing in its way, but it does not rise superior to all considerations. I would not for a moment venture to hint that it was a matter of taste; but I think I will go as far as this: that if a position is admittedly unkind, uncomfortable, unnecessary, and superfluously useless, although it were as respectable as the Church of England, the sooner a man is out of it, the better for himself, and all concerned.

76 I opened a tin of Bologna sausage and broke a cake of chocolate, and that was all I had to eat. It may sound offensive, but I ate them together, bite by bite, by way of bread and meat. All I had to wash down this revolting mixture was neat brandy; a revolting beverage in itself. But I was rare and hungry; ate well, and smoked one of the best cigarettes in my experience. Then I put a stone in my straw hat, pulled the flap of my fur cap over my neck and eyes, put my revolver ready to hand, and snuggled well down among the sheepskins.

1879 Travels with a Donkey.

86 Marriage is like life in this—that it is a field of battle, and not a bed of roses.

1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'Virginibus Puerisque', pt.1.

87 Times are changed with him who marries; there are no more by-path meadows, where you may innocently linger, but the road lies long and straight and dusty to the grave. Idleness, which is often becoming and even wise in the bachelor, begins to wear a different aspect when

1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'An Apology for Idlers'.
- 97 Extreme busyness, whether at school or college, kirk or market, is a symptom of a deficient vitality; and a faculty for idleness implies a catholic appetite and a strong sense of personal identity.
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'An Apology for Idlers'.
- 98 There is no duty we so much underrate as the duty of being happy.
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'An Apology for Idlers'.
- 99 We live the time that a match flickers; we pop the cork of a ginger-beer bottle, and the earthquake swallows us on the instant. Is it not odd, is it not incongruous, is it not, in the highest sense of human speech, incredible, that we should think so highly of the ginger-beer, and regard so little the devouring earthquake?
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'AesTriplex'.
- 1 Think of the heroism of Johnson, think of that superb indifference to mortal limitation that set him upon his dictionary, and carried him through triumphantly until the end! Who, if he were wisely considerate of things at large, would ever embark upon any work much more considerable than a halfpenny post-card? Who would project a serial novel, after Thackeray and Dickens had each fallen in mid-course? Who would find heart enough to begin to live, if he dallied with the consideration of death?
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'AesTriplex'.
- 2 Even if the doctor does not give you a year, even if he hesitates about a month, make one brave push and see what can be accomplished in a week.
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'AesTriplex'.
- 3 Though we are mighty fine fellows nowadays, we cannot write like Hazlitt.
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'WalkingTours'.
- 4 We are in such haste to be doing, to be writing, to be gathering gear, to make our voice audible a moment in the derisive silence of eternity, that we forget that one thing, of which these are but the parts—namely, to live.
1881 Virginibus Puerisque, 'WalkingTours'.

- 9 You mightn't happen to have a piece of cheese about you, now? No? Well, many's the long night I've dreamed of cheese—toasted, mostly—and woke up again, and here I were.
1883 Ben Gunn to Jim Hawkins. Treasure Island, ch.15, 'The Man of the Island'.
- 10 Under the wide and starry sky,
 Dig the grave and let me lie.
 Glad did I live and gladly die,
 And I laid me down with a will.
- This be the verse you grave for me:
*Here he lies where he longed to be,
 Home is the sailor, home from sea,
 And the hunter home from the hill.*
1884 'Requiem' (dated 'Hyères, May 1884'), collected in Underwoods (1887), bk.1, no.21.
- 11 In winter I get up at night
 And dress by yellow candle-light.
 In summer, quite the other way,
 I have to go to bed by day.
- I have to go to bed and see
 The birds still hopping on the tree,
 Or hear the grown-up people's feet
 Still going past me in the street.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.1, 'Bed in Summer', stanzas 1–2.
- 12 A child should always say what's true,
 And speak when he is spoken to,
 And behave mannerly at table:
 At least as far as he is able.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.5, 'Whole Duty of Children'.
- 13 Whenever the moon and stars are set,
 Whenever the wind is high,
 All night long in the dark and wet,
 A man goes riding by.
 Late in the night when the fires are out,
 Why does he gallop and gallop about?
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.9, 'Windy Nights', stanza 1.

- 14 When I am grown to man's estate
I shall be very proud and great,
And tell the other girls and boys
Not to meddle with my toys.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.12, 'Looking Forward'.
- 15 Whenever Auntie moves around,
Her dresses make a curious sound;
They trail behind her up the floor,
And trundle after through the door.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.15, 'Auntie's Skirts'.
- 16 When I was sick and lay a-bed,
I had two pillows at my head,
And all my toys beside me lay
To keep me happy all the day.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.16, 'The Land of Counterpane', stanza 1.
- 17 I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me,
And what can be the use of him is more than I can see.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.18, 'My Shadow', stanza 1.
- 18 The world is so full of a number of things,
I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.24, 'Happy Thought'.
- 19 Children, you are very little,
And your bones are very brittle;
If you would grow great and stately,
You must try to walk sedately.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.27, 'Good and Bad Children', stanza 1.
- 20 My tea is nearly ready and the sun has left the sky;
It's time to take the window to see Leerie going by;
For every night at tea-time and before you take your seat,
With lantern and with ladder he comes posting up the street.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, no.30, 'The Lamplighter', stanza 1.
- 21 Must we to bed indeed? Well then,
Let us arise and go like men,
And face with an undaunted tread
The long black passage up to bed.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, XLI, 'North-West Passage', pt.1, 'Good Night', stanza 3.
- 22 In the Land of Nod at last.
1885 A Child's Garden of Verses, XLI, 'North-West Passage', pt.3, 'In Port', stanza 3.
- 23 Am I no a bonny fighter?
1886 Alan Breck to David Balfour. Kidnapped, ch.10.
- 24 Even though his tongue acquire the Southern knack, he will still have a strong Scots accent of the mind.
1887 Memories and Portraits, ch.1, 'The Foreigner at Home'.
- 25 I have thus played the sedulous ape to Hazlitt, to Lamb, to Wordsworth, to Sir Thomas Browne, to Defoe, to Hawthorne, to Montaigne, to Baudelaire and to Obermann.
1887 Memories and Portraits, ch.4, 'A College Magazine' right to it.

1888 'Beggars', originally published in Scribner's Magazine.
- 27 Here lies one who meant well, tried a little, failed much:—surely that may be his epitaph, of which he need not be ashamed.
1892 Across the Plains, 'A Christmas Sermon', pt.4.
- 28 The bright face of danger.
1892 Across the Plains, 'The Lantern-Bearers', pt.4.
- 29 Life is not all Beer and Skittles. The inherent tragedy of things works itself out from white to black and blacker, and the poor things of a day look ruefully on. Does it shake my cast-iron faith? I cannot say it does. I believe in an ultimate decency of things: ay, and if I woke in hell, should still believe it!
1893 Letter to Sidney Colvin, 23 Aug.
- 30 Give to me the life I love,
Let the lave go by me,
Give the jolly heaven above
And the byway nigh me.
Bed in the bush with the stars to see,
Bread I dip in the river—
There's the life for a man like me,
There's the life for ever.
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), no.1, 'The Vagabond', stanza 1.
- 31 Wealth I ask not, hope nor love,
Nor a friend to know me.
All I ask, the heaven above,
And the road below me.
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), no.1, 'The Vagabond', stanza 4.
- 32 I will make you brooches and toys for your delight
Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night.
I will make a palace fit for you and me
Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.
I will make my kitchen, and you shall keep your room,
Where white flows the river and bright blows the broom,
And you shall wash your linen and keep your body white
In rainfall at morning and dewfall at night.
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), no.11, stanza 1.
- 33 In the highlands, in the country places,
Where the old plain men have rosy faces,
And the young fair maidens Quiet eyes.
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), no.16.
- 34 Trusty, dusky, vivid, true,
With eyes of gold and bramble-dew,
Steel-true and blade-straight,
The great artificer
Made my mate.
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), 'My Wife'.
- 35 Blows the wind to-day, and the sun and the rain are flying,
Blows the wind on the moors to-day and now,
Where about the graves of the martyrs the whaups are crying,
My heart remembers how!
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), no.45, 'To S.R. Crockett (in reply to a dedication)', stanza 1.
- 36 Be it granted to me to behold you again in dying,
Hills of home! and to hear again the call;
Hear about the graves of the martyrs the peewees
crying,
And hear no more at all.
1894 Songs of Travel (published 1896), no.45, 'To S.R. Crockett (in reply to a dedication)', stanza 3.
- 37 And all that I could think of, in the darkness and the cold,

Was just that I was leaving home and my folks were growing old.

1894 'Christmas at Sea', stanza 11.

- 38 I saw rain falling and the rainbow drawn On Lammermuir. Harkening I heard again
In my precipitous city beaten bells
Winnow the keen sea wind. And here afar, Intent on my own race and place, I wrote.

1894 Weir of Hermiston (published 1896), Dedication 'To My Wife'.

- 39 It seemed unprovoked, a wilful convulsion of brute nature...
1894 Weir of Hermiston (published 1896), ch.9, 'At the Weaver's Stone'. These are the last words of the unfinished novel, dictated by Stevenson on the morning of his death from a blood-clot on the brain.

- 40 The bourgeoisie's weapon is starvation. If as a writer or artist you run counter to their narrow notions they simply and silently withdraw your means of subsistence. I sometimes wonder how many people of talent are executed in this way every year.

Quoted by Lloyd Osbourne in 'The Death of Stevenson', preface to Tusitala edition of Weir of Hermiston (published 1924).

- 41 The saddest object in civilization, and to my mind the greatest confession of its failure, is the man who can work, who wants work, and who is not allowed to work.

Quoted by Lloyd Osbourne in 'The Death of Stevenson', preface to Tusitala edition of Weir of Hermiston (published 1924).

Stewart, John Innes Mackintosh 1906–94

Scots-born academic, author and critic, Chair of Literature at Adelaide University (1935–45). His sequence of novels on life at Oxford, A Staircase in Surrey, began in 1974 with The Gaudy. As 'Michael Innes' he wrote erudite detective novels.

- 42 I am most grateful to the CLF [Commonwealth Literary Fund] for providing the funds to give these lectures in Australian literature, but unfortunately they have neglected to provide any literature. I will lecture therefore on D H Lawrence's 'Kangaroo'.

1940 Quoted in the London Magazine, Nov 1985.

- 43 On the platform stood a policeman of normal proportions, and instead of a revolver and a truncheon he carried a copy of Ben Hur translated into Irish, which he was evidently studying for an examination important to his professional advancement. Mr Thewless realised that the imperial might of Great Britain lay behind him and that in front was the philosophic republic of Mr de Valera.

Stone, Samuel John 1839–1900

English cleric and hymnwriter

57 The Church's one foundation Is Jesus Christ, her Lord;
She is his new creation
By water and the word;
From heaven he came and sought her
To be his holy bride,
With his own blood he bought her.
And for her life he died.

Stowe, Harriet (Elizabeth) née Beecher 1811–96

US novelist. Her novel Uncle Tom's Cabin (1852) was written in anger after the passage of the Fugitive Slave Law. She caused a furore with Lady Byron Vindicated (1870) in which she accused Byron of having an incestuous relationship with his sister.

71 What makes saintliness in my view, as distinguished from ordinary goodness, is a certain quality of magnanimity and greatness of soul that brings life within the circle of the heroic.

- 1846 'The Cathedral', in the Atlantic Monthly, Dec.
- 72 So long as the law considers all these human beings, with beating hearts and living affections, only as so many things belonging to the master—so long as the failure, or misfortune, or imprudence, or death of the kindest owner, may cause them any day to exchange a life of kind protection and indulgence for one of hopeless misery and toil—so long is it impossible to make anything beautiful or desirable in the best-regulated administration of slavery.
1852 Uncle Tom's Cabin, ch.1.
- 73 I've got just as much conscience as any man in business can afford to keep,—just a little, you know, to swear by, as 't were.
1852 Uncle Tom's Cabin, ch.1.
- 74 'Do you know who made you?'
'Nobody, as I knows on,' said the child...I 'spect I grow'd.
Don't think nobody never made me.'
1852 Uncle Tom's Cabin, ch.20. The child is Topsy.
- 75 Whipping and abuse are like laudanum; you have to double the dose as the sensibilities decline.
1852 Uncle Tom's Cabin, ch.20.
- 76 The longest day must have its close,—the gloomiest night will wear on to a morning. An eternal, inexorable lapse of moments is ever hurrying the day of the evil to an eternal night, and the night of the just to an eternal day.
1852 Uncle Tom's Cabin, ch.40.
- 77 The bitterest tears shed over graves are for words left unsaid and deeds left undone.
1865 Little Foxes, ch.3.
- 78 The obstinacy of cleverness and reason is nothing to the obstinacy of folly and inanity.
1865 Little Foxes, ch.4.

Strachey, (Evelyn) John 1901–63

British writer and political leader.

- 79 If socialists lose sight of the central importance of social ownership of the means of production, they will cease, in a very real sense, to be socialists at all: they will subside into the role of well-intentioned, amiable, rootless, drifting social reformers.
1956 Contemporary Capitalism.

Strachey, (Giles) Lytton 1880–1932

English writer. He is best known for his biographies, especially Eminent Victorians (1918), which challenged established concepts of the Victorian age.

- 80 The history of the Victorian age will never be written: we know too much about it. For ignorance is the first requisite of the historian—ignorance, which simplifies and clarifies, which selects and omits, with a placid perfection unattainable by the highest art.
1918 Eminent Victorians, preface.
- 81 The time was out of joint, and he was only too delighted to have been born to set it right.
1918 Of Hurrell Froude. Eminent Victorians; 'Cardinal Manning'.
- 82 'Before she came,' said a soldier, 'there was cussin' and swearin', but after that it was 'oly as a church.' The most cherished privilege of the fighting man was abandoned for the sake of Miss Nightingale.
- 1918 Eminent Victorians; 'Florence Nightingale'.
- 83 Yet her conception of God was certainly not orthodox. She felt towards Him as she might have felt towards a glorified sanitary engineer; and in some of her speculations she seems hardly to distinguish between the Deity and the Drains.
1918 Eminent Victorians; 'Florence Nightingale'.
- 84 His legs, perhaps, were shorter than they should have been.
1918 Eminent Victorians; 'Dr Arnold'.
- 85 Johnson's aesthetic judgements are almost invariably subtle, or solid, or bold; they have always some good quality to recommend them—except one: they are never right.
1922 On Samuel Johnson. Books and Characters; 'Lives of the Poets'.
- 86 Asked by the chairman the usual question: 'I understand, Mr Strachey, that you have a conscientious objection to war?' he replied (in his curious falsetto voice), 'Oh no, not at all, only to this war.' Better than this was his reply to the chairman's other stock question, which had previously never failed to embarrass the claimant. 'Tell me, Mr Strachey, what would you do if you saw a German soldier trying to violate your sister?' With an air of noble virtue: 'I would try to get between them.'
On his appearance before a military tribunal, in Robert Graves Goodbye To All That (1929), ch.23.
- 87 If this is dying, then I don't think much of it.
1932 Last words, attributed.

Strafford, Thomas Wentworth, 1st Earl of 1593–1641

English statesman. As Lord Deputy of Ireland from 1632 he imposed firm rule, and in 1639 became the King's principal adviser. After failing to suppress the rebellion in Scotland (1639–40), he was impeached by the Long Parliament and executed despite a famous defence.

- 88 Divide not between Protestant and Papist. Divide not nationally, betwixt English and Irish. The King makes no distinction betwixt you.
1634 To the Irish Parliament, 15 Jul.
- 89 I would desire that every man would lay his hand on his heart, and consider seriously whether the beginnings of the people's happiness should be written in letters of blood.
1641 At his execution on Tower Hill, 12 May.

Stravinsky, Igor Fedorovich 1882–1971

Russian composer, who achieved fame with his ballet The Firebird (1910). Other ballets include Petrushka (1911) and the innovative Rite of Spring (1913). Among his significant later works are The Soldier's Tale (1918), Orpheus (1948, using the 12-tone system), Oedipus Rex (1927) and the opera The Rake's Progress (1951). He lived in France from 1934 and finally settled in the US (1945).

Scottish-born explorer, who emigrated to Australia aged 25. He led six expeditions from Adelaide (1858–62), becoming in 1860 the first European to reach the centre of the continent and in 1862 the first to cross Australia from south to north. His health was wrecked by his adventures.

- 97 To-day I find from my observations of the sun... that I am now camped in the centre of Australia. I have marked a tree and planted the British flag there. There is a high mount about two miles and a half to the north-north-east. I wish it had been in the centre; but on it to-morrow I will raise a cone of stones, and plant the flag there, and name it 'Central Mount Stuart'.
1860 Journal entry, 22 Apr. On reaching the centre of Australia, at Small Gum Creek. Collected in W. Hardman (ed) Journals of John McDouall Stuart during the Years 1858, 1859, 1860, 1861 and 1862.

Daughter of James V of Scotland, she married the Dauphin of France in 1558. During her stormy rule, she attempted to support Roman Catholicism in Reformation Scotland, was deposed and fled to England, eventually being imprisoned and executed for treason against her cousin, Queen Elizabeth I of England.

- 99 O Domine Deus! speravi in Te;
O care mi Jesu! nunc libera me;
In dura catena, in misera poena, Desidero Te,
Languendo, gemendo, et genu flectendo
Adoro, imploro, ut liberet me!
O Lord my God, I hope in thee;
My dear Lord Jesus, set me free;
In chains, in pains
On bended knee
I adore thee, implore thee
To set me free.
1587 Poem composed just before her execution (translated by E Milner-White and G W Briggs, 1941).

Stubbes, Philip 1543–93

English Puritan pamphleteer. His Anatomie of Abuses in the Realme of England (1583) was a vehement denunciation of the luxury of the times.

- 1 Lord, remove these exercises from the Sabbath. Any exercise which withdraweth from godliness either upon the Sabbath or on any other day, is wicked and to be forbidden.
1583 Anatomie of Abuses in the Realme of England.
- 2 For as concerning football playing, I protest unto you it may be rather called a friendly kind of fight than a play or recreation, a bloody or murmuring practice than a fellowly sport or pastime.
1583 Anatomie of Abuses in the Realme of England.
- 3 Football causeth fighting, brawling, contention, quarrelling, murder, homicide, and a great effusion of blood, as daily experiences teaches.
1583 Anatomie of Abuses in the Realme of England.

Waste of youth's most precious years,
Waste of ways the saints have trod,
Waste of Glory, waste of God, War!
1919 More Rough Rhymes of a Padre, 'Waste'.
- 5 When Jesus came to Birmingham they simply passed Him by,
They never hurt a hair of him, they only let Him die.
For men had grown more tender and they would not give Him pain,
They only just passed down the street, and left Him in the rain.
1921 Peace Rhymes of a Padre, 'Indifference'.

Su Wu fl.c.100 BC

Chinese general whose poem To his Wife expresses his dismay at their forced parting when he was called to battle.

But do not forget the time of our love and pride
c.100 BC To his Wife (translated by Arthur Waley).

Suckling, Sir John 1609–41

English poet and playwright. His father was Secretary of State, and he served as ambassador, but upon his inheritance devoted himself to extravagance and court life. Works include the plays Aglaura (1638) and The Goblins (by 1641), the mock-ballad The Wits (1637) and shorter lyrics. By 1641 he had fled to France, where Aubrey says he committed suicide.

- 7 Why so pale and wan, fond lover?
Prithce, why so pale?
Will, when looking well can't move her,
Looking ill prevail?
1637 Aglaura, act 4, sc.1, 'Song'.
- 8 'Tis love in love that makes the sport.
c.1638 Sonnet no.2.
- 9 'Tis not the meat; but 'tis the appetite Makes eating a delight.
c.1638 Sonnet no.2.
- 10 Women enjoyed (whatsoe'er before they've been)
Are like romances read, or sights once seen:
Fruition's dull, and spoils the play much more Than if one read or knew the plot before;
'Tis expectation makes a blessing dear;
It were not heaven, if we knew what it were.
1646 'Against Fruition'.
- 11 The maid (and thereby hangs a tale)
For such a maid no Whitson-ale
Could ever yet produce:
No grape that's kindly ripe, could be So round, so plump, so soft as she,
Nor half so full of juice.
1646 'Ballad: Upon a Wedding'.
- 12 Love is the fart
Of every heart:
It pains a man when 'tis kept close,
And others doth offend, when 'tis let loose.
1646 'Love's Offence'.
- 13 Out upon it! I have loved
Three whole days together;
And am like to love three more,
If it prove fair weather.
1656 'Out Upon It!'

- 15 Language grows out of life, out of its needs and experiences.
1894 Speech to the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf, Jul.

- 16 Language and knowledge are indissolubly connected; they are interdependent. Good work in language presupposes and depends on a real knowledge of things.
1894 Speech to the American Association to Promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf, Jul.

Sullivan, Timothy Daniel 1827–1914

- 17 High upon the gallows tree
Swung the noble-hearted three
By the vengeful tyrant stricken in their bloom;
But they met him face to face
With the courage of their race,
And they went with souls undaunted to their doom.
'God save Ireland!' said the heroes;
'God save Ireland', say they all:
Whether on the scaffold high
Or the battlefield we die,
Oh, what matter when for Erin dear we fall.
1867 'God Save Ireland'.

Sumner, William Graham 1840–1910

US sociologist, formerly an Episcopal rector, Professor of Political and Social Science at Yale University. He was a disciple of Herbert Spencer, and a strong believer in laissez-faire and free economy.

- 18 It would be hard to find a single instance of a direct assault by positive effort upon poverty, vice, and misery which has not either failed or, if it has not failed directly and entirely, has not entailed other evils greater than the one which it removed.
1881 'Sociology', collected in War and Other Essays (1911).
- 19 The law of the survival of the fittest was not made by man and cannot be abrogated by man. We can only by interfering with it, produce the survival of the unfittest.
1881 'Sociology', collected in War and Other Essays (1911).
- 20 Society needs first of all to be free from meddlers—that is, to be let alone.

Sun Yat-Sen or Sun Yixian 1867–1925

Chinese non-Communist revolutionary, regarded as the father of the Chinese Republic. Founder and early leader of China's Nationalist Party, he founded the Society for the Revival of China, but was kidnapped by the Chinese legation in London. After his release he organized risings in South China. The assassination of his follower, Sung Chiao-Jen, led to civil war (1913), and he set up a separate government at Guangzhou (Canton).

- 32 Modern European culture is nothing but a culture of natural sciences.
1924 Speech, Nov, calling for a union of Japan and China to liberate Asia from European influence. Quoted in John Wu Sun Yat-Sen: The Man and His Ideas (1971).
- 33 The foundation of the government of a nation must be built upon the rights of the people, but the administration must be entrusted to experts. We must not look upon those experts as stately and grand presidents and ministers, but simply as our chauffeurs, guards at the gate, cooks, physicians, carpenters, or tailors.
1927 The Three Principles of the People.

Surrey, Henry Howard, Earl of c.1517–1547

English poet; of royal blood, he served Henry VIII at court and in France. In the turmoil over the succession, he became the target of the rival Seymour family, and was arrested and executed on trumped-up charges. He, with Wyatt, introduced the sonnet to England. Tottel's Miscellany (1557) contained forty of his poems.

- 34 Love, that doth reign and live within my thought,
 And built his seat within my captive breast,
 Clad in the arms wherein with me he fought,
 Oft in my face he doth his banner rest.
1557 'Love, that doth reign'.
- 35 Alas! so all things now do hold their peace,
 Heaven and earth disturbed in no thing...

Calm is the sea, the waves work less and less;
 So am not I whom love, alas, doth wring,
 Bringing before my face the great increase
 Of my desires, whereat I weep and sing,
 In joy and woe, as in a doubtful ease.
 For my sweet thoughts sometime do pleasure bring,
 But by and by the cause of my disease
 Gives me a pang that inwardly doth sting,
 When that I think what grief it is again
 To live and lack the thing should rid my pain.
1557 'Alas! so all things now do hold their peace'.

- 36 Wyatt resteth here, that quick could never rest;
 Whose heavenly gifts increased by disdain,
 And virtue sank the deeper in his breast;
 Such profit he of envy could obtain.
1557 'Wyatt resteth here'.

- 37 So cruel prison how could betide, alas,
 As proud Windsor? Where I in lust and joy
 With a king's son my childish years did pass
 In greater feast than Priam's sons of Troy.
1557 'So cruel prison'.

- 38 London, hast thou accused me
 Of breach of laws, the root of strife?
 Within whose breast did boil to see,
 So fervent hot, thy dissolute life,
 That even the hate of sins that grow
 Within thy wicked walls so rife,
 For to break forth did convert so
 That terror could it not repress.
1557 'London, hast thou accused me'.

- 39 O happy dames, that may embrace
 The fruit of your delight,
 Help to bewail the woeful case
 And eke the heavy plight
 Of me, that wanted to rejoice
 The fortune of my pleasant choice.
 Good ladies, help to fill my mourning voice.
1557 'O happy dames'.

- 40 Set me whereas the sun doth parch the green,
 Or where his beams may not dissolve the ice,
 In temperate heat, where he is felt and seen,
 With proud people, in presence sad and wise;
 Set me in base, or yet in high degree,
 In the long night, or in the shortest day,
 In clear weather, or where mists thickest be,
 In lusty youth, or when my hairs be grey...
 Yours will I be, and with that only thought Comfort myself when that my hap is nought.
 'Set me whereas the sun doth parch the green'.

Surtees, Robert Smith 1803–64

English journalist and novelist. Founder of the New Sporting Magazine in 1831, he introduced the popular Cockney character John Jorrocks. Later works include Jorrocks' Jaunts and Jollities (1838) and Hillingdon Hall (1845).

Sutherland, Arthur Jr 1902–73

US lawyer, Professor of Law at Harvard University.

43 One can scarcely imagine a speaker at a meeting of a county medical society discussing the possible elimination of some disease by public health measures, and then qualifying his observations by the statement that many practitioners make a living out of treating the disease in question; and that unless the physicians are vigilant to prevent the adoption of such measures, this source of business will be taken from them. Yet speakers at bar association meetings are frequently heard to make similar observations about the effect of proposed reforms.

 Hath smaller fleas on him prey;
 And these have smaller fleas to bite 'em,
 And so proceed ad infinitum.
 Thus every poet, in his kind,
 Is bit by him that comes behind.
1733 'On Poetry', 1.337–42.
- 3 I mean, you lie—under a mistake.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 1.
- 4 I think she was cut out for a Gentlewoman, but she was spoiled in the making. She wears her clothes as if they were thrown on with a pitchfork; and, for the fashion, I believe they were made in the days of Queen Bess.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 1.
- 5 The more careless, the more modish.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 1.
- 6 I won't quarrel with my Bread and Butter.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 1.
- 7 He was a bold Man that first ate an Oyster.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 2.
- 8 Faith, that's as well said, as if I had said it myself.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 2.
- 9 I always love to begin a journey on Sundays, because I shall have the prayers of the church, to preserve all that travel by land, or by water.
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 2.
- 10 Lord, I wonder what fool it was that first invented kissing!
1738 Polite Conversation, dialogue 2.
- 11 Promises and pie-crust are made to be broken.
1738 Polite Conversation.
- 12 Be she barren, be she old,
 Be she slut, or be she scold,
 Eat my oysters, and lie near her,
 She'll be fruitful, never fear her.
1746 'Verses Made for the Women Who Cry Oysters'.
- 13 I never saw, heard, nor read, that the clergy were beloved in any nation where Christianity was the religion of the country. Nothing can render them popular, but some degree of persecution.
1765 Thoughts on Religion.
- 14 I must complain the cards are ill shuffled till I have a good hand.
 Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

Swinburne, Algernon Charles 1837–1909

English playwright and poet. He made his name with Poems and Ballads (1866). Later works include A Song of Italy (1867), Erechthus (1876) and Tristram of Lyonesse (1882).

- 15 Swallow, my sister, O sister swallow,
 How can thine heart be full of the spring?
 A thousand summers are over and dead.
 What hast thou found in the spring to follow?
 What hast thou found in thine heart to sing?
 What wilt thou do when the summer is shed?
1864 'Itylus'.
- 16 Till life and death remember,
 Till thou remember and I forget.
1864 'Itylus'.
- 17 Maiden, and mistress of the months and stars
 Now folded in the flowerless fields of heaven.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, 1.1
- 18 When the hounds of spring are on winter's traces,
 The mother of months in meadow or plain Fills the shadows and windy places
 With lisp of leaves and ripple of rain;
 And the brown bright nightingale amorous
 Is half assured for Itylus,
 For the Thracian ships and the foreign faces,
 The tongueless vigil and all the pain.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, chorus, 'When the hounds of spring'.
- 19 For winter's rains and ruins are over,
 And all the season of snows and sins;
 The days dividing lover and lover,
 The light that loses, the night that wins;
 And time remembered is grief forgotten,
 And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
 And in green underwood and cover
 Blossom by blossom the spring begins.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, chorus, 'When the hounds of spring'.
- 20 And soft as lips that laugh and hide
 The laughing leaves of the tree divide,
 And screen from seeing and leave in sight
 The god pursuing, the maiden hid.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, chorus 'When the hounds of spring'.
- 21 Before the beginning of years
 There came to the making of man

- Time with a gift of tears, Grief with a glass that ran.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, chorus, 'Before the beginning of years.'
- 22 Strength without hands to smite,
Love that endures for a breath;
Night, the shadow of light,
And Life, the shadow of death.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, chorus, 'Before the beginning of years.'
- 23 For words divide and rend;
But silence is most noble till the end.
1865 Atlanta in Calydon, chorus, 'Who hath given man speech.'
- 24 Ah, yet would God this flesh of mine might be Where air might wash and long leaves cover me;
Where tides of grass break into foam of flowers,
Or where the wind's feet shine along the sea.
1866 'Laus Veneris'.
- 25 Superflux of pain.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Anactoria'
- 26 We shift and bedeck and bedrape us,
Thou art noble and nude and antique.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Dolores', stanza 7.
- 27 Change in a trice
The lilies and languors of virtue
For the raptures and roses of vice.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Dolores', stanza 9.
- 28 O splendid and sterile Dolores,
Our Lady of Pain.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Dolores', stanza 9.
- 29 Ah beautiful passionate body
That never has ached with a heart!
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Dolores', stanza 11.
- 30 For the crown of our life as it closes
Is darkness, the fruit thereof dust;
No thorns go as deep as a rose's,
And love is more cruel than lust.
Time turns the old days to derision,
Our loves into corpses or wives;
And marriage and death and division
Make barren our lives.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Dolores', stanza 20.
- 31 I shall remember while the light lives yet
And in the night time I shall not forget.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Erotion'.
- 32 Pale, beyond porch and portal,
Crowned with calm leaves, she stands
Who gathers all things mortal
With cold immortal hands.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'The Garden of Proserpine'.
- 33 Here, where the world is quiet,
Here, where all trouble seems Dead winds' and spent waves' riot
In doubtful dreams of dreams.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'The Garden of Proserpine'.
- 34 Yea, is not even Apollo, with hair and harpstring of gold,
A bitter God to follow, a beautiful God to behold?
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Hymn to Proserpine'.
- 35 Thou hast conquered, O pale Galilean; the world has grown grey from Thy breath;
We have drunken of things Lethæan, and fed on the fullness of death.
- 1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Hymn to Proserpine'.
- 36 Though these that were Gods are dead, and thou being dead art God,
Though before thee the throned Cytherean be fallen,
and hidden her head,
Yet thy kingdom shall pass, Galilean, thy dead shall go down to thee dead.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'Hymn to Proserpine'.
- 37 I remember the way we parted,
The day and the way we met;
You hoped we were both broken-hearted,
And knew we should both forget.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'An Interlude'.
- 38 And the best and the worst of this is
That neither is most to blame
If you have forgotten my kisses
And I have forgotten your name.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'An Interlude'.
- 39 If love were what the rose is,
And I were like the leaf,
Our lives would grow together
In sad or singing weather,
Blown fields or flowered closes,
Green pleasure or grey grief.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'A Match'.
- 40 I will go back to the great sweet mother,
Mother and lover of men, the sea.
I will go down to her, I and no other,
Close with her, kiss her and mix her with me.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'The Triumph of Time'.
- 41 I shall sleep, and move with the moving ships,
Change as the winds change, veer in the tide.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'The Triumph of Time'.
- 42 There lived a singer in France of old
By the tideless dolorous midland sea.
In a land of sand and ruin and gold
There shone one woman, and none but she.
1866 Poems and Ballads, 'The Triumph of Time'.
- 43 O slain and spent and sacrificed
People, the grey-grown speechless Christ.
1871 Songs before Sunrise, 'Before a Crucifix'.
- 44 But God, if a God there be, is the substance of men which is man.
1871 Songs before Sunrise, 'Hymn of Man'.
- 45 Glory to Man in the highest! for Man is the master of things.
1871 Songs before Sunrise, 'Hymn of Man'.
- 46 There was a poor poet named Clough,
Whom his friends all united to puff,
But the public, though dull,
Had not such a skull
As belonged to believers in Clough.
1875 Essays and Studies, 'Matthew Arnold'.
- 47 For a day and a night Love sang to us, played with us,
Folded us round from the dark and the light;
And our hearts were fulfilled with the music he made
with us,
Made with our hands and our lips while he stayed
with us,
Stayed in mid passage his pinions from flight
For a day and a night.

- 1878 Poems and Ballads (2nd edn), 'At Parting'.
- 48 The deep division of prodigious breasts,
The solemn slope of mighty limbs asleep.
1878 Poems and Ballads (2nd edn), 'Ave Atque Vale', stanza 6.
- 49 Sleep; and if life was bitter to thee, pardon,
If sweet, give thanks; thou hast no more to live;
And to give thanks is good, and to forgive.
1878 Poems and Ballads (2nd edn), 'Ave Atque Vale', stanza 17.
- 50 Villon, our sad bad glad mad brother's name.
1878 Poems and Ballads (2nd edn), 'Ballad of François Villon'.
- 51 In a coign of the cliff between lowland and highland,
At the sea-down's edge between windward and lee,
Walled round with rocks as an inland island,
The ghost of a garden fronts the sea.
1878 Poems and Ballads (2nd edn), 'A Forsaken Garden'.
- 52 As a god self-slain on his own strange altar,
Death lies dead.
1878 Poems and Ballads (2nd edn), 'A Forsaken Garden'.
- 53 Fiddle, we know, is diddle: and diddle, we take it, is dee.
1880 The Heptalogia, 'The Higher Pantheism in a Nutshell'.

Symington, Stuart 1901–88

US Senator. In 1939 he became President and Chairman of the Emerson Electric Manufacturing Company. He was the first Secretary of the Air Force (1945–48) and was elected Senator for Missouri in 1952.

- 54 I found out that he was a bachelor, as was his father before him.
1960 On hiring a speechwriter. Address to Washington's Gridiron Club, 12 Mar, quoted in Harold Brayman The President Speaks-off-the-Record (1976).

Synge, John Millington 1871–1909

Irish dramatist. On the advice of W B Yeats he travelled to the Aran Islands and there found materials for his plays which include Riders to the Sea (1904) and his masterpiece, The Playboy of the Western World (1907), which caused riots when it was first staged in Dublin.

- 55 No man at all can be living for ever, and we must be satisfied.
1904 Riders to the Sea.
- 56 They're all gone now, and there isn't anything more the sea can do to me.
1904 Maurya speaking. Riders to the Sea.
- 57 Well, if the worst comes in the end of all, it'll be great game to see if there's none to pity him but a widow woman, the like of me, has buried her children and destroyed her man.
1907 Widow Quin. The Playboy of the Western World, act 2.
- 58 Drink a health to the wonders of the western world, the pirates, preachers, poteen-makers, with the jobbing jockies; parching peelers, and the juries fill their stomachs selling judgments of the English law.
1907 The Playboy of the Western World, act 2.
- 59 I'll say, a strange man is a marvel, with his mighty talk; but what's a squabble in your back-yard, and the blow of a loy, have taught me that there's a great gap between a gallous story and a dirty deed.
1907 Pegeen Mike. The Playboy of the Western World, act 3.

- 60 Oh my grief, I've lost him surely. I've lost the only Playboy of the Western World.
1907 Pegeen Mike. The Playboy of the Western World, act 3, closing words.

Szasz, Thomas Stephen 1920–

Hungarian-born US psychiatrist. His books argue that disease is physical, hence mental illness is a myth, that the individual should be allowed complete freedom within the law, and all psychiatric therapy should be contractual.

- 61 Formerly, when religion was strong and science weak, men mistook magic for medicine, now, when science is strong and religion weak, men mistake medicine for magic.
1974 The Second Sin.
- 62 Men are rewarded and punished not for what they do, but rather for how their acts are defined. This is why men are more interested in better justifying themselves than in better behaving themselves.
1974 The Second Sin.
- 63 Psychiatrists classify a person as neurotic if he suffers from his problems in living, and a psychotic if he makes others suffer.
1974 The Second Sin.

Tannahill, Robert 1774–1810

Scottish poet and songwriter, born in Paisley, the son of a weaver.

- 91 The sun has gane down o'er the lofty Benlomond,
And left the red clouds to preside o'er the scene,
While lanely I stray, in the calm simmer gloamin',
To muse on sweet Jessie, the flower o' Dunblane.
How sweet is the brier wi' its saft faulding blossom,
And sweet is the birk, wi' its mantle o' green;
Yet sweeter, and fairer, and dear to this bosom,
Is lovely young Jessie, the flower o' Dunblane.
1807 'Jessie, the Flower o' Dunblane', stanza 1.

The headstones yield their names to the element.
1948 Poems 1922–1947, 'Ode to the Confederate Dead'.

- 4 Autumn is desolation in the plot
Of a thousand acres, where these memories grow
From the inexhaustible bodies that are not Dead, but feed the grass, row after rich row.
1948 Poems 1922–1947; 'Ode to the Confederate Dead'.
- 5 The brute curiosity of an angel's stare
Turn you like them to stone.
1948 Poems 1922–1947; 'Ode to the Confederate Dead'.
- 6 I've heard the wolves scuffle, and said: So this
Is man; so—what better conclusion is there—
The day will not follow night, and the heart
Of man has a little dignity, but less patience Than a wolf's, and a duller sense that cannot Smell its own mortality.
1948 Poems 1922–1947; 'The Wolves'.

- 8 The instinct of mankind warns it against accepting at their face value spiritual demands that cannot satisfy themselves by practical achievements. The road along which the organized workers, like any other class, must climb to power starts from the provision of a more effective economic service than their masters, as their grip upon industry becomes increasingly vacillating and uncertain, are able to supply.
1926 The Acquisitive Society.
- 9 As long as men are men, a poor society cannot be too poor to find a right order of life; nor a rich society too rich to have need to seek it.
1926 The Acquisitive Society.

Tennyson, Alfred, 1st Baron also called Alfred, Lord Tennyson 1809–92

English lyric poet, a master of rhythm, mood and imagery. He became Poet Laureate in 1850. Among the finest poems are Morte d'Arthur (1842), the elegiac In Memoriam (1850) and The Idylls of the King (1859).

36 Below the thunders of the upper deep;
Far, far beneath the abysmal sea,
His ancient, dreamless, uninvaded sleep
The Kraken sleepeth.
1830 Poems, Chiefly Lyrical, 'The Kraken', l.1–4.

37 There hath he lain for ages and will lie
Battening upon huge seaworms in his sleep
Until the latter fire shall heat the deep.
1830 Poems, Chiefly Lyrical, 'The Kraken', l.11–13.

38 Vex not thou the poet's mind
With thy shallow wit:
Vex not thou the poet's mind;
For thou canst not fathom it.
1830 Poems, Chiefly Lyrical, 'The Poet's Mind', l.1–4.

39 Airy, fairy Lilian.
1830 Poems, 'Lilian', l.1.

40 A daughter of the gods, divinely tall,
And most divinely fair.
1832 Poems, 'A Dream of Fair Women', l.87–8.

41 O Love, O fire! once he drew
With one long kiss my whole soul through My lips, as sunlight drinketh dew.
1832 Poems, 'Fatima', stanza 3.

42 On either side the river lie
Long fields of barley and of rye,
That clothe the wold and meet the sky;
And through the field the road runs by
To many-towered Camelot.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.1, l.1–5.

43 Willows whiten, aspens quiver,
Little breezes dusk and shiver.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.1, l.10–11.

- 44 Four grey walls, and four grey towers,
Overlook a space of flowers,
And the silent isle imbowers
The Lady of Shalott.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.1, 1.15–18.
- 45 Only reapers, reaping early
In among the bearded barley,
Hear a song that echoes cheerly
From the river winding clearly,
Down to towered Camelot.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.1, 1.28–32.
- 46 And moving through a mirror clear
That hangs before her all the year,
Shadows of the world appear.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.2, 1.46–8.
- 47 Or when the moon was overhead,
Came two young lovers lately wed;
'I am half sick of shadows,' said
The Lady of Shalott.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.2, 1.69–72.
- 48 A bow-shot from her bower-eaves,
He rode between the barley-sheaves,
The sun came dazzling through the leaves,
And flamed upon the brazen greaves
Of bold Sir Lancelot.
A red-cross knight forever kneeled
To a lady in his shield,
That sparkled on the yellow field,
Beside remote Shalott.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.3, 1.73–81.
- 49 All in the blue unclouded weather
Thick-jewelled shone the saddle leather,
The helmet and the helmet-feather Burned like one burning flame together,
As he rode down to Camelot.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.3, 1.91–5.
- 50 She left the web, she left the loom,
She made three paces through the room,
She saw the water-lily bloom,
She saw the helmet and the plume,
She looked down to Camelot.
Out flew the web and floated wide;
The mirror cracked from side to side;
'The curse is come upon me,' cried
The Lady of Shalott.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.3, 1.109–17.
- 51 Down she came and found a boat
Beneath a willow left afloat,
And round about the prow she wrote
The Lady of Shalott.
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.4, 1.123–6.
- 52 But Lancelot mused a little space;
He said, 'She has a lovely face;
God in his mercy lend her grace,
The Lady of Shalott.'
1832 Poems, 'The Lady of Shalott' (revised 1842), pt.4, 1.168–71.
- 53 'Courage!' he said, and pointed toward the land,
'This mounting wave will roll us shoreward soon.'
In the afternoon they came unto a land
In which it seemèd always afternoon.
All round the coast the languid air did swoon,
Breathing like one that hath a weary dream.
1832 Poems, 'The Lotos–Eaters', 1.1–6.
- 54 There is sweet music here that softer falls
Than petals from blown roses on the grass,
Or night dews on still waters between walls
Of shadowy granite, in a gleaming pass;
Music that gentlier on the spirit lies,
Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes.
1832 Poems, 'The Lotos–Eaters', Choric Song, stanza 1, 1.46–51.
- 55 There is no joy but calm!
1832 Poems, 'The Lotos–Eaters', Choric Song, stanza 2, 1.68.
- 56 Death is the end of life; ah, why Should life all labour be?
1832 Poems, 'The Lotos–Eaters', Choric Song, stanza 4, 1.86–87.
- 57 Live and lie reclined
On the hills like Gods together, careless of mankind.
For they lie beside their nectar, and the bolts are hurled Far below them in the valleys, and the clouds are lightly curled Round their golden houses, girdled with the gleaming world.
1832 Poems, 'The Lotos–Eaters', Choric Song, stanza 8, 1.154–8.
- 58 Surely, surely, slumber is more sweet than toil, the shore Than labour in the deep mid-ocean, wind and wave and oar;
Oh rest ye, brother mariners, we will not wander more.
1832 Poems, 'The Lotos–Eaters', Choric Song, stanza 8, 1.171–3.
- 59 I built my soul a lordly pleasure-house,
Wherein at ease for aye to dwell.
1832 Poems, 'The Palace of Art', stanza 1, 1.1–2.
- 60 And 'while the world runs round and round,' I said,
'Reign thou apart, a quiet king,
Still as, while Saturn whirls, his steadfast shade
Sleeps on his luminous ring.'
1832 Poems, 'The Palace of Art', stanza 4, 1.13–16.
- 61 An English home—grey twilight poured
On dewy pasture, dewy trees,
Softer than sleep—all things in order stored,
A haunt of ancient Peace.
1832 Poems, 'The Palace of Art', stanza 22, 1.85–8.
- 62 It little profits that an idle king
By this still hearth, among these barren crags,
Matched with an agèd wife, I mete and dole
Unequal laws unto a savage race,
That hoard, and sleep, and feed, and know not me.
1833 Poems, 'Ulysses' (published 1842), 1.1–5.
- 63 I cannot rest from travel: I will drink Life to the lees: all times I have enjoyed Greatly, have suffered greatly, both with those That loved me, and alone; on shore, and when Through scudding drifts the rainy Hyades
Vext the dim sea: I am become a name;
For always roaming with a hungry heart
Much have I seen and known; cities of men
And manners, climates, council, governments,
Myself not least, but honoured of them all;
And drunk delight of battle with my peers,
Far on the ringing plains of windy Troy.
I am part of all that I have met;
Yet all experience is an arch wherethrough
Gleams that untravelled world, whose margin fades

- For ever and for ever when I move.
How dull it is to pause, to make an end,
To rust unburnished, not to shine in use!
As though to breathe were life.
1833 Poems, 'Ulysses' (published 1842), 1.6–24.
- 64 This grey spirit yearning in desire
To follow knowledge like a sinking star,
Beyond the utmost bound of human thought.
1833 Poems, 'Ulysses' (published 1842), 1.30–2.
- 65 This is my son, mine own Telemachus.
1833 Poems, 'Ulysses' (published 1842), 1.33.
- 66 There lies the port; the vessel, puffs her sail:
There gloom the dark broad seas. My mariners, Souls that have toiled, and wrought, and thought with me—
That ever with a frolic welcome took
The thunder and the sunshine, and opposed
Free hearts, free foreheads—you and I are old:
Old age hath yet his honour and his toil;
Death closes all: but something ere the end,
Some work of noble note, may yet be done,
Not unbecoming men that strove with gods.
The lights begin to twinkle from the rocks:
The long day wanes: the slow moon climbs: the deep Moans round with many voices. Come, my friends,
'Tis not too late to seek a newer world.
Push off, and sitting well in order smite
The sounding furrows: for my purpose holds
To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars, until I die.
It may be that the gulfs will wash us down:
It may be we shall touch the Happy Isles,
And see the great Achilles, whom we knew.
Though much is taken, much abides: and though
We are not now that strength which in old days Moved earth and hearth: that which we are, we are:
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.
1833 Poems, 'Ulysses' (published 1842), 1.44–70.
- 67 Break, break, break,
On thy cold grey stones, O Sea!
And I would that my tongue could utter
The thoughts that arise in me.
1842 Poems, 'Break, Break, Break', stanza 1.
- 68 And the stately ships go on
To their haven under the hill;
But O for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still!
1842 Poems, 'Break, Break, Break', stanza 3.
- 69 'Tis not your work, but Love's. Love, unperceived,
A more ideal Artist he than all,
Came, drew your pencil from you, made those eyes
Darker than the darkest pansies, and that hair
More black than ashbuds in the front of March.
1842 Poems, 'The Gardener's Daughter', 1.24–8.
- 70 A sight to make an old man young.
1842 Poems, 'The Gardener's Daughter', 1.140.
- 71 Then she rode forth, clothed on with chastity.
1842 Poems, 'Godiva', 1.53.
- 72 With twelve great shocks of sound, the shameless noon
Was clashed and hammered from a hundred towers.
1842 Poems, 'Godiva', 1.74–5.
- 73 At me you smiled, but unbeguiled
I saw the snare, and I retired:
The daughter of a hundred Earls,
You are not one to be desired.
1842 Poems, 'Lady Clara Vere de Vere', stanza 1, 1.5–8.
- 74 From yon blue heavens above us bent
The gardener Adam and his wife Smile at the claims of long descent.
Howe'er it be, it seems to me,
'Tis only noble to be good.
Kind hearts are more than coronets,
And simple faith than Norman blood.
1842 Poems, 'Lady Clara Vere de Vere', stanza 7, 1.50–6.
- 75 In the Spring a fuller crimson comes upon the robin's breast;
In the Spring the wanton lapwing gets himself another crest
In the Spring a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove;
In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.17–20.
- 76 And our spirits rushed together at the touching of the lips.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.38.
- 77 He will hold thee, when his passion shall have spent its novel force,
Something better than his dog, a little dearer than his horse.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.49–50.
- 78 This is truth the poet sings,
That a sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happier
things.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall' 1.75–6.
- 79 Like a dog, he hunts in dreams.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.79.
- 80 But the jingling of the guinea helps the hurt that Honour feels.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.105.
- 81 Men, my brothers, men the workers, ever reaping something new:
That which they have done but earnest of the things that they shall do:

For I dipped into the future, far as human eye could see, Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be;

Saw the heaven fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue;

Far along the world-wide whisper of the south-wind
rushing warm,

- With the standards of the peoples plunging through the thunder-storm;
- Till the war-drum throbbed no longer, and the battle-flags were furled
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.117–28.
- 82 Science moves, but slowly slowly, creeping on from point to point.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.134.
- 83 Yet I doubt not through the ages one increasing purpose runs,
And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.137–8.
- 84 Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers, and I linger on the shore,
And the individual withers, and the world is more and more.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.141–2.
- 85 I will take some savage woman, she shall rear my dusky race.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.168.
- 86 I the heir of all the ages, in the foremost files of time.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.178.
- 87 Forward, forward let us range,
Let the great world spin for ever down the ringing grooves of change.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.181–2.
- 88 Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay.
1842 Poems, 'Locksley Hall', 1.184.
- 89 This truth within thy mind rehearse,
That in a boundless universe
Is boundless better, boundless worse.
1842 Poems, 'The Two Voices', stanza 9, 1.25–7.
- 90 No life that breathes with human breath
Has ever truly longed for death.
1842 Poems, 'The Two Voices', stanza 132, 1.395–6.
- 91 Fill the cup, and fill the can:
Have a rouse before the morn:
Every moment dies a man,
Every moment one is born.
1842 Poems, 'The Vision of Sin', pt.4, stanza 9, 1.95–8.
- 92 I grow in worth, and wit, and sense,
Unboding critic-pen,
Or that eternal want of pence,
Which vexes public men.
1842 Poems, 'Will Waterproof's Lyrical Monologue', stanza 6, 1.41–4.
- 93 A land of settled government,
A land of just and old renown,
Where Freedom slowly broadens down
From precedent to precedent.
1842 Poems, 'You ask me, why, though ill at ease', stanza 3, 1.9–12.
- 94 But we grow old, Ah! when shall all men's good
Be each man's rule, and universal peace
Lie like a shaft of light across the land,
And like a lane of beams athwart the sea,
Through all the circle of the golden year.
1846 'The Golden Year', 1.47–51.
- 95 With prudes for proctors, dowagers for deans,
And sweet girl-graduates in their golden hair.
1847 The Princess, 'Prologue', 1.141–2.
- 96 A classic lecture, rich in sentiment,
With scraps of thundrous Epic lilted out
By violet-hooded Doctors, elegies
And quoted odes, and jewels five-words-long,
That on the stretched forefinger of all Time Sparkle for ever.
1847 The Princess, pt.2, 1.352–7.
- 97 Man is the hunter; woman is his game:
The sleek and shining creatures of the chase,
We hunt them for the beauty of their skins;
They love us for it, and we ride them down.
1847 The Princess, pt.5, 1.147–50.
- 98 The woman is so hard Upon the woman.
1847 The Princess, pt.6, 1.205–6.
- 99 No little lily-handed baronet he,
A great broad-shouldered genial Englishman,
A lord of fat prize-oxen and of sheep,
A raiser of huge melons and of pine,
A patron of some thirty charities,
A pamphleteer on guano and on grain.
1847 The Princess, 'Conclusion', 1.84–9.
- 1 And blessings on the falling out
That all the more endears,
When we fall out with those we love
And kiss again with tears!
1850 The Princess, pt.2, added song, 1.6–9.
- 2 Sweet and low, sweet and low,
Wind of the western sea,
Low, low, breathe and blow,
Wind of the western sea!
Over the rolling waters go,
Come from the dying moon, and blow,
Blow him again to me;
While my little one, while my pretty one, sleeps.

Sleep and rest, sleep and rest,
Father will come to thee soon;
Rest, rest, on mother's breast,
Father will come to thee soon;
Father will come to his babe in the nest,
Silver sails all out of the west
Under the silver moon:
Sleep, my little one, sleep, my pretty one, sleep.
1850 The Princess, pt.3, added song, stanzas 1–2.
- 3 The splendour falls on castle walls
And snowy summits old in story:
The long light shakes across the lakes,
And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow, bugle, blow, set the wild echoes flying,
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanza 1.
- 4 O hark, O hear! how thin and clear
And thinner, clearer, farther going!
O sweet and far from cliff and scar
The horns of Elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying:

- Blow, bugle; answer, echoes, dying, dying, dying.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanza 2.
- 5 O love, they die in yon rich sky,
 They faint on hill or field or river:
 Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
 And grow for ever and for ever.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanza 3.
- 6 Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean,
 Tears from the depth of some divine despair
 Rise in the heart, and gather to the eyes,
 In looking on the happy autumn-fields,
 And thinking of the days that are no more.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanza 1.
- 7 So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanza 2.
- 8 Ah, sad and strange as in dark summer dawns
 The earliest pipe of half-awakened birds
 To dying ears, when unto dying eyes
 The casement slowly grows a glimmering square;
 So sad, so strange, the days that are no more.
- Dear as remembered kisses after death,
 And sweet as those by hopeless fancy feigned
 On lips that are for others; deep as love,
 Deep as first love, and wild with all regret;
 O Death in Life, the days that are no more.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanzas 3–4.
- 9 O Swallow, Swallow, flying, flying South,
 Fly to her, and fall upon her gilded eaves,
 And tell her, tell her, what I tell to thee.
 O tell her, Swallow, thou that knowest each,
 That bright and fierce and fickle is the South,
 And dark and true and tender is the North.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanzas 1–2.
- 10 O tell her, Swallow that thy brood is flown:
 Say to her, I do but wanton in the South,
 But in the North long since my nest is made.
1850 The Princess, pt.4, added song, stanza 6.
- 11 Home they brought her warrior dead.
 She nor swooned, nor uttered cry:
 All her maidens, watching said,
 ‘She must weep or she will die.’
1850 The Princess, pt.6, added song, stanza 1.
- 12 Rose a nurse of ninety years,
 Set his child upon her knee—
 Like summer tempest came her tears—
 ‘Sweet my child, I live for thee.’
1850 The Princess, pt.6, added song, stanza 4.
- 13 Ask me no more: what answer should I give?
 I love not hollow cheek or faded eye:
 Yet, O my friend, I will not have thee die!
 Ask me no more, lest I should bid thee live.
1850 The Princess, pt.7, added song, stanza 2.
- 14 Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;
 Nor waves the cypress in the palace walk;
 Nor winks the gold fin in the porphyry font:
 The fire-fly wakens: waken thou, with me.
- Now droops the milk-white peacock like a ghost,
 And like a ghost she glimmers on to me.
 Now lies the Earth all Dana’ to the stars,
- And all thy heart lies open unto me.
- Now slides the silent meteor on, and leaves
 A shining furrow, as thy thoughts in me.
- Now folds the lily all her sweetness up,
 And slips into the bosom of the lake:
 So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip
 Into my bosom and be lost in me.
1850 The Princess, pt.7, added song, complete.
- 15 Come down, O maid, from yonder mountain height:
 What pleasure lives in height?
1850 The Princess, pt.7, added song, 1.1–2.
- 16 For love is of the valley, come thou down
 And find him; by the happy threshold, he,
 Or hand in hand with Plenty in the maize,
 Or red with spirited purple of the vats,
 Or foxlike in the vine; nor cares to walk
 With Death and Morning on the silver horns.
1850 The Princess, pt.7, added song, 1.184–9.
- 17 Sweet is every sound,
 Sweeter thy voice, but every sound is sweet;
 Myriads of rivulets hurrying through the lawn,
 The moan of doves in immemorial elms,
 With murmuring of innumerable bees.
1850 The Princess, pt.7, added song, 1.203–7.
- 18 Come not, when I am dead,
 To drop thy foolish tears upon my grave,
 To trample round my fallen head,
 And vex the unhappy dust thou wouldst not save.
 There let the wind sweep and the plover cry;
 But thou, go by.
- Child, if it were thine error or thy crime
 I care no longer, being all unblest;
 Wed whom thou wilt, but I am sick of Time,
 And I desire to rest.
 Pass on, weak heart, and leave me where I lie:
 Go by, go by.
1850 ‘Come not, when I am dead’, complete poem.
- 19 Strong Son of God, immortal Love,
 Whom we, that have not seen thy face,
 By faith, and faith alone, embrace,
 Believing where we cannot prove.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., prologue, 1.1–4.
- 20 Thou madest man, he knows not why,
 He thinks he was not made to die;
 And thou hast made him: thou art just.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., prologue, 1.10–12.
- 21 Our little systems have their day;
 They have their day and cease to be;
 They are but broken lights of thee,
 And thou, O Lord, art more than they.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., prologue, 1.17–20.
- 22 Let knowledge grow from more to more, in us,
 But more of reverence in us dwell;
 That mind and soul, according well,
 May make one music as before.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., prologue, 1.25–8.
- 23 I sometimes hold it half a sin
 To put in words the grief I feel;

- For words, like Nature, half reveal
And half conceal the Soul within.
- But, for the unquiet heart and brain,
A use in measured language lies;
The sad mechanic exercise,
Like dull narcotics, numbing pain.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 5, 1.1–8.
- 24 And common is the commonplace,
And vacant chaff well meant for grain.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 6, 1.3–4.
- 25 Never morning wore
To evening, but some heart did break.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 6, 1.7–8.
- 26 His heavy-shotted hammock-shroud
Drops in his vast and wandering grave.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 6, 1.13–16.
- 27 Dark house, by which once more I stand
Here in the long unlovely street,
Doors, where my heart was used to beat
So quickly, waiting for a hand.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 7, 1.1–4.
- 28 And ghastly through the drizzling rain
On the bald street breaks the blank day.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 7, 1.11–12.
- 29 The last red leaf is whirled away,
The rooks are blown about the skies.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 15, 1.3–4.
- 30 There twice a day the Severn fills;
The salt sea-water passes by,
And hushes half the babbling Wye,
And makes a silence in the hills.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 19, 1.5–8.
- 31 The Shadow cloaked from head to foot,
Who keeps the keys of all the creeds.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 23, 1.4–5.
- 32 And Thought leapt out to wed with Thought Ere Thought could wed itself with Speech.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 23, 1.15–16.
- 33 I envy not in any moods
The captive void of noble rage,
The linnet born within the cage,
That never knew the summer woods.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 27, 1.1–4.
- 34 I hold it true, whate'er befall;
I feel it, when I sorrow most;
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 27, 1.13–16.
- 35 A solemn gladness even crowned
The purple brows of Olivet.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 31, 1.11–12.
- 36 Who trusted God was love indeed
And love Creation's final law—
Though Nature, red in tooth and claw
With ravine, shrieked against his creed.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 31.
- 37 Her eyes are homes of silent prayer.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 32, 1.1.
- 38 Short swallow-flights of song, that dip
Their wings in tears, and skim away.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 48, 1.15–16.
- 39 Be near me when my light is low,
When the blood creeps, and the nerves prick
And tingle; and the heart is sick,
And all the wheels of Being slow.
- Be near me when the sensuous frame
Is racked with pains that conquer trust;
And Time, a maniac scattering dust,
And Life, a Fury slinging flame.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 50, 1.1–8.
- 40 Oh yet we trust that somehow good
Will be the final goal of ill.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 54, 1.1–2.
- 41 That nothing walks with aimless feet;
That not one life shall be destroyed,
Or cast as rubbish to the void,
When God hath made the pile complete.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 54, 1.5–8.
- 42 Behold, we know not anything;
I can but trust that good shall fall
At last—far off—at last, to all,
And every winter change to spring.
- So runs my dream: but what am I?
An infant crying in the night:
An infant crying for the light:
And with no language but a cry.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 54, 1.13–20.
- 43 So careful of the type she seems,
So careless of the single life.
1850 Of Nature. In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 55, 1.7–8.
- 44 The great world's altar-stairs
That slope through darkness up to God.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 55, 1.15–16.
- 45 Man, her last work, who seemed so fair,
Such splendid purpose in his eyes,
Who rolled the psalm to wintry skies,
Who built him fanes of fruitless prayer,
Who trusted God was love indeed
And love Creation's final law—
Though Nature, red in tooth and claw
With ravine, shrieked against his creed.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 56, 1.9–16.
- 46 Peace; come away: the song of woe
Is after all an earthly song:
Peace; come away: we do him wrong
To sing so wildly: let us go.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 57, 1.1–4.
- 47 O Sorrow, wilt thou live with me
No casual mistress, but a wife.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 59, 1.1–2.
- 48 Dost thou look back on what hath been,
As some divinely gifted man,
Whose life in low estate began
And on a simple village green;
- Who breaks his birth's invidious bar,
And grasps the skirts of happy chance,
And breasts the blows of circumstance,

- And grapples with his evil star.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 64, 1.1–8.
- 49 So many worlds, so much to do,
 So little done, such things to be.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 73, 1.1–2.
- 50 Death has made
 His darkness beautiful with thee.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 74, 1.11–12.
- 51 And round thee with the breeze of song
 To stir a little dust of praise.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 75, 1.11–12.
- 52 O last regret, regret can die!
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 78, 1.17.
- 53 Laburnums, dropping-wells of fire.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 83, 1.12.
- 54 God's finger touched him, and he slept.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 85, 1.20.
- 55 He brought an eye for all he saw;
 He mixed in all our simple sports;
 They pleased him, fresh from brawling courts
 And dusty purlieus of the law.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 89, 1.9–12.
- 56 You tell me, doubt is Devil-born.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 96, 1.4.
- 57 There lives more faith in honest doubt,
 Believe me, than in half the creeds.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 96, 1.11–12.
- 58 Their meetings made December June,
 Their every parting was to die.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 97, 1.11–12.
- 59 He seems so near and yet so far.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 97, 1.23.
- 60 Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
 The flying cloud, the frosty light:
 The year is dying in the night;
 Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.
- Ring out the old, ring in the new,
 Ring, happy bells, across the snow:
 The year is going, let him go;
 Ring out the false, ring in the true.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 106, 1.1–8.
- 61 Ring out the want, the care, the sin,
 The faithless coldness of the times;
 Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,
 But ring the fuller minstrel in.
- Ring out false pride in place and blood,
 The civic slander and the spite;
 Ring in the love of truth and right,
 Ring in the common love of good.
- Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
 Ring out the narrowing lust of gold;
 Ring out the thousand wars of old,
 Ring in the thousand years of peace.
- Ring in the valiant man and free,
 The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
 Ring out the darkness of the land;
- Ring in the Christ that is to be.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 106, 1.17–32.
- 62 Not the schoolboy heat,
 The blind hysterics of the Celt.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 109, 1.15–16.
- 63 Now fades the last streak of snow,
 Now burgeons every maze of quick
 About the flowering squares, and thick
 By ashen roots the violets blow.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 115, 1.1–4.
- 64 And drowned in yonder living blue
 The lark become a sightless song.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 115, 1.7–8.
- 65 There, where the long street roars, hath been
 The stillness of the central sea.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., canto 123, 1.3–4.
- 66 And thou art worthy; full of power;
 As gentle; liberal-minded, great,
 Consistent; wearing all that weight
 Of learning lightly like a flower.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., epilogue, 1.37–40.
- 67 One God, one law, one element,
 And one far-off divine event,
 To which the whole creation moves.
1850 In Memoriam A.H.H., epilogue, 1.142–4.
- 68 He clasps the crag with crooked hands;
 Close to the sun in lonely lands,
 Ringed with the azure world, he stands.
- The wrinkled sea beneath him crawls;
 He watches from his mountain walls,
 And like a thunderbolt he falls.
1851 'The Eagle', complete poem.
- 69 Gigantic daughter of the West,
 We drink to thee across the flood,
 We know thee most, we love thee best,
 For art thou not of British blood?
1852 'Hands all Round', stanza 4, 1.37–40.
- 70 The last great Englishman is low.
1852 'Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington', stanza 3, 1.18.
- 71 O good grey head which all men knew!
1852 'Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington', stanza 4, 1.35.
- 72 O fall'n at length that tower of strength
 Which stood four-square to all the winds that blew!
1852 'Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington', stanza 4, 1.38–9.
- 73 That world-earthquake, Waterloo!
1852 'Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington', stanza 6, 1.133.
- 74 Who never sold the truth to serve the hour,
 Nor paltered with Eternal God of power.
1852 'Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington', stanza 7, 1.179–80.
- 75 Half a league, half a league,
 Half a league onward,
 All in the valley of Death
 Rode the six hundred.
1854 'The Charge of the Light Brigade', 1.1–4.
- 76 'Forward, the Light Brigade!'
 Was there a man dismayed?
 Not though the soldier knew

- Some one had blundered:
Their's not to make reply,
Their's not to reason why,
Their's but to do and die:
Into the valley of Death
Rode the six hundred.
- Cannon to right of them,
Cannon to left of them,
Cannon in front of them
Volleyed and thundered.
1854 'The Charge of the Light Brigade', 1.9–21.
- 77 Into the jaws of Death,
Into the mouth of Hell
Rode the six hundred.
1854 'The Charge of the Light Brigade', 1.24–6.
- 78 Faultily faultless, icily regular, splendidly null,
Dead perfection, no more.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.2, 1.82–3.
- 79 The passionate heart of the poet is whirled into folly and vice.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.4, stanza 7, 1.139.
- 80 And most of all would I flee from the cruel madness of love,
The honey of poison-flowers and all the measureless ill.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.4, stanza 10, 1.156–7.
- 81 That jewelled mass of millinery,
That oiled and curled Assyrian Bull.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.6, stanza 6, 1.232–3.
- 82 She came to the village church,
And sat by a pillar alone;
An angel watching an urn
Wept over her, carved in stone.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.8, 1.301–4.
- 83 I heard no longer
The snowy-banded, dilettante,
Delicate-handed priest intone.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.8, 1.309–11.
- 84 Ah God, for a man with heart, head, hand,
Like some of the simple great ones gone
For ever and ever by,
One still strong man in a blatant land,
Whatever they call him, what care I,
Aristocrat, democrat, autocrat—one
Who can rule and dare not lie.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.10, stanza 5, 1.389–95.
- 85 And ah for a man to arise in me
That the man I am may cease to be!
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.10, stanza 6, 1.396–7.
- 86 I kissed her slender hand,
She took the kiss sedately;
Maud is not seventeen,
But she is tall and stately.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.12, stanza 4, 1.424–7.
- 87 Gorgonised me from head to foot
With a stony British stare.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.13, stanza 2, 1.464–5.
- 88 A livelier emerald twinkles in the grass,
A purer sapphire melts into the sea.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.18, stanza 6, 1.649–50.
- 89 Come into the garden, Maud,
For the black bat, night, has flown,
Come into the garden, Maud,
I am here at the gate alone;
And the woodbine spices are wafted abroad,
And the musk of the rose is blown.
- For a breeze of morning moves,
And the planet of Love is on high,
Beginning to faint in the light that she loves
On a bed of daffodil sky.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.22, stanza 1, 1.850–9.
- 90 All night has the casement jessamine stirred
To the dancers dancing in tune;
Till a silence fell with the waking bird,
And a hush with the setting moon.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.22, stanza 3, 1.864–7.
- 91 Queen rose of the rosebud garden of girls.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.22, stanza 9, 1.902.
- 92 There has fallen a splendid tear
From the passion-flower at the gate.
She is coming, my dove, my dear;
She is coming, my life, my fate;
The red rose cries, 'She is near, she is near;'
And the white rose weeps, 'She is late;'
The larkspur listens, 'I hear, I hear;'
And the lily whispers, 'I wait.'
- She is coming, my own, my sweet;
Were it ever so airy a tread,
My heart would hear her and beat,
Were it earth in an earthy bed;
My dust would hear her and beat;
Had I lain for a century dead;
Would start and tremble under her feet,
And blossom in purple and red.
1855 Maud, pt.1, sect.22, stanzas 10–11, 1.908–23.
- 93 O that 'twere possible
After long grief and pain
To find the arms of my true love
Round me once again!
1855 Maud, pt.2, sect.4, stanza 1, 1.141–4.
- 94 Dead, long dead,
Long dead!
And my heart is a handful of dust,
And the wheels go over my head.
1855 Maud, pt.2, sect.5, stanza 1, 1.239–42.
- 95 But the churchmen fain would kill their church,
As the churches have killed their Christ.
1855 Maud, pt.2, sect.5, stanza 2, 1.266–7.
- 96 O me, why have they not buried me deep enough?
Is it kind to have made me a grave so rough,
Me, that was never a quiet sleeper?
1855 Maud, pt.2, sect.5, stanza 11, 1.334–6.
- 97 My life has crept so long on a broken wing
Through cells of madness, haunts of horror and fear,
That I come to be grateful at last for a little thing.
1855 Maud, pt.3, sect.6, stanza 1, 1.1–3.
- 98 When the face of night is fair on the dewy downs,
And the shining daffodil dies.
1855 Maud, pt.3, sect.6, stanza 1, 1.5–6.

- 99 And now by the side of the Black and the Baltic deep,
And deathful-grinning mouths of the fortress, flames
The blood-red blossom of war with a heart of fire.
1855 Maud, pt.3, sect.6, stanza 4, 1.51–3.
- 1 It is better to fight for the good, than to rail at the ill;
I have felt with my native land, I am one with my kind,
I embrace the purpose of God, and the doom assigned.
1855 Maud, pt.3, sect.6, stanza 5, 1.57–9.
- 2 I come from haunts of coot and hern,
I make a sudden sally
And sparkle out among the fern,
To bicker down a valley.
1855 'The Brook', 1.23–6.
- 3 For men may come and men may go,
But I go on for ever.
1855 'The Brook', 1.33–4.
- 4 That a lie which is all a lie may be met and fought with outright,
But a lie which is part a truth is a harder matter to fight.
1859 'The Grandmother', stanza 8, 1.31–2.
- 5 Wearing the white flower of a blameless life,
Before a thousand peering littlenesses,
In that fierce light which beats upon a throne,
And blackens every blot.
1859 Idylls of the King, dedication, 1.24–7.
- 6 For man is man and master of his fate.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'The Marriage of Geraint', 1.355.
- 7 Our hoard is little, but our hearts are great.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'The Marriage of Geraint', 1.374.
- 8 They take the rustic murmur of their bourg
For the great wave that echoes round the world.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'The Marriage of Geraint', 1.419–20.
- 9 It is little rift within the lute,
That by and by will make the music mute,
And ever widening slowly silence all.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Merlin and Vivien', 1.388–90.
- 10 And trust me not at all or all in all.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Merlin and Vivien', 1.396.
- 11 Man dreams of fame while woman wakes to love.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Merlin and Vivien', 1.458.
- 12 With this for motto, 'Rather use than fame'.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Merlin and Vivien', 1.478.
- 13 Where blind and naked Ignorance
Delivers brawling judgements, unashamed,
On all things all day long.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Merlin and Vivien', 1.662–4.
- 14 But every page having an ample marge,
And every marge enclosing in the midst
A square of text that looks a little blot.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Merlin and Vivien', 1.667–9.
- 15 Elaine the fair, Elaine the loveable,
Elaine the lily maid of Astolat.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Lancelot and Elaine'.
- 16 He is all fault who hath no fault at all:
For who loves me must have a touch of earth.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Lancelot and Elaine', 1.132–3.
- 17 In me there dwells
No greatness, save it be some far-off touch
Of greatness to know well I am not great.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Lancelot and Elaine', 1.447–9.
- 18 I know not if I know what true love is,
But if I know, then, if I love not him,
I know there is none other I can love.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Lancelot and Elaine', 1.672–4.
- 19 The shackles of an old love straitened him,
His honour rooted in dishonour stood,
And faith unfaithful kept him falsely true.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Lancelot and Elaine', 1.870–2.
- 20 —Never yet
Was noble man but made ignoble talk.
He makes no friend who never made a foe.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Lancelot and Elaine', 1.1081–2.
- 21 To reverence the King, as if he were Their conscience, and their conscience as their King,
To break the heathen and uphold the Christ,
To ride abroad redressing human wrongs,
To speak no slander, no, nor listen to it,
To honour his own words as if his God's.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Guinevere', 1.465–70.
- 22 To love one maiden only, cleave to her,
And worship her by years of noble deeds,
Until they won her; for indeed I knew
Of no more subtle master under heaven
Than is the maiden passion for a maid,
Not only to keep down the base in man,
But teach high thought, and aimable words
And courtliness, and the desire of fame,
And love of truth, and all that makes man.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Guinevere', 1.472–80.
- 23 I thought I could not breathe in that fine air
That pure severity of perfect light—
I yearned for warmth and colour which I found In Lancelot.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Guinevere', 1.640–3.
- 24 It was my duty to have loved the highest;
It surely was my profit had I known:
It would have been my pleasure had I seen.
We needs must love the highest when we see it,
Not Lancelot, nor another.
1859 Idylls of the King, 'Guinevere', 1.652–6.
- 25 The woods decay, the woods decay and fall,
The vapours weep their burthen to the ground,
Man comes and tills the field and lies beneath,
And after many a summer dies the swan.
Me only cruel immortality
Consumes: I wither slowly in thine arms,
Here at the quiet limit of the world.
1860 'Tithonus' (revised 1864), 1.1–7.
- 26 Why wilt thou ever scare me with thy tears,
And make me tremble lest a saying learnt,
In days far-off, on that dark earth, be true?
'The gods themselves cannot recall their gifts.'
1860 'Tithonus' (revised 1864), 1.46–9.
- 27 Of happy men that have the power to die,
And grassy barrows of the happier dead.

And torrents of her myriad universe,
Ruining along the illimitable inane Fly on to clash together again, and make Another and another frame of things
For ever.
1868 'Lucretius', l.38–40.
- 34 Nor at all can tell Whether I mean this day to end myself,
Or lend an ear to Plato where he says,
That men like soldiers may not quit the post Allotted by the Gods.
1868 'Lucretius', l.145–9.
- 35 Passionless bride, divine Tranquillity,
Yearned after by the wisest of the wise,
Who fail to find thee, being as thou art
Without one pleasure and without one pain.
1868 'Lucretius', l.265–8.

Among new men, strange faces, other minds.
1869 Idylls of the King, 'The Passing of Arthur', l.405–6.
- 50 The old order changeth, yielding place to new,
And God fulfils himself in many ways,
Lest one good custom should corrupt the world.
1869 Idylls of the King, 'The Passing of Arthur', l.408–10.
- 51 If thou shouldst never see my face again,
Pray for my soul. More things are wrought by prayer
Than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friend?
For so the whole round earth is every way
Bound by gold chains about the feet of God.
1869 Idylls of the King, 'The Passing of Arthur', l.414–23.
- 52 I am going a long way
With these thou se'st—if indeed I go (For all my mind is clouded with a doubt)—
To the island-valley of Avilion;
Where falls not hail, or rain, or any snow,
Nor ever wind blows loudly; but it lies Deep-meadowed, happy, fair with orchard lawns
And bowery hollows crowed with summer sea,
Where I will heal me of my grievous wound.
1869 Idylls of the King, 'The Passing of Arthur', l.424–32.
- 53 Like some full-breasted swan
That, fluting a wild carol ere her death,
Ruffles her pure cold plume, and takes the flood
With swarthy webs.

To music, therefore never built at all,
And therefore built for ever.
1872 Idylls of the King, 'Gareth and Lynette', l.272–4.

60 At Flores in the Azores Sir Richard Grenville lay,
And a pinnace, like a fluttered bird, came flying from far away:
'Spanish ships of war at sea! We have sighted fifty-three!
Then swore Lord Thomas Howard: "Fore God I am no
coward;
But I cannot meet them here, for my ships are out of gear,
And the half my men are sick. I must fly, but follow quick.
We are six ships of the line; can we fight with fifty-three?'

Then spake Sir Richard Grenville: 'I know you are no
coward;
You fly them for a moment to fight with them again.
But I've ninety men and more that are lying sick ashore.
I should count myself the coward if I left them, my Lord
Howard,
To these Inquisition dogs and the devildoms of Spain.'

So Lord Howard passed away with five ships of war that day,
Till he melted like a cloud in the silent summer heaven.
1878 'The Revenge', stanzas 1–3, l.1–14.

61 And Sir Richard said again: 'We be all good English men.
Let us bang these dogs of Seville, the children of the devil,
For I never turned my back upon Don or devil yet.'
1878 'The Revenge', stanza 4, l.29–31.

62 And the sun went down, and the stars came out far over the summer sea,
But never a moment ceased the fight of the one and the fifty-three.
1878 'The Revenge', stanza 9, l.56–7.

63 'Sink me the ship, Master Gunner—sink her, split her in twain!
Fall into the hands of God, not into the hands of Spain!'

And the gunner said 'Ay, ay,' but the seamen made reply:
'We have children we have wives,
And the Lord hath spared our lives.'
1878 'The Revenge', stanzas 11–12, l.89–93.

64 And they praised him to his face with their courtly foreign grace;
But he rose upon their decks, and he cried:
'I have fought for Queen and Faith like a valiant man and true;
I have only done my duty as a man is bound to do:
With a joyful spirit I Sir Richard Grenville die!
And he fell upon their decks, and he died.
1878 'The Revenge', stanza 13, l.99–104.

65 And little Revenge herself went down by the island crags
To be lost evermore in the main.
1878 'The Revenge', stanza 14, l.118–19.

66 That man's the true Conservative
Who lops the mouldered branch away.
1882 'Hands All Round', l.7–8.

67 Pray God our greatness may not fail
Through craven fears of being great.
1882 'Hands All Round', l.31–2.

68 For nothing worthy proving can be proven,
Nor yet disproven: wherefore thou be wise,
Cleave ever to the sunnier side of doubt.
1885 'The Ancient Sage', l.66–8.

69 France had shown a light to all men, preached a Gospel, all men's good;
Celtic Demos rose a Demon, shriek'd and slaked the light with blood.
1886 'Locksley Hall Sixty Years After', l.89–90.

70 Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark;

For though from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.
1889 'Crossing the Bar', l.9–16. This was Tennyson's last poem.

71 The mellow lin-lan-lone of evening bells.
1889 'Far-Far-Away', l.5.

72 Launch your vessel,
And crowd your canvas,
And, ere it vanishes
Over the margin,
After it, follow it,
Follow The Gleam.
1889 'Merlin and The Gleam', stanza 9, l.126–31.

73 What is it all but a trouble of ants in the gleam of a million million of suns?
1889 'Vastness', stanza 2, l.4.

74 A louse in the locks of literature.

Tertullian full name Quintus Septimius Florens Tertullianus

c.160–c.220 AD

Christian theologian, a lawyer in Rome until he converted in c.196 AD, an opponent of worldliness in the Church and leader of the Montanist sect (c.207 AD). His most famous work is Apologeticus (c. 197 AD), an impassioned defence of Christianity against pagan charges of immorality, economic worthlessness and political subversion.

82 Plures efficitur quoties metimur a vobis, semen est sanguis Christianorum.

As often as we are mown down by you, the more we grow in numbers; the blood of the Christians is the seed. Apologeticus, ch.50, section 13. The phrase is often quoted as 'The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church.'

83 Certum est quia impossibile est.

It is certain because it is impossible.

De Carne Christi, ch.5. The phrase is commonly rendered 'It is so extraordinary that it must be true.'

Thackeray, William Makepeace 1811–63

English novelist. He earned his living from journalism, working for Punch from 1842–54. He provided a complex view of the changing nature of English society with its mingling of rich parvenus and decadent upper class. His best-known novels include Vanity Fair (1847–8) and Henry Esmond (1852).

85 'A chilli,' said Rebecca, gasping, 'Oh, yes!' She thought a chilli was something cool, as its name imported, and was served with some. 'How fresh and green they look,' she said, and put one into her mouth. It was hotter than the curry; flesh and blood could bear it no longer. She laid down her fork. 'Water, for Heaven's sake, water!' she cried.

1847–8 Vanity Fair, ch.3

86 A woman with fair opportunities and without a positive hump, may marry whom she likes.

1847–8 Rebecca Sharp. Vanity Fair, ch.4.

87 Whenever he met a great man he grovelled before him, and my-lorded him as only a free-born Briton can do.

1847–8 Of Old Osbourne. Vanity Fair, ch.13.

88 If a man's character is to be abused, say what you will, there's nobody like a relation to do the business.

1847–8 Miss Crawley. Vanity Fair, ch.19.

89 Them's my sentiments!

1847–8 Fred Bullock. Vanity Fair, ch.21.

90 Darkness came down on the field and city: and Amelia was praying for George, who was lying on his face, dead, with a bullet through his heart.

1847–8 Vanity Fair, ch.32.

91 Nothing like blood, sir, in hosses, dawgs, and men.

1847–8 James Crawley. Vanity Fair, ch.35.

92 How to Live Well on Nothing a Year.

1847–8 Vanity Fair, ch.36, title of chapter.

93 I think I could be a good woman if I had five thousand a year.

1847–8 Vanity Fair, ch.36.

94 Ah! Vanitas Vanitatum! Which of us is happy in this world? Which of us has his desire? or, having it, is satisfied?—Come, children, let us shut up the box and the puppets, for our play is played out.

1847–8 Concluding words. Vanity Fair, ch.67.

95 He who meanly admires mean things is a Snob.

1848 The Book of Snobs, ch.2.

96 Yes, I am a fatal man, Madame Fribsbi. To inspire hopeless passion is my destiny.

1848–50 Mirobolant. Pendennis, ch.23.

97 Remember, it is as easy to marry a rich woman as a poor woman.

1848–50 Pendennis, ch.28.

98 The Pall Mall Gazette is written by gentlemen for gentlemen.

Thesiger, Sir Wilfred Patrick 1910–2003

English explorer. He twice crossed the Empty Quarter (Rub' al Khali) between 1946 and 1949 and wrote sensitively about the Bedu and their changing way of life.

- 51 For me, exploration was a personal venture. I did not go to the Arabian desert to collect plants nor to make a map; such things were incidental. At heart I knew that to write or even to talk of my travels was to tarnish the achievement. I went there to find peace in the hardship of desert travel and the company of desert people. I set myself a goal on these journeys, and, although the goal itself was unimportant, its attainment had to be worth every effort and sacrifice.

Thiers, (Louis) Adolphe 1797–1877

French statesman, twice Prime Minister (1836, 1839). He supported Napoleon in 1848, but was banished in the coup d'état of 1851 and re-entered the Chamber in 1863 as a critic. After the collapse of the Second Empire he suppressed the Paris Commune and became first President of the Third Republic (1871–3). Defeated by monarchists, he resigned in 1873. He wrote L'histoire du consulat et de l'empire ('History of the Consulate and the Empire', 20 vols, 1845–62).

- 52 The Republic will be conservative, or it will be nothing.

1872 Presidential address to the French National Assembly, Nov.

Thomas, (Walter) Brandon 1857–1914

English playwright, actor and songwriter. He is usually remembered for his classic farce, Charley's Aunt (1892).

53 Where the nuts come from.

1892 Of Brazil. Charley's Aunt.

Thomas, D(onald) M(itchell) 1935–

English writer. He made his initial reputation as a poet, but became better known as the author of the novel The White Hotel (1981).

54 Freud becomes one of the dramatis personae, in fact, as discoverer of the great and beautiful modern myth of psychoanalysis. By myth, I mean a poetic, dramatic expression of a hidden truth; and in placing this emphasis, I do not intend to put into question the scientific validity of psychoanalysis.

1981 The White Hotel, author's note.

55 She was cut off from the past and therefore did not live in the present. But suddenly, as she stood close against a pine tree and breathed in its sharp, bitter scent, a clear space opened to her childhood, as though a wind had sprung from the sea, clearing a mist. It was not a memory from the past, it was the past itself, as alive, as real; and she knew that she and the child of forty years ago were the same person.

1981 The White Hotel, ch.4.

56 The soul of man is a far country, which cannot be approached or explored. Most of the dead were poor and illiterate. But every single one of them had dreamed dreams, seen visions and had amazing experiences, even the babes in arms (perhaps especially the babes in arms).

1981 The White Hotel, ch.5.

Thomas, Dylan Marlais 1914–53

Welsh poet. The son of a schoolmaster, he worked as a journalist for a time. He also wrote short stories and novels, and later turned to drama, notably the celebrated radio play Under Milk Wood (published 1954). His tempestuous lifestyle culminated in his death from alcohol abuse on a lecture tour of the US.

57 The force that through the green fuse drives the flower Drives my green age; that blasts the roots of trees
Is my destroyer.

And I am dumb to tell the crooked rose
My youth is bent by the same wintry fever.

60 I am getting more obscure day by day.

1934 Letter to Pamela Hansford Johnson, 9 May.

61 Though they go mad they shall be sane
Though they sink through the sea they shall rise again;
Though lovers be lost love shall not;
And death shall have no dominion.

1936 'And Death Shall Have No Dominion'.

62 The hand that signed the paper felled a city;

Five sovereign fingers taxed the breath,
Doubled the globe of dead and halved a country;
These five kings did a king to death.

77 I hear John Arlott's voice every weekend, describing cricket matches. He sounds like Uncle Tom Cobleigh reading Neville Cardus to the Indians.

1947 Letter to Margaret Taylor, 11 Jul.

78 The joy and function of poetry is, and was, the celebration of man, which is also the celebration of God.

1951 Letter to a student.

- 79 If you want a definition of poetry, say: 'Poetry is what makes me laugh or cry or yawn, what makes my toenails twinkle, what makes me want to do this or that or nothing' and let it go at that.
1951 Letter to a student.
- 80 I fell in love—that is the only expression I can think of—at once, and am still at the mercy of words, though sometimes now, knowing a little of their behaviour very well, I think I can influence them slightly and have even learned to beat them now and gain, which they appear to enjoy.
1951 Letter to a student.
- 81 Do not go gentle into that good night,
Old age should burn and rave at close of day;
Rage, rage against the dying of the light.
1952 'Do Not Go Gentle Into That Good Night'.
- 82 These poems, with all their crudities, doubts, and confusions, are written for the love of Man, and in praise of God, and I'd be a damn' fool if they weren't.
1952 Collected Poems, author's note.

1954 Under Milk Wood.
- 92 You're thinking, you're no better than you should be, Polly, and that's good enough for me. Oh, isn't life a terrible thing, thank God?
1954 Under Milk Wood.
- 93 Hullo, Polly, my love, can you hear the dumb goose-hiss of the wives as they huddle and peck or flounce at a waddle away? Who cuddled you when? Which of their gandering hubbies moaned in Milk Wood for your naughty mothering arms and body like a wardrobe, love?
1954 Under Milk Wood.
- 94 The sun hums down through the cotton flowers of her dress into the bell of her heart and buzzes in the honey there and couches and kisses, lazy-loving and boozed, in her red-berried breast.
1954 Under Milk Wood.
- 95 Alone in the hissing laboratory of his wishes, Mr Pugh minces among bad vats and jeroboams, tiptoes through spinneys of murdering herbs, agony dancing in his crucibles, and mixes especially for Mrs Pugh a venomous porridge unknown to toxicologists which will scald and viper through her until her ears fall off like figs, her toes grow big and black as balloons, and steam comes screaming out of her navel.
1954 Under Milk Wood.
- 96 You just wait. I'll sin until I blow up!
1954 Under Milk Wood.
- 97 Too many of the artists of Wales spend too much time talking about the position of the artists of Wales. There is only one position for an artist anywhere: and that is, upright.
1954 Quite Early One Morning, 'Wales and the Artist'.
- 98 The best poem is that whose worked-upon unmagical passages come closest, in texture and intensity, to those moments of magical accident.
1954 Quite Early One Morning, 'On Poetry'.
- 99 A good poem is a contribution to reality. The world is never the same once a good poem has been added to it.
1954 Quite Early One Morning, 'On Poetry'.
- 1 One Christmas was much like another... I can never remember whether it snowed for six days and six nights when I was twelve or whether it snowed for twelve days and twelve nights when I was six.
1954 A Child's Christmas in Wales.
- 2 Years and years ago, when I was a boy, when there were wolves in Wales, and birds the colour of red-flannel petticoats whisked past the harp-shaped hills, when we sang and wallowed all night and day in caves that smelt like Sunday afternoons in damp front farmhouse parlours, and we chased, with the jawbones of deacons, the English and the bears, before the motor car, before the wheel, before the duchess-faced horse, when we rode the daft and happy hills bareback, it snowed and it snowed.
1954 A Child's Christmas in Wales.

Thomas, (Philip) Edward 1878–1917

English nature writer and poet. His poetry was all written during World War I, in which he was killed in action at Arras. Very few poems were published in his lifetime, but posthumous collections established his reputation as a great nature poet.

- 3 A merely great intellect can produce great prose, but not poetry, not one line.
1908 Letter to Gordon Bottomley, 26 Feb.
- 4 When Gods were young
This wind was old.
1914 'The Mountain Chapel'.

- 5 The Past is a strange land, most strange.
1915 'Parting'.
- 6 Yes; I remember Adlestrop—
The name, because one afternoon
Of heat the express-train drew up there Unwontedly. It was late June.
1915 'Adlestrop'.
- 7 And for that minute a blackbird sang
Close by, and round him, mistier,
Farther and farther, all the birds
Of Oxfordshire and Gloucestershire.
1915 'Adlestrop'.
- 8 The men, the music piercing that solitude
And silence, told me truths I had not dreamed,
And have forgotten since their beauty passed.
1915 'Tears'.
- 9 The last light has gone out of the world, except
This moonlight lying on the grass like frost
Beyond the brink of the tall elm's shadow.
1915 'Liberty'.
- 10 This is no case of petty right or wrong
That politicians or philosophers
Can judge. I hate not Germans, nor grow hot
With love of Englishmen, to please newspapers.
1915 'This Is No Case of Petty Right Or Wrong'.
- 11 The dark-lit stream has drowned the Future and the Past.
1915 'The Bridge'.
- 12 The new moon hangs like an ivory bugle
In the naked frosty blue.
1915 'The Penny Whistle'.
- 13 It is a fine world and I wish I knew how to make £200 a year in it.
1915 Letter to Gordon Bottomley, 16 Jun.
- 14 The past is the only dead thing that smells sweet,
The only sweet thing that is not also fleet.
1916 'Early One Morning'.
- 15 For the life in them he loved most living things,
But a tree chiefly.
1916 'Bob's Lane'.
- 16 That girl's clear eyes utterly concealed all Except that there was something to reveal.
1916 'That Girl's Clear Eyes'.
- 17 I have come to the borders of sleep,
The unfathomable deep Forest, where all must lose
Their way, however straight
Or winding, soon or late;
They cannot choose.
1916 'Lights Out'.
- 18 As well as any bloom upon a flower
I like the dust on the nettles, never lost
Except to prove the sweetness of a shower.
1916 'Tall Nettles'.
- 19 Now all the roads lead to France
And heavy is the tread
Of the living: but the dead
Returning lightly dance.
1916 'Roads'.
- 20 Out in the dark over the snow
The fallow fawns invisible go

With the fallow doe;
And the winds blow
Fast as the stars are slow.
1916 'Out in the Dark'.

- 21 The sorrow of true love is a great sorrow
And true love parting blackens a bright morrow.
1917 'Last Poem'.

Thomas, Sir George 1881–1972

English badminton administrator, founder and first president of the International Badminton Federation.

- 22 The art of badminton is to deceive.
Quoted in The Guinness Book of Badminton (1983).

Thomas, John Parnell 1895–1970

US congressman. He was an insurance broker before entering Congress (1937–49). He served as Chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activities.

- 23 Are you now, or have you ever been, a member of the Communist Party?
1947–57 Stock question to those called before the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities.

Thomas, Michael M 1936–

US novelist.

- 24 Bankers' genes were Wall St. genes, especially in the big cities. If the banks were conservative just now [1955], it was because bankers still awoke in the middle of the night, trembling and sweaty with thoughts of the Crash.
But in time a new generation would take over: ambitious, overcompetitive young men to whom 1929 would be merely a date on a page; such men would sever the roots of memory as if with an ax, not realizing that those tendrils were also the rudder cables.
1987 The Ropespinner Conspiracy.

Thomas, R(onald) S(tuart) 1913–2000

Welsh poet and priest. His poetry characteristically deals with the themes of nature, religion and his love of Wales.

- 25 We were a people taut for war; the hills
Were no harder, the thin grass Clothed them more warmly than the coarse Shirts our small bones.
1952 'Welsh History'.
- 26 An impotent people,
Sick with inbreeding.
Worrying the carcass of an old song.
1952 'Welsh Landscape'.
- 27 We will listen to the wind's text
Blown through the roof, or the thrush's song
In the thick bush that proved him wrong,
Wrong from the start, for nature's truth
Is primary and her changing seasons Correct out of a vaster reason
The vague errors of the flesh.
1953 'The Minister'.
- 28 For the first twenty years you are still growing,
Bodily that is; as a poet, of course,
You are not born yet. It's the next ten
You cut your teeth on to emerge smirking

- For your brash courtship of the muse.
1963 'To A Young Poet'.
- 29 Prompt me, God,
 But not yet. When I speak
 Though it be you who speak
 Through me, something is lost.
 The meaning is the waiting.
1968 'Kneeling'.
- 30 The poem in the rock and
 The poem in the mind
 Are not one.
 It was in dying
 I tried to make them so.
1972 'The Epitaph'.
- 31 Among the forests
 Of metal the one human Sound was the lament of
 The poets for deciduous language.
1972 'Postscript'.
- 32 Life is not hurrying on to a receding future, nor hankering after an imagined past. It is the turning aside like Moses to the miracle of the lit bush, to a brightness that seemed as transitory as your youth once, but is the eternity that awaits you.
1976 Laboratories of the Spirit, 'The Bright Field'.
- 33 We are beginning to see now it is matter is the scaffolding of spirit; that the poet emerges from morphemes and phonemes; that as form in sculpture is the prisoner of the hard rock, so in everyday life it is the plain facts and natural happenings that conceal God and reveal him to us little by little under the mind's tooling.
1978 Frequencies, 'Emerging'.

- Thompson, Francis 1859–1907 English poet. His poems, mainly religious in theme and collected in such publications as Poems (1893) and Sister Songs (1895), include the well-known 'The Hound of Heaven'.
- 35 The fairest things have fleetest end,
 Their scent survives their close:
 But the rose's scent is bitterness
 To him that loved the rose.
 'Daisy' (published 1890).
- 36 I fled Him, down the nights and down the days;
 I fled Him, down the arches of the years;
 I fled Him, down the labyrinthine ways
 Of my own mind; and in the midst of tears
 I hid from Him, and under running laughter.
1893 Poems, 'The Hound of Heaven'.
- 37 I said to Dawn: Be sudden—to Eve: Be soon.
1893 Poems, 'The Hound of Heaven'.
- 38 O world invisible, we view thee,
 O world intangible, we touch thee,
 O world unknowable, we know thee,
 Inapprehensible, we clutch thee!
1897 'In No Strange Land'.
- 39 It is little I repair to the matches of the Southron folk,
 Though my own red roses there may blow;
 It is little I repair to the matches of the Southron folk,
 Though the red roses crest the caps, I know.
 For the field is full of shades as I near the shadowy coast,
 And a ghostly batsman plays to the bowling of a ghost,
 And I look through my tears on a soundless-clapping host
 As the run-stealers flicker to and fro,
 To and fro:—
 O my Hornby and my Barlow long ago!
1907 'At Lord's', poem dedicated to friends to explain why he could not attend a match at Lord's at their invitation for fear of the sadness it would cause him, remembering the long-dead friends who had played there (for Lancashire) back in 1878.
- 40 There is no expeditious road
 To pack and label men for God,
 And save them by the barrel-load,
 Some may perchance, with strange surprise,
 Have blundered into Paradise.
1913 'A Judgment in Heaven', epilogue.
- 41 Wake! for the Ruddy Ball has taken flight
 That scatters the slow Wicket of the Night;
 And the swift Batsman of the Dawn has driven Against the Star-spiked Rails a fiery smite.
 'Wake! for the Ruddy Ball has Taken Flight', parody of Edward Fitzgerald, quoted in J C Squire Apes and Parrots (1929).

Thomson, James 1700–48

Scottish poet. He studied for the ministry but moved to London to become a writer. His chief works were The Castle of Indolence (1748) and The Seasons, an early nature poem extensively revised between 1730 and 1746.

52 When Britain first, at heaven's command,
Arose from out the azure main,
This was the charter of the land,
And guardian angels sung this strain:
'Rule, Britannia, rule the waves;
Britons never will be slaves.'

1740 Alfred: a Masque, act 2, sc.5.

53 Delightful task! to rear the tender thought,
To teach the young idea how to shoot.

1746 The Seasons, 'Spring', l.1152–3.

54 An elegant sufficiency, content,
Retirement, rural quiet, friendship, books,
Ease and alternate labour, useful life,
Progressive virtue, and approving Heaven!

1746 The Seasons, 'Spring', l.1161–4.

55 Or sighed and looked unutterable things.

59 A little round, fat, oily man of God,
Was one I chiefly marked among the fry:
He had a roguish twinkle in his eye.

1748 The Castle of Indolence, canto 1, stanza 69.

Thomson, James pseudonym 'BV', Bysshe Vanolis 1834–82

Scottish poet born in Port Glasgow. He trained as an army schoolmaster but was dismissed from army service in 1862 for alcoholism. He worked in London as a poet, journalist and critic, and published his greatest work The City of Dreadful Night in 1874.

60 As we rush, as we rush in the train,
The trees and the houses go wheeling back,
But the starry heavens above that plain
Come flying on our track.

1863–5 'Sunday at Hampstead', stanza 10.

61 The City is of Night, but not of Sleep;
There sweet Sleep is not for the weary brain;
The pitiless hours like years and ages creep,
A night seems endless hell.

1874 The City of Dreadful Night, pt.1.

62 The City is of Night; perchance of Death,
But certainly of Night.

1874 The City of Dreadful Night, pt.1.

63 As I came through the desert thus it was,
As I came through the desert: All was black,
In heaven no single star, on earth no track;
A brooding hush without a stir or note;
The air so thick it clotted in my throat.

1874 The City of Dreadful Night, pt.4.

64 Yet I strode on austere;
No hope could have no fear.

1874 The City of Dreadful Night, pt.4.

1935 Of Gershwin's Porgy and Bess. Modern Music.
- 67 The way to write American music is simple. All you have to do is be an American and then write any kind of music you wish.
 Quoted in Machlis Introduction to Contemporary Music (1963).

Thoreau, Henry David 1817–62

US essayist and poet, known as 'the hermit of Walden'. In 1839 he began his nature studies, and lived as a hermit (1845–7). His works include Walden, or Life in the Woods (1854) and his nature observations, beginning with Early Spring in Massachusetts (1881). His essay Civil Disobedience (1849) was provoked by his opposition to the Mexican war.

- 68 We seem but to linger in manhood to tell the dreams of our childhood, and they vanish out of memory ere we learn the language.
1841 Journal entry, 19 Feb.
- 69 Being is the great explainer.
1841 Journal entry, 26 Feb.
- 70 Men reverence one another, not yet God.
1849 A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers, 'Sunday'.
- 71 Under a government which imprisons any unjustly, the true place for a just man is also a prison.
1849 Civil Disobedience.
- 72 Read the best books first, or you may not have a chance to read them at all.
1849 A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers, 'Sunday'.
- 73 The lawyer's truth is not Truth, but consistency or a consistent expediency.
1849 Civil Disobedience.
- 74 It takes two to speak the truth,—one to speak, and another to hear.
1849 A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers, 'Wednesday'.
- 75 A truly good book is something as wildly natural and primitive, mysterious and marvelous, ambrosial and fertile, as a fungus or a lichen.
1850 Journal entry, 16 Nov. In Bradford Torrey and F H Allen (eds) The Journals of Henry David Thoreau (1906).
- 76 Some circumstantial evidence is very strong, as when you find a trout in the milk.
1850 Journal entry, 11 Nov.
- 77 How many a man has dated a new era in his life from the reading of a book!... The at present unutterable things we may find somewhere uttered.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Reading'.
- 78 If we knew all the laws of Nature, we should need only one fact, or the description of one actual phenomenon, to infer all the particular results at that point. Now we know only a few laws, and our result is vitiated, not, of course, by any confusion or irregularity in Nature, but by our ignorance of essential elements in the calculation. Our notions of law and harmony are commonly confined to those instances which we detect; but the harmony which results from a far greater number of seemingly conflicting, but really concurring, laws, which we have not detected, is still more wonderful. The particular laws are as our points of view, as, to the traveler, a mountain outline varies with every step, and it has an infinite number of profiles, though absolutely but one form. Even when cleft or bored through it is not comprehended in its entirety.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'The Pond in Winter'.
- 79 Every man is the builder of a temple, called his body, to the god he worships, after a style purely his own, nor can he get off by hammering marble instead. We are all sculptors and painters, and our material is our own flesh and blood and bones.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Higher Laws'.
- 80 It is a part of the destiny of the human race, in its gradual improvement, to leave off eating animals, as surely as the savage tribes have left off eating each other when they come in contact with the more civilized.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Higher Laws'.
- 81 We can never have enough of nature. . . . We need to witness our own limits transgressed, and some life pasturing freely where we never wander.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Spring'.

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Economy'.
- 85 Men have become the tools of their tools.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Economy'.
- 86 I have yet to hear the first syllable of valuable or even earnest advice from my seniors.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Economy'.
- 87 As for Doing-good, that is one of the professions which are full.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Economy'.
- 88 I say, beware of all enterprises that require new clothes, and not rather a new wearer of clothes.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Economy'.
- 89 Every generation laughs at the old fashions, but follows religiously the new.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Economy'.
- 90 As long as possible live free and uncommitted. It makes but little difference whether you are committed to a farm or the county jail.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Where I Lived, and What I Lived For'.
- 91 I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to front only the essential facts of life, and see if I could not learn what it had to teach, and not, when I came to die, discover that I had not lived.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Where I Lived, and What I Lived For'.
- 92 Our life is frittered away by detail.
1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Where I Lived, and What I Lived For'.
- 93 We do not ride on the railroad; it rides upon us.

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Where I Lived and What I Lived For'.

94 Will you be a reader, a student merely, or a seer? Read your fate, see what is before you, and walk on into futurity.

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Sounds'.

95 I never found the companion that was so companionable as solitude.

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Solitude'.

96 I was determined to know beans.

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'The Bean-Field'.

97 If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer.

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Conclusion'.

98 Why level downward to our dullest perception always, and praise that as common sense?

1854 Walden, or Life in the Woods, 'Conclusion'.

99 As for style of writing—if one has anything to say, it drops from him simply and directly, as a stone falls to the ground.

French historian and politician, Minister of Foreign Affairs for a few months in 1849. His major works are De la Démocratie en Amérique (1835–40, Democracy in America) and L'Ancien Régime et la Révolution (1856, The Old Regime and the Revolution).

80 Why, as civilization spreads, do outstanding men become fewer? Why, when attainments are the lot of all, do great intellectual talents become rarer? Why, when there are no longer lower classes, are there no longer upper classes? Why, when knowledge of how to rule reaches the masses, is there a lack of great abilities in the direction of society? America clearly poses these questions. But who can answer them?

1831 Translated by George Lawrence. Quoted in J.P. Mayer (ed) Journey to America (1960).

81 From this foul drain the greatest stream of human industry flows out to fertilize the whole world. From this filthy sewer pure gold flows. Here humanity attains its most complete development and its most brutish, here civilization works its miracles and civilized man is turned almost into a savage.

1835 Of Manchester. Journal entry, 2 Jul. Journeys to England and Ireland (translated by George Lawrence and J.P. Mayer, 1958).

82 En matière de presse, il n'y a donc réellement pas de milieu entre la servitude et la licence. Pour recueillir les biens inestimables qu'assure la liberté de la presse, il faut savoir se soumettre aux maux inévitables qu'elle fait naître.

As for the press, there is no middle way between servitude and extreme licence. In order to enjoy the invaluable benefits ensured by freedom of the press, it is necessary to submit to the inevitable evils that it engenders.

1835–40 De la Démocratie en Amérique (Democracy in America), vol.1, pt.2, ch.3.

83 C'est un axiome de la science politique aux États-Unis, que le seul moyen de neutraliser les effets des journaux est d'en multiplier le nombre.

It is an axiom of politics in the United States, that the only means of neutralising the effects of newspapers is to increase their number.

1835–40 De la Démocratie en Amérique (Democracy in America), vol.1, pt.2, ch.3.

84 La presse exerce encore un immense pouvoir en Amérique. Elle fait circuler la vie politique dans toutes les portions de ce vaste territoire. C'est elle dont l'œil toujours ouvert met sans cesse à nu les secrets ressorts de la politique, et force les hommes publics à venir tour à tour comparaître devant le tribunal de l'opinion. C'est elle qui rallie les intérêts autour de certaines doctrines et formule le symbole des partis; c'est par elle que ceux-ci se parlent sans se voir, s'entendent sans être mis en contact.

The press has enormous power in America. It is the press that circulates political life through all parts of this vast territory. Its eye is always open, and making known the secret springs of politics, thus forcing public men to appear before the tribunal of public opinion. It is the press which rallies the interests of the community round certain principles and forms the creed of different parties. Through the press these parties can speak to each other without seeing each other, can listen without meeting.

1835–40 De la Démocratie en Amérique (Democracy in America), vol.1, pt.2, ch.3.

85 Le journal représente l'association; l'on peut dire qu'il parle à chacun de ses lecteurs au nom de tous les autres, et il les entraîne d'autant plus aisément qu'ils sont individuellement plus faibles. L'empire des journaux doit donc croître à mesure que les hommes s'égalisent.

A newspaper represents an association; one might say that it addresses each of its readers in the name of all the others, and influences them in proportion to their individual weakness. The power of newspapers should therefore increase as men become more equal.

1835–40 De la Démocratie en Amérique (Democracy in America), vol.2, pt.2, ch.6.

86 Il n'y a qu'un journal qui puisse venir déposer au même moment dans mille esprits la même pensée.

A newspaper is an adviser whom one does not need to seek out, but one who comes of his own accord and speaks to you every day, briefly, of public affairs, without disturbing you from your own.

Todd, Ron(ald) 1927–

English trade union leader, a member of the Transport and General Workers' Union. He became General-Secretary in 1985, with strong left-wing support.

90 You don't have power if you surrender all your principles—you have office.

1988 Speech, London, Jun.

Toffler, Alvin 1928–

US writer and journalist, one of the most successful trend-spotters of the age. Toffler coined the phrase 'future shock' and convinced a sizable number of the reading public and policy administrators that what ailed them was the fact that everything was changing so fast.

91 'Future shock'... the shattering stress and disorientation that we induce in individuals by subjecting them to too much change in too short a time.

Tojo, Hideki 1885–1948

Japanese soldier who rose to become Minister of War (1940–1) and from 1941 premier and dictator of Japan. He was sentenced to death in 1948.

94 This is farewell.

I shall wait beneath the moss
Until the flowers are fragrant
In this island country of Japan.

1948 His final statement before execution, 23 Dec. Quoted in R J C Butow Tojo and the Coming War (1961).

Tolkien, J(ohn) R(onald) R(euel) 1892–1973

English writer and philologist. He was born in South Africa, educated in England, and he taught at Oxford. He wrote scholarly books, but is famous for his hugely popular fantasy novels The Hobbit (1937) and The Lord of the Rings trilogy (1954–6).

95 In a hole in the ground there lived a hobbit. Not a nasty, dirty, wet hole, filled with the ends of worms and an oozy smell, nor yet a dry, bare, sandy hole with nothing in it to sit down on or to eat: it was a hobbit-hole, and that means comfort.

1937 The Hobbit, ch.1.

96 My political opinions lean more and more to anarchy (philosophically understood, meaning abolition of control not whiskered men with bombs)... The most improper job of any man is bossing other men.

1943 Letter to Christopher Tolkien, 29 Apr.

97 There is only one bright spot and that is the growing habit of disgruntled men of dynamiting factories and power stations. I hope that, encouraged now as patriotism, it may remain a habit! But it won't do any good, if it is not universal.

1943 Letter to Christopher Tolkien, 29 Apr.

98 One Ring to rule them all, One Ring to find them, One Ring to bring them all and in the darkness bind them.

In the Land of Mordor where the Shadows lie.

1954 The Fellowship of the Ring, epigraph and passim.

99 But I cordially dislike allegory in all its manifestations, and always have done so since I grew old and wary enough to detect its presence. I much prefer history, true or feigned, with its varied applicability to the thought and experience of readers.

1954 The Fellowship of the Ring, foreword.

1 Hobbits are an unobtrusive but very ancient people, more numerous formerly than they are today; for they love peace and quiet and good tilled earth: a well-ordered and well-farmed countryside was their favourite haunt... Even in ancient days they were, as a rule, shy of 'the Big Folk', as they call us, and now they avoid us with dismay and are becoming hard to find.

1954 The Fellowship of the Ring, prologue.

2 Do not meddle in the affairs of Wizards, for they are subtle and quick to anger.

Tolstoy, Leo Nikolayevich 1828–1910

Russian novelist, social philosopher, social critic and sometime mystic. His best-known works are War and Peace (1868–9) and Anna Karenina (1875–7).

4 Our body is a machine for living. It is organized for that, it is its nature. Let life go on in it unhindered and let it defend itself, it will do more than if you paralyse it by encumbering it with remedies.

1869 War and Peace, bk.10, ch.29.

5 All happy families resemble each other; each unhappy family is unhappy in its own way.

1874 Anna Karenina, opening words.

6 I sit on a man's back, choking him and making him carry me, and yet assure myself and others that I am very sorry for him and wish to ease his lot by all possible means—except by getting off his back.

1886 What Then Must We Do?, ch.16 (translated by Maude).

7 What is called science today consists of a haphazard heap of information, united by nothing, often utterly unnecessary, and not only failing to present one unquestionable truth, but as often as not containing the grossest errors today put forward as truths, and tomorrow overthrown.

1898 What is Art? (translated by V Tchertkoff).

8 I am convinced that the history of so-called scientific work in our famous centers of European civilization will, in a couple of hundred years, represent an inexhaustible source of laughter and sorrow for future generations. The learned men of the small western part of our European continent lived for several centuries under the illusion that the eternal blessed life was the West's future. They were interested in the problem of when and where this blessed life would come. But they never thought of how they were going to make their life better.

1898 What is Art? (translated by V Tchertkoff).

Tomé Pires c.1480–1525

Portuguese scholar and diplomat who came to Malacca in 1512, shortly after his country's conquest of the region. Portuguese control of new sea routes meant that valuable spices no longer needed to travel via Venice to reach Europe.

9 Whoever is Lord of Malacca has his hand on the throat of Venice.

1512–15 The Suma Oriental of Tomé Pires (translated by Armando Cortasao, 1944).

Toplady, Augustus Montague 1740–78

English clergyman and hymn writer.

15 Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee,
Let the water and the blood,
From thy riven side which flowed,
Be of sin the double cure,
Cleanse me from its guilt and power.

1776 Hymn.

Trevor-Roper, Hugh Redwald, Baron Dacre of Glanton 1914–2003

English historian, known for his vivid reconstruction of The Last Days of Hitler (1947). He was Professor at Oxford (1957–80) and Master of Peterhouse, Cambridge (1980–7).

63 Any society, so long as it is, or feels itself to be, a working society, tends to invest in itself: a military society tends to become more military, a bureaucratic society more bureaucratic, a commercial society more commercial, as the status and profits of war or office or commerce are enhanced by success, and institutions are framed to forward it. Therefore, when such a society is hit by a general crisis, it finds itself partly paralyzed by the structural weight of increased social investment. The dominant military or official or commercial classes cannot easily change their orientation: and their social dominance, and the institutions through which it is exercised, prevent other classes from securing power or changing policy.

Trilling, Lionel 1905–75

US literary critic whose works, such as The Liberal Imagination (1950) and Beyond Culture (1965), gained him a reputation for scholarly and astute social comment. He also wrote a novel, The Middle of the Journey (1947).

- 66 Literature is the human activity that takes the fullest and most precise account of variousness, possibility, complexity, and difficulty.
1950 The Liberal Imagination, preface.
- 67 We are all ill: but even a universal sickness implies an idea of health.
1950 The Liberal Imagination, 'Art and Neurosis'.
- 68 We who are liberal and progressive know that the poor are our equals in every sense except that of being equal to us.
1950 The Liberal Imagination, 'Princess Casamassima'.
- 69 It would seem that Americans have a kind of resistance to looking closely at society.
1950 The Liberal Imagination, 'Manners, Morals and the Novel'.
- 70 The poet... may be used as a barometer, but let us not forget that he is also part of the weather.
1950 The Liberal Imagination.
- 71 The function of literature through all its mutations, has been to make us aware of the particularity of selves, and the high authority of the self in its quarrel with its society and its culture. Literature is in that sense subversive.
1965 Beyond Culture, introduction.

Trinder, Tommy 1909–89

English comedian and actor, whose famous catchphrase was 'You lucky people'.

- 72 Overpaid, overfed, oversexed, and over here.
Of US troops stationed in Britain during World War II. This phrase is associated with Trinder, but was probably not his invention.

Trollope, Anthony 1815–82

English novelist. He is best known for his two novel sequences, the Barchester novels and the 'Palliser' novels, both of which chronicle the life of a region and are distinguished by their slow pace and quiet comedy. His novels include Barchester Towers (1857) and Can You Forgive Her? (1864).

- 73 The tenth Muse, who now governs the periodical press.
1855 The Warden, ch.14.
- 74 She was rich in apparel, but not bedizened with finery... She well knew the great architectural secret of decorating her constructions, and never descended to construct a decoration.
1857 Of Mrs Stanhope. Barchester Towers, ch.9.
- 75 There is no road to wealth so easy and respectable as that of matrimony.
1858 Doctor Thorne, ch.16.
- 76 Let no man boast himself that he has got through the perils of winter till at least the seventh of May.
1858 Doctor Thorne, ch.47.
- 77 Those who have courage to love should have courage to suffer.
1859 The Bertrams, ch.27.
- 78 For the most of us, if we do not talk of ourselves, or at any rate of the individual circles of which we are the centres, we can talk of nothing. I cannot hold with those who wish to put down the insignificant chatter of the world.
1861 Framley Parsonage, ch.10.
- 79 We cannot bring ourselves to believe it possible that a foreigner should in any respect be wiser than ourselves. If any such point out to us our follies, we at once claim those follies as the special evidence of our wisdom.

- 80 It is because we put up with bad things that hotel-keepers continue to give them to us.
1862 Stavelay. Orley Farm, ch.18.
- 81 As for conceit, what man will do any good who is not conceited? Nobody holds a good opinion of a man who has a low opinion of himself.
1862 Orley Farm, ch.22.
- 82 Mr Palliser was one of those politicians in possessing whom England has perhaps more reason to be proud than of any other of her resources, and who, as a body, give to her that exquisite combination of conservatism and progress which is her present strength and best security for the future.
1864 Can You Forgive Her?, ch.24.
- 83 To think of one's absent love is very sweet; but it becomes monotonous... I doubt whether any girl would be satisfied with her lover's mind if she knew the whole of it.
1864 The Small House at Allington, ch.4.
- 84 Why is it that girls so constantly do this, so frequently ask men who have loved them to be present at their marriages with other men? There is no triumph in it. It is done in sheer kindness and affection. They intend to offer something which shall soften and not aggravate the sorrow that they have caused... I fully appreciate the intention, but in honest truth, I doubt the eligibility of the proffered entertainment.
1864 John Eames. The Small House at Allington, ch.9.
- 85 It may almost be a question whether such wisdom as many of us have in our mature years has not come from the dying out of the power of temptation, rather than as the results of thought and resolution.
1864 The Small House at Allington, ch.14.
- 86 Never think that you're not good enough yourself. A man should never think that. My belief is that in life people will take you much at your own reckoning.
1864 Lord De Guest to Johnny. The Small House at Allington, ch.32.
- 87 With many women I doubt whether there be any more effectual way of touching their hearts than ill-using them and then confessing it. If you wish to get the sweetest fragrance from the herb at your feet, tread on it and bruise it.
1865 Miss Mackenzie, ch.10.
- 88 It was manifest to me that there was something in the Roman Catholic religion which made the priests very dear to the people; for I doubt whether in any village in England, had such an accident happened to the rector, all the people would have roused themselves at midnight to wreak their vengeance on the assailant.
1866 Argosy, 'Father Giles of Ballymoy', May.

- 7 To be, or not to be; that is the bare bodkin
That makes calamity of so long life;
For who would fardels bear, till Birnam Wood do come to Dunsinane,
But that the fear of something after death
Murders the innocent sleep,
Great nature's second course,
And makes us rather sling the arrows of outrageous fortune
Than fly to others that we know not of.
There's the respect must give us pause:
Wake Duncan with thy knocking! I would thou couldst;
For who would bear the whips and scorns of time,
The oppressor's wrong, the proud man's contumely,
The law's delay, and the quietus which his pangs might take,
In the dead waste and middle of the night, when Churchyards yawn
In customary suits of solemn black,
But that the undiscovered country from whose bourne
no traveler returns,
Breathes forth contagion on the world,
And thus the native hue of resolution, like the poor cat i'
the adage,
Is sicklied o'er with care,
And all the clouds that lowered o'er our housetops,
With this regard their currents turn awry,
And lose the name of action.
'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished.
But soft you, the fair Ophelia:
Ope not thy ponderous and marble jaws,
But get thee to a nunnery—go!

71 Every poet knows the pun is Pierian, that it springs from the same soil as the Muse... a matching and shifting of vowels and consonants, an adroit assonance sometimes derided as jackassonance.

1965 Bygones.

Updike, John Hoyer 1932–

US novelist, poet and critic. He is best known for his novels, notably the 'Rabbit' series, but has also written poetry, short stories, criticism and Self-Consciousness (1989), a volume of memoirs.

72 Everybody who tells you how to act has whisky on their breath.

1960 Rabbit, Run.

73 The difficulty with humorists is that they will mix what they believe with what they don't; whichever seems likelier to win an effect.

1960 Rabbit, Run.

74 Many-maned scud-thumper, tub of male whales, maker of worn wood, shrub-ruster, sky-mocker, rave! portly pusher of waves, wind-slave.

1960 Telephone Poles and Other Poems, 'Winter Ocean'.

1963 The Centaur, ch.4.

76 One out of three hundred and twelve Americans is a bore, for instance, and a healthy male adult bore consumes each year one and a half times his own weight in other people's patience.

1965 Assorted Prose, 'Confessions of a Wild Bore'.

77 The first breath of adultery is the freest; after it, constraints aping marriage develop.

1968 Couples, ch.2.

78 Sex is like money; only too much is enough.

1968 Couples, ch.5.

79 Facts are generally overesteemed. For most practical purposes, a thing is what men think it is. When they judged the earth flat, it was flat. As long as men thought slavery tolerable, it was tolerable. We live down here among shadows, shadows among shadows.

1974 Buchanan. Buchanan Dying, act 1.

80 To be President of the United States, sir, is to act as advocate for the blind, venomous, and ungrateful client; still, one must make the best of the case, for the purposes of Providence.

1974 Polk. Buchanan Dying, act 2.

81 In general the churches... bore for me the same relation to God that billboards did to Coca-Cola: they promoted thirst without quenching it.

1975 A Month of Sundays, ch.2.

82 Americans have been conditioned to respect newness, whatever it costs them.

1975 A Month of Sundays, ch.18.

1984 Hugging The Shore, foreword.

86 Why does one never hear of government funding for the preservation and encouragement of comic strips, girlie magazines and TV soap operas? Because these genres still hold the audience they were created to amuse and instruct.

1985 In the New York Review of Books, 18 Jul.

87 There's a crystallization that goes on in a poem which the young man can bring off, but which the middle-aged man can't.

1986 In the New York Times, 24 Mar.

88 How circumstantial reality is! Facts are like individual letters, with their spikes and loops and thorns, that make up words: eventually they hurt our eyes, and we long to take a bath, to rake the lawn, to look at the sea.

1989 Self-Consciousness, I: 'A Soft Spring Night in Shillington'.

89 A writer's self-consciousness, for which he is much scorned, is really a mode of interestedness, that inevitably turns outward.

1989 Self-Consciousness, I: 'A Soft Spring Night in Shillington'.

90 The essential self is innocent, and when it tastes its own innocence knows that it lives forever.

1989 Self-Consciousness, I: 'A Soft Spring Night in Shillington'.

91 The throat: how strange, that there is not more erotic emphasis upon it. For here, through this compound pulsing pillar, our life makes its leap into spirit, and in the other direction gulps down what it needs of the material world.

- 92 The great temple of fiction has no well-marked front portal; most devotees arrive through a side door, and not dressed for worship.
1989 Self-Consciousness, III. 'GettingTheWords Out'.
- 93 In fact we do not try to picture the afterlife, nor is it our selves in our nervous tics and optical flecks that we wish to perpetuate; it is the self as the window on the world that we can't bear to think of shutting.
1989 Self-Consciousness, VI. 'On Being A Self Forever'.
- 94 Not only are selves conditional but they die. Each day, we wake slightly altered, and the person we were yesterday is dead.
1989 Self-Consciousness, VI. 'On Being A Self Forever'.
- 95 So writing is my sole remaining vice. It is an addiction, an illusory release, a presumptuous taming of reality, a way of expressing lightly the unbearable.
1989 Self-Consciousness, VI. 'On Being A Self Forever'.
- 96 Now that I am sixty, I see why the idea of elder wisdom has passed from currency.
1992 In the New Yorker, Nov.
- 97 [There is] an undercurrent of emotion bred of the deep acquaintance that can take a landscape and its inhabitants to be a vocabulary, a set of wordless symbols effortlessly shared.
1995 On the artist Edward Hopper. In the Washington Post, 25 Jun.
- 98 The United States, democratic and various though it is, is not an easy country for a fiction-writer to enter: the slot between the fantastic and the drab seems too narrow.
1995 Rabbit Angstrom: The Four Novels, introduction.
- 99 Clarence's mind was like a many-legged, wingless insect that had long and tediously been struggling to climb up the walls of a slick-walled porcelain basin; and now a sudden impatient wash of water swept it down the drain.
1996 In the Beauty of the Lilies.
- 1 But when has happiness ever been the subject of fiction? The pursuit of it is just that—a pursuit.
2003 The Early Stories: 1953–1975, foreword.

Valle y Caviedes, Juan del c.1652–?1695

Peruvian poet born in a small town in Andalusia, Spain. He lived most of his life in Lima. Little is known of his life. His collection Diente del Parnaso (1689) is an earthy satire of the medical profession.

- 17 *Yasí, enfermos, ojo alerta,
y a ningún médico admitan;
mueran de gorra, sin dar
un real a la medicina.*
Be careful then, patients, and don't accept any doctor;
die for free and do not give a single coin to medicine.
1689 Diente del Parnaso ('Parnassus' Tooth'), 'Prólogo al que leyere este tratado.'

Vallejo, César Abraham 1892–1938 meditations include The Mount of Olives (1652) and Flores Solitudinis (1652).

43 The skin and shell of things

Though fair are not Thy wish nor prayer but got My meer despair of wings.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'The Search'.

44 Happy those early days when I

Shined in my Angel-infancy.
Before I understood this place
Appointed for my second race,
Or taught my soul to fancy aught
But a white, celestial thought;
When yet I had not walked above
A mile or two from my first love,
And looking back (at that short space)
Could see a glimpse of His bright face.
When on some gilded cloud or flower
My gazing soul would dwell an hour
And in those weaker glories spy
Some shadows of eternity.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'The Retreat'.

45 Before I taught my tongue to wound

My conscience with a sinful sound,
Or had the black art to dispense
A several sin to every sense,
But felt through all this fleshly dress
Bright shoots of everlastingness.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'The Retreat'.

46 Some men a forward motion love,
But I by backward steps would move,
And when this dust falls to the urn
In that state I came, return.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'The Retreat'.

47 My soul, there is a country

Far beyond the stars,
Where stands a wingèd sentry
All skilful in the wars;

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'Peace'.

48 King of comforts, King of life,

Thou hast cheered me,
And when fears and doubts were rife,
Thou hast cleared me.

Not a hook in all my breast
But thou fill'st it,
Not a thought in all my rest
But thou kill'st it.

Wherefore with my utmost strength
I will praise thee,
And as thou giv'st line, and length,
I will raise thee.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'Praise'.

49 I saw Eternity the other night

Like a great ring of pure and endless light,
All calm, as it was bright,
And round beneath it, Time in hours, days, years

Driven by the spheres

Like a vast shadow moved.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'The World'.

50 Man is the shuttle, to whose winding quest

And passage through these looms
God ordered motion, but ordained no rest.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'Man'.

51 They are all gone into the world of light,

And I alone sit lingering here;
Their very memory is fair and bright,
And my sad thoughts doth clear.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'They Are All Gone'.

52 I played with fire, did counsel spurn,

Made life my common stake;
But never thought that fire would burn,
O that a soul could ache.

1650 Silex Scintillans, 'The Garland'.

Vaz de Caminha, Pero late 15c–early 16c

Portuguese historian, who came to the New World only eight years after Columbus. His account avoids the prevalent hyperbole, striving instead to give a realistic picture of the native peoples.

53 Esta gente é boa e de boa simplicidade. E imprimir-se-á ligeiramente neles qualquer cunho, que les quiserem dar. E logo lhes, Nosso Senhor, deu bons corpos e bons rostos, como a bons homens, e Ele que nos por aqui trouxe, creio que não foi sem causa. E portanto, Vossa Alteza, pois tanto deseja acrescentar na santa fé católica, deve entender em sua salvação.

These people are good and simple. You can stamp on them any design that you wish to give them. And Our Lord gave them good bodies and good faces, and I think that it was his plan that we arrive here. Therefore, Your Majesty, since you wish so much to increase Catholic faith, you must provide for their salvation.

Carta (published 1817).

Veblen, Thorstein 1857–1929

US economist and social critic. He attacked commercial values in his best-known work, Theory of the Leisure Class (1899). He was instrumental in breaking the hold of neo-classical economic theory and became a leader in the institutional school of economics.

54 The corset is... a mutilation, undergone for the purpose of lowering the subject's vitality and rendering her permanently and obviously unfit for work.

1899 Theory of the Leisure Class.

55 When seen in the perspective of half-a-dozen years or more, the best of our fashions strike us as grotesque, if not unsightly.

- 12 Go, lovely rose,
 Tell her that wastes her time and me,
 That now she knows,
 When I resemble her to thee,
 How sweet and fair she seems to be.
1645 'Go, lovely rose'.
- 13 Small is the worth
 Of beauty from the light retir'd;
 Bid her come forth,
 Suffer her self to be desir'd,
 And not blush to be admir'd.
1645 'Go, lovely rose'.
- 14 Phillis, why shou'd we delay
 Pleasures shorter than the day?
1645 'To Phillis'.
- 15 Since thou wouldst needs, bewitched with some ill charms,
 Be buried in those monumental arms:
 As we can wish, is, may that earth lie light
 Upon thy tender limbs, and so good night.
1645 'To One Married to an Old Man'.
- 16 Poets may boast (as safely-vain)
 Their work shall with the world remain:
 Both bound together, live, or die,
 The verses and the prophecy.

But who can hope his lines shou'd long
 Last, in a daily changing tongue?
 While they are new, envy prevails,
 And as that dies, our language fails.
1645 'Of English Verse'.

- 17 We write in sand, our language grows,
 And like our tide ours overflows.
1645 'Of English Verse'.
- 18 Verse thus design'd has no ill fate,
 If it arrive but at the date
 Of fading beauty, if it prove
 But as long-liv'd as present love.

- 39 They may ring their bells now; before long they will be wringing their hands.
1739 Remark on hearing church bells celebrating the declaration of war against Spain, 19 Oct.
- 40 I have lived long enough in the world to know that the safety of a Minister lies in his having the approbation of this House. Former Ministers neglected that and therefore they fell; I have always made it my first study to obtain it, and therefore I hope to stand.
1739 Speech, House of Commons, 21 Nov.
- 41 Patriots spring up like mushrooms. I could raise 50 of them within the four and twenty hours. I have raised many of them in one night. It is but refusing to gratify an immeasurable or insolent demand, and up starts a patriot.
1741 Speech, House of Commons, 13 Feb.

42 All those men have their price.

Quoted in William Coxe Memoirs of Sir Robert Walpole (1798).

Walters, Julie 1950–

English actress. On television she has appeared in both comedy and drama, and her films include Educating Rita (1983) and Billy Elliot (2000).

43 There's something great about going through the menopause and being in your 50s. You trade in that youthful thing, where everything is brand new. You swap it hopefully for some kind of wisdom; all the stuff you've learned. And I think HRT and plastic surgery kind of stopped that.

2003 In The Guardian, 1 Sep.

Walther Von der Vogelweide c.1170–1230

Walton, Izaak 1593–1683

English writer. He is remembered for The Compleat Angler (1653), which discusses the business of fishing and is interspersed with scraps of dialogue, moral reflections, quaint old verses, songs and sayings, and idyllic glimpses of country life.

45 But God, who is able to prevail, wrestled with him, as the Angel did with Jacob, and marked him; marked him for his own.

1653 Of Donne. Life of John Donne.

46 Angling may be said to be so like mathematics, that it can never be fully learnt.

1653 The Compleat Angler, 'Epistle to the Reader'.

47 I shall stay [the reader] no longer than to wish him a rainy day to read this... discourse; and that if he be an honest angler, the east wind may never blow when he goes a-fishing.

1653 The Compleat Angler, 'Epistle to the Reader'.

48 Angling is somewhat like poetry, men are to be born so: I mean with inclination to it.

1653 The Compleat Angler, pt.1, ch.1.

49 Sir Henry Wotton... was also a most dear lover, and a frequent practiser of the art of angling; of which he would say, 'it was an employment for his idle time... a rest to his mind, a cheerer of his spirits, a diverter of sadness, a calmer of unquiet thoughts, a moderator of passions, a procurer of contentedness; and that it begat habits of peace and patience in those that professed and practised it.'

1653 The Compleat Angler, pt.1, ch.1.

50 An excellent angler, and now with God.

1653 Of Sir George Hastings, The Compleat Angler, pt.1, ch.4.

51 She and I both love all anglers, they be such honest, civil quiet men.

1653 The milkwoman. The Compleat Angler, pt.1, ch.4.

52 No life, my honest scholar, no life so happy and so pleasant as the life of a well-governed angler; for when the lawyer is swallowed up with business, and the statesman is preventing or contriving plots, then we sit on cowslip-banks, hear the birds sing, and possess ourselves in as much quietness as these silver streams, which we now see glide so quietly by us.

1653 The Compleat Angler, pt.1, ch.5.

53 He would often say, Religion does not banish mirth, but only moderates and sets rules to it.

1670 Of George Herbert. Life of George Herbert.

Walton, Sir William Turner 1902–83

British composer. His works include Façade (1923), designed to accompany verses by Edith Sitwell, the Sinfonia Concertante (1927), the biblical cantata Belshazzar's Feast (1931), the opera Troilus and Cressida (1954) and much incidental music for films.

54 I seriously advise all sensitive composers to die at the age of thirty-seven. I know I've gone through the first halcyon period, and am just about ripe for my critical damnation.

1939 Letter.

Wang Xizhe 1956–

Chinese dissident, released from prison in 1993 after 12 years for his role in the Democracy Wall Movement.

55 You may keep me under surveillance until the year 2000, but will you even be able to hold on to power until then?

1995 Quoted in the Eastern Express, 10 May.

Ward, Artemus pseudonym of Charles Farrar Browne

1834–67

US humorist. In 1857 he began to publish letters from 'Artemus Ward' in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. His backwoods humour was an immediate success, and Lincoln interrupted a Cabinet meeting to read from him. In 1866 he moved to England where he worked for Punch and became a popular lecturer.

56 Traters... are an unfortunate class of people. If they wasn't they wouldn't be traters. They conspire to bust up a country—they fail, and they're traters. They bust her, and they become statesmen and heroes.

1867 Artemus Ward in London and Other Papers, 'The Tower of London'.

57 Let us all be happy, and live within our means, even if we have to borrow the money to do it with.

1867 Artemus Ward in London, and Other Papers, 'Science and Natural History'.

58 I am happiest when I am idle.

I could live for months without performing any kind of labour, and at the expiration of that time I should feel fresh and vigorous enough to go right on in the same way for numerous more months.

1867 Artemus Ward in London, and Other Papers, 'Pyrotechny', 3.

59 Why care for grammar as long as we are good?

1867 Artemus Ward in London, and Other Papers, 'Pyrotechny', 5.

60 He [Brigham Young] is dreadfully married. He's the most married man I ever saw in my life.

Warhol, Andy 1928–87

US graphic artist, painter and film-maker. He was one of the most controversial figures in American Pop Art.

- 62 If you want to know all about Andy Warhol, just look at the surface of my paintings and films and me, there I am. There's nothing behind it!
1967 Quoted in Gretchen Berg 'Andy: My True Story', in the LA Free Press, 17 Mar.

- 63 In the future everybody will be world famous for fifteen minutes.
 Quoted in Andy Warhol, Kasper König, Pontus Hultén and Olle Granath (eds) Andy Warhol (1968).

- 64 The Pop artists did images that anybody walking down Broadway could recognize in a split second—comics, picnic tables, men's trousers, celebrities, shower curtains, refrigerators, Coke bottles—all the great modern things that the Abstract Expressionists tried so hard not to notice at all.
 Quoted in Andy Warhol and Pat Hackett POPism: The Warhol '60s (1980).

- 65 When you think about it, department stores are kind of like museums.
1985 America.

Warner, Marina Sarah 1946–

- 66 Although Mary cannot be a model for the New Woman, a goddess is better than no goddess at all, for the sombre-suited masculine world of the Protestant religion is altogether too much like a gentlemen's club to which the ladies are only admitted on special days.
1976 Alone of All Her Sex: the Myth and Cult of the Virgin Mary, epilogue.

Warner, Sir Pelham Plum 1873–1963

English cricketer, born in Trinidad. He played for Middlesex and captained England on tours of Australia and South Africa. He was secretary (1939–45) and president (1950) of the MCC and was knighted in 1937.

- 67 Cricket is the greatest game that the wit of man has yet devised.
 Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

Warren, Earl 1891–1974

US politician and judge. As chief justice of the US Supreme Court (1943–53) he was a liberalizing influence, ending segregation in schools and protecting accused persons from police abuses. He headed the Commission into the assassination of John F Kennedy (1963–4).

- 68 We conclude that in the field of public education the doctrine of 'separate but equal' has no place.
1954 Ruling to declare segregated schools unconstitutional, 17 May.

- 69 The freedom to marry has long been recognized as one of the vital personal rights essential to the orderly pursuit of happiness by free men.
1957 2 Jun. Unanimous ruling against a Virginian law forbidding intermarriage of blacks and whites.

- 70 I always turn to the sports section first. The sports page records people's accomplishments; the front page has nothing but man's failures.
1968 In Sports Illustrated, 'Scorecard', 22 Jul.

Warren, Harry pseudonym of Salvatore Guaragno 1893–1981

US songwriter, born in Brooklyn. During the 1930s, he collaborated with Al Dubin on several Busby Berkeley movies. During the war years he worked with Mark Gordon for Fox and then also for MGM.

Warren, Robert Penn 1905–89

US writer, Professor of English at Louisiana, Minnesota and Yale. He established an international reputation with his novel All the King's Men (1943, filmed 1949), and wrote several other novels, short stories and volumes of poetry.

- 72 The poem... is a little myth of man's capacity of making life meaningful. And in the end, the poem is not a thing we see—it is, rather, a light by which we may see—and what we see is life.
1958 In the Saturday Review, 22 Mar.

- 73 The urge to write poetry is like having an itch. When the itch becomes annoying enough, you scratch it.
1969 In the New York Times, 16 Dec.

- 74 How do poems grow? They grow out of your life.
1985 In the New York Times, 12 May.

- 75 What is a poem but a hazardous attempt at self-understanding? It is the deepest part of autobiography.
1985 In the New York Times, 12 May.

- 76 I don't expect you'll hear me writing any poems to the greater glory of Ronald and Nancy Reagan.
1986 On being appointed the first US Poet Laureate. In the Washington Post, 27 Feb.

- 77 He woke me from the torpor of the accustomed.
 On familiar scenes more fully realized through Walker Evans's realistic photographs. Quoted in Belinda Rathbone Walker Evans (1995).

Washington, Booker Taliaferro 1856–1915

African-American educationalist, born a slave in Virginia. He became principal of the Tuskegee Institute in Alabama in 1881 and was a moderate in the negro movement. His autobiography, Up from Slavery, was published in 1901.

- 78 No race can prosper until it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem. It is at the bottom of life we must begin, and not at the top.
1895 'The Atlanta Exposition Address', in Up from Slavery (1901), ch.14.

- 79 In all things that are purely social we can be as separate as the fingers, yet one as the hand in all things essential to mutual progress.

1895 'The Atlanta Exposition Address,' in Up from Slavery (1901), ch.14.

Washington, George 1732–99

American soldier and statesman, first President. As commander of American forces in the War of Independence he displayed great powers of leadership, suffering defeats at Brandywine and Germantown, but holding his army together through the winter of 1777–8 at Valley Forge. After the alliance with France (1778), he forced the surrender of Cornwallis (1781) then retired to Mount Vernon, and sought strong constitutional government. In 1787 he presided over the Constitutional Convention and became President, eventually joining the Federalist Party, and retired in 1797.

80 Father, I cannot tell a lie. I did it with my little hatchet.

In childhood, on admitting to vandalizing a cherry tree, attributed by Mason Locke Weems (Parson Weems) in his Life and Memorable Actions of George Washington (5th edn, c.1810). Weems claimed to have heard the tale from an elderly lady, a distant relation of Washington's, 20 years earlier.

81 When we assumed the soldier, we did not lay aside the citizen.

1775 Address to the New York legislature, 26 Jun.

82 I can answer for but three things: a firm belief in the justice of our cause, close attention in the prosecution of it, and the strictest integrity.

1775 On being elected Commander of the Unionist Army, 19 Jun.

83 The time is now near at hand which must probably determine whether Americans are to be freemen or slaves... The fate of unborn millions will now depend, under God, on the courage and conduct of this army. Our cruel and unrelenting enemy leaves us only the choice of brave resistance or abject submission. We have, therefore, to resolve to conquer or die.

1776 General orders, 2 Jul. Quoted in J C Fitzpatrick (ed) Writings of George Washington (1932), vol.5.

84 An old-fashioned Virginia fox hunt, gentlemen.

1777 Comment on the skirmish at Princeton, 3 Jan. Attributed.

85 The preservation of the sacred fire of liberty, and the destiny of the republican model of government, are justly considered as deeply, perhaps as finally staked, on the experiment entrusted to the hands of the American people.

1789 Inaugural address, 30 Apr.

86 To be prepared for war is one of the most effective means of preserving peace.

1790 First Annual Address, 8 Jan.

87 It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliance with any portion of the foreign world.

Wavell, Archibald Percival, 1st Earl 1883–1950

British field-marshal. He held the Middle East Command from 1939 and was Viceroy of India 1943–7. His Generals and Generalship (1941) served as a combat handbook to his most formidable opponent, Erwin Rommel.

- 58 For sheer courage and endurance, physical and mental, the two men stand together as examples of what toughness the body will find, if the spirit within it is tough; and as very worthy representatives of our national capacity for individual enterprise, which it is hoped even the modern craze for regulating every detail of our lives will never stifle.

1948 Of F Spencer Chapman and T E Lawrence. Quoted in foreword to F Spencer Chapman The Jungle is Neutral (1950).

- 59 The story of Colonel Chapman's adventures is typical of the British way of war, and therefore begins with a complete lack of preparation.

1948 Quoted in foreword to F Spencer Chapman The Jungle is Neutral (1950).

Waxman, Howard

Editor of the Ice Cream Reporter.

- 60 The relation between the human tongue, the human psyche and butterfat is not very complex. The first two love the third.

Weatherill, (Bruce) Bernard Weatherill, Baron 1920–

English politician, chair of the Ways and Means Committee (1979–1983) and Speaker of the House of Commons (1987–1992). He oversaw with enthusiasm the televising of parliamentary proceedings.

- 61 Mine is one of the jobs that, if you want it, you will never get it—and if you're seen to want it you will certainly never get it.

Webb, (Martha) Beatrice née Potter 1858–1943

English social reformer, social historian, and economist. She wrote many studies with her husband, Sidney Webb.

- 62 His sensuality has all drifted into sexual vanity, delight for being the candle to the moths, with a dash of intellectual curiosity to give flavour to his tickled vanity... His incompleteness as a thinker, his shallow and vulgar view of many human relationships—the lack of a sterner kind of humour which would show him the dreariness of his farce and the total absence of proportion and inadequateness in some of his ideas—all these defects came largely from the flippant and worthless self-complacency brought about by the worship of rather second-rate women.

1897 Of George Bernard Shaw. Diary entry, 8 May.

- 63 All along the line, physically, mentally, morally, alcohol is a weakening and deadening force, and it is worth a great deal to save women and girls from its influence.

1917 Health of Working Girls, ch.10.

Webb, Phyllis 1927–

Canadian poet, university teacher and broadcaster. Her poetry includes The Sea is Also a Garden (1962), Naked Poems (1965) and Wilson's Bowl (1980); she has also published a collection of her essays.

- 64 Some people swim lakes, others climb flagpoles, some join monasteries, but we, my friends, who have considered suicide take our daily walk with death and are not lonely.

In the end it brings more honesty and care than all the democratic parliaments of tricks.

1956 Even Your Right Eye, 'To Friends Who Have Also Considered Suicide'.

Webb, Sidney James 1859–1947

English social reformer, historian and economist. A lawyer and Fabian, he wrote many powerful tracts and in 1892 married fellow socialist Beatrice Potter. They wrote a classic History of Trade Unionism (1894) and English Local Government (1906–29, 9 vols), and began the New Statesman (1913). He became President of the Board of Trade (1924), Dominions and Colonial Secretary (1929–30) and Colonial Secretary (1930–1).

- 65 No philosopher now looks for anything but the gradual evolution of the new order from the old... History shows us no example of the sudden substitutions of Utopian and revolutionary romance.

1889 Fabian Essays.

- 66 How anyone can fear that the British electorate, whatever mistakes it can make or may condone, can ever go too far or too fast is incomprehensible... The Labour Party, when in due course it comes to be entrusted with power, will naturally not want to do everything at once. Once we face the necessity of putting our principles into execution from one end of the kingdom to the other, the inevitability of gradualness cannot fail to be appreciated.

1923 Labour Party Conference, 26 Jun.

Weber, Max 1864–1920

German sociologist and economist.

- 67 In Baxter's view, the care of external goods should only lie on the shoulders of the 'saint like a light cloak, which can be thrown aside at any moment.' But fate decreed that the cloak should become an iron cage.
1904–5 The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism (translated by Talcott Parsons, 1930), ch.5. Richard Baxter (1615–91) was an eminent Puritan, chaplain of Cromwell's army.
- 68 The impulse to acquisition, pursuit of gain, of money, of the greatest possible amount of money, has in itself nothing to do with capitalism. This impulse exists among waiters, physicians, coachmen, artists, prostitutes, dishonest officials, soldiers, nobles, crusaders, gamblers, and beggars. One may say that it has been common to all sorts and conditions of men at all times and in all cultures of the earth, wherever the objective possibility of it is or has been given.
1904–5 The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism (translated by Talcott Parsons, 1930).
- 69 Capital accounting in its formally most rational shape... presupposes the battle of man with man.
1922 Collected in Guenther Roth and Claus Wittich (eds) Economy and Society (1978), ch.1.
- 70 However many people may complain about the 'red tape', it would be sheer illusion to think for a moment that continuous administrative work can be carried out in any field except by means of officials working in offices... The choice is only that between bureaucracy and dilettantism in the field of administration.
1922 Collected in Guenther Roth and Claus Wittich (eds) Economy and Society (1978), ch.3.

Webster, Daniel 1782–1852

US lawyer and statesman, one of the greatest of US orators. As Secretary of State (1840–3) he negotiated the Webster–Ashburton treaty with Great Britain. A supporter of free trade, nationality and established institutions, he was unwilling to break the Union to abolish slavery.

- 71 [Alexander Hamilton] smote the rock of the national resources, and abundant streams of revenue gushed forth. He touched the dead corpse of the public credit, and it sprang upon its feet.
1831 Speech, New York, 10
- 72 There is always room at the top.
 On being advised against joining the overcrowded legal profession, attributed.

Webster, John c.1580–c.1625

English dramatist. He collaborated with Dekker, Drayton, Marston and others. He is best known for two great tragedies, The White Devil (1612) and The Duchess of Malfi (1623).

- 73 Fortune's a right whore:

If she give aught, she deals it in small parcels,
 That she may take away all at one swoop.

1612 The White Devil, act 1, sc.1.

- 74 All the damnable degrees
 Of drinking have you staggered through.
1612 The White Devil, act 1, sc.1.
- 75 Perfumes, the more they are chafed, the more they render Their pleasing scents; and so affliction Expresseth virtue fully.
1612 The White Devil, act 1, sc.1.
- 76 Oh, they are politic: they know our desire is increased by the difficulty of enjoying, whereas satiety is a blunt, weary, and drowsy passion.
1612 Of women. The White Devil, act 1, sc.1.
- 77 See, the curse of children!
 In life they keep us frequently in tears,
 And in the cold grave leave us in pale fears.
1612 The White Devil, act 1, sc.2.
- 78 'Tis just like a summer birdcage in a garden; the birds that are without despair to get in, and the birds that are within despair, and are in a consumption, for fear they shall never get out.
1612 The White Devil, act 1, sc.2.
- 79 Lust carries her sharp whip
 At her own girdle.
1612 The White Devil, act 2, sc.1.
- 80 See, a good habit makes a child a man,
 Whereas a bad one makes a man a beast.
1612 The White Devil, act 2, sc.1.
- 81 A mere tale of a tub, my words are idle.
1612 The White Devil, act 2, sc.1.
- 82 Only the deep sense of some deathless shame.
1612 The White Devil, act 2, sc.1.
- 83 Find me but guilty, sever head from body,
 We'll part good friends.
1612 The White Devil, act 3, sc.2.
- 84 For your names
 Of whores and murderers, they proceed from you,
 As if a man should spit against the wind;
 The filth returns in's face.
1612 The White Devil, act 3, sc.2.
- 85 Sum up my faults, I pray, and you shall find,
 That beauty, and gay clothes, a merry heart,
 And a good stomach to a feast, are all,
 All the poor crimes that you can charge me with.
1612 The White Devil, act 3, sc.2.
- 86 VITTORIA: A rape! a rape!
 MONTICELSO: How!
 VITTORIA: Yes, you have ravished justice,
 Forced her to do your pleasure.
1612 The White Devil, act 3, sc.2.
- 87 Woman to man
 Is either a God or a wolfe.
1612 The White Devil, act 4, sc.2.
- 88 For your gifts,
 I'll return them all; and I do wish
 That I could make you full executor
 To all my sins.
1612 The White Devil, act 4, sc.2.
- 89 He could not have invented his own ruin,
 Had he despaired, with more propriety.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.1.

- 90 They that sleep with dogs shall rise with fleas.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.1.
- 91 O, the rare tricks of a Machiavellian!
He doth not come, like a gross plodding slave,
And buffet you to death; no, my quaint knave,
He tickles you to death, makes you die laughing.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.3.
- 92 Call for the robin-red-breast and the wren,
Since o'er shady groves they hover,
And with leaves and flowers do cover
The friendless bodies of unburied men.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.4.
- 93 I have heard grief named the eldest child of sin.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.4.
- 94 Are you grown an atheist? Will you turn your body,
Which is the goodly palace of the soul,
To the soul's slaughter-house? Oh, the cursèd devil,
Which doth present us with all other sins
Thrice-candied o'er.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.6.
- 95 Oh, yes, thy sins
Do run before thee to fetch fire from hell,
To light thee thither.
1612 The White Devil, act 5, sc.6.
- 96 I myself have heard a very good jest, and have scorned to seem to have so silly a wit as to understand it.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 97 Then the law to him
Is like a foul black cobweb to a spider;
He makes it his dwelling, and a prison
To entangle those shall feed him.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 98 DUCHESS: Diamonds are of most precious value
They say, that have passed through most jewellers' hands.
FERDINAND: Whores, by that rule, are precious.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 99 Wisdom begins at the end.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 1 DUCHESS: What do you think of marriage?
ANTONIO: I take't, as those that deny purgatory,
It locally contains or heaven, or hell;
There's no third place in't.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.2.
- 2 Ambition, madam, is a great man's madness,
That is not kept in chains, and close-pent rooms,
But in fair lightsome lodgings, and is girt
With the wild noise of prattling visitants,
Which makes it lunatic beyond all cure.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 3 I have long served virtue,
And never ta'en wages of her.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 4 The misery of us, that are born great,
We are forced to woo because none dare woo us.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 1, sc.1.
- 5 I hope in time 'twill grow into a custom
That noblemen shall come with cap and knee
To purchase a night's lodging of their wives.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 6 I would sooner swim to the Bermudas on Two politicians' rotten bladders, tied Together with an intelligencer's heartstring,
Than depend on so changeable a prince's favour.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 7 A politician is the devil's quilted anvil,
He fashions all sins on him, and the blows
Are never heard.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 8 Love mixed with fear is sweetness.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 9 That curious engine, your white hand.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 10 Why should only I...
Be cased up, like a holy relic? I have youth
And a little beauty.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 11 You have shook hands with Reputation
And made him invisible.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 3, sc.2.
- 12 Her melancholy seems to be fortified
With a strange disdain.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.1.
- 13 Other sins only speak; murder shrieks out.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2.
- 14 What's this flesh? A little crudded milk, fantastical puffpaste.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2. crudded = curdled.
- 15 What would it pleasure me, to have my throat cut
With diamonds? Or to be smothered
With cassia? Or to be shot to death, with pearls?
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2.
- 16 O, that it were possible,
We might but hold some two days' conference
With the dead!
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2.
- 17 I am Duchess of Malfi still.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2.
- 18 I know death hath ten thousand several doors
For men to take their exits.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2.
- 19 FERDINAND: Cover her face; mine eyes dazzle: she died young.
BOSOLA: I think not so; her infelicity Seemed to have years too many.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 4, sc.2.
- 20 Physicians are like kings,—they brook no contradiction.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 5, sc.2.
- 21 We are merely the stars' tennis-balls, struck and bandied
Which way please them.
1623 The Duchess of Malfi, act 5, sc.4.

Webster, Margaret 1905–72

US actress and director.

- 22 You must not wear your heart on your sleeve for daws to pick at.

Wei Jingsheng 1950–

Chinese dissident, considered one of the fathers of the Chinese dissident movement, released in 1993 after serving a 14-year jail sentence for his role in the Democracy Wall Movement. He was arrested again in April 1994 and was released in 1997.

23 No leader deserves the unconditional confidence of his people.

1979 Part of a statement appearing on Democracy Wall under the pseudonym 'Voice of Today'. Quoted in Uli Franz Deng Xiaoping (1988).

Weighell, Sidney 1922–2002

British trade union leader. He was General Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen (1975–83) and a member of the Trades Union General Council (1975–83). He joined the LNER in 1938 and became a full-time union official in 1954.

24 If you...believe in the philosophy of the pig trough—that those with the biggest snouts should get the largest share—I reject it.

1978 Labour Party Conference, 10 Apr.

25 I don't see how we can talk with Mrs Thatcher... I will say to the lads, 'Come on, get your snouts in the trough.'

1979 Speech, London, 10 Apr.

Weil, Simone 1909–43

French philosophical writer and mystic, who undertook manual labour to experience working-class life and served as a Republican in the Spanish Civil War (1936). A mystic Catholic who distrusted organized religion, she worked for the Free French in London, and starved herself to death in sympathy with the victims of war. Her works include La Pesanteur et la Grâce (Gravity and Grace, 1947) and Attente de Dieu (Waiting for God, 1950).

26 To us, men of the West, a very strange thing happened at the turn of the century; without noticing it, we lost science, or at least the thing that had been called by that name for the last four centuries. What we now have in place of it is something different, radically different, and we don't know what it is. Nobody knows what it is.

1941 On Science, Necessity and the Love of God, 'Classical Science and After' (translated by Richard Rees, 1968).

27 Science is voiceless; it is the scientists who talk.

29 Tous les péchés sont des tentatives pour combler des vides.

All sins are attempts to fill voids.
La Pesanteur et la Grâce (published 1947).

30 The beauty of the world is almost the only way by which we can allow God to penetrate us... the beauty of the world is the commonest, easiest and most natural way of approach.

Attente de Dieu (translated as Waiting for God, 1951).

31 Bourgeois society is infected by monomania: the monomania of accounting. For it, the only thing that has value is what can be counted in francs and centimes. It never hesitates to sacrifice human life to figures which look well on paper, such as national budgets or industrial balance sheets.

La condition ouvrière, 'La rationalisation' (published 1951).

32 One might lay down as a postulate: All conceptions of God which are incompatible with the movement of pure charity are false.

Letter to a Priest (translated by A F Wills, published 1954).

33 The word 'revolution' is a word for which you kill, for which you die, for which you send the labouring masses to their deaths; but which does not contain any content.

Oppression and Liberty (translated by A F Wills and J Petrie, published 1958).

Weinberger, Caspar Willard 1917–

American politician. A former lawyer, he was state finance director of California when Ronald Reagan was Governor (1968–9), served in the administrations of Presidents Nixon and Ford, then became Secretary of Defense under President Reagan (1981–87).

34 Wishful thinking is equally as effective for arms control as it is for birth control.

1986 In USA Today, 6 Oct.

Weizsäcker, Richard Freiherr, Baron von 1920–

German politician. A member of the conservative Christian Democratic Union, he served as CDU Deputy Chairman (1972–9) and Mayor of West Berlin (1981–4) until being elected President of the Federal Republic of Germany (1984, re-elected 1989). In 1990 he signed the treaty that reunited East and West Germany. He served as President of Germany from 1990 to 1994.

35 There were many ways of not burdening one's conscience, of shunning responsibility, looking away, keeping silent. When the unspeakable truth of the Holocaust became known at the end of the war, all too many of us claimed that they had not known anything about it, or even suspected anything... Whoever refuses to remember the inhumanity is prone to new risks of infection... Seeking to forget makes exile all the longer; the secret of redemption lies in remembrance.

1985 On the 40th anniversary of the end of World War II, in the New York Times, 12 May.

Weldon, Fay originally Franklin Birkinshaw 1931–

English writer, an advertising copywriter before turning to novels and screenplays. She is best known for her fiction, which deal with recurring themes, including the nature of women's sexuality and experience in a patriarchal world. Her works include Female Friends (1974), The Life and Loves of a She-Devil (1983), The Cloning of Joanna May (1989) and The Bulgari Connection (2001).

40 Christianity is really a man's religion: there's not much in it for women except docility, obedience, who-sweeps-the-room-as-for-thy-cause, downcast eyes and death in childbirth. For the men it's better: all power and money and fine robes, the burning of the heretics—fun, fun, fun!—and the Inquisition fulminating from the pulpit.

Wellington, Arthur Wellesley, 1st Duke of 1769–1852

British soldier and statesman. He was made a duke after his defeat of French forces in the Peninsular War, and took command of British forces again after Napoleon's escape from Elba in 1815. After victory at Waterloo, he went into politics, becoming Prime Minister in 1828. His dispatches and other papers were published in three series (1834–80).

53 As Lord Chesterfield said of the generals of his day, 'I only hope that when the enemy reads the list of their names, he trembles as I do'.

1810 Letter, 29 Aug, during the Peninsular War. Collected in Supplementary Despatches (1860).

54 We have in the service the scum of the earth as common soldiers.

1813 Comment 21 Jun, before the Battle of Vitoria. Quoted in Elizabeth Longford Wellington: The Years of the Sword, p.321.

55 Hard pounding this, gentlemen, let's see who will pound longest.

1815 At the Battle of Waterloo, 18 Jun. Quoted in Sir Walter Scott Paul's Letters (1816), letter 8.

56 Up guards and at them!

1815 Attributed shout at the Battle of Waterloo, 18 Jun.

57 It has been a damned serious business—Blucher and I have lost 30,000 men. It has been a damned nice thing—the nearest run thing you ever saw in your life... By God! I don't think it would have done if I had not been there!

1815 Comment to Thomas Creevey at Brussels, 19 Jun, the day after the Battle of Waterloo. Quoted in Sir Thomas Creevey The Creevey Papers (edited by Sir H Maxwell, 1904), p.142.

58 Napoleon did not manoeuvre at all. He just moved forward in the old style, in columns, and was driven off in the old style.

1815 Letter to Sir William Beresford, 2 Jul.

59 Next to a battle lost, the greatest misery is a battle gained.

1815 Of the Battle of Waterloo. Comment to Lady Shelley, Jul. Quoted in Richard Edgecumbe (ed) The Diary of Frances, Lady Shelley (1912), vol.1, ch.9, p.102.

60 The history of a battle is not unlike the history of a ball. Some individuals may recollect all the little events of which the great result is the battle won or lost; but no individual can recollect the order in which, or the exact moment at which, they occurred, which makes all the difference.

1815 Of the Battle of Waterloo. Letter, 8 Aug.

61 Beginning reform is beginning revolution.

1830 Attributed remark, 7 Nov.

62 I used to say of him that his presence on the field made the difference of 40,000 men.

1831 Of Napoleon. Comment, 2 Nov. Quoted in Philip Henry Stanhope Notes of Conversations with the Duke of Wellington (1888).

63 Our course in the House of Lords ought to be very firm and uncompromising but moderate...an example of what has since been called the politics of the extreme centre.

1832 Conduct of Opposition speech, Dec.

64 There is no such thing as a little war for a great nation.

1838 House of Lords, 16 Jan.

65 All the business of war, and indeed all the business of life, is to endeavour to find out what you don't know by what you do; that's what I call 'guessing what was at the other side of the hill'.

Quoted in John Wilson Croker The Croker Papers (edited by Bernard Pool, 1885), vol.3, ch.28.

66 Don't quote Latin; say what you have to say, and then sit down.

73 Yet, across the gulf of space, minds that are to our minds as ours are to the beasts that perish, intellects vast and cool and unsympathetic, regarded this earth with envious eyes, and slowly and surely drew their plans against us.

1898 The War of the Worlds, bk.1, ch.1.

74 At times I suffer from the strangest sense of detachment from myself and the world about me; I seem to watch it all from the outside, from somewhere inconceivably remote, out of time, out of space, out of the stress and tragedy of it all.

1898 The War of the Worlds, bk.1, ch.7.

75 The Social Contract is nothing more or less than a vast conspiracy of human beings to lie to and humbug themselves and one another for the general Good. Lies

Welty, Eudora 1909–2001

US novelist and short-story writer. She wrote five novels, set in her native Mississippi, and several collections of short stories, issued as Collected Stories (1981).

98 I have been told, both in approval and accusation, that I seem to love all my characters. What I do in writing of any character is to try to enter into the mind, heart and skin of a human being who is not myself. Whether this happens to be a man or a woman, old or young, with skin black or white, the primary challenge lies in making the jump itself. It is the act of a writer's imagination that I set most high.

1981 The Collected Stories of Eudora Welty, preface.

99 It had been startling and disappointing to me to find out that story books had been written by people, that books were not natural wonders, coming up themselves like green grass.

1984 One Writer's Beginnings, I. 'Listening'.

Wentworth, Peter 1530–96

English parliamentarian. He was a prominent Puritan in the reign of Elizabeth I, to whom he presented challenges on the issues of religion and royal succession. He supported the liberties of parliament against encroachments by Elizabeth I. His speech to Parliament in 1576 was examined by the Star Chamber and he was sent to the Tower of London for it. He was imprisoned twice more, and it is thought he never regained his freedom the second time.

4 In this House, which is termed a place of free speech, there is nothing so necessary for the preservation of the Prince and State as free speech; and without it, it is a scorn and a mockery to call it a Parliament House, for in truth it is none but a very school of flattery and dissimulation, and so fit a place to serve the devil and his angels in, and not to glorify God and benefit the Commonwealth.

1576 House of Commons, 8 Feb.

Wentworth, William Charles 1790–1872

Statesman and explorer, born aboard a convict ship on which his mother was being transported for theft. One of the first to explore successfully beyond the Blue Mountains, he established the first Australian newspaper and was one of the founders of Sydney University. His Australasia (1823) was the first book of verse by a native-born Australian.

5 Illustrious Cook, Columbus of our shore,
To whom was left this unknown world t'explore,
Its untraced bounds on faithful chart to mark,
And leave a light where all before was dark.

Russian-born painter who emigrated to Germany just before 1900. She was a founding member of the Blaue Reiter group in Munich.

6 Art is not made only one way, art is a point of view... Rembrandt in our days would be Rembrandt again, because the work of the master is his self. But in order to be Rembrandt in our days he would have used new ways that would give a new culture.

Wesley, Charles 1707–88

English Methodist hymn writer and preacher, brother of John Wesley.

9 Long my imprisoned spirit lay Fast bound in sin and nature's night;
Thine eye diffused a quickening ray—
I woke, the dungeon flamed with light,
My chains fell off, my heart was free,

- I rose, went forth, and followed thee.
1738 Hymn. 'And Can it Be'.
- 10 Hark! how all the welkin rings,
 Glory to the King of kings.
 Peace on earth and mercy mild,
 God and sinners reconciled.
1739 'Hymn for Christmas'. In Hymns and Sacred Poems. The first two lines were changed to 'Hark! the herald-angels sing/ Glory to the new born king' in Whitfield's Hymns for Social Worship (1753).
- 11 Jesu, lover of my soul,
 Let me to thy bosom fly,
 While the nearer waters roll,
 While the tempest still is high;
 Hide me, O my Saviour, hide,
 Till the storm of life is past;
 Safe into the haven guide,
 O receive my soul at last.
1740 'In Temptation', collected in Hymns and Sacred Poems.
- 12 Gentle Jesus, meek and mild,
 Look upon a little child;
 Pity my simplicity,
 Suffer me to come to thee.
1742 'Gentle Jesus', collected in Hymns and Sacred Poems.
- 13 Rejoice, the Lord is King!
 Your Lord and King adore;
 Mortals, give thanks and sing,
 And triumph evermore:
 Lift up your heart, lift up your voice;
 Rejoice, again, I say rejoice.
1746 'Rejoice, the Lord is King'. In Hymns for our Lord's Resurrection.
- 14 Love divine, all loves excelling,
 Joy of heav'n, to earth come down,
 Fix in us thy humble dwelling,
 All thy faithful mercies crown.
 Jesu, thou art all compassion,
 Pure unbounded love thou art;
 Visit us with thy salvation,
 Enter every trembling heart.
1747 'Love Divine', collected in Hymns for those that seek...Redemption.
- 15 Forth in thy name, O Lord, I go,
 My daily labour to pursue.
 Thee, only thee, resolved to know,
 In all I think or speak or do.
1749 'Forth in Thy Name', collected in Hymns and Sacred Poems.
- 16 Lo! He comes with clouds descending,
 Once for favoured sinners slain;
 Thousand thousand Saints attending Swell the triumph of His train.
1758 'Lo! He Comes'. In Hymns of Intercession for all Mankind.
- me from the law of sin and death.
1738 Journal entry, 24 May.
- 18 Thou hidden love of God, whose height,
 Whose depth unfathomed no man knows,
 I see from far thy beauteous light,
 Only I sigh for thy repose.
1738 A Collection of Psalms and Hymns, 'Divine Love'.
- 19 I look upon all the world as my parish.
1739 Journal entry, 11 Jun.
- 20 Do all the good you can
 By all the means you can
 In all the ways you can
 In all the places you can
 To all the people you can
 As long as ever you can.
1743 'Rules of Conduct'.
- 21 Lord, let me not live to be useless!
1763 Journal entry, 22 Dec.
- 22 Sure a more consummate coxcomb never saw the sun!
 How amazingly full of himself! Whatever he speaks, he pronounces as an oracle.
1770 Of Rousseau. Journal entry, 3 Feb.
- 23 I have none of the infirmities of old age, and have lost several I had in my youth. The grand cause is, the good pleasure of God, who does whatever pleases him. The chief means are: 1. My constantly rising at four, for about fifty years. 2. My generally preaching at five in the morning; one of the most healthy exercises in the world. 3. My never travelling less, by sea or land, than four thousand five hundred miles in a year.
1774 Journal entry, 28 Jun.
- 24 I spent two hours with that great man, Dr Johnson, who is sinking into the grave by a gentle decay.
1783 Journal entry, 18 Dec.
- 25 The best of all is, God is with us!
1791 Quoted in John Wesley's Journal, edited by Robert Backhouse (1993), p.256.
- 26 Beware you be not swallowed up in books! An ounce of love is worth a pound of knowledge.
 Quoted in R Southey Life of Wesley (1820), ch.16.

West, Benjamin 1738–1820

US painter who spent most of his working life in England.

- 27 Always remember, sir, that light and shadow never stand still.
 Advice to the young John Constable, attributed in C R Leslie Memoirs of the Life of John Constable (1845).

West, Mae 1893–1980

US vaudeville and film actress born in Brooklyn, New York. She wrote many of the plays she starred in, including Sex (1929) and Diamond Lil (1928) later filmed as She Done Him Wrong (1933). Other films included I'm No Angel (1933) and My Little Chickadee (1940).

- 28 'Goodness what beautiful diamonds!
 'Goodness had nothing to do with it.'
1932 Night After Night (screenplay by Vincent Lawrence).
- 29 Why don't you come up sometime, see me?
1933 As Lou in She Done Him Wrong. The line is popularly rendered 'Come up and see me sometime.'

Wesley, John 1703–91

English evangelist, preacher and writer. Although he himself remained loyal to the Church of England, he is recognized as the principal founder of Methodism. He published his Rules for the Methodist Societies in 1743.

- 17 I felt my heart strangely warmed. I felt I did trust in Christ, Christ alone for salvation; and an assurance was given me that he had taken away my sins, even mine, and saved

30 When I'm good I'm very very good, but when I'm bad I'm better.

- 13 The power of Christianity lies in its revelation in act, of that which Plato divined in theory.

1938 Adventures of Ideas.

- 14 The essence of Christianity is the appeal to the life of Christ as a revelation of the nature of God and of his agency in the world. The record is fragmentary, inconsistent and uncertain... But there can be no doubt as to the elements in the record that have evoked the best in human nature. The Mother, the Child and the bare manger: the lowly man, homeless and self-forgetful, with his message of peace, love and sympathy: the suffering, the agony, the tender words as life ebbed, the final despair: and the whole with the authority of supreme victory.

Whitman, Walt(er) 1819–91

US poet. He was editor of the Brooklyn Eagle and worked as a nurse during the Civil War. His poetry reflected his mystical faith in democracy and was attacked for indecency because it addressed many taboo subjects. It is collected in Leaves of Grass (1855–92).

28 The Americans of all nations at any time upon the earth have probably the fullest poetical nature. The United States themselves are essentially the greatest poem.

1855 Leaves of Grass, preface.

29 As soon as histories are properly told there is no more need of romances.

1855 Leaves of Grass, preface.

30 I celebrate myself, and sing myself,
And what I assume you shall assume,
For every atom belonging to me as good belongs to you.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 1.

31 All goes onward and outward, nothing collapses,

And to die is different from what any one supposed, and luckier.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 6.

32 I believe a leaf of grass is no less than the journey-work of the stars.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 31.

33 I think I could turn, and live with animals, they are so placid and self-contain'd.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 32.

34 I have said that the soul is not more than the body,
And I have said that the body is not more than the soul,
And nothing, not God, is greater to one than one's self is.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 48.

35 Do I contradict myself?

Very well then I contradict myself,
(I am large, I contain multitudes.)

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 51.

36 I too am not a bit tamed, I too am untranslatable,
I sound my barbaric yawp over the roofs of the world.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of Myself', section 52.

37 How beggarly appear arguments before a defiant deed!

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Broad-Axe Song', later 'Song of the Broad-Axe' (from 1867).

38 If anything is sacred the human body is sacred.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Children of Adam', 'I Sing the Body Electric', section 8.

39 I do not think seventy years is the time of a man or woman,

Nor that seventy millions of years is the time of a man or woman,

Nor that years will ever stop the existence of me, or any one else.

1855 Leaves of Grass, 'Autumn Rivulets', 'Who Learns My Lesson Complete?'

40 Henceforth I whimper no more, postpone no more,
need nothing,

Done with indoor complaints, libraries, querulous criticisms,

Strong and content I travel the open road.

1856 Leaves of Grass, 'Song of the Open Road', section 1.

41 What can ever be more stately and admirable to me than mast-hemm'd Manhattan?

1856 Leaves of Grass, 'Crossing Brooklyn Ferry', section 8.

42 He or she is greatest who contributes the greatest original practical example.

1856 Leaves of Grass, 'By Blue Ontario's Shores', section 13.

43 And I will show that nothing can happen more beautiful than death.

1860 Leaves of Grass, 'Proto-Leaf', later renamed 'Starting From Paumanok' (from 1867).

44 I hear it was charged against me that I sought to destroy institutions,

But really I am neither for nor against institutions.

1860 Leaves of Grass, 'Calamus', 'I Hear It Was Charged Against Me'.

45 Camarado, this is no book,
Who touches this touches a man.

1860 Leaves of Grass, 'Songs of Parting', 'So Long!'

46 O Captain! my Captain! our fearful trip is done,
The ship has weather'd every rack, the prize we sought is won,

- The port is near, the bells I hear, the people all exulting.
1865 Leaves of Grass, 'Memories of President Lincoln', 'O Captain! My Captain!'
- 47 When lilacs last in the dooryard bloom'd,
 And the great star early droop'd in the western sky in the night,
 I mourn'd, and yet shall mourn with ever-returning spring.
1865–66 Leaves of Grass, 'Memories of President Lincoln', 'When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd', section 1.
- 48 Come lovely and soothing death,
 Undulate round the world, serenely arriving, arriving,
 In the day, in the night, to all, to each,
 Sooner or later delicate death.
1865–66 Leaves of Grass, 'Memories of President Lincoln', 'When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd', section 14.
- 49 The Past—the dark unfathom'd retrospect!
 The teeming gulf—the sleepers and the shadows!
 The past! the infinite greatness of the past!
 For what is the present after all but a growth out of the past?
1871 Passage to India, opening verse.
- 50 Political democracy, as it exists and practically works in America, with all its threatening evils, supplies a training-school for making first-class men. It is life's gymnasium, not of good only, but of all.
1871 Democratic Vistas.
- 51 In this broad earth of ours,
 Amid the measureless grossness and the slag,
 Enclosed and safe within its central heart,
 Nestles the seed perfection.
1874 Leaves of Grass, 'Birds of Passage', 'Song of the Universal', section 1.
- 52 After you have exhausted what there is in business, politics, conviviality, love, and so on—and found that none of these finally satisfy, or permanently wear—what remains? Nature remains.
1876–77 Speciman Days, 'New Themes Entered Upon'.
- 53 Youth, large, lusty, loving—youth full of grace, force, fascination,
 Do you know that Old Age may come after you with equal grace, force, fascination?
1881 Leaves of Grass, 'Youth, Day, Old Age and Night', stanza 1.
- 54 Have you not learn'd great lessons from those who reject you,
 and brace themselves against you? or who treat you with contempt, or dispute the passage with you?
1888 Leaves of Grass, 'Sands at Seventy', 'Stronger Lessons'.
- 55 No one will get at my verses who insists upon viewing them as a literary performance.
1888 'A Backward Glance O'er Travel'd Roads'.

Whittier, John Greenleaf 1807–92

US poet and abolitionist. A Quaker, he devoted himself to the cause of emancipation. His ballads and sentimental poems, such as 'Barbara Frietchie', which was included in In War Time (1864), were extremely popular in their day. His best work is the nostalgic narrative poem, Snow-Bound (1866).

- 56 When the care-wearied man seeks his mother once
 more,

And the worn matron smiles where the girl smiled
 before,
 What moistens the lip and what brightens the eye?
 What calls back the past, like the rich Pumpkin pie?
1844 'The Pumpkin', stanza 3.

- 57 When faith is lost, when honor dies,
 The man is dead!
1850 'Ichabod', stanza 8.
- 58 Beneath her torn hat glowed the wealth
 Of simple beauty and rustic health.
1854 'Maud Muller', 1.3–4.
- 59 For of all sad words of tongue or pen,
 The saddest are these: 'It might have been!'
1854 'Maud Muller', 1.105–6.
- 60 The age is dull and mean. Men creep,
 Not walk.
1855 'Lines, Inscribed to Friends Under Arrest for Treason Against the Slave Power', stanza 1.
- 61 Up from the meadows rich with corn,
 Clear in the cool September morn.
1863 'Barbara Frietchie', opening lines.
- 62 'Shoot, if you must this old grey head,
 But spare your country's flag,' she said.
1863 'Barbara Frietchie', 1.35–36.
- 63 Dear Lord and Father of mankind,
 Forgive our foolish ways!
 Re-clothe us in our rightful mind,
 In purer lives thy service find,
 In deeper reverence praise 1872 'The Brewing of Soma'.

Whitton, Charlotte 1896–1975

- 67 The automatic machine, whatever we think of any feelings it may or may not have, is the precise economic equivalent of the slave.

1949 The Human Use of Human Beings.

- 68 The new industrial revolution is a two-edged sword. It may be used for the benefit of humanity, assuming that humanity survives long enough to reach a period in which such a benefit is possible. If, however, we proceed along the clear and obvious lines of our traditional behavior, and follow our traditional worship of progress and the fifth freedom—the freedom to exploit—it is practically certain that we shall have to face a decade or more of ruin and despair.

1949 The Human Use of Human Beings.

- 69 Scientific discovery consists in the interpretation for our own convenience of a system of existence which has been made with no eye to our convenience at all.

Wilde, Jane Francesca née Elgee 1826–96

Irish Poet and folklorist, mother of Oscar Wilde. She was an ardent nationalist and contributed verse and prose to the Nation under the pen name 'Speranza'.

- 81 'Tis midnight, falls the lamp-light dull and sickly
On a pale and anxious crowd,
Through the court, and round the judges thronging thickly,
With prayers they dare not speak aloud—
Two youths, two noble youths, stand prisoners at the bar—
You can see them through the gloom—
In the pride of life and manhood's beauty, there they are Awaiting their death-doom.
'The Brothers'.
- 82 Weary men, what reap ye?—Golden corn for the stranger.
What sow ye?—Human corpses that wait for the avenger.
Fainting forms, hunger stricken, what see ye in the offing?
Stately ships to bear our food away, amid the stranger's scoffing.
There's a proud array of soldiers—what do they round your door?
They guard our master's granaries from the thin hands of the poor.
Pale mothers, wherefore weeping? Would to God that we were dead—
Our children swoon before us, and we cannot give them bread.
'The Famine Year'.

Wilde, Oscar Fingal O'Flahertie Wills 1854–1900

1889 Of Charles Stewart Parnell. 'The Two Chiefs of Dunboy: or, an Irish Romance of the Last Century' in Pall Mall Gazette, 13 Apr.
- 87 Books of poetry by young writers are usually promissory notes that are never met. Now and then, however, one comes across a volume that is so far above the average that one can hardly resist the fascinating temptation of recklessly prophesying a fine future for its author. Such a book Mr Yeats's Wanderings of Oisín certainly is. Here we find nobility of treatment and nobility of subject-matter, delicacy of poetic instinct and richness of imaginative resource.
1889 In the Pall Mall Gazette, 12 Jul.

- 8 It is better to be beautiful than to be good. But... it is better to be good than to be ugly.
1891 The Picture of Dorian Gray, ch.17.
- 9 Anybody can be good in the country.
1891 The Picture of Dorian Gray, ch.19.
- 10 Murder is always a mistake... One should never do anything that one cannot talk about after dinner.
1891 The Picture of Dorian Gray, ch.19.
- 11 As for the virtuous poor, one can pity them, of course, but one cannot possibly admire them.
1891 'The Soul of Man under Socialism'.
- 12 Democracy means simply the bludgeoning of the people by the people for the people.
1891 'The Soul of Man under Socialism'.
- 13 I can resist everything except temptation.
1892 Lord Darlington. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 1.
- 14 Many a woman has a past, but I am told that she has at least a dozen, and that they all fit.
1892 Said by Duchess of Berwick. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 1.
- 15 Do you know, Mr Hopper, dear Agatha and I are so much interested in Australia. It must be so pretty with all the dear little kangaroos flying about. Agatha has found it on the map. What a curious shape it is! Just like a large packing case.
1892 Duchess of Berwick to Mr Hopper. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 2.
- 16 We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars.
1892 Said by Lord Darlington. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 3.
- 17 There is nothing in the whole world so unbecoming to a woman as a Nonconformist conscience.
1892 Cecil Graham. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 3.
- 18 A man who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing.
1892 Lord Darlington's definition of a cynic. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 3.
- 19 Experience is the name everyone gives to their mistakes.

- 1892 Dumby. Lady Windermere's Fan, act 3.
- 20 The play was a great success, but the audience was a disaster.
1892 Attributed comment after the poor reception of Lady Windermere's Fan.
- 21 LORD ILLINGWORTH: The Book of Life begins with a man and a woman in a garden.
MRS ALLONBY: It ends with Revelations.
1893 A Woman of No Importance, act 1.
- 22 The English country gentleman galloping after a fox – the unspeakable in full pursuit of the uneatable.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 1.
- 23 MRS ALLONBY: They say, Lady Hunstanton, that when good Americans die they go to Paris.
LADY HUNSTANTON: Indeed? And when bad Americans die, where do they go to?
LORD ILLINGWORTH: Oh, they go to America.
1893 A Woman of No Importance, act 1.
- 24 The youth of America is their oldest tradition. It has been going on now for three hundred years.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 1.
- 25 One should never trust a woman who tells one her real age. A woman who would tell one that, would tell one anything.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 1.
- 26 Children begin by loving their parents; after a time they judge them; rarely, if ever, do they forgive them.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 2.
- 27 After a good dinner one can forgive anybody, even one's own relations.
1893 Lady Caroline. A Woman of No Importance, act 2.
- 28 GERALD: I suppose society is wonderfully delightful!
LORD ILLINGWORTH: To be in it is merely a bore. But to be out of it is simply a tragedy.
1893 A Woman of No Importance, act 3.
- 29 No woman should have a memory. Memory in a woman is the beginning of dowdiness.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 3.
- 30 You should study the Peerage, Gerald... It is the best thing in fiction the English have ever done.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 3.
- 31 A man who can dominate a London dinner-table can dominate the world.
1893 Lord Illingworth. A Woman of No Importance, act 3.
- 32 I'm afraid I play no outdoor games at all, except dominoes. I have sometimes played dominoes outside a French café.
1895 Quoted by Gelett Burgess in 'A Talk with Mr Oscar Wilde' in The Sketch, 9 Jan.
- 33 JACK: I think Jack, for instance, a charming name.
GWENDOLEN: Jack?... No, there is very little music in the name Jack, if any at all, indeed. It does not thrill. It produces absolutely no vibrations... I have known several Jacks, and they all, without exception, were more than usually plain. Besides, Jack is a notorious domesticity for John! And I pity any woman who is married to a man called John. She would probably never be allowed to know the entrancing pleasure of a single moment's solitude. The only really safe name is Ernest.
1895 The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 34 Really, if the lower orders don't set us a good example, what on earth is the use of them?
1895 Algernon. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 35 It is very vulgar to talk like a dentist when one isn't a dentist. It produces a false impression.
1895 Jack. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 36 The truth is rarely pure, and never simple.
1895 Algernon. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 37 In married life three is company and two none.
1895 Algernon. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 38 Ignorance is like a delicate exotic fruit; touch it and the bloom is gone. The whole theory of modern education is radically unsound. Fortunately, in England, at any rate, education produces no effect whatsoever.
1895 Lady Bracknell. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 39 To lose one parent, Mr Worthing, may be regarded as a misfortune; to lose both looks like carelessness.
1895 Lady Bracknell. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1.
- 40 All women become like their mothers. That is their tragedy. No man does. That's his.
1895 Algernon. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 1, also in A Woman of No Importance (1893), act 2.
- 41 The good ended happily, and the bad unhappily. That is what fiction means.
1895 Miss Prism. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 2.
- 42 The chapter on the fall of the Rupee you may omit. It is somewhat too sensational.
1895 Miss Prism. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 2.
- 43 I hope you have not been leading a double life, pretending to be wicked and being really good all the time. That would be hypocrisy.
1895 Said by Cecily. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 2.
- 44 Charity, dear Miss Prism, charity! None of us are perfect. I myself am peculiarly susceptible to draughts.
1895 Dr Chasuble. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 2.
- 45 CECILY: When I see a spade I call it a spade.
GWENDOLEN: I am glad to say that I have never seen a spade.
1895 The Importance of Being Earnest, act 3.
- 46 Thirty-five is a very attractive age. London society is full of women of the very highest birth who have, of their own free choice, remained thirty-five for years.
1895 Lady Bracknell. The Importance of Being Earnest, act 3.
- 47 She wore far too much rouge last night, and not quite enough clothes. That is always a sign of despair in a woman.
1895 Lord Goring. An Ideal Husband, act 2.
- 48 Nothing is so dangerous as being too modern. One is apt to grow old-fashioned quite suddenly.
1895 Lord Markby. An Ideal Husband, act 2.
- 49 Fashion is what one wears oneself. What is unfashionable is what other people wear.
1895 Lord Goring. An Ideal Husband, act 3.
- 50 If one could only teach the English how to talk, and the Irish how to listen, society here would be quite civilised.
1895 Mrs Cheveley speaking. An Ideal Husband, act 3.
- 51 If this is the way Queen Victoria treats her prisoners she doesn't deserve to have any.
1895 On being obliged to stand in the rain as he awaited transport to take him to prison. Attributed.

- 52 He did not wear his scarlet coat,
For blood and wine are red,
And blood and wine were on his hands
When they found him with the dead.
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.1, stanza 1.
- 53 I never saw a man who looked
With such a wistful eye
Upon that little tent of blue
Which prisoners call the sky.
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.1, stanza 3.
- 54 Yet each man kills the thing he loves,
By each let this be heard,
Some do it with a bitter look,
Some with a flattering word.
The coward does it with a kiss,
The brave man with a sword!
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.1, stanza 7.
- 55 The Governer was strong upon The Regulation Act:
The Doctor said that Death was but
A scientific fact:
And twice a day the Chaplain called,
And left a little tract.
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.3, stanza 3.
- 56 Something was dead in each of us,
And what was dead was Hope.
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.3, stanza 31.
- 57 And the wild regrets, and the bloody sweats,
None knew so well as I:
For he who lives more lives than one
More deaths than one must die.
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.3, stanza 37.
- 58 I know not whether Laws be right,
Or whether Laws be wrong;
All that we know who lie in gaol
Is that the wall is strong;
And that each day is like a year,
A year whose days are long.
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.5, stanza 1.
- 59 How else but through a broken heart
May Lord Christ enter in?
1898 The Ballad of Reading Gaol, pt.5, stanza 14.
- 60 I am dying, as I have lived, beyond my means.
1900 Accepting a glass of champagne shortly before his death.

Wilder, Billy (Samuel) 1906–2002

Austrian-born writer and director who moved to Hollywood in 1934. He won Academy Awards for The Lost Weekend (1945), Sunset Boulevard (1950) and The Apartment (1960). Other successes include Double Indemnity (1944), The Seven Year Itch (1955) and Some Like It Hot (1959).

69 Johnny, keep it out of focus. I want to win the foreign picture award.
1950 Remark to cameraman John Seitz during the making of Sunset Boulevard.

70 Making a picture with Marilyn Monroe was like going to the dentist. It was hell at the time, but after it was all over it was wonderful.
Quoted in Doug McClelland Star Speak (1987).

71 No one ever leaves a star.
1950 Sunset Boulevard.

72 Fasten your cigarettes.
1972 Avanti (with I A L Diamond).

73 I don't object to foreigners speaking a foreign language;
I just wish they'd all speak the same foreign language.
1972 Avanti (with I A L Diamond).

74 Hindsight is always twenty-twenty.

Wilder, Thornton Niven 1897–1975

US playwright and novelist. His most successful plays included Our Town (1938) and The Skin of Our Teeth (1942), while his other writings included the novel The Bridge of San Luis Rey (1927). His play The Matchmaker (1954) provided the basis for the hit musical Hello, Dolly!

75 From what human ill does not dawn seem to be an alleviation.
1927 The Bridge of San Luis Rey, ch.3.

76 Most everybody in the world climbs into their graves married.
1938 Our Town, act 2.

77 Marriage is a bribe to make a housekeeper think she's a householder.
1939 The Merchant of Yonkers, act 1.

78 The fights are the best part of married life. The rest is merely so-so.
1939 The Merchant of Yonkers, act 2.

79 My advice to you is not to inquire why or whither, but just enjoy your ice-cream while it's on your plate,—that's my philosophy.
1942 The Skin of Our Teeth, act 1.

80 When you're at war you think about a better life; when you're at peace you think about a more comfortable one.
1942 The Skin of Our Teeth, act 1.

81 We'll trot down to the movies and see how girls with wax faces live.
1942 The Skin of Our Teeth, act 3.

82 I've never forgotten for long at a time that living is a struggle. I know that every good and excellent thing in the world stands moment by moment on the razor-edge of danger and must be fought for—whether it's a field, or a home, or a country.

1942 The Skin of Our Teeth, act 3.

83 Literature is the orchestration of platitudes.

1953 In Time, 12 Jan.

84 A living is made, Mr Kemper, by selling something that everybody needs at least once a year. Yes, sir! And a million is made by producing something that everybody needs every day. You artists produce something that nobody needs at any time.

1954 The Matchmaker, act 1.

85 Ninety-nine percent of the people in the world are fools, and the rest of us are in great danger of contagion.

1954 The Matchmaker, act 1.

86 Never support two weaknesses at the same time. It's your combination sinners—your lecherous liars and your miserly drunkards—who dishonour the vices and bring them into bad repute.

1954 The Matchmaker, act 3.

87 But there comes a time in everybody's life when he must decide whether he'll live among human beings or not—a fool among fools or a fool alone.

1954 The Matchmaker, act 4.

88 I am not interested in the ephemeral—such subjects as the adulteries of dentists. I am interested in those things that repeat and repeat in the lives of the millions.

1961 In the New York Times, 6 Mar.

89 The less seen, the more heard. The eye is the enemy of the ear in real drama.

1961 In the New York Times, 6 Nov.

90 The process of learning is accompanied by alternations of pain and brief quickenings that resemble pain.

1967 The Eighth Day.

repeating itself with recurring deadliness:
1948 Paterson, bk.2, 'Sunday in the Park', 1.
- 54 Beyond the gap where the river plunges into the narrow gorge, unseen

—and the imagination soars, as a voice beckons, a thundrous voice, endless
—as sleep: the voice that has ineluctably called them—
that unmoving roar!
1948 Paterson, bk.2, 'Sunday in the Park', 1.
- 55 For what we cannot accomplish, what is denied to love, what we have lost in the anticipation—
a descent follows,
endless and indestructible.
1948 Paterson, bk.2, 'Sunday in the Park', 1.
- 56 For there is a wind or a ghost of wind in all books echoing the life there, a high wind that fills the tubes of the ear until we think we hear a wind, actual.
1949 Paterson, bk.3, 'The Library'.
- 57 and there grows in the mind

Williamson, Roy 1937–90

Scottish folksinger and musician, a partner in the Corries with Ronnie Browne from 1961, and composer of 'Flower of Scotland', adopted by many as an unofficial Scottish national anthem.

- 65 O flower of Scotland, when will we see your like again,
That fought and died for your wee bit hill and glen
And stood against him, proud Edward's army,
And sent him homeward tae think again.
1968 'Flower of Scotland', stanza 1.

Willis, Bruce 1955–

US actor. He has appeared in a number of action-man roles in such films as Die Hard (1988) and its sequels, as well as taking character parts.

- 66 Frankly, reviews are mostly for people who still read. Like most of the written word, it is going the way of the dinosaur.

Wilmer, Val(erie) 1941–

English writer and photographer. Her books on jazz include Jazz People (1970), As Serious As Your Life (1977) and the autobiographical Mama Said There'd Be Days Like This (1989).

- 68 A rather bitter British musician once remarked sourly to a friend of mine: 'Oh, all she knows about music she learned in bed with musicians.' To that, I can only add, what better place to learn?
1989 Mama Said There'd Be Days Like This, ch.3.

Wilson, A(ndrew) N(orman) 1950–

English writer. He has written novels, criticism, journalism and biography, including the controversial Jesus (1992).

- 69 It had never occurred to Giles that there was something perfectly sensible about wanting to hold onto innocence. He had always gone in for the idea that since we only pass this way once, experience counts for everything.
1982 Wise Virgins, ch.6.
- 70 Religion is the tragedy of mankind... But I do know, from the inside as well as from personal observation, that religion appeals to something deep and irrational and strong within us, and that is what makes it so dangerous.
1991 Against Religion, no.19.
- 71 I should prefer to have a politician who regularly went to a massage parlour than one who promised a laptop computer for every teacher.
1999 In the Observer, 21 Mar.

Wilson, Sir Angus Frank Johnstone 1931–91

English writer. He wrote literary criticism, short stories and a play, but was best known for his novels including Anglo-Saxon Attitudes (1956) and The Old Men in the Zoo (1961).

72 'God knows how you Protestants can be expected to have any sense of direction,' she said. 'It's different with us, I haven't been to mass for years, I've got every mortal sin on my conscience, but I know when I'm doing wrong. I'm still a Catholic, it's there, nothing can take it away from me.' 'Of course, duckie,' said Jeremy... 'once a Catholic always a Catholic.'

75 The impulse to write a novel comes from a momentary unified vision of life.

1963 The Wild Garden.

76 I have no concern for the common man except that he should not be so common.

1967 No Laughing Matter.

77 My theme is always humanistic. Life today is junglelike... it is complex, it is inhuman in its materialism.

1972 Letter to David Farrer, his publisher, Jul. Quoted in Margaret Drabble Angus Wilson—A Biography (1995).

78 All are deceptions, substitutes for the hard job of using reason and industry and intuition and compassion to solve even a little bit of the muddle with humaneness and awe for the natural world and the complexity of human beings.

1972 Letter to David Farrer, his publisher, Jul. Quoted in Margaret Drabble Angus Wilson—A Biography (1995).

79 People are able to live with only half a heart, to live without real compassion, because they are able to use words that are only forms.

1972 Interview in Iowa Review, no.3, Fall.

80 The novelist must be his own most harsh critic and also his own most loving admirer—and about both he must say nothing.

1964 Comment to lobby correspondents, Oct. As such meetings are off the record, there is no exact source for this famous phrase.
- 95 Given a fair wind, we will negotiate our way into the Common Market, head held high, not crawl in... Negotiations? Yes. Unconditional acceptance of whatever terms we are offered? No.
1966 Speech, Bristol, 20 Mar.
- 96 In a recent interview, I was asked what, above all, I associated with socialism in this modern age. I answered that if there was one word I would use to identify modern socialism, it was 'Science'.
1967 Speech, 17 Jun.
- 97 From now on the pound abroad is worth 14 per cent or so less in terms of other currencies. That does not mean, of course, that the pound here in Britain—in your pocket or purse, or in your bank—has been devalued.
1967 National broadcast, 19 Nov. The speech gave rise to the well-known phrase, 'the pound in your pocket'.
- 98 We are creating a Britain of which we can be proud, and the world knows it. The world's tourists are coming here in their millions... because the new Britain is exciting. Yes, Britain with a Labour Government is an exciting place.
1969 Speech, Labour Party Conference, 30 Sep.

Wilson, (Thomas) Woodrow 1856–1924

US statesman and 28th President (1913–21). He was twice elected Democratic President. His administration was chiefly remembered for Prohibition, woman's suffrage, US entry into World War I, and his championing of the League of Nations. He was awarded the Nobel peace prize (1919).

- 7 The feelings with which we face this new age of right and opportunity sweep across our heartstrings like some air out of God's own presence, where justice and mercy are reconciled, and the judge and the brother are one.
1913 Inaugural address, 4 Mar.
- 8 Human rights, national integrity, and opportunity as against material interests... are the issues that we now must face. I take this occasion to say that the United States will never again seek one additional foot of territory by conquest.
1913 Speech, Alabama, 27 Oct.
- 9 The people of the United States are drawn from many nations, and chiefly from the nations now at war. Some will wish one nation, others another, to succeed in this monumental struggle. I venture to speak a solemn word of warning. The United States must be neutral in fact as well as in name during these days that are to try men's souls. We must be impartial in thought as well as in action.
1914 Message to the Senate, 19 Aug.
- 10 There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight; there is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right.
1915 Speech in Philadelphia, 10 May.
- 11 We are constantly thinking of the great war... which saved the Union... but it was a war which did a great deal more than that. It created in this country what had never existed before—a national consciousness.
1915 Memorial Day Address at Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia, 31 May.
- 12 America cannot be an ostrich, with its head in the sand.
1916 Speech, New Mexico, 1 Feb.
- 13 Nations should with one accord adopt the doctrine of President Monroe as the doctrine of the world; that every people should be left free to determine its own policy, its own way of development, unhindered, unthreatened, unafraid—the little along with the great and powerful. Those are American principles, American policies. We could stand for no others. They are also the principles of mankind, and must prevail.
1917 Speech to the Senate, 22 Jan.
- 14 Armed neutrality is ineffectual enough at best.
1917 Speech before a joint session of Congress, 2 Apr, to request a declaration that a state of war exists between Germany and the US.
- 15 The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted on the tested foundations of political liberty.
1917 Speech before a joint session of Congress, 2 Apr, to request a declaration that a state of war exists between Germany and the US.
- 16 It is not an army that we must train for war; it is a nation.
1917 Speech, Washington, 12 May.
- 17 In this war, we demand nothing that is peculiar to ourselves; only that the world be made fit and safe to live in. The programme of the world's peace, therefore, is our programme.

1918 The 'Fourteen Points' speech to Congress, 8 Jan.

18 People and provinces must not be bartered about from sovereign to sovereign as if they were chattels, or pawns in a game. Self-determination is not a mere phrase. It is an imperative principle, which statesmen will henceforth ignore at their peril.

1918 Address to Congress, 11 Feb.

19 People call me an idealist. That is how I know that I am an American. America is the only idealistic nation in the world.

1991 Quoted in Richard Dacre Trouble in Store: Norman Wisdom, a Career in Comedy (1991).

Witte, Sergei Yulevich 1849–1915

Russian politician. As Minister of Finance (1892) he encouraged capitalism and industrialization, making Russia a leading industrial power. He became first Prime Minister (1905–6) in the Revolution of 1905, but was unable to satisfy either conservatives or liberals.

38 The world is in flames today for a cause that interests Russia first and foremost; a cause that is essentially the cause of the Slavs, and which is of no concern to France or to England.

1914 Said to the French Ambassador, 10 Sep.

Wittgenstein, Ludwig Josef Johann 1889–1951

Austrian-born British philosopher who became one of the most influential and charismatic figures in British philosophy in this century. He was Professor of Philosophy at Cambridge (1939–47), and published only one book in his lifetime, the Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus (1921). Of his many posthumous publications, by far the most important is the Philosophical Investigations (1953).

39 Was sich überhaupt sagen lässt, lässt sich klar sagen; und wovon man nicht reden kann, darüber muss man schweigen.

What can be said at all can be said clearly; and whereof one cannot speak thereof one must be silent.

1921 Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus, preface (translated by Frank Ramsey).

40 Die Welt ist alles, was der Fall ist.

The world is all that is the case.

1921 Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus, prop.1 (translated by Pears and McGuinness).

41 Die Welt ist die Gesamtheit der Tatsachen, nicht der Dinge.

The world is the totality of facts, not of things.

1921 Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus, prop.1.1 (translated by Pears and McGuinness).

42 Der Tod ist kein Ereignis des Lebens. Den Tod erlebt man nicht.

Death is not an event in life: we do not live to experience death.

1921 Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus, prop.6.4311 (translated by Pears and McGuinness).

43 Die Probleme werden gelöst, nicht durch Beibringen neuer Erfahrung, sondern durch Zusammenstellung des längst Bekannten. Die Philosophie ist ein Kampf gegen die Verhexung unseres Verstandes durch die Mittel unserer Sprache.

The problems are solved, not by giving new information, but by arranging what we have always known. Philosophy is a battle against the bewitchment of our intelligence by means of language.

1945 Philosophische Untersuchungen (Philosophical Investigations), section 109 (translated by G E M Anscombe).

44 Ein philosophisches Problem hat die Form: 'Ich kenne mich nicht aus'.

A philosophical problem has the form: 'I don't know my way about'.

1945 Philosophische Untersuchungen (Philosophical Investigations), section 123 (translated by G E M Anscombe).

1945 Philosophische Untersuchungen (Philosophical Investigations), section 255 (translated by G E M Anscombe).

46 Was ist dein Ziel in der Philosophie?—'Der Fliege den Ausweg aus dem Fliegenglas zeigen'.

What is your aim in philosophy?—To show the fly the way out of the fly-bottle.

1945 Philosophische Untersuchungen (Philosophical Investigations), section 309 (translated by G E M Anscombe).

47 Ein 'innerer Vorgang' bedarf äußerer Kriterien.

An 'inner process' stands in need of outward criteria.

1945 Philosophische Untersuchungen (Philosophical Investigations), section 580 (translated by G E M Anscombe).

48 Wenn ein Löwe sprechen könnte, wir könnten ihn nicht verstehen.

If a lion could talk, we could not understand him.

1945 Philosophische Untersuchungen (Philosophical Investigations), pt.2, section 11 (translated by G E M Anscombe).

Wittig, Monique 1935–2003

French feminist novelist who questioned traditional gender stereotypes in her writing.

49 L'expérience... d'une femme écrivain est complètement schizophrénique. Il faut toujours faire coupure entre les deux: d'une part, employer un langage qui n'est pas le nôtre... et la lutte qu'on mène sur un autre plan, qui tend à casser tout ça, à essayer de faire à travers et dans le langage autre chose.

The experience... of the woman writer is completely schizophrenic. One is always torn between two approaches: on the one hand, to use a language that is not ours... and on the other, the battle one fights to break all this up, in order to do something else through and in language.

Quoted in Jean-François Josselin 'Lettre à Sapho' in Le Nouvel Observateur (1973).

Wodehouse, Sir P(elham) G(renville) also known as Plum 1881–1975

Anglo-American writer, renowned for his humorous stories of the English country aristocracy. He lived in the US after World War II, taking citizenship in 1955, but never shed his quintessential Englishness.

1919 My Man Jeeves, 'Jeeves and the Hard-Boiled Egg'.
- 55 Chumps always make the best husbands. When you marry, Sally, grab a chump. Tap his forehead first, and if it rings solid, don't hesitate. All the unhappy marriages come from the husbands having brains. What good are brains to a man? They only unsettle him.
1920 The Adventures of Sally, ch.10.
- 56 I turned to Aunt Agatha, whose demeanour was now rather like that of one who, picking daisies on the railway, has just caught the down express in the small of the back.
1923 The Inimitable Jeeves, ch.4.
- 57 Jeeves coughed one soft, low, gentle cough like a sheep with a blade of grass stuck in its throat.
1923 The Inimitable Jeeves, ch.13.
- 58 As a rule, you see, I'm not lugged into Family Rows. On the occasions when Aunt is calling to Aunt like mastodons bellowing across the primeval swamps... the clan has a tendency to ignore me. It's one of the advantages I get from being a bachelor—and, according to my nearest and dearest, practically a half-witted bachelor at that.

Wolf, Naomi 1962–

US writer; she was a Rhodes Scholar in 1986. The Beauty Myth (1990) and Fire with Fire (1993) examine the relationship between patriarchal power and female beauty.

79 The more legal and material hindrances women have broken through, the more strictly and heavily and cruelly images of female beauty have come to weigh upon them.

1990 The Beauty Myth, ch.1, 'The Beauty Myth'.

80 'Beauty' is a currency like the gold standard. Like any economy it is determined by politics, and in the modern age in the West it is the last, best belief system that keeps male domination intact.

1990 The Beauty Myth, ch.1, 'The Beauty Myth'.

- 81 When women breached the power structure in the 1980s...two economies finally merged. Beauty was no longer just a symbolic form of currency: it literally became money.

1990 The Beauty Myth, ch.2 'Work'.

Wolfe, James 1727–59

English general. He fought against the Jacobites at Culloden and was sent to Canada in 1756. Promoted to general after his prominence in the capture of Louisberg, he commanded the British force which took Quebec.

- 82 Gentlemen, I would rather have written those lines than take Quebec tomorrow.

1759 To his troops, 12 Sep, after reciting Thomas Gray's 'Elegy, Written in a Country Churchyard' the evening before storming the ramparts of Quebec and dying a hero's death on the Plains of Abraham the following day. Quoted in Francis Parkman Montcalm and Wolfe (1884).

- 83 Now God be praised, I will die in peace.

1759 Last words, on hearing of the defeat of the French at Quebec. Quoted in J Knox Historical Journal of the Campaigns in North America (1909), ch.17.

Wolfe, Thomas Clayton 1900–38

US novelist. Unsuccessful in drama, he wrote a series of sprawling, uneven but often powerful novels, two of which were published posthumously.

- 84 Most of the time we think we're sick, it's all in the mind.

1929 Look Homeward, Angel, pt.1, ch.1.

- 86 My efforts to cut out 50,000 words may sometimes result in my adding 75,000.

1929 Letter to his editor, Maxwell Perkins.

- 87 If a man has a talent and cannot use it, he has failed. If he has a talent and uses only half of it, he has partly failed. If he has a talent and learns somehow to use the whole of it, he has gloriously succeeded, and won a satisfaction and a triumph few men ever know.

The Web and the Rock (published 1939), ch.29.

- 88 It was a cruel city, but it was a lovely one, a savage city, yet it had such tenderness, a bitter, harsh, and violent catacomb of stone and steel and tunnelled rock, slashed savagely with light, and roaring, fighting a constant ceaseless warfare of men and machinery; and yet it was so sweetly and so delicately pulsed, as full of warmth, of passion, and of love, as it was full of hate.

1939 The Web and the Rock (published 1939), ch.30.

- 89 You Can't Go Home Again.

Title of novel (published 1940).

Wolfe, Tom (Thomas Kennerley) 1931–

US journalist and novelist. He was a leading proponent of the New Journalism, with a propensity for a racy style and attention-grabbing titles. His book on the astronauts, The Right Stuff (1979), was filmed, as was his novel The Bonfire of the Vanities (1987).

Wollstonecraft, Mary also known as Mrs Godwin

1759–97

Anglo-Irish feminist and writer. Her Vindication of the Rights of Man (1790) was followed by Vindication of the Rights of Woman (1792), advocating gender equality. After bearing an illegitimate daughter to Captain Gilbert Imlay (1794) she married political writer William Godwin (1797) but died on the birth of their daughter, Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley.

- 3 I now speak of the sex in general. Many individuals have more sense than their male relatives; and...some women govern their husbands without degrading themselves, because intellect will always govern.

1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, introduction.

- 4 Men, in general, seem to employ their reason to justify prejudices, which they have imbibed, they can scarcely trace how, rather than root them out.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.1.
- 5 Men, indeed, appear to me to act in a very unphilosophical manner when they try to secure the good conduct of women by attempting to keep them always in a state of childhood.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.2.
- 6 Strengthen the female mind by enlarging it, and there will be an end to blind obedience; but as blind obedience is ever sought for by power, tyrants and sensualists are in the right when they endeavour to keep women in the dark, because the former only want slaves, and the latter a play-thing.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.2.
- 7 Gentleness, docility, and a spaniel-like affection are, on this ground, consistently recommended as the cardinal virtues of the sex; and, disregarding the arbitrary economy of nature, one writer has declared that it is masculine for a woman to be melancholy. She was created to be the toy of man, his rattle, and it must jingle in his ears, whenever, dismissing reason, he chooses to be amused.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.2.
- 8 Liberty is the mother of virtue, and if women be, by their very constitution, slaves, and not allowed to breathe the sharp invigorating air of freedom, they must ever languish like exotics, and be reckoned beautiful flaws in nature.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.2.
- 9 The divine right of husbands, like the divine right of kings, may it is to be hoped, in this enlightened age, be contested without danger.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.3.
- 10 A king is always a king—and a woman always a woman; his authority and her sex, ever stand between them and rational converse.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.4.
- 11 I do not wish them to have power over men; but over themselves.
1792 Of women. A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.4.
- 12 Necessity never makes prostitution the business of men's lives; though numberless are the women who are thus rendered systematically vicious.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.4.
- 13 Let woman share the rights and she will emulate the virtues of man, for she must grow more perfect when emancipated.
1792 A Vindication of the Rights of Woman, pt.1, ch.13.

Woodcock, George 1912–95

Canadian writer, poet, social critic and biographer. He also wrote several travel books. He has been described as a philosophical anarchist.

- 18 Well-founded fear, which takes one through the valley of the shadow of death without abandoning one there, is what makes the worst of worse journeys; the situation is made all the more intense when the fear is somehow mingled with delight.

'My Worst Journeys', collected in Keath Fraser (ed) Worst Journeys: The Picador Book of Travel (1991).

Woodman, Marion 1928–

Canadian therapist and author.

- 19 To strive for perfection is to kill love because perfection does not recognize humanity.

1982 Addition to Perfection: The Still Unravished Bride.

Woodroffe, Thomas 1899–1978

British naval officer.

- 20 The whole fleet's lit up. When I say 'lit up', I mean by fairy lamps.

1937 BBC radio commentary of the Spithead review, 20 May, Britain's first live outside broadcast. 'Lit up' was a common euphemism for 'drunk'.

Woods, Donald 1933–2001

South African editor and Black civil rights campaigner.

- 21 When I left South Africa, I arrogantly predicted that within seven years, apartheid would be gone. It has taken a bit longer than that.

1991 BBC TV broadcast, Feb.

Woods, Tiger 1975–

US golfer. He has won numerous events, including the US

Masters (1997, 2001, 2002), the British Open (2000) and the US Open (2000, 2002).

22 Growing up, I came up with this name: I'm a Cablinasian.

Woolf, (Adeline) Virginia née Stephen 1882–1941

English novelist, critic and essayist. Daughter of Sir Leslie Stephen and sister of Vanessa Bell, she married Leonard Woolf and in 1917 they formed the Hogarth Press. Her experimental novels include Mrs. Dalloway (1925) and To the Lighthouse (1927). A Room of One's Own (1929) is a feminist classic. She committed suicide by drowning.

26 Life... is a luminous halo, a semi-transparent envelope surrounding us from the beginning of consciousness to the end.

1919 'Modern Fiction'.

27 Each had his past shut in him like the leaves of a book known to him by heart; and his friends could only read the title.

1922 Jacob's Room, ch.5.

28 It's not catastrophes, murders, deaths, diseases, that age and kill us; it's the way people look and laugh, and run up the steps of omnibuses.

1922 Jacob's Room, ch.6.

29 Never did I read such tosh.

1922 On James Joyce's Ulysses. Letter to Lytton Strachey, 24 Apr.

30 I believe that all novels... deal with character, and that it is to express character—not to preach doctrines, sing songs, or celebrate the glories of the British Empire, that the form of the novel, so clumsy, verbose, and undramatic, so rich, elastic, and alive, has been evolved.

1924 'Mr Bennett and Mrs Brown'.

31 Life itself, every moment of it, every drop of it, here, this instant, now, in the sun, in Regent's Park, was enough. Too much, indeed.

1925 Mrs Dalloway.

32 It is vain and foolish to talk of knowing Greek.

1925 The Common Reader, 'On Not Knowing Greek'.

33 The interest in life does not lie in what people do, nor even in their relations to each other, but largely in the power to communicate with a third party, antagonistic, enigmatic, yet perhaps persuadable, which one may call life in general.

1925 The Common Reader, 'On Not Knowing Greek'.

34 For the self-centred and self-limited writers have a power denied the more catholic and broad-minded... Nothing issues from their minds which has not been marked with their own impress.

1925 The Common Reader, 'Jane Eyre and Wuthering Heights'.

35 A good essay must have this permanent quality about it; it must draw its curtain round us, but it must be a curtain that shuts us in not out.

1925 The Common Reader, 'The Modern Essay'.

36 We are nauseated by the sight of trivial personalities decomposing in the eternity of print.

1925 The Common Reader, 'The Modern Essay'.

37 Middlemarch, the magnificent book which with all its imperfections is one of the few English novels for grown up people.

1925 The Common Reader, 'George Eliot'.

38 London is enchanting. I step out upon a tawny coloured magic carpet, it seems, and get carried into beauty without raising a finger... People pop in and out, lightly, divertingly like rabbits; and I look down Southampton Row, wet as a seal's back or red and yellow with sunshine, and watch the omnibuses going and coming and hear the old crazy organs. One of these days I will write about London, and how it takes up the private life and carries it on, without any effort.

1926 Diary entry, 26 May.

39 So that is marriage, Lily thought, a man and a woman looking at a girl throwing a ball.

1927 To the Lighthouse, pt.1, ch.13.

40 She faded... became more inconspicuous than ever, in her little grey dress.

1927 To the Lighthouse, pt.1, ch.17.

41 One cannot think well, love well, sleep well, if one has not dined well.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.1.

42 A woman must have money and a room of her own if she is to write fiction.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.1.

43 Women have served all these centuries as looking-glasses possessing the magic and delicious power of reflecting the figure of man at twice its natural size.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.2.

44 I would venture to guess that Anon, who wrote so many poems without signing them, was often a woman.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.3.

45 Literature is strewn with the wreckage of men who have minded beyond reason the opinion of others.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.3.

46 It is obvious that the values of women differ very often from the values which have been made by the other sex... Yet it is the masculine values that prevail.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.4.

47 We think back through our mothers if we are women.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.4.

48 For there is a spot the size of a shilling at the back of the head which one can never see for oneself. It is one of the good offices that sex can discharge for sex—to describe that spot.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.5.

- 49 For all the dinners are cooked; the plates and cups washed; the children sent to school and gone out into the world. Nothing remains of it all. All has vanished. No biography or history has a word to say about it.

1929 A Room of One's Own, ch.5.

- 50 I am not trying to tell a story. Yet perhaps it might be done in that way. A mind thinking. They might be islands of light—'islands in the stream that I am trying to convey; life itself going on.

1929 Diary entry, 28 May.

- 51 Killing the Angel in the House was part of the occupation of a woman writer.

1931 'Professions for Women', lecture to the National Society for Women's Service, 21 Jan. Woolf's solution was to throw the inkpot at the Angel (the embodiment of stereotyped Victorian femininity) whenever she appeared.

- 52 Things have dropped from me. I have outlived certain desires; I have lost friends, some by death—Percival—others through sheer inability to cross the street.

Wordsworth, William 1770–1850

English poet. At first given to agnosticism and a revolutionary passion for social justice, he then turned to exploring the lives of humble people living in contact with nature. He succeeded Robert Southey as Poet Laureate in 1843.

- 67 Now, in this blank of things, a harmony,
Home-felt, and home-created, comes to heal
That grief for which the senses still supply Fresh food.
1786 'Calm is all nature as a resting wheel', 1.7–10. Published in the Morning Post, 13 Feb. 1802.

- 68 In this universe,
Where the least things control the greatest, where
The faintest breath that breathes can move a world.
1795–6 Oswald. The Borderers, act 3, 1.1562–4 (published 1842).

- 69 These beauteous forms,
Through a long absence, have not been to me
As is a landscape to a blind man's eye:
But oft, in lonely rooms, and 'mid the din
Of towns and cities, I have owed to them,
In hours of weariness, sensations sweet,
Felt in the blood, and felt along the heart.
1798 'Lines composed a few miles above Tintern Abbey, on revisiting the banks of the Wye', 1.22–8.

- 70 That best portion of a good man's life,
His little, nameless, unremembered, acts
Of kindness and of love.
1798 'Lines composed a few miles above Tintern Abbey, on revisiting the banks of the Wye', 1.33–5.

- 71 For I have learned
To look on nature, not as in the hour
Of thoughtless youth; but hearing often-times
The still, sad music of humanity,
Nor harsh nor grating, though of ample power
To chasten and subdue. And I have felt
A presence that disturbs me with the joy
Of elevated thoughts; a sense sublime
Of something far more deeply interfused,
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of man.
1798 'Lines composed a few miles above Tintern Abbey, on

- revisiting the banks of the Wye', 1.88–99.
- 72 Therefore am I still
A lover of the meadows and the woods,
And mountains; and of all that we behold
From this green earth; of all the mighty world
Of eye, and ear,—both what they half create
And what perceive.
1798 'Lines composed a few miles above Tintern Abbey, on revisiting the banks of the Wye', 1.102–6.
- 73 Away we go—and what care we
For treasons, tumults, and for wars?
We are as calm in our delight
As is the crescent moon so bright
Among the scattered stars.
1798 'Peter Bell', prologue, stanza 5 (published 1819).
- 74 Books! 'tis a dull and endless strife:
Come, hear the woodland linnet
How sweet his music! on my life
There's more of wisdom in it.
1798 'The Tables Turned', stanza 3.
- 75 One impulse from a vernal wood
May teach you more of man,
Of moral evil and of good,
Than all the sages can.
- Sweet is the lore which Nature brings;
Our meddling intellect
Mis-shapes the beauteous forms of things:—
We murder to dissect.
- Enough of science and of art;
Close up those barren leaves;
Come forth and bring with you a heart
That watches and receives.
1798 'The Tables Turned', stanzas 6–8.
- 76 I heard a thousand blended notes,
While in a grove I sate reclined,
In that sweet mood when pleasant thoughts
Bring sad thoughts to the mind.
1798 'Lines Written in Early Spring', stanza 1.
- 77 To her fair works did Nature link
The human soul that through me ran;
And much it grieved my heart to think
What man has made of man.
1798 'Lines Written in Early Spring', stanza 2.
- 78 She dwelt among the untrodden ways
Beside the springs of Dove,
A maid whom there were none to praise
And very few to love:
- A violet by a mossy stone
Half hidden from the eye!
—Fair as a star, when only one
Is shining in the sky.
- She lived unknown, and few could know
When Lucy ceased to be;
But she is in her grave, and, oh,
The difference to me!
1799 'She dwelt among the untrodden ways', complete poem (published 1800).
- 79 Three years she grew in sun and shower,
The Nature said, 'A lovelier flower
On earth was never sown;
This Child I to myself will take;
She shall be mine, and I will make A Lady of my own.'
1799 'Three Years she grew in sun and shower', stanza 1 (published 1800).
- 80 A slumber did my spirit seal;
I had no human fears:
She seemed a thing that could not feel
The touch of earthly years.
- No motion has she now, no force;
She neither hears nor sees;
Rolled round in earth's diurnal course
With rocks, and stones and trees.
1799 'A slumber did my spirit seal', complete poem (published 1800).
- 81 Physician art thou?—one, all eyes,
Philosopher!—a fingering slave,
One that would peep and botanize
Upon his mother's grave?
1799 'A Poet's Epitaph', stanza 5 (published 1800).
- 82 One to whose smooth-rubbed soul can cling Nor form, nor feeling, great or small;
A reasoning, self-sufficing thing,
An intellectual All-in-all!
1799 'A Poet's Epitaph', stanza 8 (published 1800).
- 83 Shut close the door; press down the latch;
Sleep in thy intellectual crust;
Nor lose ten tickings of thy watch
Near this unprofitable dust.
1799 'A Poet's Epitaph', stanza 9 (published 1800).
- 84 In common truths that round us lie
Some random truths he can impart,—
The harvest of a quiet eye
That broods and sleeps on his own heart.
1799 'A Poet's Epitaph', stanza 13 (published 1800).
- 85 Wisdom and Spirit of the universe!
Thou soul, that art the eternity of thought,
And giv'st to forms and images a breath
And everlasting motion.
1799 'Influence of Natural Objects', 1.1–4 (published in The Friend 28 Dec 1809).
- 86 Leaving the tumultuous throng,
To cut across the reflex of a star;
Image that, flying still before me, gleamed
Upon the glassy plain.
1799 'Influence of Natural Objects', 1.49–52 (published in The Friend 28 Dec 1809).
- 87 When we had given our bodies to the wind,
And all the shadowy banks on either side
Came sweeping through the darkness, spinning still
The rapid line of motion, then at once
Have I, reclining back upon my heels,
Stopped short; yet still the solitary cliffs Wheeled by me—even as if the earth had rolled
With visible motion her diurnal round!
1799 'Influence of Natural Objects', 1.53–60 (published in The Friend 28 Dec 1809).
- 88 Oh there is blessing in this gentle breeze,
A visitant that while it fans my cheek

- Doth seem half conscious of the joy it brings
From the green fields, and from yon azure sky.
Whate'er its mission, the soft breeze can come
To none more grateful than to me; escaped
From the vast city, where I long had pined
A discontented sojourner: now free,
Free as a bird to settle where I will.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.1, 1.1–9 (published 1850).
- 89 I, methought, while the sweet breath of heaven
Was blowing on my body, felt within A correspondent breeze, that gently moved With quickening virtue, but is now become A tempest, a redundant energy,
Vexing its own creation.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.1, 1.33–8 (published 1850).
- 90 Either still I find
Some imperfection in the chosen theme,
Or see of absolute accomplishment
Much wanting, so much wanting, in myself,
That I recoil and droop, and seek repose
In listlessness from vain perplexity,
Unprofitably travelling towards the grave.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.1, 1.261–7 (published 1850).
- 91 Fair seed-time had my soul, and I grew up Fostered alike by beauty and by fear.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.1, 1.301–2 (published 1850).
- 92 Dust as we are, the immortal spirit grows
Like harmony in music; there is a dark Inscrutable workmanship that reconciles
Discordant elements, makes them cling together
In one society.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.1, 1.340–4 (published 1850).
- 93 Then, the calm
And dead still water lay upon my mind
Even with a weight of pleasure, and the sky,
Never before so beautiful, sank down
Into my heart, and held me like a dream.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.2, 1.70–4 (published 1850).
- 94 I was taught to feel, perhaps too much,
The self-sufficing power of Solitude.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.2, 1.76–7 (published 1850).
- 95 Science appears but what in truth she is,
Not as our glory and our absolute boast,
But as a succedaneum, and a prop
To our infirmity.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.2, 1.212–15 (published 1850).
- 96 That false secondary power
By which we multiply distinctions, then Deem that our puny boundaries are things
That we perceive, and not that we have made.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.2, 1.216–19 (published 1850).
- 97 A babe, by intercourse of touch
I held mute dialogues with my Mother's heart.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.2, 1.267–8 (published 1850).
- 98 From my pillow, looking forth by light
Of moon or favouring stars, I could behold
The antechapel where the statue stood
Of Newton with his prism and silent face,
The marble index of a mind for ever
Voyaging through strange seas of Thought alone.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.3, 1.58–63 (published 1850).
- 99 There's not a man
That lives who hath not known his god-like hours.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.3, 1.190–1 (published 1850).
- 1 Visionary power
Attends the motions of the viewless winds, Embodied in the mystery of words.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.5, 1.595–7 (published 1850).
- 2 Even forms and substances are circumfused
By that transparent veil with light divine,
And, through the turnings intricate of verse,
Present themselves as objects recognised,
In flashes, and with glory not their own.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.5, 1.601–5 (published 1850).
- 3 An open place it was, and overlooked,
From high, the sullen water far beneath,
On which a dull red image of the moon
Lay bedded, changing oftentimes its form
Like an uneasy snake.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.6, 1.703–7 (published 1850).
- 4 In the very world, which is the world
Of all of us,—the place where, in the end,
We find our happiness, or not at all!
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.11, 1.142–4 (published 1850).
- 5 I shook the habit off
Entirely and for ever, and again
In Nature's presence stood, as now I stand,
A sensitive being, a creative soul.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.12, 1.204–7 (published 1850).
- 6 A balance, an ennobling interchange
Of action from without and from within;
The excellence, pure function, and best power
Both of the object seen, and eye that sees.
1799–1805 The Prelude, bk.13, 1.375–8 (published 1850).
- 7 The thought of death sits easy on the man Who has been born and dies among the mountains.
c.1800 'The Priest.' 'The Brothers', 1.182–3.
- 8 The moving accident is not my trade;
To freeze the blood I have no ready arts:
'Tis my delight, alone in summer shade,
To pipe a simple song for thinking hearts.
1800 'Hart-Leap Well', part 2, 1.97–100.
- 9 I travelled among unknown men
In lands beyond the sea;
Nor England! did I know till then
What love I bore to thee.
1801 'I Travelled Among Unknown Men', stanza 1 (published 1807).
- 10 Poetry is the spontaneous overflow of powerful feelings: it takes its origin from emotion recollected in tranquillity.
1802 Preface to Lyrical Ballads (2nd ed. 1802; Lyrical Ballads first published 1798, preface added 1800, enlarged 1802).
- 11 Milton! thou shouldst be living at this hour:
England hath need of thee: she is a fen
Of stagnant waters: altar, sword and pen,
Fireside, the heroic wealth of hall and bower,
Have forfeited their ancient English dower
Of inward happiness. We are selfish men;
Oh! raise us up, return to us again;
And give us manners, virtue, freedom, power.
Thy soul was like a star, and dwelt apart;

- Thou hadst a voice whose sound was like the sea:
Pure as the naked heavens, majestic, free,
So didst thou travel on life's common way,
In cheerful godliness; and yet thy heart
The lowliest duties on herself did lay.
1802 'Milton! thou shouldst be living at this hour', complete poem (published 1807).
- 12 Thrice welcome, darling of the Spring
Even yet thou are to me
No bird, but an invisible thing,
A voice, a mystery.
1802 'To the Cuckoo', stanza 4 (published 1807).
- 13 It is a beauteous evening, calm and free,
The holy time is quiet as a nun
Breathless with adoration; the broad sun
Is sinking down in its tranquillity;
The gentleness of heaven broods o'er the sea:
Listen! the mighty being is awake,
And doth with his eternal motion make
A sound like thunder—everlastingly.
1802 'It is a beauteous evening calm and free', l.1–8 (published 1807).
- 14 With little here to do or see
Of things that in the great world be,
Sweet Daisy! oft I talk to thee
For thou art worthy,
Thou unassuming commonplace
Of Nature, with that homely face,
And yet with something of a grace
Which love makes for thee!
1802 'To the Daisy', stanza 1 (published 1807).
- 15 My heart leaps up when I behold
A rainbow in the sky:
So was it when my life began;
So is it now I am a man;
So be it when I shall grow old,
Or let me die!
The Child is father of the Man;
And I could wish my days to be Bound each to each by natural piety.
1802 'My heart leaps up when I behold', complete poem (published 1807).
- 16 My whole life have I lived in pleasant thought,
As if life's business were a summer mood;
As if all needful things would come unsought
To genial faith, still rich in genial good.
1802 'Resolution and Independence', stanza 6 (published 1807).
- 17 I thought of Chatterton, the marvellous boy,
The sleepless soul that perished in his pride.
Of him who walked in glory and in joy
Following his plough along the mountainside:
By our own spirits are we deified.
We poets in our youth begin in gladness;
But thereof comes in the end despondency and madness.
1802 Of the poet Thomas Chatterton, who committed suicide at the age of 17. 'Resolution and Independence', stanza 7 (published 1807).
- 18 The fear that kills;
And hope that is unwilling to be fed.
1802 'Resolution and Independence', stanza 17 (published 1807).
- 19 Earth hath not anything to show more fair:
Dull would he be of soul who could pass by
A sight so touching in its majesty:
This City now doth like a garment wear
The beauty of the morning; silent, bare,
Ships, towers, domes, theatres, and to the sky;
All bright and glittering in the smokeless air.
Never did sun more beautifully steep
In his first splendour, valley, rock, or hill;
Ne'er saw I, never felt, a calm so deep!
The river glideth at his own sweet will;
Dear God! the very houses seem asleep;
And all that mighty heart is lying still!
1802 Of London. 'Composed upon Westminster Bridge', complete poem. (Published 1807).
- 20 Once did she hold the gorgeous East in fee,
And was the safeguard of the West: the worth
Of Venice did not fall below her birth,
Venice, the eldest child of Liberty.
1802 Of Venice. 'On the Extinction of the Venetian Republic', l.1–4 (published 1807).
- 21 There was a time when meadow, grove, and stream,
The earth, and every common sight,
To me did seem Apparelled in celestial light,
The glory and the freshness of a dream.
It is not now as it hath been of yore;—
Turn whereso'er I may,
By night or day,
The things which I have seen I now can see no more.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 1 (published 1807).
- 22 Thou Child of Joy, Shout round me, let me hear thy shouts.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 3 (published 1807).
- 23 But there's a tree, of many, one,
A single field which I have looked upon,
Both of them speak of something that is gone:
The pansy at my feet
Doth the same tale repeat:
Whither is fled the visionary gleam?
Where is it now, the glory and the dream?
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 4 (published 1807).
- 24 Our birth is but a sleep and a forgetting:
The soul that rises with us, our life's star,
Hath had elsewhere its setting,
And cometh from afar:
Not in entire forgetfulness
And not in utter nakedness,
But trailing clouds of glory do we come
From God, who is our home:
Heaven lies about us in our infancy!
Shades of the prison-house begin to close Upon the growing boy,
But he beholds the light, and whence it flows,
He sees it in his joy;
The youth, who daily farther from the east
Must travel, still is nature's priest,
And by the vision splendid
Is on his way attended;

- At length the man perceives it die away,
And fade into the light of common day.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 5 (published 1807).
- 25 O joy! that in our embers
Is something that doth live,
That nature yet remembers
What was so fugitive!
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 9 (published 1807).
- 26 Those obstinate questionings
Of sense and outward things,
Fallings from us, vanishings;
Blank misgivings of a creature
Moving about in worlds not realised,
High instincts before which our mortal nature
Did tremble like a guilty thing surprised.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 9 (published 1807).
- 27 Our noisy years seem moments in the being
Of the eternal silence: truths that wake,
To perish never:
Which neither listlessness, nor mad endeavour,
Nor man nor boy,
Nor all that is at enmity with joy,
Can utterly abolish or destroy!
Hence in a season of calm weather,
Though inland far we be,
Our souls have sight of that immortal sea
Which brought us hither,
Can in a moment travel thither,
And see the children sport upon the shore,
And hear the mighty waters rolling evermore.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 9 (published 1807).
- 28 Though nothing can bring back the hour
Of splendour in the grass, of glory in the flower;
We will grieve not.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 10 (published 1807).
- 29 Thanks to the human heart by which we live,
Thanks to its tenderness, its joys, and fears,
To me the meanest flower that blows can give Thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears.
c.1802–1803 'Ode. Intimations of Immortality from Recollections of Early Childhood', stanza 11 (published 1807).
- 30 Let beeves and home-bred kine partake
The sweets of Burn-mill meadow;
The swan on still St Mary's Lake
Float double, swan and shadow!
We will not see them; will not go,
To-day, nor yet to-morrow;
Enough if in our hearts we know
There's such a place as Yarrow.

Be Yarrow stream unseen, unknown;
It must, or we shall rue it:
We have a vision of our own,
Ah! why should we undo it?
The treasured dreams of times long past,
We'll keep them, winsome Marrow!
For when we're there, although 'tis fair,
'Twill be another Yarrow!
1803 'Yarrow Unvisited', stanzas 6–7 (published 1807).
- 31 For thou wert still the poor man's stay,
The poor man's heart, the poor man's hand;
And all the oppressed, who wanted strength,
Had thine at their command.
1803 'Rob Roy's Grave', l. 109–12 (published 1807).
- 32 Thy friends are exultations, agonies,
And love, and man's unconquerable mind.
1803 'To Toussaint L'Ouverture', l. 13–14 (published in the Morning Post 2 Feb).
- 33 What, you are stepping westward?
1803–5 'Stepping Westward', l. 1 (published 1807).
- 34 Behold her, single in the field,
Yon solitary Highland Lass!
Reaping and singing by herself;
Stop here, or gently pass!
1803–5 'The Solitary Reaper', l. 1–4 (published 1807).
- 35 She was a Phantom of delight
When first she gleamed upon my sight;
A lovely apparition sent
To be a moment's ornament.
1804 'She was a Phantom of delight', l. 1–4 (published 1807).
- 36 And now I see with eye serene
The very pulse of the machine;
A being breathing thoughtful breath,
A traveller between life and death;
The reason firm, the temperate will,
Endurance, foresight, strength, and skill;
A perfect woman, nobly planned,
To warn, to comfort, and command.
1804 'She was a Phantom of delight', l. 21–8 (published 1807).
- 37 Chains tie us down by land and sea;
And wishes, vain as mine, may be
All that is left to comfort thee.
1804 'The Affliction of Margaret', stanza 8 (published 1807).
- 38 My apprehensions come in crowds;
I dread the rustling of the grass;
The very shadows of the clouds
Have power to shake me as they pass.
1804 'The Affliction of Margaret', stanza 10 (published 1807).
- 39 Oh! pleasant exercise of hope and joy!
For mighty were the auxiliars which then stood Upon our side, we who were strong in love!
Bliss it was in that dawn to be alive,
But to be young was very heaven!
1804 'The French Revolution as it appeared to enthusiasts at its commencement', l. 1–5 (published in The Friend, 26 Oct. 1809).
- 40 I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.
1804 'I wandered lonely as a cloud', stanza 1 (published 1807).
- 41 Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

- 1804 'I wandered lonely as a cloud', stanza 2 (published 1807).
- 42 The waves beside them danced; but they
Out-did the sparkling waves in glee:
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company:
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought.
1804 'I wandered lonely as a cloud', stanza 3 (published 1807).
- 43 For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.
1804 'I wandered lonely as a cloud', stanza 4 (published 1807).
- 44 If mine had been the painter's hand,
To express what then I saw; and add the gleam,
The light that never was, on sea or land,
The consecration, and the poet's dream.
1805 'Elegiac Stanzas: suggested by a picture of Peele Castle in a storm', stanza 4 (published 1807).
- 45 Not for a moment could I now behold
A smiling sea, and be what I have been.
1805 'Elegiac Stanzas: suggested by a picture of Peele Castle in a storm', stanza 10 (published 1807).
- 46 The world is too much with us; late and soon,
Getting and spending we lay waste our powers:
Little we see in nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!
The sea that bares her bosom to the moon;
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers;
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not.—Great God! I'd rather be A pagan suckled in a creed outworn;
So might I, standing on this pleasant lea,
Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn;
Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea;
Or hear old Triton blow his wreathèd horn.
1806 'The world is too much with us; late and soon', complete poem (published 1807).
- 47 Two voices are there; one is of the sea,
One of the mountains; each a mighty voice:
In both from age to age thou didst rejoice,
They were thy chosen music, Liberty!
1807 'Thought of a Briton on the Subjugation of Switzerland', 1.1–4.
- 48 These people in the senseless hurry of their idle lives do not read books, they merely snatch a glance at them that they may talk about them. And even if this were not so, never forget what I believe was observed by Coleridge, that every great and original writer, in proportion as he is great or original, must himself create the taste by which he is to be relished.
1807 Letter to Lady Beaumont, 21 May, on his Poems in Two Volumes (1807). In The Letters of William Wordsworth edited by Alan G Hill (1984).
- 49 Surprised by joy—impatient as the wind
I turned to share the transport—Oh! with whom
But thee, deep buried in the silent tomb,
That spot which no vicissitude can find?
c.1812 'Surprised by joy—impatient as the wind', 1.1–4 (published 1815). The poet's second daughter, Catherine, who died in June 1812, is the 'thee' referred to in the poem.
- 50 On Man, on Nature, and on Human Life, Musing in solitude, I oft perceive Fair trains of images before me rise,
Accompanied by feelings of delight
Pure, or with no unpleasing sadness mixed.
1814 'The Excursion', preface, 1.1–5.
- 51 Not Chaos, not
The darkest pit of lowest Erebus
Nor aught of blinder vacancy, scooped out
By help of dreams—can breed such fear and awe
As fall upon us often when we look Into our Minds, into the Mind of Man—
My haunt, and the main region of my song.
1814 'The Excursion', preface, 1.35–41.
- 52 What soul was his, when, from the naked top
Of some bold headland, he beheld the sun Rise up, and bathe the world in light!
He looked—
Ocean and earth, the solid frame of earth
And ocean's liquid mass, in gladness lay
Beneath him:—Far and wide the clouds were touched,
And in their silent faces he could read Unutterable love.
1814 'The Excursion', bk.1, 1.198–205.
- 53 This dull product of a scoffer's pen.
1814 Of Voltaire's novel Candide. 'The Excursion', bk.2, 1.484.
- 54 Compassed round by pleasure, sighed
For independent happiness; craving peace,
The central feeling of all happiness,
Not as a refuge from distress or pain,
A breathing-time, vacation, or a truce,
But for its absolute self.
1814 'The Excursion', bk.3, 1.380–5.
- 55 Society became my glittering bride,
And airy hopes my children.
1814 'The Excursion', bk.3, 1.735–6.
- 56 'To every Form of being is assigned, Thus calmly spake the venerable Sage,
'An active Principle:—how'er removed From sense and observation, it subsists
In all things, in all natures.'
1814 'The Excursion', bk.9, 1.1–5.
- 57 For all the startled scaly tribes that slink
Into his coverts, and each fearless link
Of dancing insects forged upon his breast.
1820 The River Duddon, no.28, 'Journey Renewed', 1.6–8.
- 58 Still glides the stream, and shall for ever glide;
The Form remains, the function never dies;
While we, the brave, the mighty, and the wise,
We Men, who in our morn of youth defied
The elements, must vanish;—be it so!
1820 The River Duddon, no.34, 'After-Thought', 1.5–9.
- 59 Enough, if something from our hands have power
To live, and act, and serve the future hour;
And if, as toward the silent tomb we go,
Through love, through hope, and faith's transcendent
dower,
We feel that we are greater than we know.
1820 The River Duddon, no.34, 'After-Thought', 1.10–14.

- 60 Ethereal minstrel! pilgrim of the sky!
Dost thou despise the earth where cares abound?
Or, while the wings aspire, are heart and eye
Both with thy nest upon the dewy ground?
1825 'To a Skylark', l.1–4 (published 1827).
- 61 Type of the wise who soar, but never roam;
True to the kindred points of Heaven and Home!
1825 'To a Skylark', l.11–12 (published 1827).
- 62 But who is innocent? By grace divine,
Not otherwise, O Nature! we are thine.
1834 'Evening Voluntaries', no.4, l.16–17 (published 1835).
- 63 Even so for me a vision sanctified
The sway of death; long ere my eyes had seen
Thy countenance—the still rapture of thy mien—
When thou, dear Sister! wert become death's bride:
No trace of pain or languor could abide
That change—age on thy brow was smoothed—thy cold
Wan cheek at once was privileged to unfold
A loveliness to living youth denied.
Oh! if within me hope should e'er decline,
The lamp of faith, lost Friend! too faintly burn;
The may that heaven-revealing smile of thine,
The bright assurance, visibly return:
And let my spirit in that power divine
Rejoice, as, through that power, it ceased to mourn.
1836 'November 1836', complete poem (published 1837).
- 64 The softest breeze to fairest flowers gives birth:
Think not that Prudence dwells in dark abodes,
She scans the future with the eye of gods.
1837 'At Bologna, In Remembrance of the Late Insurrections:
Continued', l.12–14 (published 1842).
- 65 Before us lay a painful road,
And guidance have I sought in duteous love
From Wisdom's heavenly Father. Hence hath flowed Patience, with trust that, whatsoever the way
Each takes in this high matter, all may move Cheered with the prospect of a brighter day.
1839–40 Sonnets upon the Punishment of Death, no.14, 'Apology', l.9–14 (published in the Quarterly Review 1841).
- 66 With what nice care equivalents are given,
How just, how bountiful, the hand of Heaven.
1840 'Poor Robin', l.35–6 (published 1842).
- 67 That to this mountain-daisy's self were known
The beauty of its star-shaped shadow, thrown
On the smooth surface of this naked stone!
1844 'So fair so sweet', stanza 2 (published 1845).
- 68 21st May—a glorious day for beauty. I wish you could see how lovely our country is at this fine season.
1846 Letter to William Boxall, 21 May.

Wright, Sir Almroth Edward 1861–1947

English bacteriologist and Professor of Experimental Pathology, known for his work on parasitic diseases. A vocal opponent of the suffragettes, he wrote The Unexpurgated Case against Woman Suffrage (1913).

- 72 The recruiting field for the militant suffragists is the million of our excess female population—that million which had better long ago have gone out to mate with its complement of men beyond the sea.
1912 Letter to The Times, 28 Mar.
- 73 The primordial argument against giving woman the vote is that that vote would not represent physical force.
1913 The Unexpurgated Case against Woman Suffrage, pt.2.
- 74 The woman voter would be pernicious to the State not only because she could not back her vote by physical force, but also by reason of her intellectual defects.
1913 The Unexpurgated Case against Woman Suffrage, pt.2.
- 75 Practically every man feels that there is in woman...an element of unreason which, when you come upon it, summarily puts an end to purely intellectual intercourse.
1913 The Unexpurgated Case against Woman Suffrage, pt.5.

US architect, known for his original and controversial designs exploiting modern technology and cubist spatial concepts. His works include the Imperial Hotel, Tokyo (1916–20) and the Guggenheim Museum of Art, New York (1959).

- 77 Architecture is man's great sense of himself embodied in a world of his own making. It may rise as high in quality only as its source because great art is great life.
1930 In Frederick Gutheim (ed) Frank Lloyd Wright on Architecture: selected writings (1894–1940).
- 78 I know we can't have a great architecture while it is only for the landlord.

Wright, Judith Arundell also known as Judith Wright McKinney 1915–2000

Australian poet and conservationist, whose awards include the Robert Frost Memorial Prize (1976). Selected works have been published in A Human Pattern (1990).

82 The easy Eden-dreamtime then in a country of birds and trees made me your shadow-sister, child, dark girl I couldn't play with.

1990 A Human Pattern, 'Two Dreamtimes', stanza 14. The poem is dedicated to Kath Walker (now Oodgeroo Noonuccal).

83 I am born of the conquerors, you of the persecuted.
Raped by rum and an alien law,
progress and economics,

are you and I and a once-loved land peopled by tribes and trees;
doomed traders and stock-exchanges, bought by faceless strangers.

1990 A Human Pattern, 'Two Dreamtimes', stanzas 17–18. The poem is dedicated to Kath Walker (now Oodgeroo Noonuccal).

Wright, Kenyon 1932–99

Scottish Methodist minister, General Secretary of the Scottish Council of Churches since 1981, and Executive of the Scottish Constitutional Convention (1989–99).

84 What if that other single voice we know so well responds by saying, 'We say no, and we are the State'? Well, we say yes—and we are the people.

1989 Calling for a Scottish Parliament. Speech at the inaugural meeting of the Scottish Constitutional Convention, 30 Mar. The 'single voice' is that of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

- 2 My lute, awake! Perform the last Labour that thou and I shall waste,
And end that I have now begun;
For when this song is sung and past,
My lute, be still, for I have done.
1557 'My Lute, Awake!'
- 3 They flee from me, that sometime did me seek,
With naked foot, stalking in my chamber.
I have seen them gentle, tame, and meek,
That now are wild, and do not remember
That sometime they put themselves in danger
To take bread at my hand; and now they range,
Busily seeking with a continual change.
1557 'They Flee from Me.'
- 4 But all is turned, through my gentleness,
Into a strange fashion of forsaking.
1557 'They Flee from Me.'

Wycherley, William c.1640–1716

English dramatist. Educated at Oxford and Middle Temple. Although a successful playwright who garnered attention and support from both Charles II and James II, his fortunes were unsteady. Plays include The Gentleman Dancing-Master (1672), Love in a Wood (1671), The Country Wife (1675) and The Plain Dealer (1677), the last two of which were based on plays by Molière.

- 5 Fy! madam, do you think me so ill bred as to love a husband?
1671 Love in a Wood, act 3, sc.4.
- 6 A good name is seldom got by giving it one's self.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 7 A mistress should be like a little country retreat near the town, not to dwell in constantly, but only for a night and away.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 8 Your virtue is your greatest affectation.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 9 Women serve but to keep men from better company.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 10 Mistresses are like books. If you pore upon them too much, they doze you, and make you unfit for company; but if used discreetly, you are the fitter for conversation by 'em.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 11 'Tis as hard to be a good fellow, a good friend, and a lover of women, as 'tis to be a good fellow, a good friend, and a lover of money.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 12 Wine gives you liberty, love takes it away.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 13 For my part, I will have only those glorious manly pleasures of being very drunk and very slovenly.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 14 Wit is more necessary than beauty; and I think no young woman ugly that has it, and no handsome woman agreeable without it.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.
- 15 He's a fool that marries; but he's a greater that does not marry a fool.
1675 The Country Wife, act 1, sc.1.

- 16 Poetry in love is no more to be avoided than jealousy.
1675 The Country Wife, act 3, sc.2.

- 17 I love to be envied, and would not marry a wife that I alone could love; loving alone is as dull as eating alone.
1675 The Country Wife, act 3, sc.2.

Wycliffe, John c.1330–1384

English religious reformer. His many popular vernacular tracts attacked Church hierarchy, priestly powers, and the doctrine of transubstantiation, and he issued the first English translation of the Bible. Although condemned, his teaching was influential in its insistence on inward religion instead of formalism. His followers were derisively known as 'Lollards'.

- 18 Christ during His life upon earth was of all men the poorest, casting from Him all worldly authority. I deduce from these premises... that the Pope should surrender all temporal authority to the civil power and advise his clergy to do the same.
1384 Dismissing an order to appear before the Papal Court.

Wyeth, Andrew Newell 1917–

US painter, known for his meticulous depictions of the Pennsylvanian and Maine countryside. His most famous work is Christina's World (1948).

- 19 I get excited by the shape of a person's nose, the tone of their eyes, or the way their back looks when they're turned away from me. That's my reason for painting.

Yeats, Georgie née Hyde-Lees 1892–1968

Wife of Irish poet W B Yeats. Her attempts at automatic writing on their honeymoon in 1917 profoundly influenced Yeats' subsequent writing.

28 After your death people will write of your love affairs, but I shall say nothing, because I will remember how proud you were.

Quoted in Richard Ellman A Long the Riverrun: Selected Essays (1988), p.253.

Yeats, W(illiam) B(utler) 1865–1939

Irish poet. He was a prolific writer influenced by Irish mythology and by his close relationships with a number of women, eventually evolving his own system of symbolism which underlies much of his work. He also edited many books, including the controversial Oxford Book of Modern Verse (1936), and served as a Senator of the Irish Free State (1922–9).

29 Down by the salley gardens my love and I did meet;
She passed the salley gardens with little snow-white feet.
She bid me take love easy, as the leaves grow on the tree;
But I, being young and foolish, with her would not agree.

In a field by the river my love and I did stand,
And on my leaning shoulder she laid her snow-white hand.

She bid me take life easy, as the grass grows on the weirs;

But I was young and foolish, and now am full of tears.

1888 'Down by the Salley Gardens', complete poem. Collected in Crossways.

30 I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made:
Nine bean-rows will I have there, a hive for the honey-bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have some peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings;
There midnight's all a-glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

1888 'The Lake Isle of Innisfree', stanzas 1–2. Collected in The Rose (1893).

31 O Oisín, mount by me and ride
To shores by the wash of the tremulous tide,
Where men have heaped no burial-mounds,
And the days pass by like a wayward tune.

1889 'The Wanderings of Oisín', 1.80–3.

32 The brawling of a sparrow in the eaves,
The brilliant moon and all the milky sky,
And all that famous harmony of leaves,
Has blotted out man's image and his cry.

1891 'The Sorrow of Love', stanza 1. Collected in The Rose (1893).

33 When you are old and grey and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read, and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep;

How many loved your moments of glad grace,
And loved your beauty with love false or true,
But one man loved the pilgrim soul in you,
And loved the sorrows of your changing face;

And bending down beside the glowing bars,
Murmur, a little sadly how Love fled
And paced among the mountains overhead
And hid his face amid a crowd of stars.

1891 'When You Are Old', complete poem. Collected in The Rose (1893).

34 Rose of all Roses, Rose of all the World!
The tall thought-woven sails, that flap unfurled
Above the tide of hours, trouble the air,
And God's bell buoyed to be the water's care.

1891 'The Rose of Battle', 1.1–4. Collected in The Rose (1893).

35 Out-worn heart, in a time out-worn,
Come clear of the nets of wrong and right;
Laugh, heart, again in the grey twilight,
Sigh, heart, again in the dew of the morn.

1893 'Into the Twilight', stanza 1. Collected in The Wind Among the Reeds (1899).

36 And walk among long dappled grass,
And pluck till time and times are done
The silver apples of the moon,
The golden apples of the sun.

37 Half close your eyelids, loosen your hair,
And dream about the great and their pride;

- They have spoken against you everywhere,
But weigh this song with the great and their pride;
I made it out of a mouthful of air,
Their children's children shall say they have lied.

- 38 Had I the heavens' embroidered cloths,
Enwrought with golden and silver light,
The blue and the dim and the dark cloths
Of night and light and the half-light,
I would spread the cloths under your feet:
But I, being poor, have only my dreams;
I have spread my dreams under your feet;
Tread softly because you tread on my dreams.
1899 'He Wishes for the Cloths of Heaven', complete poem. Collected in The Wind Among the Reeds (1899).

cradle of a new masterpiece.
1907 Addressing the rioting audience at Dublin's Abbey Theatre at the première of J M Synge's The Playboy of the Western World.
- 40 What could have made her peaceful with a mind
That nobleness made simple as a fire,
With beauty like a tightened bow, a kind
That is not natural in an age like this,
Being high and solitary and most stern?
Why, what could she have done, being what she is?
Was there another Troy for her to burn?
1908 'No Second Troy', 1.6–12. Collected in The Green Helmet and Other Poems (1910).
- 41 You say, as I have often given tongue
In praise of what another's said or sung,
'Twere politic to do the like by these;
But was there ever dog that praised his fleas?

- 42 I have made my song a coat Covered with embroideries
Out of old mythologies
From heel to throat;
But the fools caught it,
Wore it in the world's eyes
As though they'd wrought it.
Song, let them take it,
For there's more enterprise
In walking naked.

The rider, the birds that range
From cloud to tumbling cloud,
Minute by minute they change;
A shadow of cloud on the stream
Changes minute by minute;
A horse-hoof slides on the brim,
And a horse plashes within it;
The long-legged moor-hens dive,
And hens to moor-cocks call;
Minute by minute they live:
The stone's in the midst of all.

- 50 Turning and turning in the widening gyre
The falcon cannot hear the falconer;
Things fall apart; the centre cannot hold;
Mere anarchy is loosed upon the world,
The blood-dimmed tide is loosed, and everywhere
The ceremony of innocence is drowned;
The best lack all conviction, while the worst
Are full of passionate intensity.

And all must pay him heed
For histories are there to prove That none of another breed
Has had a like inheritance,
Or sucked such milk as he,
And there's no luck about a house
If it lacks honesty.
The ghost of Roger Casement
Is beating on the door.
1936 'The Ghost of Roger Casement', stanza 3. Collected in New Poems (1938).
- 62 Now that my ladder's gone,
I must lie down where all the ladders start,
In the foul rag-and-bone shop of the heart.
1937–8 'The Circus Animals' Desertion', part 3, 1.6–8. Collected in Last Poems (1939).
- 63 Our master Caesar is in the tent
Where the maps are spread,
His eyes fixed upon nothing,
A hand under his head.

- Like a long-legged fly upon the stream
His mind moves upon silence.
1938 'Long-Legged Fly', 1.5–10. Collected in Last Poems (1939).
- 64 When Pearse summoned Cuchulain to his side,
What stalked through the Post Office? What intellect,
What calculation, number, measurement, replied?
We Irish, born into that ancient sect
But thrown upon this filthy modern tide
And by its formless spawning fury wrecked,
Climb to our proper dark, that we may trace
The lineaments of a plummet-measured face.
1938 'The Statues', stanza 4. Collected in Last Poems (1939).
- 65 Swear by what the sages spoke Round the Mareotic Lake
That the Witch of Atlas knew,
Spoke and set the cocks a-crow.
1938 'Under Ben Bulben', stanza 1. Collected in Last Poems (1939).
- 66 Under bare Ben Bulben's head
In Drumcliffe churchyard Yeats is laid,
An ancestor was rector there Long years ago; a church stands near,
By the road an ancient Cross.
No marble, no conventional phrase,
On limestone quarried near the spot
By his command these words are cut:
Cast a cold eye
On life, on death.
Horseman, pass by!
1938 'Under Ben Bulben', stanza 6. Collected in Last Poems (1939). The last three lines were used as his epitaph.
- 67 Propinquity had brought Imagination to that pitch where it casts out
All that is not itself. I had grown wild And wandered murmuring everywhere, 'My child, my child.'
1939 'A Bronze Head', 1.18–21. Collected in Last Poems (1939).
- 68 OLD MAN: Do not let him touch you! It is not true
That drunken men cannot beget,
And if he touch he must beget
And you must bear his murderer.
Deaf! Both deaf!
1939 Purgatory.

Yellen, Jack 1892–1991

US lyricist.

- 69 Happy Days are Here Again.
1930 Title of song. It became linked with US Democrat campaigns.

Yeltsin, Boris 1931–

President of Russia. He graduated as a construction engineer in 1955 and entered work for the Communist Party. Called to Moscow in 1985 by Gorbachev, he was sacked in 1987 and against Gorbachev's wishes became Chairman of the Russian Parliament. He was elected President in 1991. His programme for a rapid transition to a market economy, support for other republics to be treated equally, and for multiparty democracy, helped him survive the following politically tumultuous years, but his policies have caused much domestic criticism. He resigned in 1999 and was replaced by Vladimir Putin.

- 70 The West has not lived through totalitarianism, with a single ideology for 70 years. We are escaping from the burden of the past, and only after we have done that will we be ready to integrate with Europe—and Europe needs Russia.

1991 Addressing socialist MPs in Strasbourg, 15 Apr.

- 71 I ask you to forgive me for not fulfilling some hopes of those people who believed that we would be able to jump from the totalitarian past into a bright, rich and civilized future in one go.

2000 On his retirement. In the Observer, 2 Jan.

Yevtushenko, Yevgeny Aleksandrovich 1933–

Russian poet. He emerged as a poet representing the young post-Stalin generation with such works as The Third Snow (1955), Chausée Eutuziastov (1956) and The Promise (1957). Later works have included Babi Yar (1962), concerning anti-Semitism in Russia, Love Poems (1977), Ivan the Terrible and Ivan the Fool (1979) and the novel Berries (1981).

- 72 I love sport because I love life, and sport is one of the basic joys of life.

1966 In Sports Illustrated, 19 Dec.

Yokoi, Shoichi 1915–97

Japanese corporal who emerged from the jungles of Guam in 1972 after hiding for 28 years. He was obeying his commanding officer's 1944 order to evade capture by the enemy.

She is best known for her historical novel Mémoires d'Hadrien (Memoirs of Hadrian, 1951), and for being the first woman elected to the Académie Française.

- 80 Un homme qui lit, ou qui pense, ou qui calcule, appartient à l'espèce et non au sexe; dans ses meilleurs moments, il échappe même à l'humain.

A person who reads or thinks or calculates, belongs to a kind and not to a gender; in his or her best moments, he or she escapes being human.

1951 Mémoires d'Hadrien.

- 81 Les trois quarts de nos exercices intellectuels ne sont plus que broderies sur le vide.

Three quarters of our intellectual performances are no more than decorations over a void.

1951 Mémoires d'Hadrien.

- 82 Tout bonheur est un chef-d'œuvre: la moindre erreur le fausse, la moindre hésitation l'altère, la moindre lourdeur le dépare, la moindre sottise l'abêtit.

Happiness is always a work of art: the least fault distorts it, the least hesitation changes it, a little dullness spoils it, the smallest foolish act makes it idiotic.

1951 Mémoires d'Hadrien.

- 83 Entre le rôle de sauveur et celui de complice du bourreau, j'aperçois tout au plus l'incommode emploi de victime.

Between the role of saviour and that of butcher's accomplice, all I see left for you is the unsavoury role of victim.

1963 Qui n'a pas son Minotaure?, pt.3.

- 84 Que le Dieu qui nous tue nous vienne en aide!

God who kills us, come to our rescue!

1963 Qui n'a pas son Minotaure?, pt.3.

- 85 ARIANE: Tu n'es que la réponse la plus courte qu'on puisse faire aux questions des hommes.

DIEU: En sais-tu de meilleure?

ARIANE: Oui. Le mot rien est aussi court que le mot Dieu.
 ARIADNE: You are only the shortest possible answer to all the questions of men.

GOD (BACCHUS): Do you know a better one?

ARIADNE: Yes, the word no is just as short as the word God.

1963 Qui n'a pas son Minotaure?, pt.9.

86 Out of the debris of a statue thoroughly shattered a new art work is born: a naked foot unforgettably resting on a stone; a candid hand; a bent knee which contains all the speed of the foot race; a torso which has no face to prevent us from loving it.

Quoted in the New York Times, 10 May 1992.

Yüan Mei 1716–98

Chinese poet who was a magistrate for six years before retiring to live off his writings. Unorthodox and hedonistic, he also championed women poets.

87 If I can rejoice for a moment,
 Death at an early age would still be a long life.

c.746 Collected in A Book of Chinese Verse (translated by N L Smith and R H Kotewall).

Z

Zangwill, Israel 1864–1926

English writer and leading Zionist, known for his novels on Jewish themes including Children of the Ghetto (1892) and Ghetto Tragedies (1894). Other works include the early collections of witty tales The Bachelors' Club (1891) and The Old Maids' Club (1892), and the plays The Melting Pot (1908) and We Moderns (1925).

88 America is God's Crucible, the great Melting Pot where all the races of Europe are melting and re-forming...

God is making the American.

1908 The Melting Pot.

Zatopek, Emil 1922–2000

Czech athlete and middle-distance runner. He won the gold medal for the 10,000 metres at the 1948 Olympics in London and subsequently broke 13 world records as well as gold medals in the 10,000 metres and 5,000 metres events at the Helsinki Olympics in 1952.

89 An athlete cannot run with money in his pockets. He must run with hope in his heart and dreams in his head.

Quoted by Christopher Brasher in the Observer, 12 Sep 1982.

90 You can't climb up to the second floor without a ladder. When you set your aim too high and don't fulfil it, then your enthusiasm turns to bitterness. Try for a goal that's reasonable, and then gradually raise it. That's the only way to get to the top.

Quoted in Colin Jarman The Guinness Dictionary of Sports Quotations (1990).

Zeldin, Theodore

Historian and writer

91 Brilliant lecturers shouldn't be wasted in lecture rooms: they should appear on TV. We need black market universities, in which people just help each other, and which don't leave out the poor.

1995 Quoted in Christina Hardymont 'Zeldin and the art of human relationships', in Oxford Today, vol.7, no.2, Hilary Issue.

Zel'dovich, Yakov 1914–87

Russian astrophysicist.

92 Without publicity there is no prosperity.

Quoted by Tony Rothman in Bostonia, summer 1993, p.58.

Zhang, Jie 1937–

Chinese writer whose first short story appeared in 1978 and whose writing often sets romantic themes in the contemporary Chinese world of rapid modernization.

93 When we reach communism, will there still be cases of marriage without love?

1979 'Love Must Not Be Forgotten', in Seven Contemporary Women Writers (1982).

94 To live single is not such a fearful disaster. I believe it may be a sign of a step forward in culture, education and the quality of life.

1979 'Love Must Not Be Forgotten', in Seven Contemporary Women Writers (1982).

Zhao, Zhenkai pen name Beo Dao 1949–

Chinese writer who has written poetry and fiction and was associated with China's Democracy Movement. He is currently living in Norway. The use of pen names dates back to the Cultural Revolution when secrecy was often essential.

95 They say the ice age ended years ago.

Why are there icicles everywhere?

c.1989 'Answer', collected in Donald Finkel A Splintered Mirror (1991).

96 Freedom is only the distance between the hunter and his prey.

c.1989 'Answer', collected in Donald Finkel A Splintered Mirror (1991).

Zhivkov, Todor 1911–98

Bulgarian statesman, part of the Communist coup d'état of 1944. Prime Minister from 1962 and Chairman of the Council of State from 1971, he was effectively President of the Republic. Conservative and unquestioningly loyal to the USSR, he was ousted in 1989 and expelled from the Party, charged with nepotism, corruption and abuse of power.

97 If I had to do it over again, I would not even be a communist.

And if Lenin were alive today, he would say the same thing.

1990 In the Sunday Times, 9 Dec.

Zhou Enlai or Chou En-Lai 1898–1975

Chinese Communist Party leader, Prime Minister of the People's Republic from its creation in 1949 until his death. Under Mao Zedong he became the Party's chief negotiator and diplomat, and vastly increased China's international influence. In the Cultural Revolution (1966–76), he worked to preserve national unity.

98 For us, it is all right if the talks succeed; and it is all right if they fail.

1971 On President Nixon's visit, 5 Oct.

Zia Ul-Haq, Mohammed 1924–88

Pakistani soldier and politician. He led the military coup against Zulfikar Ali Bhutto (1977), becoming President a year later. He introduced a new policy of Islamization and freer-market economic programme, finally lifting martial law in 1985. He was killed in an air crash.

99 Cricket can be a bridge and a glue... Cricket for peace is my mission.

Quoted in Helen Exley Cricket Quotations (1992).

Zidane, Zinedine 1972–

French footballer, Fifa World Player of the Year in 1998, 2000 and 2003.

1 Every day I think about where I come from and I am still proud to be who I am: first, a Kabyle from La Castellane, then an Algerian from Marseille, and then a Frenchman.

2004 Explaining his identity—his father was a Berber from the Kabylie region of Algeria and Zidane grew up in the Marseille suburb of La Castellane. In the Observer, 4 Apr.

Zoeller, Fuzzy 1951–

US golfer, his wins include the US Masters (1979) and the US Open (1984).

2 Even on the mornings when I creak out of bed, I still get pumped up about hitting that silly little white ball.

2001 In Golf World, 13 Apr.

Zola, Émile 1840–1902

French novelist, a pioneer of naturalism. His novels include Thérèse Raquin (1867) and the great series called Les Rougon-Macquart, which depicts all aspects of society under the Second Empire. After impeaching the military authorities over the Dreyfus case, Zola was sentenced to imprisonment (1898), but escaped for a year to England, and was welcomed back as a hero. He died in Paris, accidentally suffocated by charcoal fumes.

3 J'accuse.

I accuse.

1898 Title of open letter to the President of France regarding the Dreyfus case.

4 A dead reign... a strange epoch of folly and shame.

On the France of the Second Empire. Quoted in Joanna Richardson La Vie Parisienne (1971), p.276.

Zolotow, Maurice

5 There is no more offensive act of theatrical rudeness than coming late to a performance.

1958 In Theater Arts, Feb.

Zuckerman, Solly Zuckerman, Baron 1904–84

South African-born English scientist, zoologist and educator, the author of several studies of primate behavior.

6 Science creates the future without knowing what the future will be. If scientists knew tomorrow's discovery they would make it.

1964 In the Daily Mirror.

Zwerin, Mike 1930–

US writer and musician. He plays trombone, and has written extensively on jazz.

7 Jazz musicians have some outlaw in them somewhere if they are serious about this music... There is no valid motivation for it other than love—outlaw motivation in a profit-motivated society.

1985 La Tristesse de Saint Louis: Swing Under the Nazis, ch.4.

- If Joan of Arc had been b.
in dying that we are b.
I've been b., and once
I was b. on a day
less than to be b.
misery of us, that are b. great none of woman b.
not a single molecule...when b.
not b. a parasite
not b. under a rhyming planet
Not to be b. is the best
One is not b. a woman powerless to be b.
remember where I was b.
Sociology was b.
Some men are b. kings
That ever I was b.
time to be b.
to be b., to live and to die
to the manner b.
We are all b. crazy
We are b. believing
When I was b.
When we are b.
where I was b.
why wasn't I b. old
- borne hath b. me on his back borogove All mimsy were the b. boroughs bright b.
borrow know well enough to b. from poets...beg, b., or steal borrowed B. garments never fit
b. time, b. money
borrower b. of the night Neither a b. nor a lender be borrowing banqueting upon b.
b. foolishly spent borrowings b. cheap and the notes bosom Amputate my freckled B.! borne, see, on my b.!
b. is actually a millstone
b. of the great English
b. of the lake
b. of the sea
b. of the stream
b. the bright waters meet breaks in our b.
Can a man take fire in his b.
charge within the b.
Cleanse the fraught b.?
Close b.-friend
dear to this b.
from the b. of the morn great within my b.
guardage to the sooty b.
Here in my b.
in your fragrant b. dies
Let me to thy b. fly no b. and no behind not a b. to repose upon sea that bares her b.
shall men give into your b.
B. State-...slumber in its b.
will leave Thy b.
- bosoms b. of your actresses
hang and brush their b.?
Quiet to quick b. is a hell boss absentee b. is best b....a comforting thought talk to a b.
will always be his b.
- Boston B. has become Urban Renewal
B....hast naught to boast
B....home of the bean and the cod
B. is a state of mind
B. man is the east wind
B. State-House is the hub bottle of B. sea
- Boswell B. was one of the smallest botanize peep and b.
botched Presidents...have b. up bother 'b. it' I may Occasionally say don't b. much about dress bothered buzzard...is never b.
bothersome Life is short and b.
Botticelli B. isn't a wine

 c....out of step with the century
 c. shoulderingly upwards
 c. that is set on an hill
 c. there is a group
 c. was on one side
 c. where most people live
 c. will follow you decline and fall of the C.
 depart out of that house or c.
 died...in sight of the c.
 escaped From the vast c.
 Every c. has a sex and age except the Lord keep the c.
 fall in love with a c.
 felled a c.
 first c. Cain forbid...in the c. in future great noise in the c.

 hard-boiled c.
 heart of the c.
 Hell is a c.
 history of C. architecture
 How doth the c. sit solitary if you would know...live in a c.
 in the c. of our God Like c. lights, receding
 looking over harbor and c.
 make glad the c. of God man whom the c. sets up men that make a c.
 modern c., it takes on
 New York was no mere c.
 O c. of God
 Of two f's...is this c.
 Once in royal David's c.
 on the field and c.
 Paris is a beast of a c.
 play-going in any large c.
 precipitous c.
 prepared for them a c.
 private individual or for a c.
 realm, nation, or c.
 roofs of this distracted C.
 run about through the c.
 sacred c. of the mind
 streets of the c.
 Sun-girt c., thou hast been that sweet C.
 The C. is of Night
 The C. is of Night
 The C.'s voice thin trees in a c. square
 This rortie wretched c.
 took the c.
 Towery c.
 Unless the Lord guards the c.
 Unreal C. vastly overrated c.
 very fine c.
 Without a c. wall
 Zion, c. of our God!
civet Give me an ounce of c.
civil as for its c. use assault on our c. liberties British C. Service
 c. and obliging young woman c., political, and religious
 c. servant doesn't make jokes
 c. servant lyricism
 C. Service is profoundly deferential
 c. To everyone
 C. war is impossible
 c. war obstructs the crusade corresponding c. society dire effects from c. discord flow

- cloud a fair luminous c.
 avails a storm c.
 black c. carries the sun away
 c. instead, and ever-during
 c. in trousers!
 From c. to tumbling c.
 great c. came over me
 he melted like a c.
 If a c. knew loneliness
 kerchiefed in a comely c.
 Like a fiend hid in a c.
 little c. out of the sea moon on this c. sea
 motions of wind and c.
 no silver lining...without its c.
 On a c. I saw a child peaks of c.
 pillar of a c.
 set my bow in the c.
 She faded, like a c.
 so great a c. of witnesses
 some gilded c.
 Stopping through a fleecy c.

 c. of birds and trees
 c. of defeat
 c. of the blind
 c. of the mind
 C. party
 c. saves the difference
 c. so far lost to...self-importance
 c. so precipitously convoluted c.'s pride
 c. takes her place
 c. that is economically backward
 c. then, tomorrow c. now
 c.'tis of centuries
 c., 'tis of thee
 c. to heel like a dog
 c. where death is
 c. where the State is the Church
 C. will be called upon
 c. with a large foreign Cry, the Beloved C.
 customs that his c. has evolved Cuts off the c. of Again
 dear native c.
 defence of one's c.
 die but once to serve our c.!
 died to save their c.
 die fighting for his c.
 die for my c.?
 die for your c.
 die for your c.
 die...in my c.
 different times in the same c.
 division in a c. so small done stranger things in that c.
 dresses, in every age and c.
 duty to his c.
 dying c.'s cries
 education...of this c.
 egg production in this c.
 England...My c.!
 England's not a bad c.
 England, this c. of ours English c. gentleman enough room in your own c.
 events outside their own c.
 every c. but his own
 every c. except Germany every c. in the world
 every c. ought to have a President famous in this c. in seven days fight for your c.
 films of one's own c.

- d. to pay it off delays are d.
dirty, d. way
Facility is a d. thing generalizations are d.
have I something in me d.
how d. everything is Mad, bad, and d. to know mad, then d.
makes it so d.
more d. is the abuse
more d. than a mud-puddle
most d. duo
Nothing is more d.
Nothing is so d.
potentially d.
Science becomes d.
Sentiment was the more d.
sincerity is a d. thing
some inquiries are too d.
such men are d.
- dangers appalling d. of family life
d. thou canst make us scorn!

children talking...in the d.
Climb to our proper d.
colours will agree in the d.
come out after d.
d. and stormy night
D. as the Grave
D. as the world of man
d. backward and abyss of time?
d. in light expos'd
D. is Light Enough
d....Of night
d. place where it leads
d. time of the year
d. was talking to the dead
d. with something more than night
Death...drop from the d.
don't be afraid of the d.
drawing you fall over in the d.
For d. hour or twain
naked in the d. and cold never to refuse a drink after d.
night...like a great d. wing O d. d. one tunnel, d. and solitary on that d. earth
Out in the d.
real d. night of the soul round from the d. and the light sinks his ship in the d.
the d. well
very d., and no brightness
Walk between d. and d.

Let the d. perish
light of common d.
live each d. as though one's last live murmur of a summer's d.
long glare of d.
looking the whole d. long make Perpetual d.
merry as the d. is long merry heart goes all the d.
midnight, and it is the d.'s misery From this d.
morning after is the first d.
morning shows the d.
my d. was coming myrie someris d.

never finds the d.
news of the d.
night of this worrisome d.
night shineth as the d.
no d. for me to look upon no proper time of d.
Nor brought too long a d.
not a second on the d.
not going to have a good d.
not to me returns D.
Now is come a darker d.
now is the d. of salvation
Now's the d.
obscure d. by d. one d. as a lion
one d....does not make a man
One d. telleth another one d., the light
One d. will flash
on the d. it is finished
On the Last D.
ordinary d. in the modern world or in the shortest d.
our long love's d.
passing of a d.
pause in the d.'s occupation pause in the d.'s occupations perfect d. nor night Pleasures shorter than the d.
present d. magazine
problems of our own d.
rain it raineth every d.
rain it raineth every d.

go on living even after d.
 hand in hand to d.
 hard at d.'s door
 I am become d.
 if ought but d. part thee and me
 If people knew there'd be less d.
 If they were drowning to d.
 In every parting...an image of d.
 in love with easeful D.
 in most cases, a d. warrant in that sleep of d.
 in the arts of d.
 in their d. they were not divided
 In the ranks of d.
 Into the jaws of D.
 invincible in his d.
 is not d. at watch
 isn't sex but d.
 Judge none blessed before his d.
 keep a league till d.
 keys of hell and of d.
 kisses after d.
 land of the shadow of d.
 last enemy...is d.
 law of d.
 law of sin and d.
 Lead him to d.
 leads through d.
 led all that way for Birth or D.?
 legions with the ways of D.
 let D. wreck all his rage libraries of d.
 life, d., and that vast for-ever Life, the shadow of d.
 life to d.
 life was d.
 lively form of d.
 lost friends, some by d.
 Love is strong as d.
 lovely and soothing d.
 love...put it to a violent d.
 love thee better after d.

 midst of life we are in d.
 misery, suffering and d.
 moment after d.
 more beautiful than d.
 more d. in it than Rubens mortal taste Brought d.
 most uninspired form of d.
 mourned...not at his d.
 much of life and d.
 much possessed by d.
 My name is D.

 name that sat on him was D.
 nearness of d.
 necessity of d.
 neither d., nor life
 new terrors of D.
 Night; perchance of D.
 no drinking after d.
 no lonelier man in d.
 no more d.
 Nor shall d. brag not d....which is terrible nothing but d.
 nothing...our own but d.
 not so much afraid of d.
 obedient unto d.
 obey in life and in d.
 Oh, world, Oh, d.? one in love with d.
 one medicine is D.
 On his d. bed poor Lubin only d. can stop it only ending is d.
 only nervousness or d.
 Our own d. wish owe God a d.
 pale d. your vital twist shall sever

- something he will d. for teach the rustic moralist to d.
that I Must d.
they only let Him d.
those that do d.
thou shalt surely d.
Thus will I d.
time to d.
to choose life and d.
toddle safely home and d.
to d. for one's country to d. in dust to d. is different to d. is gain
To d. is nothing
To d., to sleep
to d. upon a kiss
To d. will be an awfully big adventure To-morrow let us do or d. I to-morrow we shall d.
To triumph, and to d.
we d. in earnest
weep or she will d.
we shall d.... 'tis but the time
we who are about to d.
What 'tis to d.
when I came to d.
When I d.
When I d. people will say
Where thou diest, will I d.
Whether we live...or d.
why will ye d.
with us, or we d.
wit may wander ere he d.
word...for which you d.
would surely d.
Ye shall not surely d.
You and I ought not to d.
You know when I need to d.?
- died all summer settled there and d.
d. amidst your dying country's cries
d. as he had lived
d. As one that had been studied d....before his birth
D, has he?
d. to save us all friends who d.
Just before she d.

- Everlasting peace is a d.
freshness of a d.
glory and the d.
golden d. of love and friendship have had a d. past held me like a d.
If you can d.
I have a d.
I have a d.
In a d.
in a d. of passion
Liberals can d.
life be but a d.
Life is...a bad d.
Life is but a D.
Lives in a d.
man that is born falls into a d.
men d., but not equally most blissful d. as a child must we d. our d.s
new pictures as in a d.
old men's d.!
- old men shall d. d.s
one that hath a weary d.
Out of a misty d.
perchance to d.
phantasma or a hideous d.
pictures come to me as if in a d.
quiet sleep and a sweet d.
shining and perishable d.
silence of a d.
sister to the d.
Soft, I did but d.
something...to d. about
So runs my d.
Success is the American D.
To d. is happiness
too old to d.
vanished like a d.
waking from a troubled d.
We live, as we d.
What happens to a d. deferred?
wrecks of a dissolving d.
- dreamed at night he d. of it
- dreamer Beautiful d.
Behold, this d. cometh
d. of dreams
poet and the d.
- dreamers d. of the day
Soldiers are d.
We have been the d.
- dreamest What d. thou, drunkard
- dreaming boys are d. wicked
D. like a love-adept
d. of a White Christmas
d. of spires
while d. before it
- dreamlike a fact...so d.
- dreams according to his d.
advertising...dealt in...fugitive d.
armoured cars of d.
awoke...from uneasy d.
books are either d.
City of perspiring d.
Come to me in my d.
different hopes, different d.
doubtful d. of d.
dreamer of d.
D. and drives d.
d., and our hopes
d. are all egocentric
d...are infanticide
d. be tossed and blown
d. do show thee me
D. have only the pigmentation
d. in pale battalions
d. of a poet
d. of our childhood
d. of perfection
d. of the participation
d. that have stayed with me Fanatics have their d.
Full of sweet d.
had dreamed d.
have no d.
have only my d.
he hunts in d.

- hasten to be d.
I d. him to his bed
Man...must get d.
My mother, d. or sober
not genteel when he gets d.
not so think as you d.
Of course I'm d.
Often d., and seldom sober seen Wordsworth d.
That which hath made them d.
this meeting is d.
very d. and very slovenly way that a d. uses lamp-posts drunkard d., my navigator earth shall reel...like a d. rolling English d.
take this d. for a god
What drestest thou, d.
drunkards as d. sing and vomit have to become d. first miserly d.
drunken d. officer of British rule not true that d. men cannot beget stagger like a d. man drunkenness anything so bad as d.
d. expands
D. is a joy reserved
D. is his best virtue man that is given to d.
time for d.
drunks d. and Americans
for two d.
Drury I did in D. Lane see dry d. brain in a d. season hearts very d. and tough held out to d.
in a d. and thirsty land into a d. Martini let us assemble, d., gray, spare
Like giving d. birth
Sieras Will be d.
within the womb is d.
Yankees, feeling very d.
Dryad light-winged D. of the trees
Dryden D. fails to render him
D., Pope, and all their school Ev'n copious D.
dry-goods churches and d.-g. stores
dry as antiquated as a d.
Everyone...holds d. citizenship dualism which now weighs Dublin features of the D. style served in all the pubs in D.
ducat Dead for a d., dead Duchess D. of Malfi still in the arms...of a D.
duck forgot to d.
forgot to d.
O dainty d.
ducks Four d. on a pond ducks pancreatic d. of dog
due give the devil his d.
to every one his d.
duelling My soul's a trampled d. ground dues Render...to all their d.
duet d. between a tuba and a piccolo
d. of two nightingales
dugs old man with wrinkled d.
Duke will make the D. say duke d. of Plaza-Toro!
D. takes a town
everybody praised the D.
to the D.'s house with the D. in Flanders dukes drawing room full of d.
dulce D. et decorum est
D. et decorum est
pro patria, non d.
dulcimer damsel with a d.
dull But you are d.
d. and mean
d., insipid thing is a billet-doux first requirement...be d.
found it so intolerably d.
I am always deadly d.
In this d. world
Like a d. actor

- e. your living
- earnest impotence of being e. in good e. wish valuable or even e.
 we die in e.
- ears and hedges e.
 blast of war...in our e.
 bless our human e.
 Creep in our e.
 distance between your e.
 dying has stopped the e.
 e. fall off like figs
 e. he likes to bathe in sound
 E. like bombs
 e. like errant wings
 e. of every one...shall tingle
 e. of jet
 e. of the deaf shall be unstopped
 e. that...hear one's secrets
 e. that hear the soft rain
 e. to hear, let him hear
 e. to hear, let him hear
 e. yielding like swinging doors eyes and hearts e.
 fume of space foams in our e.
 golden e. of corn
 Harrovian pricks up his e.
 He that hath e. to hear
 He that hath e. to hear
 if men had e.
 In the porches of mine e.
 lend me your e.
 let thine e. be attentive make the fur Fly 'bout the e.
 my e. drumming never mentions Hell to e. polite noise of waters in my e.
 Pour oil into thine e.
 reaching the proper e.
 Rome about your e.
 seven thine e.
 shout about my e.
 That man's e. make
 thumbs vary...like e.
 To dying e.
 two ambitious e.
 up to the e. in love
 Walls have e.
 Walls have e.
 With ravished e.
- earth air, e., or sea
 alien planet is E.
 all cultures of the e.
 All people that on e.
 all the corners of the e.
 all the e. o'erwhelm them
 All the gold upon the e.
 alone on e.
 although the e. remove any man that breathes on e. anything on e. can mend anywhere else on e.
 as if the e. had rolled
 As if this e....were breathing at any time upon the e.
 attempt to create heaven on e.
 back to e. as the doorkeeper back to the nourishing e.
 beauty fed my common e.
 believe that the e. is flat belonging as much to sky as to e.
 bleeding piece of e.
 blithe e. die
 Born for us on e. below bowels of the harmless e. break e.'s sleep
 bridal of the e. and sky brilliant light on e.
 call heaven and e. to witness
 Canst work i'th' e. so fast?
 Can the e. do to us
 care for no man on e.
 certain fathoms in the e.
 Child on e. for me
 clear, and the e. sure clods and trampled e.
 cloud Enveloping the E.

Hell as well as on e.
hell on e.
Hold off the e.
How on e. can you privatize inherit the e.
inherit the e.
in the deep-delled e.
in the lowest parts of the e.
Johannesburg is needed upon the e.
judged the e. flat
Judge of all the e.
kingly joys in e.
Kings are e.'s gods
lap of e.
last sound on the worthless e.
let the e. be opened lie with his mother e.?
Lightly gentle e.
little e., for charity longer than the e.
loose to play upon the e.
love...good tilled e.
loves but half of e.
low as where this e.
make the e. my hell Man marks the e. with ruin
meek shall inherit the e.
meek shall inherit the e.
meek shall inherit the e.
memory die from the e.
Men are like the e.
men call e.
men from the planet E.
men walk proudly through the e.
mingle our bloods...in the e.
more nearer e.
more things in heaven and e.
more things in heaven and e.
most beautiful things on e.
most decent nation on...e.
moved e. and hearth
much less grief on e.
must have a touch of e.
new heaven and a new e.
new heavens and a new e.
night close down on the e.
no culture of the e.
none upon e. that I desire no power on e.
no such thing on e.
no supporter but the huge firm e.
not in e. or time recoverable nought...on the e. doth live novelty on e., this fair defect Ocean and e.
old in the e.
ominously upon the e.
on e. a vicious weed
on e. do dwell on e. I wait forlorn on e. no track
on that dark e.
On the bare e. expos'd on the e. he strow'd oppressions of this e.
other nations of the e.
our moment upon the e.
our room on this e.
paleyce as on y on e.
passenger on the spaceship, E.
Peace on e. and mercy mild!
peace upon the e.
pearled Arcturi of the e.
place among the nations of the e.
portion of the e.
present life of men on e.
rapture the e. and the seas regarded this e. with envious eyes returning him safely to e.
revealed Not of e.
round e.'s imagined corners
salt of the e.
salt of the e.
Saviour Christ again to E. scatter them abroad...all the e.
scum of the e.
scum of the e....soldiers

e. passively
 e., then pity, then embrace
 E. what is difficult to e.
 life...difficult to e.
 man will not merely e.
enemies Against his e.
 all e. under his feet
 all the e. that I hated Blind among e.
 bring our e. to justice careful in the choice of his e.
 distinguished by your e.
 e. of freedom do not argue
 e. of truth than lies
 e. to Ireland forget to hate your e.
 giving his e. the slip Happiness...conquering one's e.
 If laws are their e.
 inherited 100 per cent of his e.
 in the presence of mine e.
 love your e.
 make thine e. thy footstool many e. that know not mausoleums for his e.
 mine e. that trouble me
 naked to mine e.
 no perpetual e.
 only e. accidentally rescues your estate from your e. scourge of his e.
 Shaw has no e.
 speak with the e. in the gate telling it gains you e.
 through his e.
enemy afraid of his e.
 as the e. to Canada
 death is no such terrible e.
 defense against the e.
 despised the armed E.
 e. and your friend
 e. came and sowed tares
 e. faints not e.—for friendship's sake
 E. half a mile away
 E. has been here
 e. hath done this
 e. into a friend
 e. more mighty than he seems
 e. of clear language
 e. of clear language
 e. of good art
 e. of liberty
 e. of life
 e. of the good
 e. of the human race
 e. reads the list of their names
 e. to despotism
 e. to human happiness friends, but above all an e.
 great e. of clear language
 great e. of clear language hands of the e.
 Have no e.
 I am the e. you killed
 If thine e. be hungry invasion of a common e.
 kill more...than the e. kisses of an e. are deceitful Know the e.
 last e....is death
 man is e. to every man Man is not the e. of Man
 Mine e.'s dog
 O mine e.? put an e. in their mouths Show me an e. of literature sincere friend or a sincere e.
 speed toward the e.
 still the e.
 strike the e.
 sweet e., France
 The eye is the e.
 Thinking is the great e. of perfection unrelenting e.
 with the wrong e.
 worst friend and e. is but Death fathers certain f. in the earth fifty f. deep fatigue F. makes women talk

 f. of adjectives
 lover...dies from...f.
 physical f. than the painter
 the f. of judging for themselves fatigued chanced to be f.
fatness covered with f.
 f. of these pury times
 let your soul delight itself in f.
fattening f. is the first duty illegal, immoral or f.
father m. man trying to close in fatuity f. of idiots fatuous one term is as f. as another fatuus Better an ignis f.
Faulkner read...Proust, F., Joyce fault clever to a f.
 Every man has his f.
 f. being greater
 f....is not in our stars
 Faultless to a f.
 f. of our politicians
 f. of the Dutch
 f. though great, yet he Find not f. with one another had only one f.
 He is all f.
 hide the f. I see hint a f.
 His worst f.
 least f. distorts it never needs to admit a f.
 no kind of f.
 only f. is that I am alive suffer through no f. of their own Whose f.? Whose but his faultless Faultily f.

director makes only one f. in his life earn a million dollars a f.
F. art has a greater influence
F. Industry...Monarchy
f. is never really good F. is the least realistic greatest f. in the world
I always direct the same f.
only a good f.
right place to f. it would get the f. made filmmaker central fact about the f.
film-makers few great f.-m....might have been good novelists
tell the younger f.-m.
filmmaking no rules in f.
film-making fatal to good f.-m.
films best f. are the best because
f. of one's own country hope to build a house with my f.
most f. are about one guy with a gun

 Two and two is f.
fix in a f. pretty soon fixed arrested motion...and hold it f.
 f. it tonight
 f. place in the chain of being fixity f. of a thoughtful child's fjord city...and the f.
flag beneath the British f.
 f...has not pledged its allegiance
 f. is red, white and blue f., the Stars and Stripes
 f. to April's breeze unfurled
 f. was still there
 keep the red f. flying planted the British f. there spare your country's f.
 wave a red f.
flagellation Squash...it's f.
flag-flapper Jelly-bellied F.-f.
flagon f. with the dragon
flagpoles others climb f.
flags F. wearily through darkness long white prayer f.
 mere discord of f.
flail I wield the f.
flakes f. burn in the sinking sun flame coal to kindle fleshly f.
 crack in the f.
 darkness shot with...purple f.
 feed his sacred f.
 f. fate dares not move
 f. of incandescent terror
 f. of life and love
 f. out like shining
 f. that lit the battle's wreck
 f. to qualify
 in a shapeless f.
 Jabberwock, with eyes of f.
 Life, a Fury slinging f.
 live f. will start
 Love is not a f.
 malicious bloody f.
 one burning f. together plays around the f.! sickly f.
 sinking f. of hilarity
 so full of subtil f.
 that little f. which never dies tongues of f. are in-folded whose f. creeps in with ethereal f.
flames by her like thin f.
 Commit it then to the f.
 f. but a lot of rubbish
 f. from their large nostrils!
 F. in the forehead from those f. No light on each hand the f.
 warmth of shepherds' f.
 world in f.
 world is in f. today
flaming To f. youth
Flanders armies swore terribly in F.
 In F. fields
 with the Duke in F.
flap f. unfurled
flapdragon swallowed than a f.
flapped f. and fought

- f. with us upon Saint Crispin's day lads who f.
met and f. with outright
That f. and died for
'Tis better to have f. and lost what they f. each other for foul dead, by f. subtraction doubt some f. play Fair is f., and f. is fair
f. and pestilent congregation
F. deeds will rise
giving hand, though f.
got by fair means or f.
however f. within
in the less, f. profanation Murder most f.
nipped, and ways be f.
still f. the cup fouled Hath f. me
foulest fair words...in f. letters?
foulness f. of their fate
no vicious blot, murder, or f.
remove filth and f.
found f. and lost again
f. Him in
f. myself
f. you an argument
Hast thou f. me
I f. it!
if the ways be f.
lost, but now am f.
To f. a great Empire foundation corner stone, a sure f.
destroyed the f. of the organization end of our f. is...knowledge
end of our f. is...knowledge
f. of all good things
f. of morals, Utility
f. of your ideas and phrases laid the f. of the earth
on the same f.
The Church's one f.
unassailable f.
foundations again from the very f.
firmest f.
f. of political liberty
laid the f. of the earth?
peaks, whose f.
visible f. in Nature
when earth's f. fled While earth's f. stand founder f. of civil society founders f. of a new colony fount f. of pride fountain back to the burning f.
broke into a f.
bubble on the f.
drinking at the f. of fact F., never to be play'd
f. of all goodness
f. of good sense
f. of living waters
f. of the water of life
f. of vice as idleness
f. sealed
f. send forth at the same place
f., shade, and rill
f., spouting through his heir
Let the healing f. start Let thy f. be blessed long-abused sight at the f.
mighty f. momentarily was forced pitcher be broken at the f.
rivulet and f.
Sang with a f.'s panache summer-dried f.
voice rise like a f.
water in a f.
Fountainblues terrible case of the F.
fountains Afric's sunny f.
f. are within
f. fraught with tears
f. mingle with the river
f. of timber
in great f.
inscriptions on public f.
two faithful f.

 f. of choice
 F. of men under government
 f. of my mind
 f. of religion
 f. of speech
 f. of the press
 f. of the press and popular
 f. of the press in Britain
 f. of those weakened
 F. shrieked
 f. to exploit
 f. to marry
 F., what liberties...in thy name!
 F. which in no other land gave him f. to choose give another joyous f.
 give you your name: F.
 greatest f.
 guarantee f.
 have a new birth of f.
 have so much more f.
 History may be f.
 honour, f. and cruceisie
 if f. fall?
 illusions that restrict f.
 invigorating air of f.
 kept in their full f.
 Let the f. ring live in f. and hell
 love of f.
 manners, virtue, f., power must not confuse with f.
 'Neath every one a f.
 None can love f. heartily nor even f. from pain out of servitude into f.
 particular f. and a general orderliness perfect f.
 Perfect f. is reserved for the man portal of f.
 power of the hope of f.
 prisoned birds must find in f.
 promises f. or enlightenment questions of f.
 right action is f.
 salvation of f.
 satisfy our thirst for f.
 science...restricting human f.
 so close to f.
 supreme Festival on the road to f.
 there is no liberty or f.
 the secret of its f.
 They live in f.
 To earn you f.
 unlimited idea of f.
 voice of f.
 what f. really is What's f. for?
 Where F. slowly broadens whose service is perfect f.
 wind of nationalism and f.
 With a great sum obtained I this f.
 zest for f.
- freedom-for-all democracy and f.-f.-a.
freedoms F. you'll not to me allow upon four essential f.
freeman symbol of a f.'s power freemasonry bitter f.
freemen happy f., are the only slaves
freer I feel strangely f.!
free will cannot deprive...man of his f. w.
freeze f. thy young blood freezing Between melting and f. freezings What f. have I felt frei Arbeit macht f.
freight Nation's F. Handler wilderness of f. and rails
French as much Chinese as F.

- f. called Piggy
 f. in first habits of intimacy
 f. in power is a f. lost
 f. loveth at all times
 f. of man
 f. of the negro assumes
 f. of the oppressed
 f. that sticketh closer than a brother f... the masterpiece of nature
 f. who can talk
 f. who loved perfection
 God is the f. of silence good f. is someone who visits you Good wine, a f.
 hard to be... a good f.
 He makes no f.
 I am the enemy... my f.
 I paint a portrait I lose a f.
 kingdom with thy dearest f.
 last best f.
 lewd well natured f.
 Little F. of all the World look like a f. on Denmark loss of a dear f.
 lost F!
 mine own familiar f.
 mistress or a f.
 morn to night, my f.
 most reliable f.
 My best f. is myself myself shall be my f.
 no f. like a sister
 No F... so persists nor a f. to know me not a f. to close his eyes
 nothing like the failure of a close f.
 O f. unseen, unborn, unknown
 O f. we have loved old f. for dinner
 One chained f.
 one damned good-natured f. or other One f. in a lifetime only way to have a f. is to be one O Sleep! the f. of Woe quarrels... with a tiresome f.
 save me, from the candid f.
 sincere f. or a sincere enemy
 'Strange f.,' I said such a f., that one had need supreme f. to every individual Take courage, my f.
 think of him as a f.
 those who call them f.
 To find a f.
 to f. and foe alike
 to have a f. takes time to the category, old f.
 true f. and a good writer
 Whenever a f. succeeds
 when ye lose a f.
 Wherein my F. is Laid
 Where is the country, my f?
 Who's your fat f.
 wife for his f.
 wish the author... was a terrific f.
 world is not thy f.
 worst f. and enemy is but Death
 Yet, O my f.
 Your f. the British soldier friendless Omnipotent but f.
friendliness friendship and got f.
friendly No matter how f.
friends 50 per cent of his f.
 All the f. that I loved an Entertainment for F.
 Be f., you English fools best f. hear no more of him?
 better than f.
 cold and certain f.
 cut their f. to any shape
 dear f., have to part?
 dear f., once more deathless f.

- Forth reaching to the f.
f. in old age
f. of memory
f. of our labour
f. Of that forbidden tree
f. of the Spirit
globed f.
green f. would swell
f. is darkness, the f.
like ripe f. thou drop long for the f. at last medlar being a f.
O Autumn, laden with f. ripest f. of all
tasting this fair f.
the f. of your delight
To f. or shade
took of the f.
Too late for f.
venturing their necks for f.
With f. the vines
- fruitcake it's f. weather!
fruitcakes Bring on the f.
fruitful she'll be f.
fruitfulness f. and... enjoyment mellow f.
- fruition f.'s dull, and spoils fruits by their f. ye shall know them drop like the f. of the tree.
f. and princely delicacies
f. of Christian civilisation
f. of knowledge
f. of speaking art?
gives to Zembla f.
Here are f., flowers immortal f. of joy and love
No f., no flowers
Owf., and flowers
Two-manner of f.
under their f. load
- frustrated never to be f.
fry F. me!
marked among the f.
fuck Fish f. in it
f. you up, your mum and dad zipless f. is absolutely pure fucked constantly getting f.
fudge two-fifths sheer f.
fudging f. and nudging fuel bury their radioactive f.
fugitive f. and cloistered virtue thou art... a f.
- fugitives f. are of that condition
fugue hum a f.
fugues f. and symphonies fulfil f. ourselves outside of [society] fulfilled f. a long time till all be f.
fulfilment altered in f.
Before f. is Contentment and f.
f. only a step full All then is f., possessing
f. as craving... f. as vain
F. many a glorious morning
f. of love and honesty
f. stop... at the right place
f. up years ago
lived his life to the f.
live it to the f.
Serenely f., the epicure would say so f. of unmannerly sadness was na f.
- fuller Money... the true f.'s earth fullers f. and their wailing fullness earth... and the f. thereof earth... and the f. thereof filled with all the f. of God fullstoppers f. and semicolonials fumble f. with the sheets fumbling f. the flowers fume captured f. of space fumes f. of tobacco and liquors funitor Crowned with rank f.
fun Ain't we got f.
Cancer can be rather f.
do things for f.

manly, British g.!
more than a g.
most exhilarating g.
nature of my g.
Never change a winning g.
no better than a g.
nobly did he play the 'noble g.'
no g. for the soft of sinew
no hunter's g.
parody is a g.
play with him at any g.
Poetry...a mug's g.
poetry a pedant's g.
present rules of the g.
ruin your g. in time
Science...is not a g.
Soccer is a man's g.
Socratic method is not a g.
some g. on these lone heaths Soviet g. is chess
take seriously a g.
The g.'s afoot
They talk a good g.
things you can do in a baseball g.
time to win this g.
Truth is...the g. of the few War's a bloody g.
war's a g.
What a polite g. tennis is When's the g. itself woman is his g.
gameboard steeplechase and g.
games best and loveliest of g.
bread and g.
dread of g.!
G. played with the ball
I play no outdoor g.
like an aptitude for g.
Most g. are skin-deep or any sinful g.
playing at children's g.
gamester sly g.
gammon sucking pig and thick g.
world of g. and spinnage
gamut Heppburn runs the g.
Gandhi odious to see Mr G.
gang Bush and his treacherous g.
g. should mismanage the country
Ganges by the Indian G.
gangrene smelly g. of professors gangsterism g. is a...assimilation gangsters always acted like g.
glorified g.
gaol snail...the world's thy g.
who lie in g.
gap Beyond the g. where bridge the g. between the two tyds is to bridge the g.
g. between brute power
g. in Christianity
g. in the hills great g. between made a g. in nature gaps g. even two can pass abreast garb words clothed in reason's g.
garbage g. heap
G. in, g. out garden alone in a g.
bleak rock...into a g.
Come into the g., Maud
England is a g.
England is a g.
everyone with a g.
gallows in my g.
g. eastwards in Eden
g. hard by Heaven
g. inclosed is my sister
g. in her face
g. of cactus and sour grapes
G. of Love
g. of the world
g.'s umbrage mild
ghost of a g.
Glory of the G.
Glory of the G.
God Almighty first planted a g.
God's Heart in a g.

- God the first g. made God walking in the g.
 happy g. placed have a g. of my own
 I have the whole g.
 imperfection of my g.
 into the g. to cut
 jungles here are a well-kept g.
 like a...birdcage in a g.
 man and a woman in a g.
 Muses' g.
 Nothing grows in our g.
 Our England is a g.
 Our England is a g.
 out of the G. of Eden playing down at the bottom of my g.
 rosebud g. of girls Sensitive Plant in a g. grew we must cultivate our own g.
- gardener Adam was a g.
 Adam was a g.
 bad for God's g.
 supposing him to be the g.
gardeners g., ditchers
 which our wills are g.
gardening C....most underrated gardens bodies are our g.
 Down by the salley g.
 g. of the Desert
 g. of the West
 g., wine, and delicate
 g. without sorrows
 in all of the neighbouring g.
 In his blue g.
 men Leaving the g.
 ordered woods and g.
 sweetest delight of g.
 variety of g., meadows garden-state that happy g.-s.
gargling blood come g.
garland immortal g. is to be garlanded g. with carven imag'ries garlands crowning...with g.
 Therewith fantastic g. did she make weave the g. of repose
 you may gather g., there garlic G. to mend her kissing garment caught him by his g.
 City now doth like a g. wear every new and eagerly expected g.
 g. has looked very different
 g. out of fashion
 g. that made skiing
 Language is called the g. of thought new cloth unto an old g.
 Non-violence is not a g.
 waxeth old as a g.
- garments Borrowed g. never fit
 g. too good For thee
 g. were always in patchez
 Her g., heavy with their drink keepeth his g.
 Kiss thy perfumed g.
 part my g. among them
garners Hold like rich g.
garret precious jewels into a g.
Garrick as evidently an actor as G.
garter earl and a knight of the g.
 George and G. dangling garters girdles and g. to be bonds thine own heir-apparent g.!
- gas All is g. and gaiters
 G. smells awful
 where you put in the g.
gaseous God...a g. vertebrate gases killing airs and g.
gash g. in its throat
gaslamps light coming from g.
gasp made one G. and Stretch one's Eyes gassing burning and g. people gate A-sitting on a g.
 by shutting the park g.
 Captain of the G.
 Death...openeth the g.
 g. of bliss
 g. of paradise
 g. of the year

- Glamis G. hath murdered sleep glamour G...makes a man ask
 g. Of childish days
 g. of poetry
 insolvently spelt g.
 smiling g. girls
- glamour-studded g.-s. 1950s
glance O brightening g.
 snatch a g.
 wherever his g. falls whose g. was glum
- glances Expressive g.
 mystical grammar of amorous g.
 piercing g. into the life
- glands smaller adrenal g.
glare g. of the pressing present jaded with the rush and g.
 long g. of day
 protect you from the g.
- Glasgow cleanse the G. slums
 G., the sort of...city
 I belong to G.
 play the old G. Empire
- glass an excuse for a g.
 beholding his natural face in a g.
 division is...a sheet of g.
 dome of many-coloured g.
 drank rapidly a g. of water Drink not the third g.
 duller than dusty g.
 Enjoy another g.
 fill your g. with us Get thee g. eyes
 g. held up to the face
 G. is a thing in disguise
 g. is falling hour by hour
 g. mingled with fire
 g. of Guinness
 g. shall not persuade me
 g. so gay
 g. was between us
 g. will not do you...service
 g. will show thee grief with a g.
 hairshirts, pinks and g.
 He was indeed the g.
 if we had g. winders
 let him hate you through the g.
 made mouths in a g.
 magic house of g.
 New g. skyscrapers
 No g. of ours was ever raised
 Pride is his own g.
 Satire is a sort of g.
 sea of g.
 sea of g.
 see its hopes as in a g.
 Something of g. about her stand before the g.
 swift sandy g.
 talent, a g., and some cracked ice
 tap and sigh Upon the g.
 that there crystal g.
 Thou art thy mother's g.
 through a g., darkly till I set you up a g.
 turn down an empty g.
 Unless it was an empty g.
 Venus, take my votive g.
- glassblower gifted g. of language glasses Fill all the g. there girls who wear g.
 set wet g. on them
 Women...as looking-g.
- gleam add the g.
 spent lights quiver and g.
 visionary g.
- gleams sunbeams...convex g.
glee counterfeited g.
 girlish g.
 songs of pleasant g.
 this night w' mirth and g.
- glen Down the rushy g.
 g. with one thin stream
 your wee bit hill and g.
- glens purple g. replying glibness brilliant g. of the Berlitz-school

- G. exact day-labour
G. finally caught his eye
G. forbid
G. forbid
G. forbid that I should
G. for Harry!
G. from everlasting
G. fulfils himself
G. gave [Adam] reason
G. gave him the light
G. gave the increase
G. gives all men
G. gives him
G. gives us to see...right
G. grant me a failure
G. grant that we may
G. had never spoken anything but
G. had wanted us to bend over
G. ha' mercy
G. has a few of us
G. has given knowledge
G. has given us...license
G. has given you one face
G. has instituted in our time
G. has us...on loan
G. has written all the books
G. hath chosen the foolish things
G. hath given liberty
G. hath shut up all light
G. have mercy
G. having given us indoors
G. heard before creating the world
G. help me; amen
G. hez sed so plump
G. in His wisdom
G. in Man
G. in Three Persons
G. is a consuming fire
G. is a geometriician
G. is a little tribal G.
G. is All-knowing, All-aware
G. is a man
G. is...another artist
G. is a Spirit
G....is a verb
G. is beginning to resemble
G. is dead
G. is decreeing to begin
G. is gone up with a merry noise
G. is good to Israel
G. is his own interpreter
G. is love
G. is love
G. is love
G. is no respecter of persons
G. is not a man
G. is not ashamed to be called
G. is not mocked
G. is on everyone's side
G. is on the side
G. is our refuge
G. is our refuge and strength
G. is present in it
G. is registered to vote
G....is so great
G. is subtle
G....is sweetly informal
G. is the Light of the heavens
G. is the perfect poet
G. is the strength of my heart
G. is the tangential point
G. is thy law
G. is with us!
G. knows where
G. loves not the aggressors
G. loveth a cheerful giver
G. made and eaten all day
G. made him
G. made himself a man
G. made the country
G. made thee perfect
G. made the intergers
G. made them, high or lowly
G....make me able to pay
G. moves in a mysterious way
G. must think
G. never made...for man to mend

- G. not only plays dice.
 G. of Abraham
 G. of love!
 G. of Love...Betheth his wynges
 G. of our Fathers
 G. of things as they are!
 G. on his side
 G. only she for G. in him
 G. ordered motion
 G. owns heaven
 G. passes through the thicket
 G. personally responsible
 G. planted a garden
 G. recognizes I will do that
 G. rest his soul

 G. save Elizabeth
 G. save me from...adventures
 G. save me from being 'nice'
 G. save thee, ancient Mariner!
 G. save the king
 G. save the king
 'G. save the Queen'
 'G. save the Queen'
 G. saw that it was good
 G. sends meat

- heavens declare the glory of G.
 hidden love of G.
 holy Lamb of G.
 honest G. is the noblest work honour of G.
 hope thou in G.
 household of G.
 how can he love G.
 How could G.
 how dwelleth the love of G. in him?
 How odd Of G.
 I am a G.
 I am G., and King, and Law
 I came, I saw, G. conquered if a G. there be
 If G. be for us
 if G. choose
 If G. did not exist
 If G. had meant us to have group sex
 If G....has any validity
 If, knowing G.
 if this manifest G. enlightens men ignorance G. winked at image of man created by G.
 imitate G.
 immortal, invisible, G.
 impulse which G. has Inclines to think there is a G.
 indurate heart against G.
 infants are trying to spell G.
 in favour with G. and man
 In G. 'tis glory
 in my flesh shall I see G.
 in science there exists no G.
 intellectual love of G.
 interpret G.'s will
 in the minds of G.
 In the name of G., go!
 Invisible, except to G. alone
 Is G. by definition indifferent
 It is G. who splits the grain
 I would to G.
 jealous G.
 jealous G.
 Jesus never claims to be G.
 Just are the ways of G.
 just die, G. willing justify G.'s ways to man justify the ways of G. to men Just what G. would do kick in the pants to G.
 kills the image of G. kingdom of G. is within you know that I am G.
 know the mind of G.
 label men for G.
 laboratory of G.
 Lamb of G., I come!
 lay wrestling with...my G.
 leap up to my G.!
 lend a myth to G.
 let me be awake, my G.!
 light...the shadow of G.
 like a G. in pain living G. who made all things
 Lord G. made them all Lord G. of Hosts
 Lord G. of Sabaath
 Lord G., we ha' paid
 Lord is G. indeed
 Lord thy G. am a jealous G.
 Lord thy G. is a jealous G.
 love of Man, and in praise of G.
 love the Lord Thy G.
 madness...to believe oneself to be G.
 man G. hates man's bedevilment and G.'s man's distinctive mark...Not G.'s Man's word is G. in man may G. help us
 may G. set me there May G. wither up their hearts!
 men that G. made mad mercy o' my soul, Lord G.
 more just than G.?
 My G. and King
 My G. must have my best

thank G. that he has spared me that is really your G.
 their English G. is not so dominant There G. is dwelling too
 There is no G.
 There is no G.
 there is no G!
 thinks little of G.
 this man was the Son of G.
 Those who know G.
 Those who marry G.
 Those whom G. hath joined thou art G.
 Thou shalt have one G. only three-personed G.
 through darkness up to G.
 Thus G. and nature linked thy G. my G.
 To G. belong the Names Most Beautiful
 To G. I speak Spanish to G. Or to each other To The Unknown G.
 To whom... will ye liken G.? trust G.
 trust in G.
 trust in G.
 unknown to anyone but G.
 Unlike G. the artist unto G. the things that are G.'s up to Nature's G.
 Verb is G.
 Very G. of very G.
 vindicate the ways of G. to man vision of the holiness of G.
 voice of G.
 voice of G.
 wait at G.'s right hand
 walking... and praising G.
 was G. out there waste of G.
 weigh your G. and you
 We need to find G.
 Whatever is, is in G.
 What G. abandoned
 What G. hath cleansed what G. hath given us what G. would have done
 What hath G. wrought!
 what is a mind without G.?
 What therefore G. hath joined
 What was good for G.'s birds
 When G. at first made man
 When G. hands you a gift
 When G. hath made
 Where G.'s presence is no longer
 Where is now thy G.?
 White people... deal more with G.
 whose G. is their belly
 Who trusted G.
 Who trusted G.
 why G. created women?
 wild G. of the world will of G.
 wind thrashes G.
 with G. all things are possible with G.'s favour words which he of G.
 Word was with G.
 works of G. in heav'n
 worship of G.
 worship Sunday, not G.
 worship the Lord thy G.
 would G. this flesh
 Would to G. that we were dead ye believe in G.

either a g. or a wolf extemporal g. of rhyme
 g. going thro' his world
 g. is not so glorious
 g. of contemporary man's
 g. self-slain
 if g. be pleased immortal g. of harmony never a g.
 never make a g. out of form
 next to of course g.
 Now the melancholy g.
 presents the g. unshorn
 thank we all our G.
 the g. pursuing
 to be like a g.
 told me of my g.
 to the g. he worships
 treat it like a g.
 triangles had made a g.
 turning into a g.
 wild beast, or a g.
 Yblessed be g.
God-conditioned G.-c. forms godless blind g. in the lottery Chaste g.
 g. is better than no g.
 G. of the Battle
 G. sage and holy never saw a g. go godfather always a g.
God-gifted G.-g. organ-voice god-given g.-g. (though not way) (e) godhead Buddha, the G.
 g. in which all life is human godless decent g. people God-like G.-l. erect, with native godlike anything G. about God dictates of his g. mind endurance is g. one of their g. qualities
god-like g.-l. hours
godliness Cleanliness is next to G. continual g.
 exercise which withdraweth from G.
 In cheerful g.
godmother Cinderella's Fairy G. gods against all the g. of Egypt alien people clutching their g.
 Allotted by the G.
 angels would be g.
 As flies... are we to th' g.
 By the nine g. he swore Concerning the g.
 daughter of the g.
 dish fit for the g.
 do not know much about g.
 dreadful fiend of g.
 effigies of g. and goddesses even the g. themselves struggle eye of g.
 feel new g. in the flesh fit love for g.
 Give, you g.
 G. and men, we are all deluded
 g. are absent
 g. are come down to us
 g. are just g., employed to
 g. had made thee poetical
 g. recognized by the state
 G., that wanton in the air
 g. there morning
 g. will diet me with higher esteem among the g.
 In Mexico the g. ruled inspired by the g. inside
 joy reserved for the G.
 Kings are earth's g.
 knowledge from the g.
 Land of lost g.
 like G. together
 looks... dare the g.
 makes G. by the dozen man who would argue with the g.
 masculine invisibility makes g.
 men that strove with g.

nature of the g.?
 no other g. before me
 Now g., stand up for bastards!
 one day become g.
 only g. should speak
 Real are the dreams of G.
 reflected in its g.
 respect the same g. as themselves
 Sees G. with Daemons Shall g. be said to thump shall not go after other g.
 sinned against my g.
 superior to the G.
 tempest of the g.
 The g. themselves
 The g. thought otherwise
 there are innumerable g.
 These be thy g., O Israel that were that were G.
 utterance of the early G.
 What men or G. are these?
 what the g. had given him
 When G. were young
 When men make g.
 whom the g. love dies young Whom the g. wish to destroy will of the g.
 ye g., you make the weak
 ye shall be as g.
 your g. or your vegetables
Goebbels inferno depicted by Dr G.
going g. out and thy coming in led by g.
 long and loath at g.
goings established my g.
gold All the g. upon the earth apples of g. in pictures of silver Beauty... like the g. standard blood mixed with wasted g.
 bought and sold for English g.
 bow of burning g.!
 burned g. was his colour
 but litel g. in cofre chain of g.
 colour in Australia is g.
 copper into g.
 differs from g.
 enveloped with g.
 eyes of g. and bramble-dew
 Fetters of g.
 fly to India for g.
 fly to India for g.
 From the red g. keep thy finger
 gild refined g.
 Glory, the grape, love, g.
 g., and frankincense, and myrrh
 g. and silver
 g. and silver
 g. and silver becks me
 g. an' velvet
 G.. Cadillac G.
 g. doth more than either
 G. is the gift
 g. was changyd in to lede
 green tigering the g.
 Gross g. from them runs
 head was of fine g.
 He who hath the g.
 If g. ruste
 Like g. to airy thinness beat must be propped with g.
 narrowing lust of g.
 never have too much g.
 never owned his g.
 next, my g.!
 Nor all that glisters g.
 patens of bright g.
 property turns sand to g.
 provoketh thieves sooner than g.
 pure g. flows
 rain of g.
 rarer gifts than g.
 religion of g.
 sand and ruin and g.
 Silver and g. have I none
 Street of the city was pure g.
 There is g.

- think g. that is brass
 Thou gaudy g.
 tipped with g. for this travell'd in the realms of g.
 wear g. on your hair
 Wedges of g., great ouches
 What is better than g.?
 what's become of all the g.
 What use...the g. place
 When g. becomes her object!
 With g....cover ev'ry part
- golden cats with g. eyes circle of the g. year
 g. age in all the arts
 g. and silver
 g. bowl be broken
 g. cadence of poesy
 g. ear
 g. foil all over them
 G. lads and girls
 g. rules for an orchestra
 g. years return
 In the g. lightning Kissing with g. face poets only deliver a g.
 west to the G. Gate
- golden-calf g.-c. of self-love Goldengrove Over G. unleaving?
golden-haired young Apollo, g.-h.
Goldsmith G. tells us
 Here lies Nolly G.
 Swift is more Irish than G.
goldsmith not in g.'s ware Goldwyn You talk of art Mr G.
golf American people than G. has
 Be funny on a g. course?
 better he plays g.
 Fute-ball, G., or other sik get it on the g. course
 g. course is the epitome
 g. game went bad
 G. is a game
 G. is a good walk spoiled
 G. is in the interest
 G. is like life
 G. is not...a fair game
 G. is so popular
 G. is to Fiji what cricket is to America
 G....makes me so damned angry
 g. may be played on a Sunday g....way of playing marbles great game of g.
 intrepid hunters of g. balls mind off everything like g.
 picking up the wrong g. ball
 Playing polo is like...to play g.
 thousand lost g. balls unforgiving as g. greens
 when one is playing g.
 work at it, it's g.
- golfer Actually, I am a g.
 gymnast and g., soldered together make a g. out of him
- Goliath Nobody roots for G.
Gomorah rained upon...G.
gondola What else is like the g.?
 you have swam in a g.
- gone all is g.
 And they are g.
 dead and g.
 dead and g., lady
 g., and for ever!
 g. without a word?
 Now thou art g.
 Or that when I am g.
 They're all g. now
- gongs struck regularly, like g.
gong-tormented g.-t. sea
good aim at some g.
 all men's g.
 all men's g.
 All partial evil, universal g.
 all things work together for g.
 and when she was g.
 Anybody can be g. in the country
 Any g. thing
 art for the sake of the g.

- Be a g. man
 beautiful, creative and g.
 because they are so g.
 because we deem it g.
 being really g. all the time Beneath the g. how far better to be g. than to be ugly between g. and evil
 but to be g.
 common g. to all constitutes its highest g.
 content...to be obscurely g.
 Do all the g. you can does not do much g.
 do him little g.
 dull prospect of a distant g.
 enemy of the g.
 every evil, like every g.
 every g. and excellent thing
 Every soul pursues the g.
 evil seek to bring forth g.
 evil turn to g.
 For g. ye are and bad for the general G.
 for the g. or evil side
 Gallop about doing g.
 General G. is the plea glory and g. of Art
 God saw that it was g.
 God-willing, I will make g.
 g. almost kill a man as kill
 g. and bad of every land
 g., and had no power to see
 g. and ill together
 g. both going and coming back
 G., but not religious-good G. company, g. wine, g. welcome
 g. Compensate bad in man
 g. day to get out anything we want to bury
 g. die early
 g. ended happily
 g. fast bowler
